THE PUBLIC HEALTH ACTS.

APPENDIX I.

THE KNACKERS ACT, 1786.

(26 Geo. 3, c. 71) (a).

An Act for Regulating Houses and other Places kept for the purpose of Slaughtering Horses.

Preamble.

Whereas the practice of stealing horses, cows and other cattle hath of late years increased to an alarming degree, and hath been greatly facilitated by certain persons of low condition who keep houses or places for the purpose of slaughtering horses and other cattle: For remedy whereof, be it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, that from and after the twentieth day of July in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty-six, no person or persons shall keep or use any house or place for the purpose of slaughtering or killing any horse, mare, gelding, colt, filly, ass, mule, bull, ox, cow, heifer, calf, sheep, hog, goat or other cattle which shall not be killed for butchers meat, without first taking out a licence for that purpose at the general quarter sessions held for the county, riding, city, town, district, division or liberty wherein such slaughtering house or place shall be situate; and the justices of the peace, at their general quarter sessions assembled, are hereby authorised and empowered to grant (b) such licences as aforesaid, upon a certificate (c), under the hands and seals of the minister and churchwardens or overseers, or of the minister and two or more substantial householders of the parish wherein the person or persons applying for such licence shall dwell, that such person or persons is or are fit and proper to be trusted with the management and carrying on such business as aforesaid: Provided always, that in case of the death of any person to whom such licence as aforesaid shall be granted, it shall and may be lawful for the widow, or personal representative of such person so dying, to carry on the said business until the then next ensuing general quarter sessions of the peace (d).

From July 20th, 1786, every person keeping a slaughtering house to take out a licence, etc.

(a) This Act is amended by the 7 & 8 Vict. c. 87, post, p. 2077, and by the Protection of Animals Act, 1911, and repealed as to London by the P. H. (London) A., 1891, s. 142.

See also as to the licensing of slaughter-houses and knackers' yards, ss. 125—131 of the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847, post, pp. 2210 et seq., incorporated by s. 169 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 408, and modified by ss. 29—31 of the P. H. A., 1890, ante, p. 893. Where a licence has been granted under these sections an additional licence under this Act is not necessary. See R. v. Essex JJ., Ex parte Barking U. D. C., [1916] 2 K. B. 406; 80 J. P. 345, affirming decision of Divisional Court, [1916] 1 K. B. 665.

In London, outside the city, the licensing of slaughter-houses and knackers' yards is provided for by s. 20 of the P. H. (London) A., 1891, s. 6 (4) of the London G. Act, 1899, and s. 53, L.C.C. (General Powers) Act, 1903.

Note to Section 1.

(b) The powers, duties, and liabilities of quarter sessions in relation to these licences are now transferred to the district or county borough council by the L. G. A., 1894, ss. 27 (2) and 32, ante, pp. 993, 994. Licences granted under this Act were limited to continue in force for one year only from their date by 7 & 8 Vict. c. 87, s. 1, post, p. 2077. Form of licence, see the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. XII., p. 208, No. 110. Power to cancel a licence is given by s. 2 of the same Act, post, p. 2077.

(c) This certificate is not required for the renewal of a licence when once it has been granted. See 7 & 8 Vict. c. 87, s. 1, post, p. 2077. Form of certificate, see the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. XII., p. 212, No. 116.

(d) Apparently this proviso will now authorise the widow or personal representative in carrying on the business until the expiration of the licence at the end of the year for which it is issued.

Justices to grant licences, which are to be entered, etc.

2. And . . . every such licence shall be signed by the justices of the peace assembled at such general quarter sessions or by the major part of them, and a copy of every such licence shall be entered in a book to be kept for that purpose by the clerk of the peace of the county wherein the same shall be so granted as aforesaid; and . . . all and every person and persons shall have liberty at all times (Sundays excepted), between the hours of ten and twelve of the clock in the forenoon, to search the office of such clerk of the peace wherein any such copy shall be entered or kept, and to make an extract or extracts from the same, paying for every such search the sum of sixpence; and all and every person and persons so licensed as aforesaid shall cause to be painted or affixed over the door or gate of the house or place where he, she or they shall carry on the said business, in large legible characters, his, her and their name and names, with the words " Licensed for slaughtering horses, pursuant to an Act passed in the twenty-sixth year of his Majesty King George the Third " (a).

Persons licensed to affix to their houses the words herein mentioned.

(a) The conduct of a knacker's business is now regulated by ss. 5, 6, and Sched. I. of the Protection of Animals Act, 1911, replacing ss. 7—11 of the Cruelty to Animals Act, 1849, which the Act of 1911 repealed. The schedule requires (inter alia) that " the name of the knacker, together with the word ' knacker,' shall be painted or affixed in a conspicuous manner over the door or gate of the knacker's yard." The provision in the text upon this point may therefore be regarded as superseded: s. 7 of the Cruelty to Animals Act, 1849, which imposed a penalty for breach of it, is repealed as above mentioned.

Persons slaughtering horses, etc. without licence, etc. guilty of felony.

8. And . . . if any person or persons keeping or using any such slaughtering house or place as aforesaid shall at any time from and after the twentieth day of July one thousand seven hundred and eighty-six slaughter any horse, mare or gelding, foal or filly, ass or mule, or any bull, cow, heifer, ox, calf, sheep, hog, goat or other cattle, for any other purpose than for butchers meat, or shall flay any horse, mare, gelding, foal, filly, ass, mule, bull, cow, heifer, ox, calf, sheep, hog, goat or other cattle brought dead to such slaughtering house or other place, without taking out such licence . . . such person or persons so offending in either of the said cases, being thereof convicted, shall be adjudged, deemed and taken to be guilty of felony . . . (a).

(a) The punishment imposed by this section was fine and imprisonment and whipping, or transportation for not more than seven years. Penal servitude is substituted for transportation by 20 & 21 Vict. c. 3. Whipping for such an offence may be regarded as obsolete.

Penalty on persons lending houses for the purpose of slaughtering without licence.

13. And . . . if any person or persons shall occasionally lend any house, barn, stable or other place for the purpose of slaughtering or killing any horse, mare, gelding, colt, filly, ass, mule, bull, ox, cow, heifer, calf, sheep, hog, goat or other cattle which shall not be killed for butchers meat without taking out such licence as aforesaid, and shall be thereof convicted before any justice of the peace for the county, riding, city, town, district, division or liberty wherein such person or persons shall reside, upon the oath of two credible witnesses, he, she or they shall forfeit, upon conviction, for every such offence, any sum not exceeding twenty pounds . . . one moiety thereof to be paid to the informer and the other moiety to the poor of the parish where the offence shall be committed, and which said last-mentioned moiety shall, upon payment thereof, be immediately transmitted by the justice so convicting to the overseers of the poor of the said parish or one of them (a) ; and in case such penalty shall not be forthwith paid, such justice shall commit the offender to the common gaol or house of correction . . . (b).

Section 13.

(a) As to the application of these penalties now that overseers have been abolished by s. 62 of the R. and V. Act, 1925, see the Overseers Order, 1927 (S. R. & O., 1927, No. 55), Art. 13 (1) (b), in App. II. at p. 3684, post.

(b) The remainder of this section, as well as the minimum penalty originally imposed thereby, is repealed by the S. J. A., 1884, s. 4.

Act not to extend to curriers, etc. killing distempered horses, etc.

14. Provided always, that this Act shall not extend to any currier, felt-maker, tanner or dealer in hides who shall kill any distempered or aged horse, mare, gelding, colt, filly, ass, mule, bull, ox, cow, heifer, calf, sheep, hog, goat or other cattle, or purchase any dead horse, mare, gelding, colt, filly, ass, mule, ox, cow, heifer, calf, sheep, hog, goat or other cattle, for the bonâ fide purpose of selling, using or curing the hide or hides thereof in the course of their respective trades, nor to any furrier employed to kill aged and distempered cattle, nor to any person or persons who shall kill any horse, mare, gelding, colt, filly, ass, mule, bull, ox, cow, heifer, calf, sheep, hog, goat or other cattle of their own, or other cattle, or purchasing any dead horse or other cattle to feed their own hounds or dogs, or giving away the flesh thereof for the like purpose.

THE GAME ACT, 1831.

(1 & 2 Will. 4, c. 32) (a).

[5th October 1831.

* * * * * *

Definition of "game" under this Act.

2. The word "game" shall for all the purposes of this Act be deemed to include hares, pheasants, partridges, grouse, heath or moor game, black game, and bustards (c).

(a) See the L. G. A., 1894, ss. 27, 32, ante, pp. 992, 994.

(b) All the clauses and provisions of this Act and of 2 & 3 Vict. c. 35, relating to the granting of licences by justices to deal in game, and to the holding of special sessions for the purpose of granting such licences, and also all the clauses, provisions, and penalties contained in the said Acts or either of them relating to dealers in game and to the selling of game, either by or to such dealers or others, are extended to the whole of the United Kingdom by the Game Licences Act, 1860, s. 13.

(c) Note that deer, rabbits, quail, landrail, woodcock, snipe, geese, duck, pigeon, and plover are not included in this definition.

* * * * * *

Penalty on dealers in game

4. If any person licensed to deal in game by virtue of this Act as hereinafter mentioned shall buy or sell, or knowingly have in his house, shop, buying, selling or possessing birds of game after ten days after expiration of season for killing, and on other persons buying or selling birds after ten days, or possessing them, except for breeding, after forty days.

stall, possession, or control, any bird of game (a) after the expiration of ten days (one inclusive and the other exclusive) from the respective days in each year on which it shall become unlawful to kill or take such birds of game respectively as aforesaid; or if any person not being licensed to deal in game by virtue of this Act as hereinafter mentioned, shall buy or sell any bird of game after the expiration of ten days (one inclusive and the other exclusive) from the respective days in each year on which it shall become unlawful to kill or take such birds of game respectively as aforesaid, or shall knowingly have in his house, possession, or control any bird of game (except birds of game kept in a mew or breeding place) after the expiration of forty days (one inclusive and the other exclusive) from the respective days in each year on which it shall become unlawful to kill or take such birds of game respectively as aforesaid; every such person shall, on conviction of any such offence before two justices of the peace, forfeit and pay for every head of game so bought or sold, or found in his house, shop, possession, or control, such sum of money, not exceeding one pound, as to the convicting justices shall seem meet, together with the costs of the conviction (b).

(a) Alive or dead (Loome v. Bailey (1860), 25 J. P. 55; 3 El. & El. 444). Under an earlier Act which contained no provision as to the ten days' grace, it was held that it was not an offence for a qualified person to have in his possession nine days after the commencement of the close season birds killed before its commencement (Simpson v. Unwin (1832), 3 B. & Ad. 134). It makes no difference whether the bird is tame or wild (Harnett v. Miles (1884), 48 J. P. 455). But now by s. 10 of the Revenue Act, 1911, "so much of s. 4 of the Game Act, 1831, as makes it an offence for any person to buy or sell, or have in his house, possession, or control game birds after the dates therein specified shall not apply where the game is live game, and the person buying, selling, or having in his house, possession, or control the game, is keeping or intending to keep the game solely for the purpose of breeding or for sale alive, and either is licensed at the time to deal in game, or is a holder of a certificate or licence to kill game in force at the time. The amendments made by this section shall have effect in the Game Act, 1831, as applied by any subsequent enactment, as well as in that Act as originally enacted." This provision relieved game breeders from a difficulty: if they were licensed to sell game, they could not lawfully keep their stock during the close season (s. 4); if they were not licensed, purchases from them were illegal: see Cook v. Trevener, [1911] 1 K. B. 9; 74 J. P. 469. See also M'Lean v. Johnston, [1913] S. C. (J.) 1. Game killed abroad is not within the section (Guyer v. R. (1889), 23 Q. B. D. 100; 53 J. P. 436). See, however, the Customs and Inland Revenue Act, 1893, s. 2, under which licences are required for dealing in imported game.

Justices to hold a special session yearly for granting licences to persons to deal in game.

18. The justices of the peace of every county, riding, division, liberty, franchise, city, or town (a) shall hold a special session in the division or district for which they usually act, and in every year in the month of July (b), for the purpose of granting licences to deal in game, of the holding of which session seven days notice shall be given to each of the justices acting for such division or district; and the majority of the justices assembled at such session, or at some adjournment thereof, not being less than two, are hereby authorised (if they shall think fit) to grant under their hands to any person being a householder or keeper of a shop or stall within such division or district and not being an innkeeper (c) or victualler, or licensed to sell beer by retail (d), nor being the owner, guard, or driver of any mail coach or other vehicle employed in the conveyance of the mails of letters, or of any stage coach, stage waggon, van, or other public conveyance, nor being a carrier or higgler, nor being in the employment of any of the above-mentioned persons, a licence (e) according to the form in the Schedule (A.) annexed to this Act, empowering the person to whom such licence shall be so granted to buy game at any place from any person who may lawfully sell game by virtue of this Act, and also to sell the same at one house, shop, or stall only, kept by him; provided that every person, while so licensed to deal in game as aforesaid, shall affix to some part of the outside of the front of his house, shop, or stall, and shall there keep a board having thereon in clear and legible characters, his Christian name and surname, together with the following words (that is to say), "Licensed to deal in game"; and every such licence granted in any succeeding year shall continue in force for the period of one year next after the granting thereof.

(a) The powers, duties, and liabilities of justices under this section are now transferred to district and county borough councils by ss. 27, 32 of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, pp. 992, 994.

(b) By 2 & 3 Vict. c. 35, s. 4, after reciting this enactment, and that it is expedient that justices should be empowered to hold a special session for the purpose of granting these licences not only in July but also at any subsequent period of the year, it is enacted that from and after the passing of this Act it shall be lawful for the said justices of the peace to hold in their respective divisions or districts a special session for the purpose of granting licences to deal in game, not only in the month of July, but also at any time and from time to time as often as they shall think fit after the said month of July in every year; and it shall also be lawful for the majority of the said justices (not being less than two) assembled at any such session or at any adjournment thereof, to grant licences to deal in game, in the manner directed by the said last-recited Act, and under and subject to the provisions and regulations thereof: Provided always, that of the holding of any such special session seven days' notice shall be given to each of the justices acting for the division or district in which such session is intended to be held: Provided also, that every licence to deal in game, at whatever time the same hath been or shall be granted, shall continue in force from the granting thereof until the first day of July then next following, and no longer, anything in the said last-recited Act or in such licence to the contrary notwithstanding.

Although the whole of the above Act, 2 & 3 Vict. c. 35, was repealed by the Revenue Act, 1869, s. 39, it is considered that the foregoing section remains in force by virtue of s. 13 of the Game Licences Act, 1860, cited, ante, p. 2073.

(c) Although an innkeeper may not be a licensed dealer in game, yet under s. 26 of this Act an innkeeper or tavern keeper may without this licence sell game for consumption in his own house, if he has procured it from a licensed dealer.

(d) Including the holder of an additional licence to sell beer under s. 1 of the Revenue Act, 1863 (Shoolbred v. St. Pancras JJ. (1890), 24 Q. B. D. 346; 54 J. P. 231); but such licences are no longer granted. A question has been raised, but not decided, whether a person being the owner of several establishments in different districts and holding a licence to sell beer in one of them can hold a licence to sell game in one or more of the other establishments. See R. v. Bird (1898), 62 J. P. 309.

Proviso as to licences in case of partnership.

21. Provided always, that persons being in partnership, and carrying on their business at one house, shop, or stall only, shall not be obliged by virtue of this Act to take out more than one licence in any one year to authorise them to deal in game at such house, shop or stall.

Licences to become void on any conviction under this Act.

22. If any person licensed by virtue of this Act to deal in game shall during the period of such licence be convicted of any offence whatever against this Act, such licence shall thereupon become null and void (a).

(a) There is no prohibition against an application by a convicted person for another licence. As to offences, see ss. 4, 28.

* * * * * *

Penalty on licensed dealers buying game from persons not authorised

28. If any person, being licensed to deal in game according to this Act, shall buy or obtain any game from any person not authorised to sell game for want of a game certificate, or for want of a licence to deal in game (a); or if any person, being licensed to deal in game according to this Act, shall

Section 28. sell or offer for sale any game at his house, shop, or stall, without such board as aforesaid being affixed to some part of the outside of the front of such house, shop, or stall at the time of such selling or offering for sale, or shall affix or cause to be affixed such board to more than one house, shop, or stall, or shall sell any game at any place other than his house, shop, or stall where such board shall have been affixed; or if any person, not being licensed to deal in game according to this Act, shall assume, or pretend, by affixing such board as aforesaid, or by exhibiting any certificate, or by any other device or pretence, to be a person licensed to deal in game; every such offender, being convicted thereof before two justices of the peace, shall forfeit and pay such sum of money, not exceeding ten pounds, as to the said justices shall seem meet, together with the costs of the conviction.

to sell, or otherwise offending;

and on unlicensed persons feigning to be licensed.

(a) It makes no difference whether he knew or not, when he purchased the game, that the seller was unlicensed (R. v. Muirhead (1887), 51 J. P. 760).

Servants of licensed dealer may buy and sell game.

One licensed dealer in game may sell on account of another.

29. Provided always, that the buying and selling of game by any person or persons employed on the behalf of any licensed dealer in game, and acting in the usual course of his employment, and upon the premises where such dealing is carried on, shall be deemed to be a lawful buying and selling in every case, where the same would have been lawful if transacted by such licensed dealer himself: Provided also, that nothing herein contained shall prevent any licensed dealer in game from selling any game which shall have been sent to him to be sold on account of any other licensed dealer in game.

THE KNACKERS ACT, 1844.

(7 & 8 VICT. c. 87.) (a)

An Act to amend the Law for regulating Places kept for Slaughtering Horses. [9th August 1844.]

Licences to keep slaughter houses granted under 26 Geo. 3, c. 71, to be annual.

[1.] Every licence which shall be granted under or by virtue of the Knackers Act, 1786, authorising any person to keep or use any house or place for the purpose of slaughtering or killing any horse or other cattle (not killed for butcher's meat), shall be granted, and shall continue in force, for a period not exceeding one year from the date at which the same was granted, determinable as hereinafter provided: Provided nevertheless, that in the case of the renewal of any such licence to any person to whom any such licence may have been previously granted as aforesaid it shall not be necessary for such person to obtain or produce to the justices at such general quarter sessions of the peace (b) a certificate under the hands and seals of the minister, churchwardens, overseers, or householders, as required by the said last-mentioned Act.

(a) See 26 Geo. 3, c. 71, ante, p. 2071. This Act is repealed as to London by s. 142 of the P. H. (London) A., 1891. In London outside the City the licensing of slaughter-houses and knackers' yards is provided for by s. 20 of that Act.

(b) Now the district or county borough council. See ss. 27 (2) and 32 of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, pp. 993, 994.

Justices in quarter sessions may cancel licences.

2. It shall be lawful for the justices assembled at any general quarter sessions of the peace to be holden for any county (a), upon application and complaint made to them in writing by any person, and upon due proof being made to them that the party so complaining had given fourteen days previous notice in writing thereof to the clerk of the peace for such county, and also to the party complained against, and upon due proof to their satisfaction that any person so licensed as aforesaid has been guilty of any breach or violation of the said two several hereinbefore recited Acts or either of them, or of this Act, or any part or parts thereof respectively, to cancel and wholly put an end to any and every licence which may have been granted to the person or persons so complained against, and from thenceforth the same shall be of no force or effect.

(a) Now the district or county borough council. See ss. 27 (2) and 32 of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, pp. 993, 994.

Meaning of certain words used in this Act.

10. The words hereinafter mentioned, which in their usual signification have a more restricted or different meaning, shall in this Act (except where the nature of the provisions or the context of the Act shall exclude such construction) be interpreted as follows; (that is to say,) the word "county" shall include city, town, borough, cinque port, riding, liberty, or division; the word "horse" shall include mare, gelding, mule, pony, colt, or filly; the word "cattle" shall include bull, ox, cow, steer, heifer, calf, ass, sheep, lamb, goat, pig, or any other domestic animal; the word "constable" shall include headborough, peace officer, or police officer; and every word importing the singular number only shall extend and be applied to several persons and things as well as to one person or thing; and every word importing the masculine gender only shall extend to a female as well as a male.

THE COMPANIES CLAUSES CONSOLIDATION ACT, 1845.

(8 & 9 VICT. c. 16) (a).

An Act for consolidating in one Act certain Provisions usually inserted in Acts with respect to the Constitution of Companies incorporated for carrying on Undertakings of a public nature. [8th May 1845.]

*   *   *   *   *   *

Interpretation.

2. And with respect to the construction of this Act, and of other Acts to be incorporated therewith, be it enacted as follows (b):

"The special Act." "Prescribed." "The undertaking."

The expression "the special Act" used in this Act shall be construed to mean any Act which shall be hereafter passed incorporating a joint stock company for the purpose of carrying on any undertaking, and with which this Act shall be so incorporated as aforesaid; and the word "prescribed" used in this Act, in reference to any matter herein stated, shall be construed to refer to such matter as the same shall be prescribed or provided for in the special Act; and the sentence in which such word shall occur shall be construed as if instead of the word "prescribed" the expression "prescribed for that purpose in the special Act" had been used; and the expression "the undertaking" shall mean the undertaking or works, of whatever nature, which shall by the special Act be authorised to be executed.

(a) Certain of the sections of this Act are incorporated by some of the Acts included in this Appendix; for example, by the Baths and Washhouses Act, 1846, s. 23, post, p. 2148. Only the sections so incorporated are here set out, but ss. 2 and 3 are also included in the present work, as these are necessary for reference in construing the incorporated sections.

(b) These clauses must be read in connection with the sections of the several Acts by which this Act is incorporated, as the interpretations here given are in some instances qualified.

Interpretations in this and the special Act:

3. The following words and expressions both in this and the special Act shall have the several meanings hereby assigned to them, unless there be something in the subject or the context repugnant to such construction; (that is to say,) (a)

Number

Words importing the singular number only shall include the plural number; and words importing the plural number only shall include the singular number:

Gender.

Words importing the masculine gender only shall include females:

"Lands."

The word "lands" shall extend to messuages, lands, tenements, and hereditaments, of any tenure:

"Lease."

The word "lease" shall include an agreement for a lease:

"Month."

The word "month" shall mean calendar month:

"Superior courts."

The expression "superior courts" shall mean her Majesty's superior courts of record at Westminster . . . (b).

"Oath."

The word "oath" shall include affirmation in the case of Quakers, or other declaration lawfully substituted for an oath in the case of any other persons exempted by law from the necessity of taking an oath:

"County."

The word "county" shall include any riding or other like division of a county, and shall also include county of a city or county of a town:

"Justice." "Two justices."

The word "justice" shall mean justice of the peace acting for the county, city, borough, liberty, cinque port, or other place where the matter requiring the cognizance of any such justice shall arise, and who shall not be interested in the matter; and where any matter shall be authorised or required to be done by two justices the expression "two justices" shall be understood to mean two justices assembled and acting together in petty sessions:

"The company." The expression "the company" shall mean the company constituted by the special Act:

"Directors." The expression "the directors" shall mean the directors of the company, and shall include all persons having the direction of the undertaking, whether under the name of directors, managers, committee of management, or under any other name:

"Shareholder." The word "shareholder" shall mean shareholder, proprietor, or member of the company; and in referring to any such shareholder, expressions properly applicable to a person shall be held to apply to a corporation: and

"Secretary." The expression "secretary" shall mean the secretary of the company, and shall include the word "clerk."

* * * * * *

(a) These clauses must be read in connection with the sections of the several Acts by which this Act is incorporated, as the interpretations here given are in some instances qualified.

(b) Words relating to Ireland only are here omitted.

Power to borrow money. And with respect to the borrowing of money by the company on mortgage or bond, be it enacted as follows:

Sections 38—55 inclusive are incorporated by the Baths and Washhouses Act, 1846, s. 23, post, p. 2148.

Power to borrow money. 38. If the company be authorised by the special Act to borrow money on mortgage or bond, it shall be lawful for them, subject to the restrictions contained in the special Act, to borrow on mortgage or bond such sums of money as shall from time to time, by an order of a general meeting of the company, be authorised to be borrowed, not exceeding in the whole the sum prescribed by the special Act, and for securing the repayment of the money so borrowed, with interest, to mortgage the undertaking, and the future calls on the shareholders, or to give bonds in manner hereinafter mentioned.

Power to re-borrow. 39. If, after having borrowed any part of the moneys so authorised to be borrowed on mortgage or bond, the company pay off the same, it shall be lawful for them again to borrow the amount so paid off, and so from time to time; but such power of re-borrowing shall not be exercised without the authority of a general meeting of the company, unless the money be so re-borrowed in order to pay off any existing mortgage or bond.

Evidence of authority for borrowing. 40. Where by the special Act the company shall be restricted from borrowing any money on mortgage or bond until a definite portion of their capital shall be subscribed or paid up, or where by this or the special Act the authority of a general meeting is required for such borrowing, the certificate of a justice that such definite portion of the capital has been subscribed or paid up, and a copy of the order of a general meeting of the company authorising the borrowing of any money, certified by one of the directors or by the secretary to be a true copy, shall be sufficient evidence of the fact of the capital required to be subscribed or paid up having been so subscribed or paid up, and of the order for borrowing money having been made; and upon production to any justice of the books of the company, and of such other evidence as he shall think sufficient, such justice shall grant the certificate aforesaid.

Mortgages and bonds to be stamped. 41. Every mortgage and bond for securing money borrowed by the company shall be by deed under the common seal of the company, duly stamped, and wherein the consideration shall be truly stated; and every such mortgage deed or bond may be according to the form in the Schedule (C.) (a) or (D.) to this Act annexed, or to the like effect.

(a) See Legg v. Mathieson (1860), 29 L. J. Ch. 385; 2 L. T. 112; Holdsworth v. Davenport (1876), 3 Ch. D. 185. If the consideration is apparent the instrument is not void merely becaue the consideration is not in terms stated (Landowners West of England and South Wales Land Drainage and Inclosure Co. v. Ashford (1881), 16 Ch. D. 411).

Rights of mortgagees.

42. The respective mortgagees shall be entitled one with another to their respective proportions of the tolls, sums, and premises comprised in such mortgages, and of the future calls payable by the shareholders, if comprised therein, according to the respective sums in such mortgages mentioned to be advanced by such mortgagees respectively, and to be repaid the sums so advanced, with interest, without any preference one above another by reason of priority of the date of any such mortgage, or of the meeting at which the same was authorised (a).

Application of calls notwithstanding mortgages.

43. No such mortgage (although it should comprise future calls on the shareholders) shall, unless expressly so provided, preclude the company from receiving and applying to the purposes of the company any calls to be made by the company.

Rights of obligees.

44. The respective obligees in such bonds shall, proportionally, according to the amount of the moneys secured thereby, be entitled to be paid, out of the tolls or other property or effects of the company, the respective sums in such bonds mentioned, and thereby intended to be secured, without any preference one above another by reason of priority of date of any such bond, or of the meeting at which the same was authorised, or otherwise howsoever.

Register of mortgages and bonds.

45. A register of mortgages and bonds shall be kept by the secretary, and within fourteen days after the date of any such mortgage or bond an entry or memorial, specifying the number and date of such mortgage or bond, and the sums secured thereby, and the names of the parties thereto, with their proper additions, shall be made in such register; and such register may be perused at all reasonable times by any of the shareholders, or by any mortgagee or bond creditor of the company, or by any person interested in any such mortgage or bond, without fee or reward.

Transfers of mortgages and bonds to be stamped.

46. Any party entitled to any such mortgage or bond may from time to time transfer his right and interest therein to any other person; and every such transfer shall be by deed duly stamped, wherein the consideration shall be truly stated; and every such transfer may be according to the form in the Schedule (E.) to this Act annexed, or to the like effect.

Transfers of mortgages and bonds to be registered.

47. Within thirty days after the date of every such transfer, if executed within the United Kingdom, or otherwise within thirty days after the arrival thereof in the United Kingdom, it shall be produced to the secretary, and thereupon the secretary shall cause an entry or memorial thereof to be made in the same manner as in the case of the original mortgage; and after such entry every such transfer shall entitle the transferee to the full benefit of the original mortgage or bond in all respects; and no party having made such transfer, shall have power to make void, release, or discharge the mortgage or bond so transferred, or any money thereby secured; and for such entry the company may demand a sum not exceeding the prescribed sum, or, where no sum shall be prescribed, the sum of two shillings and sixpence; and until such entry the company shall not be in any manner responsible to the transferee in respect of such mortgage.

Payment of interest on moneys borrowed.

48. The interest of the money borrowed upon any such mortgage or bond shall be paid at the periods appointed in such mortgage or bond, and if no period be appointed, half-yearly, to the several parties entitled thereto and in preference to any dividends payable to the shareholders of the company (a).

(a) As to interest not provided for by the security, see Price v. G. W. Rail. Co. (1857), 16 L. J. Ex. 87; 16 M. & W. 244. Though interest be payable half-yearly, it accrues due de die in diem, and is therefore subject to apportionment (In re Rogers (1861), 30 L. J. Ch. 153; 3 L. T. 397).

Transfers of interest to be stamped.

49. The interest on any such mortgage or bond shall not be transferable, except by deed duly stamped.

Repayment of money borrowed at a time fixed.

50. The company may, if they think proper, fix a period for the repayment of the principal money so borrowed, with the interest thereof, and in such case the company shall cause such period to be inserted in the mortgage deed or bond; and upon the expiration of such period the principal sum, together with the arrears of interest thereon, shall, on demand, be paid to the party entitled to such mortgage or bond; and if no other place of payment be inserted in such mortgage deed or bond, such principal and interest shall be payable at the principal office or place of business of the company.

Repayment of money borrowed where no time fixed.

51. If no time be fixed in the mortgage deed or bond for the repayment of the money so borrowed, the party entitled to the mortgage or bond may, at the expiration or at any time after the expiration of twelve months from the date of such mortgage or bond, demand payment of the principal money thereby secured, with all arrears of interest, upon giving six months previous notice for that purpose; and in the like case the company may at any time pay off the money borrowed, on giving the like notice; and every such notice shall be in writing or print, or both, and if given by a mortgagee or bond creditor shall be delivered to the secretary or left at the principal office of the company, and if given by the company shall be given either personally to such mortgagee or bond creditor or left at his residence, or if such mortgagee or bond creditor be unknown to the directors, or cannot be found after diligent inquiry, such notice shall be given by advertisement in the London or Dublin Gazette, according as the principal office of the company shall be in England or Ireland, and in some newspaper, as after mentioned.

Interest to cease on expiration of notice to pay off mortgage or bond.

52. If the company shall have given notice of their intention to pay off any such mortgage or bond at a time when the same may lawfully be paid off by them, then at the expiration of such notice all further interest shall cease to be payable on such mortgage or bond, unless, on demand of payment made pursuant to such notice, or at any time thereafter, the company shall fail to pay the principal and interest due at the expiration of such notice on such mortgage or bond.

Arrears of interest, when to be enforced by appointment of receiver.

53. Where by the special Act the mortgagees of the company shall be empowered to enforce the payment of the arrears of interest, or the arrears of principal and interest, due on such mortgages, by the appointment of a receiver, then, if within thirty days after the interest accruing upon any such mortgage has become payable, and after demand thereof in writing, the same be not paid, the mortgagee may, without prejudice to his right to sue for the interest so in arrear in any of the superior courts of law or equity, require the appointment of a receiver, by an application to be made as hereinafter provided; and if within six months after the principal money owing upon any mortgage has become payable, and after demand thereof in writing, the same be not paid, the mortgagee, without prejudice to his right to sue for such principal money, together with all arrears of interest, in any of the superior courts of law or equity, may, if his debt amount to the prescribed sum alone, or, if his debt does not amount to the prescribed sum he may, in conjunction with other mortgagees whose debts, being so in arrear, after demand as aforesaid, shall, together with his, amount to the prescribed sum, require the appointment of a receiver, by an application to be made as hereinafter provided.

Appointment of receiver.

54. Every application for a receiver in the cases aforesaid shall be made to two justices, and on every such application it shall be lawful for such justices, by order in writing, after hearing the parties, to appoint some person to receive the whole or a competent part of the tolls or sums liable to the payment of such interest, or such principal and interest, as the case may be, until such interest, or until such principal and interest, as the case may be, together with all costs, including the charges of receiving the tolls or sums aforesaid, be fully paid; and upon such appointment being made all such tolls and sums of money as aforesaid shall be paid to and received by the person so to be appointed; and the money so to be received shall be so much money received by or to the use of the party to whom such interest, or such principal and interest, as the case may be, shall be then due, and on whose behalf such receiver shall have been appointed; and after such interest and costs, or such principal, interest, and costs, have been so received the power of such receiver shall cease.

Access to account books by mortgagees.

55. At all seasonable times the books of account of the company shall be open to the inspection of the respective mortgagees and bond creditors thereof, with liberty to take extracts therefrom, without fee or reward.

* * * * * *

Accountability of officers.

And with respect to the accountability of the officers of the company be it enacted as follows:

Sections 109—114 inclusive are incorporated by the Baths and Washhouses Act, 1846, s. 23, post, p. 2148.

Security to be taken from officers intrusted with money.

109. Before any person intrusted with the custody or control of moneys, whether treasurer, collector, or other officer of the company, shall enter upon his office, the directors shall take sufficient security from him for the faithful execution of his office.

Officers to account, on demand.

110. Every officer employed by the company shall from time to time, when required by the directors, make out and deliver to them, or to any person appointed by them for that purpose, a true and perfect account, in writing under his hand, of all moneys received by him on behalf of the company; and such account shall state how, and to whom, and for what purpose, such moneys shall have been disposed of; and, together with such account, such officer shall deliver the vouchers and receipts for such payments; and every such officer shall pay to the directors, or to any person appointed by them to receive the same, all moneys which shall appear to be owing from him upon the balance of such accounts.

Summary remedy against parties failing to account.

111. If any such officer fail to render such account, or to produce and deliver up all the vouchers and receipts relating to the same in his possession or power, or to pay the balance thereof when thereunto required, or if for three days after being thereunto required he fail to deliver up to the directors, or to any person appointed by them to receive the same, all papers and writings, property, effects, matters, and things, in his possession or power, relating to the execution of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, or belonging to the company, then, on complaint thereof being made to a justice, such justice shall summon such officer to appear before two or more justices at a time and place to be set forth in such summons, to answer such charge; and upon the appearance of such officer, or in his absence, upon proof that such summons was personally served upon him, or left at his last known place of abode, such justices may hear and determine the matter in a summary way, and may adjust and declare the balance owing by such officer; and if it appear, either upon confession of such officer or upon evidence, or upon inspection of the account, that any moneys of the company are in the hands of such officer, or owing by him to the company, such justices may order such officer to pay the same; and if he fail to pay the amount it shall be lawful for such justices to grant a warrant to levy the same by distress, or, in default thereof, to commit the offender to gaol, there to remain without bail for a period not exceeding three months, unless the same be sooner paid.

Officers refusing to deliver up documents, etc., to be imprisoned.

112. If any such officer refuse to make out such account in writing, or to produce and deliver to the justices the several vouchers and receipts relating thereto, or to deliver up any books, papers, or writings, property, effects, matters, or things, in his possession or power, belonging to the company, such justices may lawfully commit such offender to gaol, there to remain until he shall have delivered up all the vouchers and receipts, if any, in his possession or power, relating to such accounts, and have delivered up all books, papers, writings, property, effects, matters, and things, if any, in his possession or power, belonging to the company.

Where officer about to abscond, a warrant may be issued in the first instance.

113. Provided always, that if any director or other person acting on behalf of the company shall make oath that he has good reason to believe, upon grounds to be stated in his deposition, and does believe, that it is the intention of any such officer as aforesaid to abscond, it shall be lawful for the justice before whom the complaint is made, instead of issuing his summons, to issue his warrant for the bringing such officer before such two justices as aforesaid; but no person executing such warrant shall keep such officer in custody longer than twenty-four hours without bringing him before some justice; and it shall be lawful for the justice before whom such officer may be brought either to discharge such officer, if he thinks there is no sufficient ground for his detention, or to order such officer to be detained in custody, so as to be brought before two justices, at a time and place to be named in such order, unless such officer give bail, to the satisfaction of such justice, for his appearance before such justices to answer the complaint of the company.

Sureties not to be discharged.

114. No such proceeding against or dealing with any such officer as aforesaid shall deprive the company of any remedy which they might otherwise have against such officer, or any surety of such officer.

Byelaws.

And with respect to the making of byelaws, be it enacted as follows:

Sections 124—127 inclusive are incorporated by the Baths and Washhouses Act, 1846, s. 23, post, p. 2148, subject, however, to the provisions of s. 34 of that Act, post, p. 2152.

Power to make byelaws for the officers of the company.

124. It shall be lawful for the company from time to time to make such byelaws as they think fit, for the purpose of regulating the conduct of the officers and servants of the company, and for providing for the due management of the affairs of the company in all respects whatsoever, and from time to time to alter or repeal any such byelaws, and make others, provided such byelaws be not repugnant to the laws of that part of the United Kingdom

Section 124. where the same are to have effect, or to the provisions of this or the special Act; and such byelaws shall be reduced into writing, and shall have affixed thereto the common seal of the company; and a copy of such byelaws shall be given to every officer and servant of the company affected thereby.

Fines for breach of such byelaws.

125. It shall be lawful for the company, by such byelaws, to impose such reasonable penalties upon all persons, being officers or servants of the company, offending against such byelaws, as the company think fit, not exceeding five pounds for any one offence.

Byelaws to be so framed as that penalties may be mitigated.

126. All the byelaws to be made by the company shall be so framed as to allow the justice before whom any penalty imposed thereby may be sought to be recovered to order a part only of such penalty to be paid, if such justice shall think fit.

Evidence of byelaws.

127. The production of a written or printed copy of the byelaws of the company, having the common seal of the company affixed thereto, shall be sufficient evidence of such byelaws in all cases of prosecution under the same.

* * * * * *

Recovery of damages and penalties.

And with respect to the recovery of damages not specially provided for, and penalties, be it enacted as follows:

Sections 142—160 inclusive are incorporated by the Baths and Washhouses Act, 1846, s. 23, post, p. 2148. They are almost identical with ss. 136—140 of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, post, p. 2136. This part of the Act is printed as it remains unrepealed. The sections and parts of sections repealed were repealed by the S. J. A., 1884, s. 5 of which provides for the substitution of the procedure under the S. J. Acts, 1848 and 1879.

Provision for ascertainment of damages not otherwise provided for.

Enforcement by distress.

142. In all cases where any damages, costs, or expenses are by this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, directed to be paid, and the method of ascertaining the amount or enforcing the payment thereof is not provided for, such amount, in case of dispute, shall be ascertained and determined by two justices; and if the amount so ascertained be not paid by the company or other party liable to pay the same within seven days after demand, the amount may be recovered by distress of the goods of the company or other party liable as aforesaid; and the justices by whom the same shall have been ordered to be paid, or either of them, on application, shall issue their or his warrant accordingly.

Distress against the treasurer.

Notice to treasurer.

Reimbursement of treasurer.

143. If sufficient goods of the company cannot be found whereon to levy any such damages, costs, or expenses, payable by the company, the same may, if the amount thereof do not exceed twenty pounds, be recovered by distress of the goods of the treasurer of the company; and the justices aforesaid, or either of them, on application, shall issue their or his warrant accordingly; but no such distress shall issue against the goods of such treasurer unless seven days previous notice in writing, stating the amount so due, and demanding payment thereof, have been given to such treasurer, or left at his residence; and if such treasurer pay any money under such distress as aforesaid, he may retain the amount so paid by him, and all costs and expenses occasioned thereby, out of any money belonging to the company coming into his custody or control, or he may sue the company for the same.

Method of proceeding before justices in questions of damages, etc.

144. Where in this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, any question of compensation, expenses, charges, or damages is referred to the determination of any one justice, or more, it shall be lawful for any justice, upon the application of either party, to summon the other party to appear before one justice, or before two justices, as the case may require, at a time and place to be named in such summons; and upon the appearance of such parties, or in the absence of any of them, upon proof of due service of the summons, it shall be lawful for such one justice, or such two justices, as the case may be, to hear and determine such question, and for that purpose to examine such parties or any of them, and their witnesses, on oath; and the cost of every such inquiry shall be in the discretion of such justices, and they shall determine the amount thereof.

Publication penalties.

145. The company shall publish the short particulars of the several offences for which any penalty is imposed by this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, or by any byelaw of the company affecting other persons than the shareholders, officers, or servants of the company, and of the amount of every such penalty, and shall cause such particulars to be painted on a board, or printed on paper and pasted thereon, and shall cause such board to be hung up or affixed on some conspicuous part of the principal place of business of the company, and where any such penalties are of local application shall cause such boards to be affixed in some conspicuous place in the immediate neighbourhood to which such penalties are applicable or have reference; and such particulars shall be renewed as often as the same or any part thereof is obliterated or destroyed; and no such penalty shall be recoverable unless it shall have been published and kept published in the manner hereinbefore required.

Penalty for defacing boards used for such publication.

146. If any person shall pull down or injure any board put up or affixed as required by this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, for the purpose of publishing any byelaw or penalty, or shall obliterate any of the letters or figures thereon, he shall forfeit for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds, and shall defray the expenses attending the restoration of such board.

Penalties to be summarily recovered before two justices.

147. Every penalty or forfeiture imposed by this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, or by any byelaw made in pursuance thereof, the recovery of which is not otherwise provided for, may be recovered by summary proceeding before two justices . . .

148. [Penalties may be levied by distress. Repealed by Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1884.]

149. [Imprisonment in default of distress. Repealed as above.]

Distress, how to be levied.

150. Where in this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, any sum of money, whether in the nature of penalty or otherwise, is directed to be levied by distress, such sum of money shall be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the party liable to pay the same; and the overplus arising from the sale of such goods and chattels, after satisfying such sum of money, and the expenses of the distress and sale, shall be returned, on demand, to the party whose goods shall have been distrained (a).

(a) See the S. J. A., 1879, s. 43; and as to demand before proceeding to recover overplus, Simpson v. Routh (1824), 2 L. J. O. S. K. B. 163; 2 B. & C. 682; Philp v. Donati (1809), 2 Taunt. 62.

Distress not unlawful for want of form, etc.

151. No distress levied by virtue of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, shall be deemed unlawful, nor shall any party making the same be deemed a trespasser, on account of any defect or want of form in the summons, conviction, warrant of distress, or other proceeding relating thereto, nor shall such party be deemed a trespasser ab initio on account of any irregularity afterwards committed by him, but all persons aggrieved

Section 151. by such defect or irregularity may recover full satisfaction for the special damage in an action upon the case.

Application of penalties.

152. The justices by whom any such penalty or forfeiture shall be imposed may, where the application thereof is not otherwise provided for, award not more than one-half thereof to the informer, and shall award the remainder to the overseers of the poor of the parish in which the offence shall have been committed, for the benefit of the poor of such parish . . . (a).

(a) The remainder of this section is repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1875. As to the appropriation of these penalties in boroughs having a separate court of quarter sessions, see the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, s. 221.

As to the application of these penalties now that overseers have been abolished by the R. and V. Act, 1925, s. 62, see the Overseers Order, 1927 (S. R. & O. 1927, No. 55), Art. 13 (1) (b), in App. II., post, at p. 3684.

Damage to be made good in addition to penalty.

153. [Penalties to be sued for within six months. Repealed by the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1884. See now the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1848, s. 11.]

154. If, through any act, neglect, or default, on account whereof any person shall have incurred any penalty imposed by this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, any damage to the property of the company shall have been committed by such person, he shall be liable to make good such damage, as well as to pay such penalty; and the amount of such damages shall, in case of dispute, be determined by the justices by whom the party incurring such penalty shall have been convicted; and on nonpayment of such damages, on demand, the same shall be levied by distress, and such justices, or one of them, shall issue their or his warrant accordingly.

Penalty on witnesses making default.

155. It shall be lawful for any justice to summon any person to appear before him as a witness in any matter in which such justice shall have jurisdiction, under the provisions of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, at a time and place mentioned in such summons, and to administer to him an oath to testify the truth in such matter; and if any person so summoned shall, without reasonable excuse, refuse or neglect to appear at the time and place appointed for that purpose, having been paid or tendered a reasonable sum for his expenses, or if any person appearing shall refuse to be examined upon oath or to give evidence before such justice, every such person shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence (a).

(a) This section is repealed as to England and Wales so far as relates to any matter to which the S. J. Acts apply (47 & 48 Vict. c. 43, s. 4).

Transient offenders.

156. It shall be lawful for any officer or agent of the company, and all persons called by him to his assistance, to seize and detain any person who shall have committed any offence against the provisions of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, and whose name and residence shall be unknown to such officer or agent, and convey him, with all convenient despatch, before some justice, without any warrant or other authority than this or the special Act; and such justice shall proceed with all convenient despatch to the hearing and determining of the complaint against such offender.

157. [Form of conviction. Repealed by Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1884.]

Proceedings not to be quashed for want of form, etc.

158. No proceeding in pursuance of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, shall be quashed or vacated for want of form, nor shall the same be removed by certiorari or otherwise into any of the superior courts.

Appeal.

Parties allowed to appeal to quarter sessions on giving security.

159. If any party shall feel aggrieved by any determination or adjudication of any justice with respect to any penalty or forfeiture under the provisions of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, such party may appeal to the general quarter sessions . . . (a).

Court to make such order as they think reasonable.

160. At the quarter sessions for which such notice shall be given the court shall proceed to hear and determine the appeal in a summary way, or they may, if they think fit, adjourn it to the following sessions; and upon the hearing of such appeal the court may, if they think fit, mitigate any penalty or forfeiture, or they may conform or quash the adjudication, and order any money paid by the appellant, or levied by distress upon his goods, to be returned to him, and may also order such further satisfaction to be made to the party injured as they may judge reasonable; and they may make such order concerning the costs, both of the adjudication and of the appeal, as they may think reasonable.

THE LANDS CLAUSES CONSOLIDATION ACT, 1845.

(8 & 9 VICT. C. 18) (a).

An Act for consolidating in one Act certain Provisions usually inserted in Acts authorising the taking of Lands for Undertakings of a public nature.

[8th May 1845.]

Act to apply to all undertakings authorised by Acts hereafter to be passed.

[1.] This Act shall apply to every undertaking authorised by any Act which shall hereafter (b) be passed, and which shall authorise the purchase or taking of lands for such undertaking, and this Act shall be incorporated with such Act; and all the clauses and provisions of this Act, save so far as they shall be expressly varied or excepted by any such Act, shall apply to the undertaking authorised thereby, so far as the same shall be applicable to such undertaking, and shall, as well as the clauses and provisions of every other Act which shall be incorporated with such Act, form part of such Act, and be construed together therewith as forming one Act (c).

(a) This Act is incorporated with the P. H. A., 1875, s. 176, ante, p. 436, except as therein mentioned. It is also incorporated with other Acts included in this Appendix, e.g., the Baths and Washhouses Act, 1847, s. 4, post, p. 2213. It is amended by 23 & 24 Vict. c. 106; 46 & 47 Vict. c. 15; 58 & 59 Vict. c. 11. It should be noticed, however, that in the application of the provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts in some cases, these provisions have been largely modified by recent legislation. The Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1908, s. 39, ante, p. 1172, incorporates the Lands Clauses Acts with reference to the compulsory acquisition of land subject to the modifications contained in Sched. I. to that Act. A similar provision is contained in s. 40 (4) of the Housing Act, 1925, ante, p. 1415. Reference may also be made to s. 20 (2) and Sched. III., ibid., ante, p. 1396. See also, the Defence of the Realm (Acquisition of Land) Act, 1916, post, p. 2742, and the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, ante, p. 1278. And reference must be made to the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919, ante, p. 1271, which provides generally for the procedure as to the assessment of compensation in respect of land acquired compulsorily for public purposes, and largely supersedes the provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts in cases to which it applies.

(b) See, as to a corporation incorporated before 1845, but empowered to take lands under later Acts, In re Mills' Estate (1887), 34 Ch. D. 24; 51 J. P. 151. A private charity incorporated by charter is not an undertaking of a public nature within the meaning of this Act (Re Sion College (1887), 57 L. T. (N.S.) 743).

(c) The preamble and part of s. 1 were repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1891.

Note to Section 1.

And with respect to the construction of this Act and of Acts to be incorporated therewith, be it enacted as follows:

Interpretation.

2. The expression "the special Act," used in this Act, shall be construed to mean any Act which shall be hereafter passed which shall authorise the taking of lands for the undertaking to which the same relates, and with which this Act shall be so incorporated as aforesaid; and the word "prescribed" used in this Act, in reference to any matter herein stated, shall be construed to refer to such matter as the same shall be prescribed or provided for in the special Act, and the sentence in which such word shall occur shall be construed as if instead of the word "prescribed" the expression "prescribed for that purpose in the special Act" had been used; and the expression "the works" or "the undertaking" shall mean the works or undertaking, of whatever nature, which shall by the special Act be authorised to be executed; and the expression "the promoters of the undertaking" shall mean the parties, whether company, undertakers, commissioners, trustees, corporations, or private persons, by the special Act empowered to execute such works or undertaking (a).

"Special Act." "Prescribed." "The works." "Promoters of the undertaking."

(a) As to the meaning of these expressions when read as incorporated with the P. H. A., 1875, see s. 316 of that Act, ante, p. 655.

3. The following words and expressions, both in this and the special Act, shall have the several meanings hereby assigned to them, unless there be something either in the subject or context repugnant to such construction; (that is to say,)

Interpretations in this and the special Act.

Words importing the singular number only shall include the plural number, and words importing the plural number only shall include the singular number: — Number.

Words importing the masculine gender only shall include females: — Gender.

The word "lands" shall extend to messuages, lands, tenements, and hereditaments of any tenure (a): — "Lands."

The word "lease" shall include an agreement for a lease: — "Lease."

The word "month" shall mean calendar month: — "Month."

The expression "superior courts" shall mean her Majesty's superior courts of record at Westminster . . . (b): — "Superior courts."

The word "oath" shall include affirmation in the case of Quakers, or other declaration lawfully substituted for an oath in the case of any other persons exempted by law from the necessity of taking an oath: — "Oath."

The word "county" shall include any riding or other like division of a county and shall also include county of a city or county of a town: — "County."

The word "sheriff" shall include under sheriff, or other legally competent deputy; and where any matter in relation to any lands is required to be done by any sheriff, or by any clerk of the peace, the expression "the sheriff," or the expression "the clerk of the peace," shall in such case be construed to mean the sheriff or the clerk of the peace of the county, city, borough, liberty, cinque port, or place where such lands shall be situate; and if the lands in question, being the property of one and the same party, be situate not wholly in one county, city, borough, liberty, cinque port, or place, the same expression shall be construed to mean the sheriff or clerk of the peace of any county, city, borough, liberty, cinque port, or place where any part of such lands shall be situate: — "Sheriff." "Clerk of the peace."

Section 3.

"Justices." The word "justices" shall mean justices of the peace acting for the county, city, liberty, cinque port, or place where the matter requiring the cognizance of any such justice shall arise, and who shall not be interested in the matter; and where such matter shall arise in respect of lands, being the property of one and the same party, situate not wholly in any one county, city, borough, liberty, cinque port, or place, the same shall mean a justice acting for the county, city, borough, liberty, cinque port, or place where any part of such lands shall be situate, and who shall not be interested in such matter; and where any matter shall be authorised or required to be done by two justices, "Two justices." the expression "two justices" shall be understood to mean two justices assembled and acting together:

"Owner." Where under the provisions of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, any notice shall be required to be given to the owner of any lands, or where any act shall be authorised or required to be done with the consent of any such owner, the word "owner" shall be understood to mean any person or corporation who, under the provisions of this or the special Act, would be enabled to sell and convey lands to the promoters of the undertaking (c):

"The Bank." The expression "the Bank" shall mean the Bank of England where the same shall relate to moneys to be paid or deposited in respect of lands situate in England . . . (b):

(a) It seems to be doubtful whether the definition includes incorporeal hereditaments, such as easements. See G. W. Rail. Co. v. Swindon, etc. Rail. Co. (1884), 9 App. Cas. 787; 48 J. P. 921; and per VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, L.J., in Re City and South London Railway and St. Mary Woolnoth, [1903] 2 K. B. at p. 737. Compare the definition in the P. H. A., 1875, s. 4, ante, p. 8; and see s. 176, ante, p. 436, and notes. The definition of "land" in the Law of Property Act, 1925, and the Settled Land Act, 1925, is much wider than the definition in the text and this fact should be borne in mind when construing the provisions of those Acts referred to in the notes to this Act.

(b) Words relating to Ireland only are omitted here.

(c) This definition includes mortgagees of land who have a power of sale. See Martin v. L. C. & D. Ry. (1866), 1 Ch. App. 501; R. v. Middlesex (Clerk of Peace of), [1914] 3 K. B. 259. The extended powers of sale conferred by the Settled Land Act, 1925, should be borne in mind in connection with this definition.

Short title of the Act.

4. In citing this Act in other Acts of Parliament and in legal instruments it shall be sufficient to use the expression "The Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845" (a).

Form in which portions of this Act may be incorporated with other Acts.

5. And whereas it may be convenient in some cases to incorporate with Acts of Parliament hereafter to be passed some portion only of the provisions of this Act: Be it therefore enacted, that for the purpose of making any such incorporation it shall be sufficient in any such Act to enact that the clauses of this Act with respect to the matter so proposed to be incorporated (describing such matter as it is described in this Act in the words introductory to the enactment with respect to such matter), shall be incorporated with such Act, and thereupon all the clauses and provisions of this Act with respect to the matter so incorporated shall, save so far as they shall be expressly varied or excepted by such Act, form part of such Act, and such Act shall be construed as if the substance of such clauses and provisions were set forth therein with reference to the matter to which such Act shall relate.

Purchase of lands by agreement.

And with respect to the purchase of lands by agreement, be it enacted as follows:

Power to purchase lands by agreement.

6. Subject to the provisions of this and the special Act it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking to agree with the owners of any lands by the special Act authorised to be taken, and which shall be required for the purposes of such Act, and with all parties having any estate or interest in such lands, or by this or the special Act enabled to sell and convey the same, for the absolute purchase, for a consideration in money, of any such lands, or such parts thereof as they shall think proper, and of all estates and interests in such lands of what kind soever (a).

(a) See Errington v. Metropolitan District Rail. Co. (1882), 19 Ch. D. 559. A person having a mere possessory title, good against every one but the lawful owner and in course of becoming absolute as against him, has a primâ facie right to compensation (Perry v. Clissold, [1907] A. C. 73).

The promoters cannot bind themselves not to use their statutory powers in respect of any portion of the lands taken, even though the owner agrees to accept a smaller sum by way of compensation in consideration of a restriction in the conveyance on the user of the lands (Ayr Harbour Trustees v. Oswald (1883), 8 App. Cas. 623; Re S. E. Rail. Co. and Wiffin's Contract, [1907] 2 Ch. 366). And see Stourcliffe Estates Co., Ltd. v. Bournemouth Corporation, [1910] 2 Ch. 12; 74 J. P. 289. See, however, a special power of this nature in relation to improvement lines given by P. H. A., 1925, s. 33 (7), ante, p. 1577.

Parties under disability enabled to sell and convey.

7 (a). It shall be lawful for all parties, being seised, possessed of, or entitled to any such lands, or any estate or interest therein, to sell and convey or release the same to the promoters of the undertaking, and to enter into all necessary agreements for that purpose; and particularly it shall be lawful for all or any of the following parties so seised, possessed, or entitled as aforesaid so to sell, convey, or release; (that is to say,) all corporations, tenants in tail (b) or for life, married women seised in their own right (c) or entitled to dower, guardians, committees of lunatics and idiots (d), trustees or feoffees in trust for charitable or other purposes, executors and administrators (e), and all parties for the time being entitled to the receipt of the rents and profits of any such lands in possession or subject to any estate in dower, or to any lease for life, or for lives and years, or for years, or any less interest; and the power so to sell and convey or release as aforesaid may lawfully be exercised by all such parties, other than married women entitled to dower, or lessees for life, or for lives and years, of for years, or for any less interest, not only on behalf of themselves and their respective heirs, executors, administrators, and successors, but also for and on behalf of every person entitled in reversion, remainder, or expectancy after them, or in defeasance of the estates of such parties, and as to such married women, whether they be of full age or not, as if they were sole and of full age, and as to such guardians, on behalf of their wards, and as to such committees, on behalf of the lunatics and idiots of whom they are the committees respectively, and that to the same extent as such wives, wards, lunatics and idiots respectively could have exercised the same power under the authority of this or the special Act if they had respectively been under no disability, and as to such trustees, executors, and administrators, on behalf of their cestui que trusts, whether infants, issue unborn, lunatics, femes covert, or other persons, and that to the same extent as such cestui que trusts respectively could have exercised the same powers under the authority of this and the special Act if they had respectively been under no disability.

(a) This section is to take effect as if the references to the disabilities which were removed by the Law of Property Act, 1922 (see now the Settled Land Act, 1925 (15 Geo. 5, c. 18)), had been omitted (15 Geo. 5, c. 5, Sched. IX. 2). Under the Settled Land Act a tenant for life (ss. 38, 39 (5) and 58), a tenant in tail in possession (s. 20 (1) (i)), a married woman (s. 20 (1) (x) and s. 25) and trustees for charitable, ecclesiastical or public trusts or purposes (s. 29) are given powers of sale. The powers of dealing with settled property and of property subject to equitable interests is outside the scope of this work and is too involved a subject to permit of being effectively dealt with in a note. Reference should, therefore, be made to one of the standard works on the Law of Property Act, 1925, the Settled Land Act, 1925, and the Administration of Estates Act, 1925.

Note to Section 7.

(b) Even if the estate tail is inalienable; but this statute does not extend to the Crown (In re Cuckfield Burial Board (1856), 19 Beav. 153).

(c) The trustees of land for married women, who are absolutely entitled for their separate use, cannot contract to sell under this section (Peters v. Lewes and East Grinstead Rail. Co. (1881), 18 Ch. D. 429).

(d) Note that only the committee, not the lunatic, can sell. See Re Tugwell (1884), 27 Ch. D. 309).

(e) This means executors and administrators who are seised, possessed of, or entitled to land or any estate or interest therein, and not executors or administrators who have only a power of sale (Re Barrow-in-Furness Corporation and Rawlinson's Contracts, [1903] 1 Ch. 339). See also the Administration of Estates Act, 1925.

Parties under disability to exercise other powers.

8. The power hereinafter given to enfranchise copyhold lands (a), as well as every other power required to be exercised by the lord of any manor pursuant to the provisions of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, and the power to release lands from any rent, charge, or incumbrance, and to agree for the apportionment of any such rent, charge, or incumbrance, shall extend to and may lawfully be exercised by every party hereinbefore enabled to sell and convey or release lands to the promoters of the undertaking.

Amount of compensation in case of parties under disability to be ascertained by valuation, and paid into the Bank.

9. The purchase money or compensation to be paid for any lands to be purchased or taken from any party under any disability or incapacity, and not having power to sell or convey such lands except under the provisions of this or the special Act, and the compensation to be paid for any permanent damage or injury to any such lands, shall not, except where the same shall have been determined by the verdict of a jury, or by arbitration, or by the valuation of a surveyor appointed by two justices under the provision hereinafter contained, be less than shall be determined by the valuation of two able practical surveyors, one of whom shall be nominated by the promoters of the undertaking, and the other by the other party (a), and if such two surveyors cannot agree in the valuation, then by such third surveyor as any two justices shall, upon application of either party, after notice to the other party, for that purpose nominate; and each of such two surveyors, if they agree, or if not, then the surveyor nominated by the said justices, shall annex to the valuation a declaration in writing subscribed by them or him, of the correctness thereof; and all such purchase money or compensation shall be deposited in the Bank for the benefit of the parties interested, in manner hereinafter mentioned (b).

(a) The surveyor must not be the party himself (Peters v. Lewes, etc. Rail. Co., ante, supra).

(b) See s. 69, post, p. 2109. The declaration in writing is necessary before a claim can be made for specific performance (Bridgend Gas and Water Co. v. Dunraven (1886), 31 Ch. D. 219). See note (a) to s. 7, ante, p. 2091. "Where a purchaser has power to acquire land "compulsorily and a contract, whether by virtue of a notice to treat or otherwise is sub"sisting under which title can be made without payment of the compensation money into "court, title shall be made in that way unless the purchaser, to avoid expense or delay or "for any special reason, considers it expedient that the money should be paid into court" (s. 42 (7), Law of Property Act, 1925 (15 Geo. 5, c. 20)).

Where vendor absolutely entitled, lands may be sold on chief rents.

10. It shall be lawful for any person seised in fee of or entitled to dispose of absolutely for his own benefit any lands authorised to be purchased for the purposes of the special Act to sell and convey such lands or any part thereof unto the promoters of the undertaking in consideration of an annual rent-charge payable by the promoters of the undertaking, but, except as aforesaid, the consideration to be paid for the purchase of any such lands, or for any damage done thereto, shall be in a gross sum (a).

Note to Section 10.

(a) So much of this section as provides that, save in the case of lands of which any person is seised in fee, or entitled to dispose absolutely for his own benefit, the consideration to be paid for any lands or for any damage done thereto shall be in a gross sum, was repealed by 23 & 24 Vict. c. 106, s. 1. The power to sell for an annual rent-charge provided by this section is extended by 23 & 24 Vict. c. 106, s. 2, post, to parties under disability. The amount of the rent-charge is under s. 4 of that Act to be settled in manner directed by s. 9, supra. The Law of Property Act, 1922, 12 & 13 Geo. 5. c. 16, s. 39, provided that the power conferred by s. 10 to sell and convey land in consideration of an annual rent-charge shall extend to a tenant for life in like manner in all respects as if he had been entitled to dispose of the settled land absolutely for his own benefit, and accordingly, s. 4 of the Lands Clauses Act, 1860, shall not apply to such a sale. That section is, however, repealed by the Settled Land Act, 1925 (15 Geo. 5, c. 18), which does not contain an identical provision though the same effect results from the combined operation of ss. 38 and 39, ibid., and s. 9 and Sched. IX. of the Law of Property (Amendment) Act, 1924 (15 Geo. 5, c. 5). See also note (a) to s. 7, ante, p. 2091. On a contract of sale for a yearly rentcharge, under which the undertakers have entered, the vendor has no lien for arrears of the rentcharge (Earl of Jersey v. Briton Ferry Floating Dock Co. (1869), L. R. 7 Eq. 409).

Payment of rents to be charged on tolls.

11. The yearly rents reserved by any such conveyance shall be charged on the tolls or rates, if any, payable under the special Act, and shall be otherwise secured in such manner as shall be agreed between the parties (a), and shall be paid by the promoters of the undertaking as such rents become payable; and if at any time such rents be not paid within thirty days after they so become payable, and after demand thereof in writing, the person to whom any such rent shall be payable may either recover the same from the promoters of the undertaking, with costs of suit, by action of debt in any of the superior courts, or it shall be lawful for him to levy the same by distress of the goods and chattels of the promoters of the undertaking (b).

(a) E.g., by a power of entry (Forster v. Manchester and Milford Rail. Co. (1880), 49 L. J. Ch. 454).

(b) The power given by this section is extended by 23 & 24 Vict. c. 106, s. 2, post, to persons under a disability. As to the removal of certain classes of persons from this category, see note (a) to s. 7, ante, p. 2091. The holder of a rentcharge may be allowed leave to distrain, notwithstanding the appointment of a receiver (Eyton v. Denbigh, Ruthin, and Corwen Rail. Co. (1869), L. R. 6 Eq. 14, 488). The rentcharge is a first charge upon the land conveyed, but upon that land only (Eyton v. Denbigh, Ruthin, and Corwen Rail. Co. (1869), L. R. 7 Eq. 439).

Power to purchase lands required for additional accommodation.

12. In case the promoters of the undertaking shall be empowered by the special Act to purchase lands for extraordinary purposes, it shall be lawful for all parties who, under the provisions hereinbefore contained, would be enabled to sell and convey lands, to sell and convey the lands so authorised to be purchased for extraordinary purposes.

Authority to sell and re-purchase such lands.

13. It shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking to sell the lands which they shall have so acquired for extraordinary purposes, or any part thereof, in such manner, and for such considerations, and to such persons, as the promoters of the undertaking may think fit, and again to purchase other lands for the like purposes, and afterwards sell the same, and so from time to time; but the total quantity of land to be held at any one time by the promoters of the undertaking for the purposes aforesaid shall not exceed the prescribed quantity.

Restraint on purchase from incapacitated persons.

14. The promoters of the undertaking shall not, by virtue of the power to purchase land for extraordinary purposes (a), purchase more than the prescribed quantity from any party under legal disability, or who would not be able to sell and convey such lands except under the powers of this and the special Act; and if the promoters of the undertaking purchase the said quantity of land from any party under such legal disability, and afterwards sell the whole or any part of the land so purchased, it shall not be lawful for any party being under legal disability to sell to the promoters

Section 14. of the undertaking any other lands in lieu of the land so sold or disposed of by them (b).

(a) See Hooper v. Bourne (1877), 3 Q. B. D., at p. 272. And see also s. 175 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 412.

(b) As to persons under disability, see note (a) to s. 7 on p. 2091, ante.

Municipal corporations not to sell without the approbation of the Treasury.

15. Nothing in this or the special Act contained shall enable any municipal corporation to sell for the purposes of the special Act, without the approbation of the Treasury, any lands which they could not have sold without such approbation before the passing of the special Act, other than such lands as the company are by the powers of this or the special Act empowered to purchase or take compulsorily.

Purchase of lands otherwise than by agreement.

And with respect to the purchase and taking of lands otherwise than by agreement, be it enacted as follows (a):

(a) Sections 16 and 17 relate to the subscription of capital before these clauses are put in force. They are not set out here, as they cannot apply to local authorities.

This group of sections relates to the compulsory acquisition of land. As already stated in note (a) on p. 2088, ante, they have been modified in their application to certain cases. The P. H. A., 1875, s. 176, ante, p. 436, contains certain conditions upon which these clauses may be put in force. But the assessment of compensation in respect of land acquired compulsorily for public purposes is now regulated by the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919, 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 57. See that Act, ante, p. 1271.

Mortgagees of land with a power of sale are entitled under these clauses to all the rights of owners. See R. v. Middlesex (Clerk of the Peace of), [1914] 3 K. B. 259.

As to the power of the Crown to take lands without payment of compensation in time of war, see Re a petition of right, [1915] 3 K. B. 649; 84 L. J. K. B. 1961; 32 T. L. R. 699; Att.-Gen. v. De Keyser's Royal Hotel, [1920] A. C. 508.

Notice of intention to take lands.

18. When the promoters of the undertaking shall require to purchase or take any of the lands which by this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, they are authorised to purchase or take (a), they shall give notice thereof to all the parties interested in such lands, or to the parties enabled by this Act to sell and convey or release the same, or such of the said parties as shall, after diligent inquiry, be known to the promoters of the undertaking, and by such notice shall demand from such parties the particulars of their estate and interest in such lands, and of the claims (b) made by them in respect thereof; and every such notice shall state the particulars of the lands so required, and that the promoters of the undertaking are willing to treat for the purchase thereof, and as to the compensation to be made to all parties for the damage that may be sustained by them by reason of the execution of the works (c).

(a) As to the meaning of these words, see Spencer v. Metropolitan Board of Works (1882), 22 Ch. D. 142. The corporation of a borough, being empowered by a local Act which incorporated this Act to erect and maintain in, on, over, or under any street in which their tramways were laid poles and posts for the purpose of working the tramways by mechanical power, were held not to have taken land within the meaning of this Act by erecting a post on it in the pavement forming part of a street, and that a preliminary notice to or consent by the owner of the soil in order to justify their action was not required (Escott v. Newport Corporation, [1904] 2 K. B. 369; 68 J. P. 135).

(b) W. was the lessor, and S. was the lessee of premises the frontage of which was compulsorily acquired by a tramway company under statutory powers. W. had claimed a certain sum as the present value of the frontage deferred until the expiration of the lease, and had accepted an offer by the company of a smaller sum "for the purchase of the interest claimed by you." S. on assigning the lessee's interest in the frontage covenanted with the company to pay the whole rent reserved by his lease. On an originating summons, W. asked to be declared entitled to require the company to procure from S. at their own expense a covenant by S. with W. to pay the whole rent reserved without deduction for severance. It was held that as W. had not put forward his claim on the ground that he would be deprived of any portion of the rent, there was no contract between

Note to Section 18.

W. and the company for the covenant asked for (In re Way and London United Tramways Co., Ltd. (1908), 125 L. T. Jo. 594).

(c) If notice to treat is served before applying to Parliament for power to take land, and the Act gives power to take more land than that described in the notice, such additional land may be taken, though it was not included in the notice (In re Corporation of Huddersfield and Jacomb (1875), L. R. 10 Ch. 92). After notice to treat an owner cannot deal with his property so as to cast any additional expense on the undertakers (In re Marylebone Improvement Act (1871), L. R. 12 Eq. 389; Metropolitan Rail. Co. v. Woodhouse (1864), 34 L. J. Ch. 297; 12 L. T. (N.S.) 113); nor can he deal with other property not included in the notice to treat, but injuriously affected by the proposed works, so as to give persons bonâ fide acquiring an interest in such property a right to compensation for injurious affection (Mercer v. Liverpool, St. Helens, and South Lancashire Rail. Co., [1904] A. C. 461; 68 J. P. 533). An owner may before acceptance withdraw and amend his claim, therefore where an owner (possessing a leasehold interest) claims for disturbance and makes no claim in respect of the leasehold interest and subsequent to the notice to treat and before his claim is accepted, assigns his leasehold interest, his assignee is in the same position as the owner and can withdraw or amend the claim either expressly or by sending in a claim in respect of the leasehold interest wholly inconsistent with the original claim. The undertakers cannot on receipt of such a claim ignore the assignee and continue to treat and contract with the original owner (Cardiff Corporation v. Cook, [1923] 2 Ch. 115; 87 J. P. 90). But he may transfer his interest in toto (Sewell v. Harrow and Uxbridge Rail. Co. (1904), 19 T. L. R. 130; settled on appeal, 20 T. L. R. 21; see also Zick v. London United Tramways, Ltd., [1908] 2 K. B. 126; 72 J. P. 257). The mere fact that the promoters have already taken possession of the property does not preclude them from their statutory right to give notice to treat (Cooke v. London C. C., [1911] 1 Ch. 604; 75 J. P. 309). For a case where a builder after notice to treat suspended operations, having obtained an extension of time under his agreement, see Birmingham and District Land Co. v. L. & N. W. Rail. Co. (1889), 40 Ch. D. 268. Where notice to treat is given in respect of part only of the land comprised in a building agreement, the building agreement may be still binding in respect of the land not included (Re Furness and Willesden U. D. C. (1906), 70 J. P. 25; 22 T. L. R. 52). As to what expenditure by an owner can be recovered as thrown away, and therefore damage by reason of the execution of the works, see Re Streatham and General Estates Co. (1886), 4 T. L. R. 766. Notice to treat operates to release the landowner from any restrictive covenants that he may be under in respect of the land comprised in it (Bailey v. De Crespigny (1869), L. R. 4 Q. B. 180). The remedy of the covenantee is, under s. 68, for compensation from the undertakers, and not for an injunction or damages (Kirby v. Harrogate School Board, [1896] 1 Ch. 437; 60 J. P. 182; Long Eaton Recreation Grounds Co. v. Midland Rail. Co., [1902] 2 K. B. 574; 67 J. P. 1). But a lessor may recover substantial damages for breach of covenant to repair committed after notice to treat and before assignment to the promoters (Mills v. East London Union (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 79). Notice to treat does not make the landowner's claim for compensation an attachable debt before the compensation has been assessed (Richardson v. Elmit (1877), 2 C. P. D. 9). Where notice to treat is properly withdrawn, a second notice can be given provided the time limited under s. 123, post, p. 2132, has not expired (Ashton Vale Iron Co. v. Bristol Corporation, [1901] 1 Ch. 591). Persons known to be equitable mortgagees having a lien over the lands proposed to be taken, ought to be served with notice to treat as being "parties interested" (Martin v. L. C. & D. Rail. Co. (1866), 1 Ch. App. 501). And see R. v. Middlesex (Clerk of the Peace of), [1914] 3 K. B. 259.

Where a proposed road is mentioned in the particulars scheduled to a notice to treat as one of the boundaries of the land to be purchased, the same must be regarded as descriptive only, and not as passing any right to have the road constructed, or any right over land adjacent to the land to be purchased (In re London School Board and Foster (1898), 87 L. T. (N.S.) 700).

As to what is a sufficient notice to treat, see Shepherd v. Norwich Corporation (1885), 30 Ch. D. 553. The notice to treat must be for the whole estate or interest of the parties interested in the lands (In re Chilworth Gunpowder Co. and Manchester Ship Canal Co. (1891), 8 T. L. R. 79). As to the effect of a notice to treat for part only of a building, see s. 92 and notes thereto, post, p. 2121.

For a general form of notice to treat, see Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. IX., p. 42.

Service of notices on owners and occupiers of lands.

19. All notices required to be served by the promoters of the undertaking upon the parties interested in or entitled to sell any such lands shall either be served personally on such parties or left at their last usual place of abode, if any such can after diligent inquiry be found, and in case any such parties shall be absent from the United Kingdom, or cannot be found after diligent inquiry, shall also be left with the occupier of such lands, or, if there be no such occupier, shall be affixed upon some conspicuous part of such lands.

Service of notice on a corporation aggregate.

20. If any such party be a corporation aggregate such notice shall be left at the principal office of business of such corporation, or, if no such office can after diligent inquiry be found, shall be served on some principal member, if any, of such corporation, and such notice shall also be left with the occupier of such lands, or, if there be no such occupier, shall be affixed upon some conspicuous part of such lands.

If parties fail to treat or in case of dispute question to be settled as after mentioned.

21. If for twenty-one days after the service of such notice any such party shall fail to state the particulars of his claim in respect of any such land, or to treat with the promoters of the undertaking in respect thereof, or if such party and the promoters of the undertaking shall not agree as to the amount of the compensation to be paid by the promoters of the undertaking for the interest in such lands belonging to such party, or which he is by this or the special Act enabled to sell, or for any damage that may be sustained by him by reason of the execution of the works, the amount of such compensation shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for settling cases of disputed compensation (a).

Disputes as to compensation where the amount claimed does not exceed £50 to be settled by two justices.

22. If no agreement be come to between the promoters of the undertaking and the owners of or parties by this Act enabled to sell and convey or release any lands taken or required for or injuriously affected (a) by the execution of the undertaking, or any interest in such lands, as to the value of such lands or of any interest therein, or as to the compensation to be made in respect thereof, and if in any such case the compensation claimed shall not exceed fifty pounds, the same shall be settled by two justices (b).

See now the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919, ante, p. 1271.

(a) That is, if injuriously affected, whether taken or not (R. v. St. Luke's (Chelsea) Vestry (1872), L. R. 7 Q. B. 148).

(b) The summons to hear and determine the question of compensation may be issued more than six months after the service of the notice to treat (R. v. Hannay (1875), 44 L. J. M. C. 27; 31 L. T. 702. See also s. 24, post, p. 2097, and note thereto).

Compensation exceeding £50 to be settled by arbitration or jury, at the option of the party claiming compensation.

23. If the compensation claimed or offered in any such case shall exceed fifty pounds, and if the party claiming compensation desire to have the same settled by arbitration (a), and signify such desire by notice in writing to the promoters of the undertaking, before they have issued their warrant to the sheriff to summon a jury in respect of such lands, under the provisions hereinafter contained, stating in such notice the nature of the interest in respect of which such party claims compensation, and the amount of the compensation so claimed, the same shall be so settled accordingly; but unless the party claiming compensation shall as aforesaid signify his desire to have the question of such compensation settled by arbitration, or if when the matter shall have been referred to arbitration the arbitrators or their umpire shall for three months have failed to make their or his award (b), or if no final award shall be made, the question of such compensation shall be settled by the verdict of a jury, as hereinafter provided.

(a) That is, by arbitration under this Act, not under the P. H. A., 1875. See Ex parte Rayner (1878), 3 Q. B. D. 446; 42 J. P 807. But see now the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919, 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 57, ante, p. 1271, which prescribes the procedure for assessment of compensation where land is compulsorily acquired for public purposes.

Form of notice for arbitration, Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol IX., p. 50.

Service of a subsequent notice to treat in respect of a larger piece of land does not put an end to the arbitration agreed upon in respect of the compensation payable for the smaller (Rebbeck v. Bournemouth Corporation, Times, March 17th, 1902). Where an owner of two contiguous pieces of land forming an area suitable, and it may be best suited, for development and use as one building site, sells under compulsion a part of one piece as a part of that piece, and without any reference to his interest in the other piece, the purchase price for the land so contracted to be sold must be calculated without reference to the vendors interest in the other piece, and is not to be ascertained by deducting the value of what is left to the owner of the two pieces after the sale from their aggregate value immediately prior to the sale (S. E. Rail. Co. v. L. C. C., [1915] 2 Ch. 252 ; 79 J. P. 545).

(b) The umpire has a period of three months from the time when the arbitration devolves upon him (Skerratt v. North Staffordshire Rail. Co. (1848), 17 L. J. Ch. 161 ; In re Bradshaw (1848), 12 Q. B. 562 ; In re Pullen and the Mayor of Liverpool (1882), 51 L. J. Q. B. 285 ; 46 J. P. 468). The parties may by consent extend the time. The court can also extend the time for making the award even after the expiration of the three months (In re Dare Valley Rail. Co. (1869), 4 Ch. App. 554 ; Rhodes v. Airedale Drainage Commissioners (1876), 1 C. P. D. 403 ; Warburton v. Haslingden L. B. (1879), 48 L. J. Q. B. 451 ; Arbitration Act, 1889, s. 9, ante, p. 835 ; Knowles & Sons, Ltd. v. Bolton Corporation, [1900] 2 Q. B. 253).

Method of proceeding for settling disputes as to compensation by justices.

24. It shall be lawful for any justice, upon the application of either party with respect to any question of disputed compensation by this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, authorised to be settled by two justices, to summon the other party to appear before two justices, at a time and place to be named in the summons, and upon the appearance of such parties, or, in the absence of any of them, upon proof of due service of the summons, it shall be lawful for such justices to hear and determine such question, and for that purpose to examine such parties or any of them, and their witnesses, upon oath, and the costs of every such inquiry shall be in the discretion of such justices, and they shall settle the amount thereof (a).

(a) A settlement by justices under this section of the compensation due to any person is not an order within 11 & 12 Vict. c. 43, s. 11, and need not be made within six months (R. v. Edwards (1884), 13 Q. B. D. 586 ; 49 J. P. 117, overruling Re Edmundson (1851), 17 Q. B. 67).

Appointment arbitrators when questions are to be determined by arbitration.

25. When any question of disputed compensation by this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, authorised or required to be settled by arbitration shall have arisen, then, unless both parties shall concur in the appointment of a single arbitrator (a), each party, on the request of the other party, shall nominate and appoint an arbitrator, to whom such dispute shall be referred ; and every appointment of an arbitrator shall be made on the part of the promoters of the undertaking (b) under the hands of the said promoters or any two of them, or of their secretary or clerk, and on the part of any other party under the hand of such party, or if such party be a corporation aggregate under the common seal of such corporation ; and such appointment shall be delivered to the arbitrator, and shall be deemed a submission to arbitration on the part of the party by whom the same shall be made ; and after any such appointment shall have been made neither party shall have power to revoke the same without the consent of the other, nor shall the death of either party operate as a revocation ; and if for the space of fourteen days after any such dispute shall have arisen, and after a request in writing, in which shall be stated the matter so required to be referred to arbitration, shall have been served by the one party on the other party to appoint an arbitrator, such last-mentioned party fail to appoint such arbitrator, then upon such failure the party making the request, and having himself appointed an arbitrator, may appoint such arbitrator to act on behalf of both parties (c), and such arbitrator may proceed to hear and determine the matters which shall be in dispute, and in such case the award or determination of such single arbitrator shall be final.

Vacancy of arbitrator to be supplied

26. If before the matters so referred shall be determined any arbitrator appointed by either party die, or become incapable, the party by whom such arbitrator was appointed may nominate and appoint in writing (a) some other person to act in his place, and if for the space of seven days after notice in writing from the other party for that purpose he fail to do so, the remaining or other arbitrator may proceed ex parte; and every arbitrator so to be substituted as aforesaid shall have the same powers and authorities as were vested in the former arbitrator at the time of such his death or disability as aforesaid.

Appointment of umpire.

27. Where more than one arbitrator shall have been appointed such arbitrators shall, before they enter upon the matters referred to them, nominate and appoint by writing (a) under their hands an umpire to decide on any such matters on which they shall differ, or which shall be referred to him under the provisions of this or the special Act; and if such umpire shall die, or become incapable to act, they shall forthwith after such death or incapacity appoint another umpire in his place; and the decision of every such umpire on the matters so referred to him shall be final.

(a) Form of appointment of umpire, Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. IX., p. 56.

Board of Trade empowered to appoint an umpire on neglect of the arbitrators.

28. If in either of the cases aforesaid the said arbitrators shall refuse, or shall for seven days after request of either party to such arbitration neglect to appoint an umpire, the Board of Trade, in any case in which a railway company shall be one party to the arbitration, and two justices in any other case (a), shall, on the application (b) of either party to such arbitration, appoint an umpire; and the decision of such umpire on the matters on which the arbitrators shall differ, or which shall be referred to him under this or the special Act, shall be final.

(b) Form of request to Board of Trade to appoint umpire, Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. IX., p. 56.

In case of death of single arbitrator, the matter to begin de novo.

29. If when a single arbitrator shall have been appointed such arbitrator shall die or become incapable to act before he shall have made his award, the matters referred to him shall be determined by arbitration, under the provisions of this or the special Act, in the same manner as if such arbitrator had not been appointed.

If either arbitrator refuse to act, the other to proceed ex parte.

30. If where more than one arbitrator shall have been appointed either of the arbitrators refuse or for seven days neglect to act, the other arbitrator may proceed ex parte, and the decision of such other arbitrator shall be as effectual as if he had been the single arbitrator appointed by both parties (a).

(a) The appointment of an umpire is not a condition precedent to the ex parte proceedings (Shepherd v. Norwich Corporation (1885), 30 Ch. D. 553).

If arbitrators fail to make their award within twenty-one days, or

31. If where more than one arbitrator shall have been appointed, and where neither of them shall refuse or neglect to act as aforesaid, such arbitrators shall fail to make their award within twenty-one days after the day on which the last of such arbitrators shall have been appointed, or within such extended time (if any) as shall have been appointed for that purpose by both such arbitrators under their hands, the matters referred to them shall be determined by the umpire to be appointed as aforesaid (a).

extended time, the matter to go to the umpire.

(a) Form of extension of time for award, Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. IX., p. 52. The umpire's duty devolves upon him at the expiration of the time named, and the time within which he must make his award runs from that date, whether or not he has received notice of the failure of the arbitrators to make their award (Skerratt v. North Staffordshire Rail. Co., ante, p. 2097). By consent the umpire may sit with the arbitrators and make his award within the time of the arbitrators for making their award. See form of consent, Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. IX., p. 57.

Power of arbitrators to call for books, etc.

32. The said arbitrators or their umpire may call for the production of any documents in the possession or power of either party, which they or he may think necessary for determining the question in dispute, and may examine the parties or their witnesses on oath, and administer the oaths necessary for that purpose.

Arbitrator or umpire to make a declaration.

33. Before any arbitrator or umpire shall enter into the consideration of any matters referred to him, he shall in the presence of a justice (a) make and subscribe the following declaration; that is to say,

"I A. B. do solemnly and sincerely declare, that I will faithfully and honestly, and to the best of my skill and ability, hear and determine the matters referred to me under the provisions of the Act [naming the special Act.]

"A. B.

"Made and subscribed in the presence of ."

And such declaration shall be annexed to the award when made; and if any arbitrator or umpire having made such declaration shall wilfully act contrary thereto he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor (b).

(a) That is, any justice, not merely one having jurisdiction where the lands are situated (Davies v. South Staffordshire Rail. Co. (1851), 21 L. J. M. C. 52; 15 Jur. 1133).

(b) As to when a failure to make this declaration will be a ground for setting aside the award, see Levick v. Epsom, etc. Rail. Co. (1859), 1 L. T. (N.S.) 60, and cf. Ludlow Corporation v. Prosser (1906), 4 L. G. R. 940. As to the time within which the declaration may be made, see In re Bradshaw's Arbitration (1848), 12 Q. B. 562.

Costs of arbitration, how to be borne.

34. All the costs of any such arbitration, and incident thereto, to be settled by the arbitrators, shall be borne by the promoters of the undertaking, unless the arbitrators shall award the same or a less sum than shall have been offered by the promoters of the undertaking, in which case each party shall bear his own costs incident to the arbitration, and the costs of the arbitrators shall be borne by the parties in equal proportions (a).

(a) The section contemplates nothing more than an offer of money (Fisher v. G. W. Rail. Co., [1911] 1 K. B. 551). The right to costs depends upon the section, and not upon the provisions of the P. H. A. (Ex parte Rayner, ante, p. 2096). The section, however, only applies to a competent arbitration under the Act, and if there is no jurisdiction to hold the arbitration the promoters can be under no liability for costs (L. & N. W. Rail. Co. v. Walker, [1903] A. C. 289). The section applies to an offer made generally under s. 38, notwithstanding notice by the claimant under s. 23 (Lascelles v. Swansea School Board (1899), 69 L. J. Q. B. 24; 63 J. P. 742). If an offer is made but refused, and afterwards during the arbitration withdrawn by consent, and the subsequent award is less than the offer, the promoters of the undertaking cannot claim the benefit of this section (Foster v. Sheffield Corporation (1895), 59 J. P. 404; 72 L. T. (N.S.) 549). But if the award is not in respect of the same subject-matter as the offer, the claimant is entitled to costs, although the award is less than the offer (Miles v. G. W. Rail. Co., [1896] 2 Q. B. 432). Thus, where a claim was made against a railway company for compensation in respect of the diversion of a footpath and the company offered £50 in settlement of the claim upon the understanding that they would construct a new road it was held that the claimant was entitled to the costs of arbitration proceedings although he was awarded only £50 thereunder (Fisher v. G. W. Rail Co., supra). Where costs are awarded, the execution of a conveyance is not a condition precedent to the payment of such costs (Capell v. G. W. Rail. Co. (1883), 11 Q. B. D. 345). As to statement of a special case by the arbitrator, see 52 & 53 Vict. c. 49, s. 7, ante, p. 835. And as to costs, see s. 20, ibid., ante, p. 838, and In re Gonty and Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire Rail. Co., [1896] 2 Q. B. 439. Costs not included in the award cannot be afterwards given by the arbitrator (South Mimms R. D. C. v. Barnet U. D. C. (1900), 82 L. T. (N.S.) 421).

As to the taxation of the costs, see 58 & 59 Vict. c. 11, post, p. 2564; Re Cannings and Middlesex C. C., [1907] 1 K. B. 51; 71 J. P. 46, and the note to s. 35, infra. The taxing master's certificate disallowing fees charged by the arbitrator and umpires is not evidence that such fees are unreasonable or extortionate, and it must be shown that they are so in order that any part may be recovered back after payment in order to take up the award (Llandrindod Wells Water Co. v. Hawksley (1904), 68 J. P. 242; 20 T. L. R. 241). The function of the taxing master is ministerial only, not judicial, and therefore his certificate cannot be quashed on certiorari (R. v. Goff, [1905] 2 I. R. 121).

Award to be delivered to the promoters of the undertaking.

35. The arbitrators shall deliver their award in writing to the promoters of the undertaking, and the said promoters shall retain the same, and shall forthwith, on demand, at their own expense, furnish a copy thereof to the other party to the arbitration, and shall at all times, on demand, produce the said award, and allow the same to be inspected or examined by such party or any person appointed by him for that purpose (a).

(a) Form of award, Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. IX., p. 58. The promoters of the undertaking, though they have joined in the arbitration under protest, are bound to take up the award, and may be compelled to do so by mandamus (L. & N. W. Rail. Co. v. Walker, [1900] A. C. 109; 64 J. P. 483). But it is a good return that the prosecutor is not entitled to any compensation at all by reason that the lands alleged to be injuriously affected have not been so affected (R. v. Cambrian Rail. Co. (1869), L. R. 4 Q. B. 320). And if a protest on the ground of want of jurisdiction is upheld the promoters will not be liable to costs (L. & N. W. Rail. Co. v. Walker, [1903] A. C. 289). On taking up the award and paying the amount fixed by the arbitrator for so doing, including a bill of costs of solicitors employed by the umpire to draw up the award, the promoters are entitled to an order for taxation of such bill under s. 38 of the Solicitors Act, 1843 (Re Collyer-Bristow & Co., [1901] 2 K. B. 839). The order may be made in any division of the High Court (R. S. C., Order LXV., r. 26A). The process of enforcing the award remains under the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, notwithstanding s. 13 (1) of the Light Railways Act, 1896 (R. v. Barton and Immingham Light Rail. Co., Ex parte Simon, [1912] 3 K. B. 72; 76 J. P. 344).

Submission may be made a rule of court.

36. The submission to any such arbitration may be made a rule of any of the superior courts, on the application of either of the parties (a).

(a) This does not enable an award to be enforced by motion (Newbold v. Metropolitan Rail. Co. (1863), 14 C. B. (N.S.) 405; Re Walker and Beckenham L. B. (1884), 48 J. P. 264; 50 L. T. (N. S.) 207). An award may be enforced under s. 12 of the Arbitration Act, 1889, ante, p. 836, or by action. A claim for compensation under s. 68 is capable of assignment, and the assignee may bring an action in his own name to enforce the award (Dawson v. G. N. Rail. Co., [1905] 1 K. B. 260; 69 J. P. 29). The period within which an action may be brought to enforce the award is six years from the date of the award (Turner v. Midland Rail. Co., [1911] 1 K. B. 832; 75 J. P. 283).

Award not void through error in form.

37. No award made with respect to any question referred to arbitration under the provisions of this or the special Act shall be set aside for irregularity or error in matter of form (a).

(a) But it may be set aside if it include compensation in respect of a claim not legally enforceable (Beckett v. Midland Rail. Co. (1865), L. R. 1 C. P. 241). This case was considered in Campbell v. Paddington Corporation, [1911] 1 K. B. 869; 75 J. P. 277, when it was decided that where a nuisance is created by the erection of an unauthorised structure in a highway and special damage is thereby caused to a person by reason of the view from his house being obstructed, he is entitled to recover damages from the persons creating the nuisance. See also Duke of Buccleuch v. Metropolitan Board of Works (1867), L. R. 3 Ex. 320; Re Hurley and Queenstown U. D. C. (1913), 47 Ir. L. T. 117. By proceeding to arbitration the undertakers waive any misdescription of the claimant's interest (Lovering v. City of London, etc. Subway Co. (1890), 7 T. L. R. 600).

Promoters of the undertaking to give notice before summoning a jury.

38. Before the promoters of the undertaking shall issue their warrant for summoning a jury for settling any case of disputed compensation they shall give not less than ten days notice to the other party of their intention to cause such jury to be summoned; and in such notice the promoters of the undertaking shall state what sum of money they are willing to give for the interest in such lands sought to be purchased by them from such party, and for the damage to be sustained by him by the execution of the works (a).

(a) This section does not apply where the promoters have already taken or injuriously affected land in respect of which no compensation has been made, and the section is not incorporated with s. 68, which is applicable to such cases (Hayward v. Metropolitan Rail. Co. (1863), 4 B. & S. 787; 33 L. J. Q. B. 73). An irregularity in complying with this section may be waived. See Emmanuel Hospital v. Metropolitan District Rail. Co. (1869), 19 L. T. 692. See also R. v. Manley Smith (1892), 56 J. P. 729; 67 L. T. (N.S.) 197. The offer may be accepted at any time before verdict, and in such case the jury should be directed to return a verdict for the amount of the offer (R. v. High Bailiff of Westminster, [1903] 2 K. B. 189; 67 J. P. 302). And further, as to this offer, see the notes to s. 51, post, p. 2104.

Form of notice by promoters of intention to summon jury, Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. IX., p. 60.

Warrant for summoning jury to be addressed to the sheriff; or in certain cases to coroner, or to ex-sheriff or ex-coroner.

39. In every case in which any such question of disputed compensation shall be required to be determined by the verdict of a jury the promoters of the undertaking shall issue their warrant to the sheriff, requiring him to summon a jury for that purpose (a), and such warrant shall be under the common seal of the promoters of the undertaking if they be a corporation, or if they be not a corporation under the hands and seals of such promoters or any two of them; and if such sheriff be interested (b) in the matter in dispute such application shall be made to some coroner of the county in which the lands in question, or some part thereof, shall be situate; and if all the coroners of such county be so interested such application may be made to some person having filled the office of sheriff or coroner in such county, and who shall be then living there, and who shall not be interested in the matter in dispute; and with respect to the persons last mentioned preference shall be given to one who shall have most recently served either of the said offices; and every ex-sheriff, coroner, or ex-coroner shall have power, if he think fit, to appoint a deputy or assessor.

(a) Separate juries cannot be summoned in respect of each different property of the same owner included in the notice to treat (Ecclesiastical Commissioners v. Commissioners of Sewers of City of London (1872), 14 Ch. D. 305). A special jury can be had on proper notice under s. 54, post, p. 2105.

(b) As to the interest of the sheriff, see R. v. Manchester, Sheffield and Lincolnshire Rail. Co. (1867), L. R. 2 Q. B. 336; 31 J. P. 453.

Provisions applicable to sheriff to apply to coroner, or other person acting in place of sheriff.

40. Throughout the enactments contained in this Act relating to the reference to a jury, where the term "sheriff" is used, the provisions applicable thereto shall be held to apply to every coroner or other person lawfully acting in his place; and in every case in which any such warrant shall have been directed to any other person than the sheriff such sheriff shall, immediately on receiving notice of the delivery of the warrant, deliver over, on application for that purpose, to the person to whom the same shall have been directed, or to any person appointed by him to receive the same, the jurors book and special jurors list belonging to the county where the lands in question shall be situate.

Jury to be summoned.

41. Upon the receipt of such warrant the sheriff shall summon a jury of twenty-four indifferent persons, duly qualified to act as common jurymen in the superior courts, to meet at a convenient time and place to be appointed by him for that purpose, such time not being less than fourteen nor more than

Section 41. twenty-one days after the receipt of such warrant, and such place not being more than eight miles distant from the lands in question, unless by consent of the parties interested, and he shall forthwith give notice to the promoters of the works of the time and place so appointed by him (a).

(a) The sheriff must summon a fresh jury if the first inquisition has been quashed (Horrocks v. Metropolitan Rail. Co. (1865), 19 C. B. (N.S.) 139). A verdict will not be set aside on the ground that some of the jurymen were not qualified, the remedy in such case being by challenge (In re Chelsea Waterworks Co. (1854), 10 Exch. 731).

Jury to be empannelled.

42. Out of the jurors appearing upon such summons a jury of twelve persons shall be drawn by the sheriff, in such manner as juries for trials of issues joined in the superior courts are by law required to be drawn (a); and if a sufficient number of jurymen do not appear in obedience to such summons the sheriff shall return other indifferent men, duly qualified as aforesaid, of the bystanders, or others that can speedily be procured, to make up the jury to the number aforesaid; and all parties concerned may have their lawful challenges against any of the jurymen, but no such party shall challenge the array.

(a) See County Juries Act, 1825, s. 26. That section is not repealed by the Juries Act, 1922, 12 & 13 Geo. 5, c. 11.

Sheriff to preside.

Witnesses to be summoned.

View by jury.

43. The sheriff shall preside on the said inquiry, and the party claiming compensation shall be deemed the plaintiff, and shall have all such rights and privileges as the plaintiff is entitled to in the trial of actions at law (a); and if either party so request in writing, the sheriff shall summon before him any person considered necessary to be examined as a witness touching the matters in question; and on the like request the sheriff shall order the jury, or any six or more of them, to view the place or matter in controversy, in like manner as views may be had in the trial of actions in the superior courts.

(a) "These words were clearly intended to regulate the general course of the proceedings, to remove doubts concerning the right to begin, and to show in other respects how the inquisition should be conducted": per Lord DENMAN, C.J., in R. v. Gardner (1837), 6 A. & E., at p. 117. See also R. v. Sheriff of Warwickshire (1837), 2 Rail. Cas. 661.

Penalty on sheriff and jurors for default.

44. If the sheriff make default in any of the matters hereinbefore required to be done by him in relation to any such trial or inquiry, he shall forfeit fifty pounds for every such offence, and such penalty shall be recoverable by the promoters of the undertaking by action in any of the superior courts; and if any person summoned and returned upon any jury under this or the special Act, whether common or special, do not appear, or if appearing he refuse to make oath, or in any other manner unlawfully neglect his duty, he shall, unless he show reasonable excuse to the satisfaction of the sheriff, forfeit a sum not exceeding ten pounds, and every such penalty payable by the sheriff or juryman shall be applied in satisfaction of the costs of the inquiry, so far as the same will extend; and in addition to the penalty hereby imposed every such juryman shall be subject to the same regulations, pains, and penalties as if such jury had been returned for the trial of an issue joined in any of the superior courts.

Penalty on witnesses making default.

45. If any person duly summoned to give evidence upon any such inquiry, and to whom a tender of his reasonable expenses shall have been made, fail to appear at the time and place specified in the summons, without sufficient cause, or if any person, whether summoned or not, who shall appear as a witness refuse to be examined on oath touching the subject matter in question, every person so offending shall forfeit to the party aggrieved a sum not exceeding ten pounds.

Notice inquiry.

46. Not less than ten days notice of the time and place of the inquiry shall be given in writing by the promoters of the undertaking to the other party (a).

(a) Form of notice, Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. IX., p. 63.

If claimant makes default compensation to be determined by surveyor.

47. If the party claiming compensation shall not appear at the time appointed for the inquiry such inquiry shall not be further proceeded in, but the compensation to be paid shall be such as shall be ascertained by a surveyor appointed by two justices in manner hereinafter provided.

Jury to be sworn.

48. Before the jury proceed to inquire of and assess the compensation or damage in respect of which their verdict is to be given they shall make oath that they will truly and faithfully inquire of and assess such compensation or damage; and the sheriff shall administer such oaths as well as the oaths of all persons called upon to give evidence.

Sums to be paid for purchase of lands, and for damage, to be assessed separately.

49. Where such inquiry shall relate to the value of lands to be purchased, and also to compensation claimed for injury done or to be done to the lands held therewith, the jury shall deliver their verdict separately for the sum of money to be paid for the purchase of the lands required for the works, or of any interest therein belonging to the party with whom the question of disputed compensation shall have arisen, or which under the provisions herein contained he is enabled to sell or convey, and for the sum of money to be paid by way of compensation for the damage, if any, to be sustained by the owner of the lands by reason of the severing of the lands taken from the other lands of such owner, or otherwise injuriously affecting such lands by the exercise of the powers of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith (a).

As to the power of the court to quash a verdict for misdirection or improper rejection of evidence, see Streatham and General Estates Co. v. Commissioners of Public Works (1888), 52 J. P. 615.

Lands may be held with lands taken within the meaning of this section though not actually adjoining (Cowper Essex v. Acton L. B. (1889), 14 App. Cas. 153; 53 J. P. 756). See also S. E. Rail. Co. v. L. C. C., ante, p. 2097; and Holditch v. Canadian Northern Ontario Ry., cited in the note to s. 63, post, p. 2107.

Verdict and judgment to be recorded.

50. The sheriff before whom such inquiry shall be held shall give judgment for the purchase-money or compensation assessed by such jury (a); and the verdict and judgment shall be signed by the sheriff, and being so signed shall be kept by the clerk of the peace among the records of the general or quarter sessions of the county in which the lands or any part thereof shall be situate in respect of which such purchase-money or compensation shall have been awarded; and such verdicts and judgments shall be deemed records, and the same or true copies thereof shall be good evidence in all courts and elsewhere; and all persons may inspect the said verdicts and judgments, and may have copies thereof or extracts therefrom, on paying for each inspection thereof one shilling, and for every one hundred words copied or extracted therefrom sixpence, which copies or extracts the clerk of the peace is hereby required to make out, and to sign and certify the same to be true copies (b).

(a) Where a claimant has given particulars of his claim with items, he is not bound by such particulars, and the jury may award him more in respect of any particular item than the sum actually claimed in respect of it. It is doubtful, however, whether the verdict may be for a greater total sum than the total amount claimed (Robertson v. City and South London Rail. Co. (1904), 68 J. P. 280). Interest is payable not from date of verdict, but from the time when the promoters might prudently have taken possession, i.e., in a case where the title has not been accepted before verdict, when a good title is shown (In re Pigott and G. W. Rail. Co. (1881), 18 Ch. D. 146, disapproving Re Eccleshill L. B. (1879), 13 Ch. D. 365).

(b) Form of verdict, Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. IX., p. 64. The recording of the verdict and judgment is not a condition precedent to their validity (Chabot v. Lord Morpeth (1851), 15 Q. B. 446). And if not recorded, parol evidence may be given of the finding, and of the grounds on which it proceeded (Manning v. Eastern Counties Rail. Co. (1844), 12 M. & W. 237; 13 L. J. Ex. 265). The record is available as a title, no conveyance being necessary on possession being taken by the promoters after payment of the sum assessed (Bruce v. Willes (1840), 11 A. & E. 463; 9 L. J. M. C. 43). And the verdict and judgment may be enforced by mandamus, although the record is a record of quarter sessions (R. v. Nottingham Old Waterworks Co. (1837), 6 A. & E. 355; 6 L. J. K. B. 89).

Costs of the inquiry, how to be borne.

51. On every such inquiry before a jury, where the verdict of the jury shall be given for a greater sum than the sum previously offered (a) by the promoters of the undertaking, all the costs of such inquiry shall be borne by the promoters of the undertaking; but if the verdict of the jury be given for the same or a less sum than the sum previously offered by the promoters of the undertaking, or if the owner of the lands shall have failed to appear at the time and place appointed for the inquiry, having received due notice thereof, one-half of the costs of summoning, impannelling, and returning the jury, and of taking the inquiry and recording the verdict and judgment thereon, in case such verdict shall be taken, shall be defrayed by the owner of the lands, and the other half by the promoters of the undertaking, and each party shall bear his own costs, other than as aforesaid, incident to such inquiry (b).

(a) This applies only to an offer made under s. 38 (R. v. Manley Smith (1884), 12 Q. B. D. 481).

(b) The claimant is not entitled to any costs if an award is made in his favour in respect of a claim for which he has no right to compensation (Todd v. Metropolitan District Rail. Co. (1871), 24 L. T. (N.S.) 435; 19 W. R. 720). As to the offer of compensation, see s. 38, ante, p. 2101. As to costs of an abortive inquiry, see R. v. North London Rail. Co. (1882), 51 L. J. Q. B. 241; 30 W. R. 272. The conveyance by the owner is not a condition precedent to the payment of costs due to him (Capell v. G. W. Rail. Co. (1883), 11 Q. B. D. 345; 47 J. P. 246). Where the sum awarded was paid into court and the taxed costs paid to the claimant who afterwards was found to have no title, it was held that the costs so paid could not be recovered back (London C. C. v. Campbell (1888), 6 T. L. R. 420).

Particulars of the costs.

52. The costs of any such inquiry shall, in case of difference, be settled by one of the masters of the Court of Queen's Bench of England or Ireland, according as the lands are situate, on the application of either party, and such costs shall include all reasonable costs, charges and expenses incurred in summoning, impannelling, and returning the jury, taking the inquiry, the attendance of witnesses, the employment of counsel and attornies, recording the verdict and judgment thereon, and otherwise incident to such inquiry (a).

(a) The Chancery taxing masters whose office is amalgamated with and who are themselves transferred to the Central Office by general rules pursuant to the Supreme Court of Judicature (Officers) Act, 1879, which came into operation on January 11th, 1902, now have jurisdiction to tax these costs (Covington v. Metropolitan District Rail. Co., [1903] 1 K. B. 231). The decision of the master cannot be reviewed (Sandback Charity Trustees v. North Staffordshire Rail. Co. (1878), 3 Q. B. D. 1).

See also as to the taxation of the costs, 58 & 59 Vict. c. 11, post, p. 2564.

Payment of costs.

53. If any such costs shall be payable by the promoters of the undertaking, and if within seven days after demand such costs be not paid to the party entitled to receive the same, they shall be recoverable by distress, and on application to any justice he shall issue his warrant accordingly (a); and if any such costs shall be payable by the owner of the lands, or of any interest therein the same may be deducted and retained by the promoters of the undertaking, out of any money awarded by the jury to such owner, or determined by the valuation of a surveyor under the provision hereinafter contained; and the payment or deposit of the remainder, if any, of such money shall be deemed payment and satisfaction of the whole thereof, or if such costs shall exceed the amount of the money so awarded or determined the excess shall be recoverable by distress, and on application to any justice he shall issue his warrant accordingly.

Section 53.

(a) On proof of the allocatur, of the demand for payment, and non-compliance within seven days, the justice is bound to issue his warrant (Metropolitan Rail. Co. v. Turnham (1863), 14 C. B. (N.S.) 212). As regards the warrant and its execution the S. J. Acts will apply. See, particularly, the S. J. A., 1879, ss. 39 (4) and 43 (1), (8).

Special jury to be summoned at the request of either party.

54. If either party desire any such question of disputed compensation as aforesaid to be tried before a special jury, such question shall be so tried, provided that notice of such desire, if coming from the other party, be given to the promoters of the undertaking before they have issued their warrant to the sheriff; and for that purpose the promoters of the undertaking shall by their warrant to the sheriff require him to nominate a special jury for such trial; and thereupon the sheriff shall, as soon as conveniently may be after the receipt by him of such warrant, summon both the parties to appear before him, by themselves or their attornies, at some convenient time and place appointed by him, for the purpose of nominating a special jury (not being less than five nor more than eight days from the service of such summons); and at the place and time so appointed the sheriff shall proceed to nominate and strike a special jury, in the manner in which such juries shall be required by the laws for the time being in force to be nominated or struck by the proper officers of the superior courts, and the sheriff shall appoint a day, not later than the eighth day after striking of such jury, for the parties or their agents to appear before him to reduce the number of such jury, and thereof shall give four days notice to the parties; and on the day so appointed the sheriff shall proceed to reduce the said special jury to the number of twenty in the manner used and accustomed by the proper officers of the superior courts (a).

(a) Form of warrant for special jury, Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. IX., p. 61; Form of notice of time and place for nomination, ibid., p. 62. The special jury must be summoned if notice is given within twenty-one days limited by s. 68 without any further extension of time (Glyn v. Aberdare Rail. Co. (1859), 6 C. B. (N.S.) 359).

Deficiency of special jurymen.

55. The special jury on such inquiry shall consist of twelve of the said twenty who shall first appear on the names being called over, the parties having their lawful challenges against any of the said jurymen; and if a full jury do not appear, or if after such challenges a full jury do not remain, then, upon the application of either party, the sheriff shall add to the list of such jury the names of any other disinterested persons qualified to act as special or common jurymen, who shall not have been previously struck off the aforesaid list, and who may then be attending the court, or can speedily be procured, so as to complete such jury, all parties having their lawful challenges against such persons; and the sheriff shall proceed to the trial and adjudication of the matters in question by such jury; and such trial shall be attended in all respects with the like incidents and consequences, and the like penalties shall be applicable, as hereinbefore provided in the case of a trial by common jury.

Other inquiries before same special jury by consent.

56. Any other inquiry than that for the trial of which such special jury may have been struck and reduced as aforesaid may be tried by such jury, provided the parties thereto respectively shall give their consent to such trial.

Jurymen not to attend more than once a year.

57. No juryman shall, without his consent, be summoned or required to attend any such proceeding as aforesaid more than once in any year.

Section 58.

Compensation to absent parties to be determined by a surveyor appointed by two justices.

58. The purchase-money or compensation to be paid for any lands to be purchased or taken by the promoters of the undertaking from any party who, by reason of absence from the kingdom, is prevented from treating, or who cannot after diligent inquiry be found, or who shall not appear at the time appointed for the inquiry before the jury as hereinbefore provided for, after due notice thereof, and the compensation to be paid for any permanent injury to such lands, shall be such as shall be determined by the valuation of such able practicable surveyor as two justices shall nominate for that purpose as hereinafter mentioned.

Two justices to nominate a surveyor.

59. Upon application (a) by the promoters of the undertaking to two justices, and upon such proof as shall be satisfactory to them that any such party is, by reason of absence from the kingdom, prevented from treating, or cannot after diligent inquiry be found, or that any such party fail to appear on such inquiry before a jury as aforesaid, after due notice to him for that purpose, such justices shall, by writing under their hands (b), nominate an able practicable surveyor for determining such compensation as aforesaid, and such surveyor shall determine the same accordingly, and shall annex to his valuation a declaration in writing, subscribed by him, of the correctness thereof.

(b) Form of nomination, Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. IX., p. 66. This need not specify the lands to be valued (Poynder v. G. N. Rail. Co. (1848), 16 L. J. Ch. 444; 16 Sim. 3).

Declaration to be made by the surveyor.

60. Before such surveyor shall enter upon the duty of making such valuation as aforesaid he shall, in the presence of such justices, or one of them, make and subscribe the declaration following at the foot of such nomination; (that is to say,)

"I A. B. do solemnly and sincerely declare, that I will faithfully, impartially, and honestly, according to the best of my skill and ability, execute the duty of making the valuation hereby referred to me.

"A. B.

"Made and subscribed in the presence of ."

And if any surveyor shall corruptly make such declaration, or having made such declaration shall wilfully act contrary thereto, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Valuation, etc. to be produced to the owner of the lands on demand.

61. The said nomination and declaration shall be annexed to the valuation to be made by such surveyor, and shall be preserved together therewith by the promoters of the undertaking, and they shall at all times produce the said valuation and other documents, on demand, to the owner of the lands comprised in such valuation, and to all other parties interested therein.

Expenses to be borne by promoters.

62. All the expenses of and incident to every such valuation shall be borne by the promoters of the undertaking.

Purchase-money and compensation, how to be estimated.

63. In estimating the purchase-money or compensation to be paid by the promoters of the undertaking, in any of the cases aforesaid, regard shall be had by the justices, arbitrators, or surveyors, as the case may be, not only to the value of the land to be purchased or taken by the promoters of the undertaking, but also to the damage, if any, to be sustained by the owner of the lands by reason of the severing of the lands taken from the other lands of such owner, or otherwise injuriously affecting such other lands by the exercise of the powers of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith (a).

Note to Section 63.

(a) Compensation under this section may be awarded in one sum (In re Bradshaw's Arbitration (1848), 12 Q. B. 562). It must always be assessed on the basis of the value to the particular claimant of the lands taken or injuriously affected (Bailey v. Isle of Thanet Light Rail. Co., [1900] 1 Q. B. 723), and not with reference to the value to the persons taking them, see Stebbing v. Metropolitan Board of Works (1871), L. R. 6 Q. B. 37 (churchyard). The latter case was cited as an authority to show that when a public body compelled a man to part with his property for public purposes, they ought to pay him what the property was worth to him because he was not a willing seller, and KEKEWICH, J., upheld this contention (In re Smart and Stepney Borough Council (1903), 25 M. C. C. 56). See also Re Morgan and L. & N. W. Rail. Co., [1896] 2 Q. B. 469 (public park); Trent-Stoughton v. Barbados Water Supply Co., [1893] A. C. 502 (streams of water); Re Gough and Aspatria, Silloth and District Joint Water Board, [1904] 1 K. B. 417; 67 J. P. 137; Re Tynemouth Corporation and Duke of Northumberland (1903), 67 J. P. 425; 80 L. T. (N.S.) 557; Re Lucas and Chesterfield Gas and Water Board, [1909] 1 K. B. 16; 72 J. P. 437 (land for reservoir); City and South London Rail. Co. v. United Parishes of St. Mary Woolnoth and St. Mary Woolchurch Haw, [1905] A. C. 1; 69 J. P. 101 (site of church). See also as to "special adaptability," Cedars Rapids, etc. Co. v. La Coste (1914), 30 T. L. R. 293. Sidney v. N. E. Ry., [1914] 3 K. B. 629. These cases were considered in Fraser v. Fraserville City, [1917] A. C. 187. It was there decided that the value to be ascertained is the value to the seller of his property in its actual condition at the time of expropriation with all its existing advantages, and with all its possibilities, excluding any advantage due to the carrying out of the scheme for which the property is compulsorily acquired, the question of what is the scheme being a question of fact for the arbitrator in each case. See also Pastoral Finance Association v. The Minister, [1914] A. C. 1083, as to the elements to be considered in ascertaining the value of the land to the seller. And on the same question see per EVE, J., in S. E. Ry. v. L. C. C., [1915] 2 Ch. at p. 258. The Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919, s. 2 (3), ante, p. 1273, which provides for the assessment of compensation in respect of lands acquired compulsorily for public purposes, provides that the special suitability or adaptability of the land for any purpose shall not be taken into account if that purpose is a purpose to which it could be applied only in pursuance of statutory powers, or for which there is no market apart from the special needs of a particular purchaser, or the requirements of any Government Department or any local or public authority; provided that any bona fide offer for the purchase of the land made before the passing of the Act which may be brought to the notice of the arbitrator, shall be taken into consideration. And see as to the effect of this clause Percival v. Peterborough Corporation, [1921] 1 K. B. 414; 65 S. J. 60; Metropolitan Water Board v. Dulwich College, [1921] 1 Ch. 299; 36 T. L. R. 834.

As to the compensation payable in respect of land held subject to restrictions, see Corrie v. MacDermott, [1914] A. C. 1056. And as to the case where the owner holds adjoining properties of which part of one only is acquired, see S. E. Rail. Co. v L. C. C., ante, p. 2097.

Compensation is payable under this section in respect of land not taken which is the property of a person some of whose other land is taken, but which is separated from the land taken by intervening land belonging to other owners, e.g., a line of railway (R. v. Essex (1888), 14 App. Cas. 153; 53 J. P. 756). The case last mentioned was distinguished in Holditch v. Canadian Northern Ontario Ry., [1916] 1 A. C. 536. So where windows were obstructed, some of which were ancient lights and some not, it was held that compensation must be paid in respect of the whole (L. T. & S. Rail. Co. v. Gower's Walk Schools (Trustees) (1890), 24 Q. B. D. 326). But no compensation is payable in respect of land not taken where no other land belonging to the claimant is taken or used for the purposes of the undertaking (Horton v. Colwyn Bay and Colwyn U. D. C., [1908] 1 K. B. 327; 72 J. P. 57; R. v. Mountford, [1906] 2 K. B. 814; 70 J. P. 511), unless there is a special agreement to that effect (L. & N. W. Rail. Co. v. Reddaway (1907), 71 J. P. 150; 23 T. L. R. 279).

See also as to damage by severance, R. v. Brown (1867), L. R. 2 Q. B. 630; Re Gonty and Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire Rail. Co., [1896] 2 Q. B. 439; Ripley v. G. N. Rail. Co. (1875), L. R. 10 Ch. 435.

Where compensation to absent party has been determined by a surveyor, the party may have the same submitted to arbitration.

64. When the compensation payable in respect of any lands, or any interest therein, shall have been ascertained by the valuation of a surveyor, and deposited in the Bank under the provisions herein contained, by reason that the owner of or party entitled to convey such lands or such interest therein as aforesaid could not be found or was absent from the kingdom, if such owner or party shall be dissatisfied with such valuation it shall be lawful for him, before he shall have applied to the Court of Chancery for payment or investment of the moneys so deposited under the provisions herein contained, by notice in writing (a) to the promoters of the undertaking, to require the question of such compensation to be submitted to arbitration, and thereupon

Section 64. the same shall be so submitted accordingly, in the same manner as in other cases of disputed compensation hereinbefore authorised or required to be submitted to arbitration.

(a) Form of notice, Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. IX., p. 67.

Question to be submitted to the arbitrators.

65. The question to be submitted to the arbitrators in the case last aforesaid shall be, whether the said sum so deposited as aforesaid by the promoters of the undertaking was a sufficient sum, or whether any and what further sum ought to be paid or deposited by them.

If further sum awarded promoters to pay or deposit same within fourteen days.

66. If the arbitrators shall award that a further sum ought to be paid or deposited by the promoters of the undertaking, they shall pay or deposit, as the case may require, such further sum within fourteen days after the making of such award, or in default thereof the same may be enforced by attachment, or recovered, with costs, by action or suit in any of the superior courts.

Costs of the arbitration.

67. If the arbitrators shall determine that the sum so deposited was sufficient, the costs of and incident to such arbitration, to be determined by the arbitrators, shall be in the discretion of the arbitrators; but if the arbitrators shall determine that a further sum ought to be paid or deposited by the promoters of the undertaking, all the costs of and incident to the arbitration shall be borne by the promoters of the undertaking.

Compensation to be settled by arbitration or jury, at the option of the party claiming compensation.

68. If any party shall be entitled to any compensation in respect of any lands, or of any interest therein, which shall have been taken for or injuriously affected (a) by the execution of the works, and for which the promoters of the undertaking shall not have made satisfaction under the provisions of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, and if the compensation claimed in such case shall exceed the sum of fifty pounds, such party may have the same settled either by arbitration or by the verdict of a jury, as he shall think fit; and if such party desire to have the same settled by arbitration, it shall be lawful for him to give notice in writing (b) to the promoters of the undertaking of such his desire, stating in such notice the nature of the interest in such lands in respect of which he claims compensation, and the amount of the compensation so claimed therein; and unless the promoters of the undertaking be willing to pay the amount of compensation so claimed, and shall enter into a written agreement for that purpose within twenty-one days after the receipt of any such notice from any party so entitled, the same shall be settled by arbitration in the manner herein provided; or if the party so entitled as aforesaid desire to have such question of compensation settled by jury, it shall be lawful for him to give notice in writing of such his desire to the promoters of the undertaking, stating such particulars as aforesaid, and unless the promoters of the undertaking be willing to pay the amount of compensation so claimed, and enter into a written agreement for that purpose, they shall, within twenty-one days after the receipt of such notice, issue their warrant to the sheriff to summon a jury for settling the same in the manner herein provided, and in default thereof they shall be liable to pay to the party so entitled as aforesaid the amount of compensation so claimed, and the same may be recovered by him, with costs, by action in any of the superior courts (c).

(a) The damage awarded under this section must be damage in respect of which an action would have lain but for the statutory powers justifying it, and must arise from the execution of the works, not from the use of them when executed (Ricket v. Metropolitan Rail. Co. (1867), L. R. 2 H. L. 175; 31 J. P. 484; Hammersmith Rail. Co. v. Brand (1869), L. R. 4 H. L. 171; R. v. Metropolitan Board of Works (1869), L. R. 4 Q. B. 358; Metropolitan Board of Works v. M'Carthy (1874), L. R. 7 H. L. 243; 38 J. P. 820; Buccleuch (Duke) v. Metropolitan Board of Works (1872), L. R. 5 H. L. 418; 36 J. P. 724; Caledonian Rail. Co. v. Walker's Trustees (1881), 7 App. Cas. 259; 46 J. P. 676; Canadian Pacific Rail. Co. v. Roy, [1902] A. C. 220). For the numerous cases decided upon this section reference should be made to Browne and Allan on Compensation.

Note to Section 68.

A county council, in the exercise of statutory powers, compulsorily acquired from a freeholder one-third of his land upon which two cottages were standing. This part of the premises constituted a strip thereof fronting a public road. The freeholder elected to retain the remaining two-thirds of his property. The council also acquired the leasehold interest in the whole of the property and pulled down all the cottages and not merely the two which stood on the strip. Upon action by the freeholder to enforce his right of re-entry and for damages for breach of covenants, it was held that the remedy by compensation under this section was not applicable as the damage was not the result of the proper exercise of statutory powers (Piggott v. Middlesex C. C., [1909] 1 Ch. 134; 72 J. P. 461). Compensation can only be awarded in respect of an interest in lands, therefore a contract merely giving exclusive personal rights cannot be the basis of a claim for compensation (Warr & Co., Ltd. v. L. C. C., [1904] 1 K. B. 713; 68 J. P. 335).

A house may have a special value, as, for example, a hotel or public-house, and if so, the owner is entitled to be compensated for the depreciation in value of the house as having that special value (Wadham v. N. E. Rail. Co. (1886), 16 Q. B. D. 227; 49 J. P. 599).

As to compensation for the right of a local authority to access to a sewer, see Birkenhead Corporation v. L. & N. W. Rail. Co. (1885), 15 Q. B. D. 572; 50 J. P. 84. But see also Thurrock, Grays, etc. Sewerage Board v. Goldsmith (1915), 79 J. P. 17, where that case was distinguished, and see as to the application of the Acquisition of Land, etc., Act, 1919, ante, p. 1271, to the assessment of compensation for laying a sewer in private land under s. 16, P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 59, Thurrock, Grays, etc. Sewerage Board v. Thames Land Co. (1926), 90 J. P. 1; 23 L. G. R. 648.

Compensation is payable for injuriously affecting land during the execution of the works if the injury is sufficient to lessen the value of the property (Ford v. Metropolitan Rail. Co. (1886), 17 Q. B. D. 12; 50 J. P. 661).

As to compensation for a subsequent alteration in the construction of the works, see Att.-Gen. v. Metropolitan Rail. Co., [1894] 1 Q. B. 384; 58 J. P. 348.

As to compensation for cutting off access to houses, see Furness Rail. Co. v. Cumberland Co-operative Society (1885), 49 J. P. 292, and cf. Re G. E. Rail. Co. and London C. C. (1907), 72 J. P. 1; 98 L. T. 116.

As to compensation for injuriously affecting ancient lights, when the Act authorised the purchase of easements, see Wigram v. Fryer (1887), 36 Ch. D. 87.

Where a lessee, pursuant to a power in his lease, determined his lease before injury had actually been done to him, it was held that he could not recover compensation by reason of his having had to remove to other premises (R. v. Poulter (1888), 20 Q. B. D. 132; 52 J. P. 244.) If the reversion expectant on the determination of a lease is acquired by arrangement, but the lessee's interest is not acquired, and he is afterwards injuriously affected by the works, his remedy for breach of the covenant for quiet enjoyment is by compensation, not by action (Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire Rail. Co. v. Anderson, [1898] 2 Ch. 394). The mere probability of the continuance of a tenancy without disturbance is not ground for compensation (Lynch v. Glasgow Corporation (1903), 5 F. 1154).

For a case of "injuriously affecting," by reason of dealing with a highway, so as to divert the traffic, see Metropolitan Board of Works v. Howard (1887), 5 T. L. R. 732; and as to interfering with a private occupation road, see Barnard v. G. W. Rail. Co. (1902), 66 J. P. 568; 86 L. T. (N.S.) 798; and as to interference with a private wharf, see Hewett v. Essex C. C. (1928), 138 L. T. 742.

As to injuriously affecting mills by taking water, see Page v. Kettering Waterworks Co. 1891), 8 T. L. R. 228.

(c) A claim for compensation under this section is capable of assignment (Dawson v. G. N. Rail. Co., [1905] 1 K. B. 260; 69 J. P. 29). The period within which an action may be brought is six years from the date of the award (Turner v. Midland Rail. Co., [1911] 1 K. B. 832; 75 J. P. 283).

Application of compensation.

And with respect to the purchase money or compensation coming to parties having limited interests, or prevented from treating, or not making title, be it enacted as follows:

Purchase money or compensation payable to parties under disability (a) amounting to £200 to be deposited in the Bank.

69. If the purchase money or compensation which shall be payable in respect of any lands, or any interest therein, purchased or taken by the promoters of the undertaking from any corporation, tenant for life or in tail, married woman seised in her own right or entitled to dower, guardian, committee of lunatic or idiot, trustee, executor or administrator, or person having a partial or qualified interest only in such lands, and not entitled to sell or

Section 69. convey the same except under the provisions of this or the special Act, or the compensation to be paid for any permanent damage to any such lands, amount to or exceed the sum of two hundred pounds, the same shall be paid into the Bank, in the name and with the privity of the Accountant-General of the Court of Chancery (b) to be placed to the account there of such Accountant-General, ex parte the promoters of the undertaking, (describing them by their proper name,) in the matter of the special Act, (citing it,) pursuant to the method prescribed by any Act for the time being in force for regulating moneys paid into the said courts; and such moneys shall remain so deposited until the same be applied to some one or more of the following purposes; (that is to say,)

Application of moneys deposited.

In the purchase or redemption of the land tax (c), or the discharge of any debt or incumbrance affecting the land in respect of which such money shall have been paid, or affecting other lands settled therewith to the same or the like uses, trusts, or purposes (d); or

In the purchase of other lands to be conveyed, limited, and settled upon the like uses, trusts, and purposes, and in the same manner, as the lands in respect of which such money shall have been paid stood settled (e); or

If such money shall be paid in respect of any buildings taken under the authority of this or the special Act, or injured by proximity of the works, in removing or replacing such buildings, or substituting others in their stead, in such manner as the Court of Chancery shall direct (f); or

In payment to any party becoming absolutely entitled to such money (g).

R. 9 Eq. 179; as lord of the manor, Att.-Gen. v. Meyrick, [1893] A. C. 1; 57 J. P. 212. It is in the discretion of the court whether money will be ordered to be paid out to trustees of settled lands (In re Smith (1889), 40 Ch. D. 386). The purchase-money of lands allotted by an inclosure award to the surveyor of highways for road materials was, subject to the consent of the L. G. B., ordered to be paid out to an urban district council as being the surveyor of highways and absolutely entitled under the Sale of Exhausted Parish Lands Act, 1876 (Re Brumby and Frodingham U. D. C. (1904), 69 J. P. 96; 3 L. G. R. 258). A metropolitan borough council who have not obtained the consent of the L. G. B. (now M. of H.) to the sale of land as required by s. 6 (5) of the London Government Act, 1899, are not persons "absolutely entitled" (Ex parte G. W. Rail. Co., [1909] W. N. 202; 74 J. P. 21, overruling Ex parte Woolwich Corporation, [1908] W. N. 56). For a case of apportionment of the costs of re-investment where the petition related to two funds in court, see Ex parte Perpetual Curate of Bilston (1889), 37 W. R. 460. But see Ex parte Watford U. D. C. (1914), 78 J. P. N. 160. An apportionment cannot be made under this section between a tenant for life and remainderman (Re Robinson's Settlement Trusts, [1891] 3 Ch. 129).

Order for application and investment meanwhile.

70. Such money may be so applied as aforesaid upon an order of the Court of Chancery made on the petition of the party who would have been entitled to the rents and profits of the lands in respect of which such money shall have been deposited; and until the money can be so applied it may, upon the like order, be invested by the said Accountant-General in the purchase of Three Per Centum Consolidated or Three Per Centum Reduced Bank Annuities, or in Government or real securities, and the interest, dividends, and annual proceeds thereof paid to the party who would for the time being have been entitled to the rents and profits of the lands (a).

(a) It may also be invested in any securities in which cash under the control of the court may be invested (Ex parte St. John Baptist College, Oxford (1883), 22 Ch. D. 93). See R. S. C., Order XXVI., r. 17. As to the costs of investments, see s. 80, post, p. 2115, and notes thereto.

Sums from £20 to £200 to be deposited, or paid to trustees.

71. If such purchase money or compensation shall not amount to the sum of two hundred pounds, and shall exceed the sum of twenty pounds, the same shall either be paid into the Bank, and applied in the manner hereinbefore directed with respect to sums amounting to or exceeding two hundred pounds, or the same may lawfully be paid to two trustees, to be nominated by the parties entitled to the rents or profits of the lands in respect whereof the same shall be payable, such nomination to be signified by writing under the hands of the party so entitled; and in case of the coverture, infancy, lunacy, or other incapacity of the parties entitled to such moneys, such nomination may lawfully be made by their respective husbands, guardians, committees, or trustees; but such last-mentioned application of the moneys shall not be made unless the promoters of the undertaking approve thereof, and of the trustees named for the purpose; and the moneys so paid to such trustees, and the produce arising therefrom, shall be by such trustees applied in the manner hereinbefore directed with respect to money paid into the Bank, but it shall not be necessary to obtain any order of the Court for that purpose (a).

(a) Under this section, where a sum of £34 had been paid into court, payment out was directed to be made to a tenant for life who undertook to spend it in permanent improvements (Ex parte Smith, Re Kells Union Guardians (1888), 21 L. R. Ir. 346).

Sums not exceeding £20 to be paid to parties.

72. If such money shall not exceed the sum of twenty pounds, the same shall be paid to the parties entitled to the rents and profits of the lands in respect whereof the same shall be payable, for their own use and benefit; or in case of the coverture, infancy, idiotcy, lunacy, or other incapacity of any such parties, then such money shall be paid, for their use, to the respective husbands, guardians, committees, or trustees of such persons.

All sums payable under contract with persons not absolutely entitled, to be paid into Bank or to trustees.

73. All sums of money exceeding twenty pounds which may be payable by the promoters of the undertaking in respect of the taking, using, or interfering with any lands under a contract or agreement with any person who shall not be entitled to dispose of such lands, or of the interest therein contracted to be sold by him, absolutely for his own benefit, shall be paid into the Bank or to trustees in manner aforesaid; and it shall not be lawful for any contracting party not entitled as aforesaid to retain to his own use any portion of the sums so agreed or contracted to be paid for or in respect of the taking, using, or interfering with any such lands, or in lieu of bridges, tunnels or other accommodation works, or for assenting to or not opposing the passing of the Bill authorising the taking of such lands, but all such moneys shall be deemed to have been contracted to be paid for and on account of the several parties interested in such lands, as well in possession as in remainder, reversion, or expectancy: Provided (a) always, that it shall be in the discretion of the Court of Chancery, or the said trustees, as the case may be, to allot to any tenant for life, or for any other partial or qualified estate, for his own use, a portion of the sum so paid into the Bank or to such trustees as aforesaid, as compensation for any injury, inconvenience, or annoyance which he may be considered to sustain, independently of the actual value of the lands to be taken, and of the damage occasioned to the lands held therewith, by reason of the taking of such lands and the making of the works.

(a) For an instance of the application of this proviso, see Re Saunderton Glebe Lands, [1903] 1 Ch. 480.

Court of Chancery may direct application of money in respect of leases or reversions as they may think just.

74. Where any purchase money or compensation paid into the Bank under the provisions of this or the special Act shall have been paid in respect of any lease for a life or lives or years, or for a life or lives and years, or any estate in lands less than the whole fee simple thereof, or of any reversion dependent on any such lease or estate, it shall be lawful for the Court of Chancery, on the petition of any party interested in such money, to order that the same shall be laid out, invested, accumulated, and paid in such manner as the said court may consider will give to the parties interested in such money the same benefit therefrom as they might lawfully have had from the lease, estate, or reversion in respect of which such money shall have been paid, or as near thereto as may be (a).

(a) See Re Barrington, Gamlen v. Lyon (1886), 33 Ch. D. 523. This case was discussed and distinguished in Re Robinson's Settlement Trusts, [1891] 3 Ch. 129. A lessor having a right of re-entry in respect of non-payment of rent was held to be a person interested in compensation to the lessee paid into court, such right being an incumbrance on the leasehold interest (Re London Street, Greenwich (1888), 57 L. T. (N.S.) 673).

Upon deposit being made, the owners of the lands to convey, or in default the lands to vest in the promoters of the undertaking upon a deed poll being executed.

75. Upon deposit in the Bank in manner hereinbefore provided of the purchase money or compensation agreed or awarded to be paid in respect of any lands purchased or taken by the promoters of the undertaking under the provisions of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, the owner of such lands, including in such term all parties by this Act enabled to sell or convey lands, shall, when required so to do by the promoters of the undertaking, duly convey such lands to the promoters of the undertaking, or as they shall direct; and in default thereof, or if he fail to adduce a good title to such lands to their satisfaction, it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking, if they think fit, to execute a deed poll under their common seal if they be a corporation, or if they be not a corporation, under the hands and seals of the promoters, or any two of them, containing a description of the lands in respect of which such default shall be made, and reciting the purchase or taking thereof by the promoters of the undertaking, and the names of the parties from whom the same were purchased or taken, and the deposit made in respect thereof, and declaring the fact of such default having been made, and such deed poll shall be stamped with the stamp duty which would have been payable upon a conveyance to the promoters of the undertaking of the lands described therein; and thereupon all the estate and interest in such lands of or capable of being sold and conveyed by the party between whom and the promoters of the undertaking such agreement shall have been come to, or as between whom and the promoters of the undertaking such purchase money or compensation shall have been determined by a jury, or by arbitrators, or by a surveyor appointed by two justices, as herein provided, and shall have been deposited as aforesaid, shall vest absolutely in the promoters of the undertaking; and as against such parties, and all parties on behalf of whom they are herein-before enabled to sell and convey, the promoters of the undertaking shall be entitled to immediate possession of such lands (a).

(a) See note (b) to s. 176 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 439, as to the effect of this section where owners cannot give a good title. The promoters are bound both under the ordinary law of specific performance, and, where the property is not vested in them by the special Act, also by s. 12 of the Finance Act, 1895, to take a conveyance which must be settled by the court if the parties differ (Re Cary-Elwes' Contract, [1906] 2 Ch. 143; 70 J. P. 345). In a case decided under Michael Angelo Taylor's Act, 1817, it was held that a vendor is entitled to have the dimensions of the property inserted in the conveyance (Monighetti v. Wandsworth Borough Council (1909), 73 J. P. 91).

Where parties refuse to convey or do not show title, or cannot be found, the purchase money to be deposited.

76. If the owner of any such lands purchased or taken by the promoters of the undertaking, or of any interest therein, on tender of the purchase money or compensation either agreed or awarded to be paid in respect thereof refuse to accept the same, or neglect or fail to make out a title to such lands, or to the interest therein claimed by him, to the satisfaction of the promoters of the undertaking, or if he refuse to convey or release such lands as directed by the promoters of the undertaking, or if any such owner be absent from the Kingdom, or cannot after diligent inquiry be found, or fail to appear on the inquiry before a jury, as herein provided for, it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking to deposit the purchase money or compensation payable in respect of such lands, or any interest therein, in the Bank, in the name and with the privity of the Accountant-General of the Court of Chancery (a), to be placed, except in the cases herein otherwise provided for, to his account there, to the credit of the parties interested in such lands, (describing them, so far as the promoters of the undertaking can do,) subject to the control and disposition of the said court (b).

(b) See as to this and the next section, Wells v. Chelmsford L. B. (1880), 15 Ch. D. 108; 45 J. P. 6.

The power conferred by this section is specifically saved by the Law of Property Act, 1925, s. 7 (3). See also sub-s. (4), ibid.

See also s. 42 (7), Law of Property Act, 1925 (15 Geo. 5, c. 20), set out in note (b) to s. 9, ante, p. 2092.

Upon deposit being made a receipt to be given, and the lands to vest in the promoters upon a deed poll being executed.

77. Upon any such deposit of money as last aforesaid being made the cashier of the Bank shall give to the promoters of the undertaking, or to the party paying in such money by their direction, a receipt for such money, specifying therein for what and for whose use (described as aforesaid) the same shall have been received, and in respect of what purchase the same shall have been paid in; and it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking, if they think fit, to execute a deed poll, under their common seal if they be a corporation, or if they be not a corporation under the hands and seals of the said promoters, or any two of them, containing a description of the lands in respect whereof such deposit shall have been made, and declaring the circumstances under which and the names of the parties to whose credit such deposit shall have been made, and such deed poll shall be stamped with the stamp duty which would have been payable upon a conveyance to the promoters of the undertaking of the lands described therein ; and thereupon all the estate and interest in such lands of the parties for whose use and in respect whereof such purchase money or compensation shall have been deposited shall vest absolutely in the promoters of the undertaking, and as against such parties they shall be entitled to immediate possession of such lands.

Application of moneys so deposited.

78. Upon the application by petition of any party making claim to the money so deposited as last aforesaid, or any part thereof, or to the lands in respect whereof the same shall have been so deposited, or any part of such lands, or any interest in the same, the said Court of Chancery may, in a summary way, as to such court shall seem fit, order such money to be laid out or invested in the public funds, or may order distribution thereof, or payment of the dividends thereof, according to the respective estates, titles, or interests of the parties making claim to such money or lands, or any part thereof, and may make such other order in the premises as to such court shall seem fit (a).

Party in possession to be deemed the owner,

79. If any question arise respecting the title to the lands in respect whereof such moneys shall have been so paid or deposited as aforesaid, the parties respectively in possession of such lands, as being the owners thereof, or in receipt of the rents of such lands, as being entitled thereto at the time of such lands being purchased or taken, shall be deemed to have been lawfully entitled to such lands, until the contrary be shown to the satisfaction of the court ; and unless the contrary be shown as aforesaid the parties so in possession, and all parties claiming under them, or consistently with their possession, shall be deemed entitled to the money so deposited, and to the dividends or interest of the annuities or securities purchased therewith, and the same shall be paid and applied accordingly (a).

(a) See Ex parte Chamberlain (1880), 14 Ch. D. 323 ; which was followed in Re Harris, Hansler v. Harris, [1909] W. N. 181. In the latter case it was held that a person showing title by adverse possession for twelve years after the expiration of a long term of years to land taken under the Lands Clauses Act will, in the absence of any valid claim by the reversioner, be deemed to be the owner of the land and entitled to the payment out of the purchase-money. Costs in cases of money deposited (d).

80. In all cases of moneys deposited in the Bank under the provisions of this or the special Act, or an Act incorporated therewith, except (a) where such moneys shall have been so deposited by reason of the wilful refusal (b) of any party entitled thereto to receive the same (c), or to convey or release the lands in respect whereof the same shall be payable, or by reason of the wilful neglect of any party to make out a good title to the land required, it shall be lawful for the Court of Chancery to order the costs of the following matters, including therein all reasonable charges and expenses incident thereto, to be paid by the promoters of the undertaking; (that is to say,) the costs of the purchase or taking (d) of the lands, or which shall have been incurred in consequence thereof, other than such costs as are herein otherwise provided for, and the costs of the investment of such moneys in Government or real securities (e), and of the re-investment thereof in the purchase of other lands (f), and also the costs of obtaining the proper orders (g) for any of the purposes aforesaid, and of the orders for the payment of the dividends and interest of the securities upon which such moneys shall be invested, and for the payment out of court of the principal of such moneys, or of the securities whereon the same shall be invested, and of all proceedings relating thereto, except such as are occasioned by litigation between adverse claimants (h): Provided always, that the costs of one application only for re-investment in land shall be allowed, unless it shall appear to the Court of Chancery that it is for the benefit of the parties interested in the said moneys that the same should be invested in the purchase of lands in different sums and at different times, in which case it shall be lawful for the court, if it think fit, to order the costs of any such investments to be paid by the promoters of the undertaking.

(a) The court has now, by virtue of the Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925, s. 50 (re-enacting 53 & 54 Vict. c. 44, s. 5), a discretionary power to order payment of costs in the excepted cases (In re Schmarr, [1902] 1 Ch. 326).

(c) See Re Leeds Grammar School, [1901] 1 Ch. 228; 65 J. P. 88; In re Dublin Corporation and Baker, [1912] 1 I. R. 498.

(d) See note (g), ante, p. 2110, and note (a) to s. 82, post, p. 2116. Where the promoters avail themselves of this section and pay money into court they must bear all the costs of the legal steps necessary to be taken by the claimants in order to get the money paid to them. See In re Lloyd and North London Ry. (City Branch) Act, 1861, [1896] 2 Ch. 397; In re Griggs, Ex parte London School Board, [1914] 2 Ch. 547; 80 J. P. 35.

(e) See Charlton v. Rolleston (1885), 28 Ch. D. 137; and as to costs of brokerage, see In re Gaselee and London C. C., [1901] 1 Ch. 923; Re Magdalen College, Oxford, [1901] 2 Ch. 786; 66 J. P. 23. Where a petition is presented for the payment out of court of two funds of unequal value representing the purchase-money of lands acquired by two railway companies respectively, the brokerage on selling the two funds must be borne by the two companies equally and ought not to be apportioned according to the relative amounts of the two funds (Ex parte Emmanuel Hospital (1908), 24 T. L. R. 261). A petition was presented to obtain payment out of a fund which represented moneys paid into court by a railway company under this section and asked further for the payment out of another fund representing proceeds of enfranchisement of copyholds, and that the costs of the petitioner and all other necessary parties might be taxed and paid by the railway company, except such amount of the costs as should be certified as arising from the inclusion in the petition of the fund representing the enfranchisement of the copyholds. It was held that there was no difference between the case and one of an application for re-investment in land, and that the order asked for as to costs was a proper one (In re Lynn and Fakenham Railway Extension Act, 1880, [1909] W. N. 24; 73 J. P. 163).

(g) Where a summons is only partly successful the costs payable by the promoters must be confined to the costs of obtaining the particular order which is made (In re Jacobs, Baldwin v. Pescott, [1908] 2 Ch. 691). Where schools had been taken, the costs of settling a new scheme for applying the purchase-money in buying a new site and erecting fresh schools were held too remote to be recoverable under this provision (Re St. Paul's Schools, Finsbury (1883), 52 L. J. Ch. 454). But compare Re Butchers' Co. (1885), 53 L. T. (N.S.) 491. Where a local authority in pursuance of the compulsory powers conferred on them by the Act take land belonging to a charity, and as a direct result the trustees of the charity apply to the Charity Commissioners for a scheme for the regulation of the charity, the costs of the trustees so incurred are payable by the local authority (In re Wood Green Gospel Hall Charity, Ex parte Middlesex C. C., [1909] 1 Ch. 263). The allowance of two fees for attendance before the Accountant-General, on an application under the Supreme Court Funds Rules, 1905, rr. 34, 35, for payment out of funds paid in under the Act, which originated when under the practice in Chancery under the old consolidated orders it was necessary for the solicitor to attend both before the Registrar and also before the Accountant-General, was held to be common form to-day and such fees were accordingly allowed (In re Butler, Ex parte Metropolitan Board of Works, [1912] W. N. 50; 106 L. T. 673). See also In re Piggin, Ex parte Mansfield Rail. Co., [1913] 2 Ch. 326, as to the persons to be made parties to a petition.

(h) A local authority as promoters acquired some land for the purposes of their undertaking, and paid the purchase-money into court in consequence of the title to the land being in dispute. The dispute was subsequently settled without actual litigation. It was held that the costs of the negotiations for the settlement of the dispute as to the title were costs occasioned by adverse litigation within the meaning of the section (In re Hood and In re West Ham Corporation Act, 1902, [1910] W. N. 80; 74 J. P. 179).

Conveyances.

And with respect to the conveyances of lands, be it enacted as follows:

Form of conveyances (a).

81. Conveyances of lands to be purchased under the provisions of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, may be according to the forms in the Schedules (A.) and (B.) respectively to this Act annexed, or as near thereto as the circumstances of the case will admit, or by deed in any other form which the promoters of the undertaking may think fit; and all conveyances made according to the forms in the said schedules, or as near thereto as the circumstances of the case will admit, shall be effectual to vest the lands thereby conveyed in the promoters of the undertaking, and shall operate to merge all terms of years attendant by express declaration (b), or by construction of law, on the estate or interest so thereby conveyed, and to bar and to destroy all such estates tail, and all other estates, rights, titles, remainders, reversions, limitations, trusts, and interests whatsoever, of and in the lands comprised in such conveyances, which shall have been purchased or compensated for by the consideration therein mentioned; but although terms of years be thereby merged, they shall in equity afford the same protection as if they had been kept on foot, and assigned to a trustee for the promoters of the undertaking to attend the reversion and inheritance.

(b) See s. 5, Law of Property Act, 1925.

Costs of conveyances.

82. The costs of all such conveyances shall be borne by the promoters of the undertaking; and such costs shall include all charges and expenses, incurred on the part as well of the seller as of the purchaser, of all conveyances and assurances of any such lands, and of any outstanding terms or interest therein, and of deducing, evidencing, and verifying the title to such lands, terms, or interests, and of making out and furnishing such abstracts and attested copies as the promoters of the undertaking may require, and all other reasonable expenses incident to the investigation, deduction, and verification of such title (a).

into court (Re Gough's Trusts (1883), 24 Ch. D. 569). But this decision was dissented from in Re Olive's Estate (1890), 44 Ch. D. 316. See, as to costs of adverse litigation, Re Cutling's Estate, W. N. (1890) 75; Ex parte Cooper (1864), 34 L. J. Ch. 373; 11 L. T. (N.S.) 661. The undertakers take the risk of having to pay the costs in cases where money in court is dealt with under powers contained in a settlement (Re Brooshooft's Settlement (1889), 42 Ch. D. 250). Undertakers were ordered to pay costs of re-investing consols in which purchase-money had been invested, on their being redeemed by Government (Re Brown (1890), 59 L. J. Ch. 530; 63 L. T. (N.S.) 131). As to the costs of payment out when there has been a refusal to show title, see Re St. Luke's Vestry, W. N. (1889) 102. As to interest on costs and the form of order, see Re Bird's Estate, W. N. (1889) 182.

The costs of conveyance include costs of taking out letters of administration necessary to make a legal title (Ex parte Keatley (1890), 25 L. R. Ir. 265; Ex parte Kelly (1893), 31 L. R. Ir. 137; Ex parte Rorke, [1894] 1 I. R. 146; Re Lloyd and North London Rail. Co., [1896] 2 Ch. 397; Re Liverpool Improvement Act (1868), L. R. 5 Eq. 282). And see Re Griggs, Ex parte London School Board, [1914] 2 Ch. 547; 80 J. P. 35.

See also s. 42, Law of Property Act, 1925.

Taxation of costs of conveyances.

83. If the promoters of the undertaking and the party entitled to any such costs shall not agree as to the amount thereof, such costs shall be taxed by one of the taxing masters of the Court of Chancery, upon an order of the same court, to be obtained upon petition in a summary way by either of the parties; and the promoters of the undertaking shall pay what the said master shall certify to be due in respect of such costs to the party entitled thereto, or in default thereof the same may be recovered in the same way as any other costs payable under an order of the said court, or the same may be recovered by distress in the manner hereinbefore provided in other cases of costs; and the expense of taxing such costs shall be borne by the promoters of the undertaking, unless upon such taxation one-sixth part of the amount of such costs shall be disallowed, in which case the costs of such taxation shall be borne by the party whose costs shall be so taxed, and the amount thereof shall be ascertained by the said master, and deducted by him accordingly in his certificate of such taxation (a).

(a) The promoters cannot tax these costs after payment (Ex parte Somerville (1883), 23 Ch. D. 167).

Rule 11 of Sched. I., Part 1, of the General Order under the Solicitors Remuneration Act, 1881, does not apply to vendor's costs under this section (In re Stewart (1889), 41 Ch. D. 494). And see In re Burdekin & Co., [1895] 2 Ch. 136; In re Middlesex Light Railways Order, 1903, [1908] W. N. 167.

Entry on lands.

And with respect to the entry upon lands by the promoters of the undertaking, be it enacted as follows (a):

(a) The provisions of this group of sections need not be complied with in the case of land acquired for purposes of the Housing Act. See the Housing Act, 1925, s. 106, ante, p. 1465. See also s. 127, ibid., ante, p. 1475, which gives a power of entry similar to that given by this Act for purposes of the Housing Act. See also the Unemployment (Relief Works) Act, 1920, post, p. 2819, for an even more speedy method of obtaining possession of lands to be compulsorily purchased.

Payment of price to be made previous to entry, except to survey, etc.

84. The promoters of the undertaking shall not, except by consent of the owners and occupiers, enter upon any lands which shall be required to be purchased or permanently used for the purposes and under the powers of this or the special Act, until they shall either have paid to every party having any interest in such lands, or deposited in the Bank, in the manner herein mentioned, the purchase money or compensation agreed or awarded to be paid to such parties respectively for their respective interests therein: Provided always, that for the purpose merely of surveying and taking levels of such lands, and of probing or boring to ascertain the nature of the soil, and of setting out the line of the works, it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking, after giving not less than three nor more than fourteen days notice to the owners or occupiers thereof, to enter upon such lands without previous consent, making compensation for any damage thereby occasioned to the owners or occupiers thereof (a).

(a) It is to be observed that the promoters are empowered to enter upon the lands for the purpose of "probing or boring." They are not apparently enabled to sink and keep open for a time trial holes such as are required by the M. of H. in cases of sewage disposal schemes. A local authority should endeavour in these cases to obtain the consent of the owners and to pay for any damage that may be done. In cases of compulsory purchase, this power of entry for examination of soil does not seem to arise until the compulsory purchase powers in respect of the land have been obtained.

Promoters to be allowed to enter on lands before purchase, on making deposit by way of security and giving bond.

85. Provided also, that if the promoters of the undertaking shall be desirous of entering upon and using any such lands before an agreement shall have been come to or an award made or verdict given for the purchase money or compensation to be paid by them in respect of such lands, it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking to deposit in the Bank by way of security, as hereinafter mentioned, either the amount of purchase money or compensation claimed by any party interested in or entitled to sell and convey such lands, and who shall not consent to such entry, or such a sum as shall, by a surveyor appointed by two justices in the manner hereinbefore provided (a) in the case of parties who cannot be found, be determined to be the value of such lands (b), or of the interest therein which such party is entitled to or enabled to sell and convey, and also to give to such party a bond, under the common seal of the promoters if they be a corporation, or if they be not a corporation under the hands and seals of the said promoters, or any two of them, with two sufficient sureties, to be approved of by two justices in case the parties differ, in a penal sum equal to the sum so to be deposited, conditioned for payment to such party, or for deposit in the Bank for the benefit of the parties interested in such lands as the case may require, under the provisions herein contained, of all such purchase money or compensation as may in manner hereinbefore provided be determined to be payable by the promoters of the undertaking in respect of the lands so entered upon, together with interest thereon at the rate of five pounds per centum per annum from the time of entering on such lands until such purchase money or compensation shall be paid to such party, or deposited in the Bank for the benefit of the parties interested in such lands, under the provisions herein contained; and upon such deposit by way of security being made as aforesaid, and such bond being delivered or tendered to such non-consenting party as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking to enter upon and use such lands, without having first paid or deposited the purchase money or compensation in other cases required to be paid or deposited by them before entering upon any lands to be taken by them under the provisions of this or the special Act (c).

(b) Including compensation for severance, etc. (Field v. Carnarvon and Llanberis Rail. Co. (1868), L. R. 5 Eq. 190).

(c) If no actual entry be made after deposit of security, then the lands cannot be considered to have been taken under this section (R. v. Manley Smith (1892), 56 J. P. 729; 67 L. T. (N.S.) 197). As to entry under this section when the time for the execution of the works was about to expire, see Loosemore v. Tiverton, etc. Rail. Co. (1884), 9 App. Cas. 480; 48 J. P. 372, which was explained and followed in G. W. Rail. Co. v. Midland Rail. Co., [1909] A. C. 445. As to entry on land when the promoters were entitled to acquire only an easement of tunnelling, see Hill v. Midland Rail. Co. (1882), 21 Ch. D. 143.

Under the corresponding section of the Lands Clauses Consolidation (Scotland) Act, 1845, it was held that where the owner of lands entered upon under that section dispensed with the giving of a bond, he was nevertheless entitled to 5 per cent. interest upon the compensation from the date of the promoters entering upon his land till the compensation was paid; and was entitled to payment of such interest out of the sum deposited by the promoters (West Highland Rail. Co. v. Place (1894), 21 Ct. of Sess. Cas. (4th ser.) 576).

If lands are taken under this section for an unauthorised purpose the landowner can recover possession with damages for any injury done to the premises (Batson v. London School Board (1903), 67 J. P. 457; 20 T. L. R. 22).

Entry by mistake on lands not included in the notice to treat is a trespass, although notice to treat is subsequently given in respect of such lands (Cardwell v. Midland Rail Co. (1904), 21 T. L. R. 22).

Upon deposit being made cashier to give receipt.

86. The money so to be deposited as last aforesaid shall be paid into the Bank in the name and with the privity of the Accountant-General of the Court of Chancery (a), to be placed to his account there to the credit of the parties interested in or entitled to sell and convey the lands so to be entered upon, and who shall not have consented to such entry, subject to the control and disposition of the said court; and upon such deposit being made the cashier of the Bank shall give to the promoters of the undertaking, or to the party paying in such money by their direction, a receipt for such money specifying therein for what purpose and to whose credit the same shall have been paid in.

Deposit to remain as a security, and to be applied under the direction of the court.

87. The money so deposited as last aforesaid shall remain in the Bank, by way of security to the parties whose lands shall so have been entered upon for the performance of the condition of the bond to be given by the promoters of the undertaking, as hereinbefore mentioned, and the same may, on the application by petition of the promoters of the undertaking, be ordered to be invested in Bank annuities or Government securities, and accumulated; and upon the condition of such bond being fully performed it shall be lawful for the Court of Chancery, upon a like application, to order the money so deposited, or the funds in which the same shall have been invested, together with the accumulation thereof, to be repaid or transferred to the promoters of the undertaking, or if such condition shall not be fully performed it shall be lawful for the said court to order the same to be applied, in such manner as it shall think fit, for the benefit of the parties for whose security the same shall so have been deposited (a).

(a) On proof that the condition of the bond has been fulfilled by payment to the party to whom it was given, and that it has been delivered up to the promoters, the promoters are entitled upon petition by themselves and the obligee of the bond, to have the deposit paid out to them without showing that payment of the purchase-money of the land has been made to the persons really entitled to it (Ex parte Midland Rail. Co., [1904] 1 Ch. 61).

The company may pay the deposit-money into the Bank by way of security during the time that the office of the Accountant-General is closed.

88. If at any time the company be unable, by reason of the closing of the office of the Accountant-General of the Court of Chancery, to obtain his authority in respect of the payment of any sum of money so authorised to be deposited in the Bank by way of security as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the company to pay into the Bank to the credit of such party or matter as the case may require (subject nevertheless to being dealt with as hereinafter provided, and not otherwise,) such sum of money as the promoters of the undertaking shall, by some writing signed by their secretary or solicitors for the time being addressed to the Bank in that behalf, request, and upon any such payment being made the cashier of the Bank shall give a certificate thereof; and in every such case, within ten days after the re-opening of the said Accountant-General's office, the solicitor for the promoters of the undertaking shall there bespeak the direction for the payment of such sum into the name of the Accountant-General, and upon production of such direction at the Bank of England the money so previously paid in shall be placed to the credit of the said Accountant-General accordingly, and the receipt for the said payment be given to the party making the same in the usual way, for the purpose of being filed at the Report Office.

Penalty on the promoters of the undertaking entering upon lands without consent before payment of the purchase-money.

89. If the promoters of the undertaking or any of their contractors shall, except as aforesaid, wilfully (a) enter upon and take possession of any lands which shall be required to be purchased or permanently used for the purposes of the special Act, without such consent as aforesaid, or without having made such payment for the benefit of the parties interested in the lands or such deposit by way of security as aforesaid, the promoters of the undertaking shall forfeit to the party in possession of such lands the sum of ten pounds, over and above the amount of any damage done to such lands by reason of such entry and taking possession as aforesaid, such penalty and damage respectively to be recovered before two justices (b); and if the promoters of the undertaking or their contractors shall, after conviction in such penalty as aforesaid, continue in unlawful possession of any such lands, the promoters of the undertaking shall be liable to forfeit the sum of twenty-five pounds for every day they or their contractors shall so remain in possession as aforesaid, such penalty to be recoverable by the party in possession of such lands, with costs, by action in any of the superior courts: Provided always, that nothing herein contained shall be held to subject the promoters of the undertaking to the payment of any such penalties as aforesaid, if they shall bonâ fide and without collusion have paid the compensation agreed or awarded to be paid in respect of the said lands to any person whom the promoters of the undertaking may have reasonably believed to be entitled thereto, or shall have deposited the same in the Bank for the benefit of the parties interested in the lands, or made such deposit by way of security in respect thereof as herein-before mentioned, although such person may not have been legally entitled thereto.

(a) This does not include an entry under a mistaken belief of right (Steele v. Midland Rail. Co. (1869), 21 L. T. (N.S.) 387). See also Hutchinson v. Manchester, Bury, and Rossendale Rail. Co. (1846), 15 M. & W. 314; 15 L. J. Ex. 293.

Decision of justices not conclusive as to the right of the promoters.

90. On the trial of any action for any such penalty as aforesaid the decision of the justices under the provision hereinbefore contained shall not be held conclusive as to the right of entry on any such lands by the promoters of the undertaking.

Proceedings in case of refusal to deliver possession of lands.

91. If in any case in which, according to the provisions of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, the promoters of the undertaking are authorised to enter upon and take possession of any lands required for the purposes of the undertaking, the owner or occupier of any such lands or any other person refuse to give up the possession thereof, or hinder the promoters of the undertaking from entering upon or taking possession of the same, it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking to issue their warrant to the sheriff to deliver possession of the same to the person appointed in such warrant to receive the same, and upon the receipt of such warrant the sheriff shall deliver possession of any such lands accordingly; and the costs accruing by reason of the issuing and execution of such warrant, to be settled by the sheriff, shall be paid by the person refusing to give possession; and the amount of such costs shall be deducted and retained by the promoters of the undertaking from the compensation, if any, then payable by them to such party, or if no such compensation be payable to such party, or if the same be less than the amount of such costs, then such costs, or the excess thereof beyond such compensation, if not paid on demand, shall be levied by distress, and upon application to any justice for that purpose he shall issue his warrant accordingly (a).

(a) The aid of the sheriff is not necessary unless the entry is actually resisted (Loosemore v. Tiverton, etc. Rail. Co.). See also In re Way and London United Tramways, Ltd. (1908), 125 L. T. Jo. 594, the facts of which are set out at p. 2095, ante; Piggott v. Middlesex C. C., [1909] 1 Ch. 134; 72 J. P. 461.

Parties not to be required to sell part of a house, etc.

92. And be it enacted, that no party shall at any time be required to sell or convey to the promoters of the undertaking a part only of any house or other building or manufactory, if such party be willing and able to sell and convey the whole thereof (a).

(a) House includes curtilage and garden (Grosvenor v. Hampstead Junction Rail. Co. (1857), 1 De G. & J. 446; 26 L. J. Ch. 731; Governors of St. Thomas's Hospital v. Charing Cross Rail. Co. (1860), 30 L. J. Ch. 395; 4 L. T. (N.S.) 13). In one case it was held that a paddock was part of a house within this section (Barnes v. Southsea Rail. Co. (1884), 27 Ch. D. 536). So, also, two houses which communicated internally, and were used as one (Seigenberg v. Metropolitan District Rail. Co. (1883), 49 L. T. (N.S.) 554; 32 W. R. 333). But not two houses at one of which a manufacture is carried on, and at the other of which, in another street, the goods are sold (Benington v. Metropolitan Board of Works (1886), 50 J. P. 740; 54 L. T. (N.S.) 837). See Reddin v. Metropolitan Board of Works (1862), 4 De G. F. & J. 532; 27 J. P. 4. A structure built at one time and architecturally one building although divided by party walls into fourteen parts let separately is one building within this section (Greswolde-Williams v. Newcastle-upon-Tyne Corporation (1927), 92 J. P. 13; 26 L. G. R. 26). If a structure is a building within this section, it is immaterial whether if part is acquired the remainder will be of less or equal value after truncation (ibid.). The acceptance by a company's solicitor of a notice under this section to take property, which the company is not compellable to take is not binding on the company (Treadwell v. L. & S. W. Rail. Co. (1885), 54 L. J. Ch. 565). As to what is a manufactory, see Richards v. Swansea Improvement and Tramways Co. (1878), 9 Ch. D. 425; Brook v. Manchester, Sheffield and Lincolnshire Rail. Co., [1894] 2 Ch. 571. The case of Richards v. Swansea Improvement and Tramways Co., supra, was considered in Regent's Canal and Dock Co. v. London C. C., [1912] 1 Ch. 583; 76 J. P. 353, where it was held that the words "other building" mean other building in the nature of a house, although in ordinary language it would not be described as a house. They do not include the entire undertaking of a canal and dock company. The test whether the undertakers are compellable to take along with a garden, stables, etc., for which they have given notice to treat, a house enjoyed therewith but separated therefrom by a road, is whether the garden, stables, etc. would have passed by a conveyance of the house simply (Kerford v. Seacombe Rail. Co. (1888), 57 L. J. Ch. 270; 52 J. P. 487; Allhusen v. Ealing and South Harrow Rail. Co. (1897), 78 L. T. (N.S.) 396; 46 W. R. 483; Low v. Staines Reservoir Joint Committee (1902), 64 J. P. 212). A notice referring to one tenement and part of another tenement, but abandoned altogether when the owner demands that the whole of the other tenement shall be taken, cannot be treated as still existing in respect of the first-mentioned tenement (Thompson v. Tottenham and Forest Gate Rail. Co. (1893), 57 J. P. 181; 67 L. T. (N.S.) 416). On receipt of a counter-notice under this section, a notice to treat may be withdrawn, and thereupon the promoters of the undertaking will be put in the same position as if no notice to treat had ever been given by them. They may issue fresh notice to treat, and withdraw that also with the like result, as often as counter-notice is given (Ashton Vale Iron Co. v. Bristol Corporation, [1901] 1 Ch. 591). A notice under this section may be given even after notice of claim has been made in answer to the notice to treat, and after prolonged negotiations as to such claim (Lavers v. London C. C. (1905), 69 J. P. 362; 93 L. T. (N.S.) 233; Pollard v. Middlesex C. C. (1907), 71 J. P. 85). And a notice under this section may even be given after the surveyors on both sides have agreed on the compensation under the notice to treat (Pollard v. Middlesex C. C. (1907), 71 J. P. 85; 95 L. T. (N.S.) 870). When on the compulsory sale of part of a property the owner may require the promoters to purchase the whole and does so, this does not constitute a compulsory sale of the whole so as to entitle the owner to the extra allowance for compulsory sale (Jervis v. Newcastle and Gateshead Water Co. (1896), 13 T. L. R. 14).

In issuing Provisional Orders under s. 176 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 436, for the compulsory purchase of lands by local authorities, the Ministry of Health decline to insert any provision releasing the authority from their obligation to purchase whole properties if so required under this section, but in recent legislation it has, in cases of compulsory purchase by local authorities, in many cases been left to the arbitrator to decide whether part of a building can be severed without material detriment to the remainder, and if he so decides, an owner cannot insist on the whole being taken, e.g. Development and Road Improvement Funds Act, 1909, Sch. r. 4, ante, p. 1209, and Housing Act, 1925, Sch. II., r. 2, ante, p. 1484.

Intersected lands.

And with respect to small portions of intersected land, be it enacted as follows (a) :

(a) See Genders v. L. C. C., [1915] 1 Ch. 1, a case which arose on the construction of a special Act which enabled the L. C. C. to acquire part of any property but so as not to interfere with the main structure of any house or building.

Owners of intersected lands may insist on sale.

93. If any lands, not being situate in a town (a) or built upon, shall be so cut through and divided by the works as to leave, either on both sides or on one side thereof, a less quantity of land than half a statute acre, and if the owner of such small parcel of land require the promoters of the undertaking to purchase the same along with the other land required for the purposes of the special Act, the promoters of the undertaking shall purchase the same accordingly, unless the owner thereof have other land adjoining to that so left into which the same can be thrown, so as to be conveniently occupied therewith ; and if such owner have any other land so adjoining, the promoters of the undertaking shall, if so required by the owner, at their own expense, throw the piece of land so left into such adjoining land, by removing the fences and levelling the sites thereof, and by soiling the same in a sufficient and workmanlike manner.

Promoters of the undertaking may insist on purchase where expense of bridges, etc exceeds the value.

94. If any such land shall be so cut through and divided as to leave on either side of the works a piece of land of less extent than half a statute acre, or of less value than the expense of making a bridge, culvert, or such other communication between the land so divided as the promoters of the undertaking are, under the provisions of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, compellable to make, and if the owner of such lands (a) have not other lands adjoining such piece of land, and require the promoters of the undertaking to make such communication, then the promoters of the undertaking may require such owner to sell to them such piece of land ; and any dispute as to the value of such piece of land, or as to what would be the expense of making such communication, shall be ascertained as herein provided for cases of disputed compensation ; and on the occasion of ascertaining the value of the land required to be taken for the purposes of the works the jury or the arbitrators, as the case may be, shall, if required by either party, ascertain by their verdict or award the value of any such severed piece of land, and also what would be the expense of making such communication.

(a) Whether situate in a town or elsewhere (Eastern Counties Rail. Co. v. Marriage (1861), 9 H. L. Cas. 32).

Copyhold.

And with respect to copyhold lands, be it enacted as follows (a) :

(a) It may be noticed here that by the Law of Property Act, 1922, all copyhold and customary tenure is abolished and all copyhold lands are enfranchised subject to compensation. See that Act.

Conveyances of copyhold lands to be enrolled.

95. Every conveyance to the promoters of the undertaking of any lands which shall be of copyhold or customary tenure, or of the nature thereof, shall be entered on the rolls of the manor of which the same shall be held or parcel ; and on payment to the steward of such manor of such fees as would be due to him on the surrender (a) of the same lands to the use of a purchaser thereof he shall make such enrolment ; and every such conveyance, when so enrolled, shall have the like effect, in respect of such copyhold or customary lands, as if the same had been of freehold tenure, nevertheless, until such lands shall have been enfranchised by virtue of the powers hereinafter contained, they shall continue subject to the same fines, rents, heriots, and services as were theretofore payable and of right accustomed.

(a) Not also any fee on admittance (Cooper v. Norfolk Rail. Co. (1849), 3 Exch. 546). A lord of a manor, entitled by custom to fines on surrender and admittance, is not entitled to any fine on the execution of the conveyance, nor upon the enrolment, nor to any compensation for the loss (Ecclesiastical Commissioners v. L. & S. W. Rail. Co. (1854), 14 C. B. 743; 23 L. J. C. P. 177). But until enfranchisement he is entitled to the same fines as would have accrued payable but for the taking of the land (Lord Leconfield v. L. & N. W. Rail. Co., [1907] 1 Ch. 38).

Where trustees of a will agreed to sell a strip of subsoil under three copyhold houses to the London County Council, who were by the contract to pay the vendor's costs of title and conveyance as allowed by the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, and on investigating the title it appeared that there had been no surrender or admission since April, 1870, and the vendors, at the request of the council, obtained the admission of the customary co-heirs of the last-surviving tenant on the court roll who had been a former trustee, it was held that the steward's fees and costs of admittance must be borne by the council, but that the lord's fine was not payable by the council (Re Thames Tunnel (Rotherhithe and Ratcliff) Act, 1900, [1908] 1 Ch. 493; 72 J. P. 153, overruling Re London United Tramways Act, 1900, [1906] 1 Ch. 534)

Copyhold lands conveyed to the promoters to be enfranchised.

96. Within three months after the enrolment of the conveyance of any such copyhold or customary lands, or within one month after the promoters of the undertaking shall enter upon and make use of the same for the purposes of the works, whichever shall first happen, or if more than one parcel of such lands holden of the same manor shall have been taken by them, then within one month after the last of such parcels shall have been so taken or entered on by them, the promoters of the undertaking shall procure the whole of the lands holden of such manor so taken by them to be enfranchised, and for that purpose shall apply to the lord of the manor whereof such lands are holden to enfranchise the same, and shall pay to him such compensation in respect thereof as shall be agreed upon between them and him, and if the parties fail to agree respecting the amount of the compensation to be paid for such enfranchisement the same shall be determined as in other cases of disputed compensation; and in estimating such compensation the loss in respect of the fines, heriots, and other services payable on death, descent, or alienation, or any other matters which would be lost by the vesting of such copyhold or customary lands in the promoters of the undertaking, or by the enfranchisement of the same, shall be allowed for (a).

Compensation for enfranchisement.

(a) The compensation must be assessed on the value of the land when taken, not on the improved value of the land by reason of the undertakers' works, no step having been taken for thirteen years by the company to obtain enfranchisement (Lowther v. Caledonian Rail. Co., [1892] 1 Ch. 73). The compensation is to be assessed as on the expiration of a month after entry and not as when the enfranchisement is completed (Re Salisbury (Marquis) and L. & N. W. Rail. Co., [1892] 1 Ch. 75).

The lord of a manor conveyed certain copyholds to a corporation and negotiations followed for their enfranchisement. In arbitration proceedings the lord claimed compensation for loss of quittances, which were customary charges of 4*d.* for every receipt demanded by a copyholder for any payment made by him. It was held that the quittances came within the section so as to be a matter for compensation, and that interest at 4 per cent. on the compensation money, calculated from the date of the obligation to enfranchise, was payable by the corporation after deducting any rents paid to the lord by the corporation (In re Duke of Northumberland and Tynemouth Corporation, [1909] 2 K. B. 374; 73 J. P. 326). See also Ecclesiastical Commissioners v. L. & S. W. Rail. Co., supra.

A town council proposed to purchase copyhold land for market purposes and the L. G. B. drew attention to ss. 95 and 96 of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, which require enrolment and subsequent enfranchisement of copyhold lands. The Board pointed out that it seemed to be fully established in Lowther v. Caledonian Rail. Co., supra, that s. 96, so far as it requires enfranchisement, is distinctly obligatory in effect. See hereon the Law of Property Act, 1922, ss. 128 et seq., referred to in note (a), ante, p. 2122.

Enfranchisement by deed poll in certain cases.

in that behalf provided, the lord of the manor whereof such copyhold or customary lands shall be holden shall enfranchise such lands, and the lands so enfranchised shall for ever thereafter be held in free and common soccage; and in default of such enfranchisement by the lord of the manor, or if he fail to adduce a good title thereto to the satisfaction of the promoters of the undertaking, it shall be lawful for them, if they think fit, to execute a deed poll, duly stamped, in the manner herein-before provided in the case of the purchase of lands by them, and thereupon the lands in respect of the enfranchisement whereof such compensation shall have been deposited as aforesaid shall be deemed to be enfranchised, and shall be for ever thereafter held in free and common soccage.

Apportionment of copyhold rents.

98. If any such copyhold or customary lands be subject to any customary or other rent, and part only of the land subject to any such rent be required to be taken for the purposes of the special Act, the apportionment of such rent may be settled by agreement between the owner of the lands and the lord of the manor on the one part, and the promoters of the undertaking on the other part, and if such apportionment be not so settled by agreement, then the same shall be settled by two justices; and the enfranchisement of any copyhold or customary lands taken by virtue of this or the special Act, or the apportionment of such rents, shall not affect in other respects any custom by or under which any such copyhold or customary lands not taken for such purposes shall be held; and if any of the lands so required be released from any portion of the rents to which they were subject jointly with any other lands, such last-mentioned lands shall be charged with the remainder only of such rents; and with reference to any such apportioned rents, the lord of the manor shall have all the same rights and remedies over the lands to which such apportioned rent shall have been assigned or attributed as he had previously over the whole of the lands subject to such rents for the whole of such rents.

Common lands.

And with respect to any such lands being common or waste lands, be it enacted as follows (a):

Commonable rights in respect of copyhold land, enfranchised by the Law of Property Act, 1922, are expressly saved by Sched. XII., para. (4), ibid.

Compensation for common lands, where held of a manor, etc. how to be paid.

99. The compensation in respect of the right in the soil of any lands subject to any rights of common shall be paid to the lord of the manor, in case he shall be entitled to the same, or to such party, other than the commoners, as shall be entitled to such right in the soil; and the compensation in respect of all other commonable and other rights in or over such lands, including therein any commonable or other rights to which the lord of the manor may be entitled other than his right in the soil of such lands, shall be determined and paid and applied in manner hereinafter provided with respect to common lands the right in the soil of which shall belong to the commoners; and upon payment or deposit in the Bank of the compensation so determined all such commonable and other rights shall cease and be extinguished.

Lord of the manor, etc. to convey to the promoters of the undertaking, on receiving compensation for his interest.

100. Upon payment or tender to the lord of the manor, or such other party as aforesaid, of the compensation which shall have been agreed upon or determined in respect of the right in the soil of any such lands, or on deposit thereof in the Bank in any of the cases hereinbefore in that behalf provided, such lord of the manor, or such other party as aforesaid, shall convey such lands to the promoters of the undertaking, and such conveyance shall have the effect of vesting such lands in the promoters of the undertaking, in like manner as if such lord of the manor, or such other party as aforesaid, had been

Section 100.

Deed poll to be executed in certain cases.

seised in fee simple of such lands at the time of executing such conveyance; and in default of such conveyance it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking, if they think fit, to execute a deed poll, duly stamped, in the manner hereinbefore provided in the case of the purchase of lands by them, and thereupon the lands in respect whereof such last-mentioned compensation shall have been deposited as aforesaid shall vest absolutely in the promoters of the undertaking, and they shall be entitled to immediate possession thereof, subject nevertheless to the commonable and other rights theretofore affecting the same, until such rights shall have been extinguished by payment or deposit of the compensation for the same in manner hereinafter provided.

Compensation for common lands where not held of a manor, how to be ascertained.

101. The compensation to be paid with respect to any such lands, being common lands, or in the nature thereof, the right to the soil of which shall belong to the commoners, as well as the compensation to be paid for the commonable and other rights in or over common lands the right in the soil whereof shall not belong to the commoners, other than the compensation to the lord of the manor, or other party entitled to the soil thereof, in respect of his right in the soil thereof, shall (a) be determined by agreement between the promoters of the undertaking and a committee of the parties entitled to commonable or other rights in such lands, to be appointed as next hereinafter mentioned.

(a) Nevertheless an agreement entered into for the determination of the compensation otherwise than as hereinafter provided is valid and may be enforced (Bee v. Stafford and Uttoxeter Rail. Co. (1875), 23 W. R. 863).

A meeting of the parties interested to be convened.

102. It shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking to convene a meeting of the parties entitled to commonable or other rights over or in such lands to be held at some convenient place in the neighbourhood of the lands, for the purpose of their appointing a committee (a) to treat with the promoters of the undertaking for the compensation to be paid for the extinction of such commonable or other rights; and every such meeting shall be called by public advertisement, to be inserted once at least in two consecutive weeks in some newspaper circulating in the county or in the respective counties and in the neighbourhood in which such lands shall be situate, the last of such insertions being not more than fourteen nor less than seven days prior to any such meeting; and notice of such meeting shall also, not less than seven days previous to the holding thereof, be affixed upon the door of the parish church where such meeting is intended to be held, or if there be no such church some other place in the neighbourhood to which notices are usually affixed; and if such lands be parcel or holden of a manor, a like notice shall be given to the lord of such manor.

(a) The court has no jurisdiction to inquire whether the committee are properly constituted. It is sufficient that it is a de facto committee (Salmon v. Edwards, [1910] 1 Ch. 552; 74 J. P. 177).

Meeting to appoint a committee.

103. It shall be lawful for the meeting so called to appoint a committee, not exceeding five in number, of the parties entitled to any such rights; and at such meeting the decision of the majority of the persons entitled to commonable rights present shall bind the minority and all absent parties.

Committee to agree with the promoters of the undertaking.

104. It shall be lawful for the committee so chosen to enter into an agreement with the promoters of the undertaking for the compensation to be paid for the extinction of such commonable and other rights, and all matters relating thereto, for and on behalf of themselves and all other parties interested therein; and all such parties shall be bound by such agreement; and it shall be lawful for such committee to receive the compensation so agreed to be paid, and the receipt of such committee, or of any three of them, for such

Section 104. compensation shall be an effectual discharge for the same; and such compensation, when received, shall be apportioned by the committee among the several persons interested therein, according to their respective interests (a), but the promoters of the undertaking shall not be bound to see to the apportionment or to the application of such compensation, nor shall they be liable for the misapplication or non-application thereof.

As to the application of compensation money for recreation grounds and field gardens, see the Commonable Rights Compensation Act, 1882, s. 3, post, p. 2411.

Disputes to be settled as in other cases.

105. If upon such committee being appointed they shall fail to agree with the promoters of the undertaking as to the amount of the compensation to be paid as aforesaid, the same shall be determined as in other cases of disputed compensation.

If no committee be appointed, the amount to be determined by a surveyor.

106. If, upon being duly convened by the promoters of the undertaking, no effectual meeting of the parties entitled to such commonable or other rights shall take place, or if, taking place, such meeting fail to appoint such committee, the amount of such compensation shall be determined by a surveyor, to be appointed by two justices, as hereinbefore provided in the case of parties who cannot be found.

Upon payment of compensation payable to commoners the lands to vest.

107. Upon payment or tender to such committee, or any three of them, or if there shall be no such committee then upon deposit in the Bank in the manner provided in the like case of the compensation which shall have been agreed upon or determined in respect of such commonable or other rights, it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking, if they think fit, to execute a deed poll, duly stamped, in the manner hereinbefore provided in the case of the purchase of lands by them, and thereupon the lands in respect of which such compensation shall have been so paid or deposited shall vest in the promoters of the undertaking freed and discharged from all such commonable or other rights, and they shall be entitled to immediate possession thereof (a); and it shall be lawful for the Court of Chancery, by an order to be made upon petition, to order payment of the money so deposited to a committee to be appointed as aforesaid, or to make such other order in respect thereto, for the benefit of the parties interested, as it shall think fit.

(a) Compliance with these provisions is a condition precedent to the right to interfere with the rights of the commoners, and if the rights of any commoner are disturbed before such compliance he may maintain an action (Stoneham v. L. B. and S. C. Rail. Co. (1872), L. R. 7 Q. B. 1).

Lands in mortgage.

And with respect to lands subject to mortgage, be it enacted as follows (a):

(a) As to equitable mortgagees and their rights, see Martin v. L. C. and D. Rail. Co. (1866), L. R. 1 Ch. 501; R. v. Middlesex (Clerk of the Peace of, [1914] 3 K. B. 259, and ante, p. 2094. As to a mortgagee's rights when promoters have obtained possession without notice to him, see Cooke v. London C. C., p. 2133, post.

Power to redeem mortgages.

108. It shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking to purchase or redeem the interest of the mortgagee of any such lands which may be required for the purposes of the special Act, and that whether they shall have previously purchased the equity of redemption of such lands or not, and whether the mortgagee thereof be entitled thereto in his own right or in trust for any other party, and whether he be in possession of such lands by virtue of such mortgage or not, and whether such mortgage affect such lands solely, or jointly with any other lands not required for the purposes of the special Act; and in order thereto the promoters of the undertaking may pay or tender to such mortgagee the principal and interest due on such mortgage, together with his costs and charges, if any, and also six months additional interest, and thereupon such mortgagee shall immediately convey his interest in the lands comprised in such mortgage to the promoters of the undertaking, or as they shall direct; or the promoters of the undertaking may give notice in writing to such mortgagee that they will pay off the principal and interest due on such mortgage at the end of six months, computed from the day of giving such notice; and if they shall have given any such notice, or if the party entitled to the equity of redemption of any such lands shall have given six months notice of his intention to redeem the same, then at the expiration of either of such notices, or at any intermediate period, upon payment or tender by the promoters of the undertaking to the mortgagee of the principal money due on such mortgage, and the interest which would become due at the end of six months from the time of giving either of such notices, together with his costs and expenses, if any, such mortgagee shall convey or release his interest in the lands comprised in such mortgage to the promoters of the undertaking, or as they shall direct (a).

(a) Interest is payable under this section from the time when possession might have been taken if a good title could be shown. In the case of land subject to mortgage interest is payable by the vendor to the mortgagee in lieu of notice (Spencer Bell v. L. & S. W. Rail. Co. (1885), 33 W. R. 771).

Deposit of mortgage money on refusal to accept.

109. If, in either of the cases aforesaid, upon such payment or tender any mortgagee shall fail to convey or release his interest in such mortgage as directed by the promoters of the undertaking, or if he fail to adduce a good title thereto to their satisfaction, then it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking to deposit in the Bank, in the manner provided by this Act in like cases, the principal and interest, together with the costs, if any, due on such mortgage, and also, if such payment be made before the expiration of six months notice as aforesaid, such further interest as would at that time become due; and it shall be lawful for them, if they think fit, to execute a deed poll, duly stamped, in the manner hereinbefore provided in the case of the purchase of lands by them; and thereupon, as well as upon such conveyance by the mortgagee, if any such be made, all the estate and interest of such mortgagee, and of all persons in trust for him, or for whom he may be a trustee, in such lands, shall vest in the promoters of the undertaking, and they shall be entitled to immediate possession thereof in case such mortgagee were himself entitled to such possession.

Sum to be paid when mortgage exceeds the value of the lands.

110. If any such mortgaged lands shall be of less value than the principal, interest, and costs secured thereon, the value of such lands, or the compensation to be made by the promoters of the undertaking in respect thereof, shall be settled by agreement between the mortgagee of such lands and the party entitled to the equity of redemption thereof on the one part, and the promoters of the undertaking on the other part; and if the parties aforesaid fail to agree respecting the amount of such value or compensation, the same shall be determined as in other cases of disputed compensation; and the amount of such value or compensation, being so agreed upon or determined, shall be paid by the promoters of the undertaking to the mortgagee, in satisfaction of his mortgage debt, so far as the same will extend; and upon payment or tender thereof the mortgagee shall convey or release all his interest in such mortgaged lands to the promoters of the undertaking, or as they shall direct.

Deposit of such sum when refused on tender.

111. If upon such payment or tender as aforesaid being made any such mortgagee fail so to convey his interest in such mortgage, or to adduce a good

Section 111. title thereto to the satisfaction of the promoters of the undertaking, it shall be lawful for them to deposit the amount of such value or compensation in the Bank, in the manner provided by this Act in like cases; and every such payment or deposit shall be accepted by the mortgagee in satisfaction of his mortgage debt, so far as the same will extend, and shall be a full discharge of such mortgaged lands from all money due thereon; and it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking, if they think fit, to execute a deed poll, duly stamped, in the manner hereinbefore provided in the case of the purchase of lands by them; and thereupon such lands, as to all such estate and interest as were then vested in the mortgagee, or any person in trust for him, shall become absolutely vested in the promoters of the undertaking, and they shall be entitled to immediate possession thereof in case such mortgagee were himself entitled to such possession; nevertheless all rights and remedies possessed by the mortgagee against the mortgagor, by virtue of any bond or covenant or other obligation, other than the right to such lands, shall remain in force in respect of so much of the mortgage debt as shall not have been satisfied by such payment or deposit.

Sum to be paid where part only of mortgaged lands taken.

112. If a part only of any such mortgaged land be required for the purposes of the special Act, and if the part so required be of less value than the principal money, interest, and costs secured on such lands, and the mortgagee shall not consider the remaining part of such lands a sufficient security for the money charged thereon, or be not willing to release the part so required, then the value of such part, and also the compensation (if any) to be paid in respect of the severance thereof or otherwise, shall be settled by agreement between the mortgagee and the party entitled to the equity of redemption of such land on the one part, and the promoters of the undertaking on the other; and if the parties aforesaid fail to agree respecting the amount of such value or compensation the same shall be determined as in other cases of disputed compensation; and the amount of such value or compensation, being so agreed upon or determined, shall be paid by the promoters of the undertaking to such mortgagee (a) in satisfaction of his mortgage debt, so far as the same will extend; and thereupon such mortgagee shall convey or release to them, or as they shall direct, all his interest in such mortgaged lands the value whereof shall have been so paid; and a memorandum of what shall have been so paid shall be indorsed on the deed creating such mortgage, and shall be signed by the mortgagee; and a copy of such memorandum shall at the same time (if required) be furnished by the promoters of the undertaking, at their expense, to the party entitled to the equity of redemption of the lands comprised in such mortgage deed.

(a) An arbitrator cannot determine that the money should be paid to any one other than the mortgagee (Ex parte Strabane R. D. C. (No. 1), [1910] 1 I. R. 135).

Deposit of such sum when refused on tender.

113. If upon payment or tender to any such mortgagee of the amount of the value or compensation so agreed upon or determined such mortgagee shall fail to convey or release to the promoters of the undertaking, or as they shall direct, his interest in the lands in respect of which such compensation shall so have been paid or tendered, or if he shall fail to adduce a good title thereto to the satisfaction of the promoters of the undertaking, it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking to pay the amount of such value or compensation into the Bank, in the manner provided by this Act in the case of moneys required to be deposited in such Bank; and such payment or deposit shall be accepted by such mortgagee in satisfaction of his mortgage debt, so far as the same will extend, and shall be a full discharge of the portion of the mortgaged lands so required from all money due thereon; and it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking, if they think fit, to execute a deed poll, duly stamped, in the manner hereinbefore provided in the case of the purchase of lands by them; and thereupon such lands shall become absolutely vested in the promoters of the undertaking, as to all such estate and interest as were then vested in the mortgagee, or any person in trust for him, and in case such mortgagee were himself entitled to such possession they shall be entitled to immediate possession thereof; nevertheless every such mortgagee shall have the same powers and remedies for recovering or compelling payment of the mortgage money, or the residue thereof, (as the case may be,) and the interest thereof respectively, upon and out of the residue of such mortgaged lands, or the portion thereof not required for the purposes of the special Act, as he would otherwise have had or been entitled to for recovering or compelling payment thereof upon or out of the whole of the lands originally comprised in such mortgage.

Powers of mortgagee for recovery of residue of mortgage debt.

114. Provided always, that in any of the cases hereinbefore provided with respect to lands subject to mortgage, if in the mortgage deed a time shall have been limited for payment of the principal money thereby secured, and under the provisions hereinbefore contained the mortgagee shall have been required to accept payment of his mortgage money, or of part thereof, at a time earlier than the time so limited, the promoters of the undertaking shall pay to such mortgagee, in addition to the sum which shall have been so paid off, all such costs and expenses as shall be incurred by such mortgagee in respect of or which shall be incidental to the re-investment of the sum so paid off, such costs, in case of difference, to be taxed, and payment thereof enforced, in the manner herein provided with respect to the cost of conveyances; and if the rate of interest secured by such mortgage be higher than at the time of the same being so paid off can reasonably be expected to be obtained on re-investing the same, regard being had to the then current rate of interest, such mortgagee shall be entitled to receive from the promoters of the undertaking, in addition to the principal and interest hereinbefore provided for, compensation in respect of the loss to be sustained by him by reason of his mortgage money being so prematurely paid off, the amount of such compensation to be ascertained, in case of difference, as in other cases of disputed compensation; and until payment or tender of such compensation as aforesaid the promoters of the undertaking shall not be entitled, as against such mortgagee, to possession of the mortgaged lands under the provision hereinbefore contained (a).

Compensation to be made in certain cases if mortgage paid off before the stipulated time.

(a) The promoters will be restrained by injunction from proceeding until the value of the mortgagee's interest has been ascertained and paid or secured (Ranken v. East and West India Docks (1849), 19 L. J. Ch. 153; 12 Beav. 298).

And with respect to lands charged with any rent service, rent-charge, or chief or other rent, or other payment or incumbrance not hereinbefore provided for, be it enacted as follows:

Rent-charges.

115. If any difference shall arise between the promoters of the undertaking and the party entitled to any such charge upon any lands required to be taken for the purposes of the special Act, respecting the consideration to be paid for the release of such lands therefrom, or from the portion thereof affecting the lands required for the purposes of the special Act, the same shall be determined as in other cases of disputed compensation.

Consideration to be paid for release of lands from rent-charges.

116. If part only of the lands charged with any such rent service, rent-charge, chief or other rent, payment, or incumbrance, be required to be taken for the purposes of the special Act, the apportionment of any such charge may be settled by agreement between the party entitled to such charge and the owner of the lands on the one part, and the promoters of the undertaking on the other part, and if such apportionment be not so settled by agreement the same shall be settled by two justices; but if the remaining part of the lands so jointly subject be a sufficient security for such charge, then, with consent of the owner of the lands so jointly subject, it shall be lawful for the party entitled to such charge to release therefrom the lands required, on condition or in consideration of such other lands remaining exclusively subject to the whole thereof.

Release of part of land from charge.

Deposit in case of refusal to release.

117. Upon payment or tender of the compensation so agreed upon or determined to the party entitled to any such charge as aforesaid, such party shall execute to the promoters of the undertaking a release of such charge; and if he fail so to do, or if he fail to adduce good title to such charge, to the satisfaction of the promoters of the undertaking, it shall be lawful for them to deposit the amount of such compensation in the Bank, in the manner hereinbefore provided in like cases, and also, if they think fit, to execute a deed poll, duly stamped, in the manner hereinbefore provided in the case of the purchase of lands by them, and thereupon the rent service, rent-charge, chief or other rent, payment or incumbrance or the portion thereof in respect whereof such compensation shall so have been paid, shall cease and be extinguished.

Charge to continue on lands not taken.

118. If any such lands be so released from any such charge or incumbrance or portion thereof, to which they were subject jointly with other lands, such last-mentioned lands shall alone be charged with the whole of such charge, or with the remainder thereof, as the case may be, and the party entitled to the charge shall have all the same rights and remedies over such last-mentioned lands, for the whole or for the remainder of the charge, as the case may be, as he had previously over the whole of the lands subject to such charge; and if upon any such charge or portion of charge being so released the deed or instrument creating or transferring such charge be tendered to the promoters of the undertaking for the purpose, they or two of them shall subscribe, or if they be a corporation shall affix their common seal to a memorandum of such release endorsed on such deed or instrument, declaring what part of the lands originally subject to such charge shall have been purchased by virtue of the special Act, and if the lands be released from part of such charge, what proportion of such charge shall have been released, and how much thereof continues payable, or if the lands so required shall have been released from the whole of such charge, then that the remaining lands are thenceforward to remain exclusively charged therewith; and such memorandum shall be made and executed at the expense of the promoters of the undertaking, and shall be evidence in all courts and elsewhere of the facts therein stated, but not so as to exclude any other evidence of the same facts.

Leases.

And with respect to lands subject to leases, be it enacted as follows:

Where part only of lands under lease taken, the rent to be apportioned.

119. If any lands shall be comprised in a lease for a term of years unexpired, part only of which lands shall be required for the purposes of the special Act, the rent payable in respect of the lands comprised in such lease shall be apportioned between the lands so required and the residue of such lands; and such apportionment may be settled by agreement between the lessor and lessee of such lands on the one part, and the promoters of the undertaking on the other part, and if such apportionment be not so settled by agreement between the parties such apportionment shall be settled by two justices; and after such apportionment the lessee of such lands shall, as to all future accruing rent, be liable only to so much of the rent as shall be so apportioned in respect of the lands not required for the purposes of the special Act; and as to the lands not so required, and as against the lessee, the lessor shall have all the same rights and remedies for the recovery of such portion of rent as previously to such apportionment he had for the recovery of the whole rent reserved by such lease; and all the covenants, conditions, and agreements of such lease, except as to the amount of rent to be paid, shall remain in force with regard to that part of the land which shall not be required for the purposes of the special Act, in the same manner as they would have done in case such part only of the land had been included in the lease (a).

(a) An interest created by an owner after notice to treat is not a subject for compensation (Re Marylebone Improvement Act (1871), L. R. 12 Eq. 389; Wilkins v. Birmingham Corporation (1884), 25 Ch. D. 78; 48 J. P. 231), even if created in land adjoining the land purchased which may be injuriously affected (Mercer v. Liverpool, St. Helen's and South Lancashire Rail. Co., [1904] A. C. 461; 68 J. P. 533; Wilkins v. Birmingham Corporation was considered in L. C. C. v. Wilson's Executors, [1916] 1 K. B. at p. 844). See, however, Cardiff Corporation v. Cook, [1923] 2 Ch. 115; 87 J. P. 90, the facts of which are set out at p. 2095, ante.

Agreement to an apportionment of rent under this section does not preclude the party from requiring the whole to be taken (Lavers v. London C. C. (1905), 69 J. P. 362; 93 L. T. (N.S.) 233).

If reversion to the whole has been acquired by the undertakers by private agreement before obtaining their Act they may exercise their compulsory powers afterwards against the tenant in respect of part only without the tenant being able to insist on his interest in the whole being taken (Stevenson v. North British Rail. Co. (1902), 4 F. 244).

As to the date from which the apportioned rent becomes payable, see Ball v. Graves (1887), 18 L. R. Ir. 224. It runs from the date of the apportionment (Re Secretary of State for War and Hurley's Contract, [1904] 2 I. R. 354).

Tenants to be compensated.

120. Every such lessee as last aforesaid shall be entitled to receive from the promoters of the undertaking compensation for the damage done to him in his tenancy by reason of the severance of the lands required from those not required or otherwise by reason of the execution of the works.

Compensation to be made to tenants from year to year, etc.

121. If any such lands shall be in the possession of any person having no greater interest therein than as tenant for a year or from year to year, and if such person be required to give up possession of any lands so occupied by him before the expiration of his term or interest therein, he shall be entitled to compensation for the value of his unexpired term or interest in such lands, and for any just allowance which ought to be made to him by an incoming tenant, and for any loss or injury he may sustain, or if a part only of such lands be required, compensation for the damage done to him in his tenancy by severing the lands held by him, or otherwise injuriously affecting the same; and the amount of such compensation shall be determined by two justices (a), in case the parties differ about the same; and upon payment or tender of the amount of such compensation all such persons shall respectively deliver up to the promoters of the undertaking, or to the person appointed by them to take possession thereof, any such lands in their possession required for the purposes of the special Act.

(a) That is, if the land be taken (R. v. Manchester, Sheffield and Lincolnshire Rail. Co. (1855), 4 El. & Bl. 88; 2 W. R. 591; Knapp v. L. C. & D. Rail. Co. (1863), 32 L. J. Ex. 236; 8 L. T. (N.S.) 541); but if the lands are injuriously affected, the proceedings are under s. 68, ante, p. 2108 (R. v. Sheriff of Middlesex (1862), 31 L. J. Q. B. 261; and see R. v. Stone (1866), L. R. 1 Q. B. 529; 30 J. P. 488; Bexley Heath Rail. Co. v. North, [1894] 2 Q. B. 579; 58 J. P. 832). The complaint need not be made within six months under 11 & 12 Vict. c. 43, s. 11 (R. v. Hannay (1875), 44 L. J. M. C. 27; 39 J. P. 534; R. v. Edwards, ante, p. 2097). The jurisdiction of the justices is limited to determining the amount of the compensation on the basis of the interest alleged by the tenant, and does not extend to inquiring whether that interest is his true interest; but in determining the compensation the justices have jurisdiction to inquire, and are bound to inquire, whether the claimant has been required to give up possession of the land before the expiration of his term or interest, that being a condition precedent to the right to compensation (G. N. Rail. Co. v. Tillett, [1902] 1 K. B. 874; 66 J. P. 742). Compensation for the residue of a lease which will expire in less than a year must be determined by justices under this section, and not by arbitration (R. v. G. N. Rail. Co. (1877), 2 Q. B. D. 151; 41 J. P. 197). It is otherwise with regard to the interest of a tenant having an agreement for a lease for years void at law, but equivalent to a lease in equity (Sweetman v. Metropolitan Rail. Co. (1864), 10 L. T. (N.S.) 156; 1 H. & M. 543; Rogers v. Hull Dock Co. (1865), 34 L. J. Ch. 165; 10 Jur. (N.S.) 1245; In re King (1873), L. R. 16 Eq. 521).

If a notice to treat be given, but nothing done thereunder, and the lands are afterwards taken under s. 85, then the interest of the tenant at the time when the lands are so taken is to be considered, and not his interest at the time when the notice to treat was given (R. v. Kennedy, [1893] 1 Q. B. 533; 57 J. P. 346). See Bexley Heath Rail. Co. v. North, ante, p. 2131.

Where greater interest claimed than from year to year, lease or grant to be produced.

122. If any party, having a greater interest than as tenant at will, claim compensation in respect of any unexpired term or interest under any lease or grant of any such lands, the promoters of the undertaking may require such party to produce the lease or grant in respect of which such claim shall be made, or the best evidence thereof in his power, and if, after demand made in writing by the promoters of the undertaking, such lease or grant, or such best evidence thereof, be not produced within twenty-one days, the party so claiming compensation shall be considered as a tenant holding only from year to year, and be entitled to compensation accordingly.

Limit of time for compulsory purchase.

123. And be it enacted, that the powers of the promoters of the undertaking for the compulsory purchase or taking of lands for the purposes of the special Act shall not be exercised after the expiration of the prescribed period, and if no period be prescribed not after the expiration of three years from the passing of the special Act (a).

(a) It is sufficient if notice to treat is given within the three years. See Salisbury v. G. N. Rail. Co. (1852), 17 Q. B. 840. In computing the time, the date on which the special Act received the Royal Assent must be excluded, but the day on which the notice to treat is given must be included (Goldsmiths' Co. v. West Metropolitan Rail. Co., [1904] 1 K. B. 1; 68 J. P. 41). The M. of H. do not ordinarily allow a longer period than three years in cases of compulsory purchase under s. 176 of the P. H. A., 1875. See notes to that section in Vol. I. at p. 439.

Interests omitted to be purchased.

And with respect to interests in lands which have by mistake been omitted to the purchased, be it enacted as follows:

Purchase by promoters of the undertaking after entry on lands, of interests the purchase whereof may have been omitted by mistake.

124. If at any time after the promoters of the undertaking shall have entered (a) upon any lands which under the provisions of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, they were authorised to purchase, and which shall be permanently required for the purposes of the special Act, any party shall appear to be entitled to any estate, right, or interest in or charge affecting such lands which the promoters of the undertaking shall through mistake or inadvertence (b) have failed or omitted duly to purchase or to pay compensation for, then, whether the period allowed for the purchase of lands shall have expired or not, the promoters of the undertaking shall remain in the undisturbed possession of such lands, provided within six months (c) after notice of such estate, right, interest, or charge, in case the same shall not be disputed by the promoters of the undertaking, or in case the same shall be disputed then within six months after the right thereto shall have been finally established by law in favour of the party claiming the same, the promoters of the undertaking shall purchase or pay compensation for the same, and shall also pay to such party, or to any other party who may establish a right thereto, full compensation for the mesne profits or interest which would have accrued to such parties respectively in respect thereof during the interval between the entry of the promoters of the undertaking thereon and the time of the payment of such purchase-money or compensation by the promoters of the undertaking, so far as such mesne profits or interest may be recoverable in law or equity; and such purchase-money or compensation shall be agreed on or awarded and paid in like manner as according to the provisions of this Act, the same respectively would have been agreed on or awarded and paid in case the promoters of the undertaking had purchased such estate, right, interest, or charge before their entering upon such land, or as near thereto as circumstances will admit.

Mesne profits to be accounted for.

(a) The mere fact that the promoters have already taken possession of the property does not preclude them from their statutory right to give notice to treat (Cooke v. London C. C., [1911] 1 Ch. 604; 75 J. P. 309).

(b) As to what amounts to mistake or inadvertence within the meaning of this section, see Martin v. L. C. & D. Rail. Co. (1866), L. R. 1 Ch. 501; Stretton v. G. W. and Brentford Rail. Co. (1870), L. R. 5 Ch. 751; Hyde v. Manchester Corporation (1852), 16 Jur. 180; Thomas v. Barry Dock and Rail. Co. (1888), 5 T. L. R. 360; Omagh U. D. C. v. Henderson, [1907] 2 I. R. 310. As to the effect of the section, see Salisbury (Marquis) v. G. N. Rail. Co. (1859), 28 L. J. C. P. 40; 5 C. B. (N.S.) 174; Jolly v. Wimbledon and Dorking Rail. Co. (1862), 1 B. & S. 807; 31 L. J. Q. B. 85.

(c) The six months do not run from a judgment referring the matter to arbitration, but from the award in the arbitration (Caledonian Railway v. Davidson, [1903] A. C. 22).

It has been held that the corresponding section of the Lands Clauses Consolidation (Scotland) Act, 1845, does not apply to cases in which the promoters do not, prior to the expiry of the period allowed for compulsory purchase, intend to acquire the omitted estate, right, interest or charge (Davidson's Trustees v. Caledonian Rail. Co. (1894), 21 Ct. of Sess. Cas. (4th ser.) 1060).

How value of such interests and mesne profits shall be estimated.

125. In estimating the compensation to be given for any such last-mentioned lands, or any estate or interest in the same, or for any mesne profits thereof, the jury, or arbitrators, or justices, as the case may be, shall assess the same according to what they shall find to have been the value of such lands, estate or interest, and profits, at the time such lands were entered upon by the promoters of the undertaking, and without regard to any improvements or works made in the said lands by the promoters of the undertaking, and as though the works had not been constructed.

Promoters of the undertaking to pay the costs of litigation as to such interests.

126. In addition to the said purchase-money, compensation, or satisfaction, and before the promoters of the undertaking shall become absolutely entitled to any such estate, interest, or charge, or to have the same merged or extinguished for their benefit, they shall, when the right to any such estate, interest or charge shall have been disputed by the company, and determined in favour of the party claiming the same, pay the full (a) costs and expenses of any proceedings at law or in equity for the determination or recovery of the same to the parties with whom any such litigation in respect thereof shall have taken place; and such costs and expenses shall, in case the same shall be disputed, be settled by the proper officer of the court in which such litigation took place.

Sale of superfluous land.

And with respect to lands acquired by the promoters of the undertaking under the provisions of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, but which shall not be required for the purposes thereof, be it enacted as follows (a):

Lands not in a town or built upon, etc. to be offered to owner of lands from which they were originally taken or to adjoining owners.

128. Before the promoters of the undertaking dispose of any such superfluous lands they shall, unless such lands be situate within a town (a), or be lands built upon or used for building purposes, first offer to sell the same to the person then entitled to the lands (if any) from which the same were originally severed; or if such person refuse to purchase the same, or cannot after diligent inquiry be found, then the like offer shall be made to the person or to the several persons whose lands shall immediately adjoin the lands so proposed to be sold, such persons being capable of entering into a contract for the purchase of such lands; and where more than one such person shall be entitled to such right of pre-emption such offer shall be made to such persons in succession, one after another, in such order as the promoters of the undertaking shall think fit (b).

(a) See s. 93, note (a), ante, p. 2122; also note (h) to s. 175 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 434, as to right of pre-emption. The present section apparently applies to lands purchased by a district council under s. 175 of the P. H. A., 1875, as well as to land acquired compulsorily under s. 176 of that Act, ante, p. 436.

"All statutory and other rights of pre-emption affecting a legal estate shall be and be "deemed always to have been capable of release and unless released shall remain in force "as equitable interests only" (Law of Property Act, 1925 (15 Geo. 5, c. 20), s. 186).

(b) For a case in which the right of pre-emption was held to be abrogated by the provisions of a special Act, see North British Railway v. Birrell's Trustees (1918), S. C. (H. L.) 33.

Right of pre-emption to be claimed within six weeks from offer.

129. If any such persons be desirous of purchasing such lands, then within six weeks after such offer of sale they shall signify their desire in that behalf to the promoters of the undertaking; or if they decline such offer, or if for six weeks they neglect to signify their desire to purchase such lands, the right of pre-emption of every such person so declining or neglecting in respect of the lands included in such offer shall cease; and a declaration in writing made before a justice by some person not interested in the matter in question, stating that such offer was made, and was refused, or not accepted within six weeks from the time of making the same, or that the person or all the persons entitled to the right of pre-emption were out of the country, or could not after diligent inquiry be found, or were not capable of entering into a contract for the purchase of such lands, shall in all courts be sufficient evidence of the facts therein stated.

Evidence of refusal, etc. to exercise right.

Differences as to price to be settled by arbitration.

130. If any person entitled to such pre-emption be desirous of purchasing any such lands, and such person and the promoters of the undertaking do not agree as to the price thereof, then such price shall be ascertained by arbitration and the costs of such arbitration shall be in the discretion of the arbitrators.

Lands to be conveyed to the purchasers.

131. Upon payment or tender to the promoters of the undertaking of the purchase money so agreed upon or determined as aforesaid they shall convey such lands to the purchasers thereof, by deed under the common seal of the promoters of the undertaking if they be a corporation, or if not a corporation under the hands and seals of the promoters of the undertaking, or any two of the directors or managers thereof acting by the authority of the body; and a deed so executed shall be effectual to vest the lands comprised therein in the purchaser of such lands for the estate which shall so have been purchased by him; and a receipt under such common seal, or under the hands of two of the directors or managers of the undertaking, as aforesaid, shall be a sufficient discharge to the purchaser of any such lands for the purchase money in such receipt expressed to be received (a).

(a) The promoters may insert restrictive covenants in the conveyance (In re Higgins and Hickman (1882), 21 Ch. D. 95; 46 J. P. 805).

Section 132.

Effect of the word "grant" in conveyances.

132. In every conveyance of lands to be made by the promoters of the undertaking under this or the special Act the word "grant" shall operate as express covenants by the promoters of the undertaking, for themselves and their successors, or for themselves, their heirs, executors, administrators, and assigns, as the case may be, with the respective grantees therein named, and the successors, heirs, executors, administrators, and assigns of such grantees, according to the quality or nature of such grants, and of the estate or interest therein expressed to be thereby conveyed, as follows, except so far as the same shall be restrained or limited by express words contained in any such conveyance; (that is to say,)

A covenant that, notwithstanding any act or default done by the promoters of the undertaking, they were at the time of the execution of such conveyance seised or possessed of the lands or premises thereby granted for an indefeasible estate of inheritance in fee simple, free from all incumbrances done or occasioned by them, or otherwise for such estate or interest as therein expressed to be thereby granted, free from incumbrances done or occasioned by them:

A covenant that the grantee of such lands, his heirs, successors, executors, administrators, and assigns, (as the case may be,) shall quietly enjoy the same against the promoters of the undertaking, and their successors, and all other persons claiming under them, and be indemnified and saved harmless by the promoters of the undertaking, and their successors, from all incumbrances created by the promoters of the undertaking:

A covenant for further assurance of such lands, at the expense of such grantee, his heirs, successors, executors, administrators, or assigns, (as the case may be,) by the promoters of the undertaking, or their successors, and all other persons claiming under them:

And all such grantees, and their several successors, heirs, executors, administrators, and assigns respectively, according to their respective quality or nature, and the estate or interest in such conveyance expressed to be conveyed, may in all actions brought by them assign breaches of covenants, as they might do if such covenants were expressly inserted in such conveyances.

Until completion of works promoters shall make good any deficiency of land tax and poor's rate caused by lands being taken.

133. And be it enacted, that if the promoters of the undertaking become possessed by virtue of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, of any lands charged with the land tax, or liable to be assessed to the poor's rate, they shall from time to time, until the works shall be completed and assessed to such land tax or poor's rate, be liable to make good the deficiency in the several assessments for land tax and poor's rate by reason of such lands having been taken or used for the purposes of the works; and such deficiency shall be computed according to the rental at which such lands, with any building thereon, were valued or rated at the time of the passing of the special Act; and on demand of such deficiency the promoters of the undertaking, or their treasurer, shall pay all such deficiencies to the collector of the said assessments respectively; nevertheless, if at any time the promoters of the undertaking think fit to redeem such land tax, they may do so, in accordance with the powers in that behalf given by the Acts for the redemption of the land tax (a).

Land tax may be redeemed.

(a) This section is to have effect as though references to the general rate were substituted for the poor rate and as though the amount required to be made good by the promoters were in the case of land situated in an urban rating area, one-half of the deficiency in the several assessments to the general rate. The assessment on which any payment made by the promoters under the section in the text is based is to be inserted in the valuation list and any such payment is to be taken into account for the purpose of ascertaining the proceeds of any rate (R. and V. Act, 1925, s. 2 (7), ante, p. 1642). But the promoters are not liable to be rated (London Corporation v. St. Andrew's, Holborn (1867), L. R. 2 C. P. 574). As to this section, see East London Rail. Co. v. Whitechurch (1874), L. R. 7 H. L. 81; 38

Note to Section 133.

J. P. 484; Stratton v. Metropolitan Board of Works (1875), L. R. 10 C. P. 76; 39 J. P. 167. Where the works consisted in making new streets, it was held that the works were completed within the meaning of this section when the streets were fully made, and such of the lands taken as might be liable to assessment had become assessable, and that the deficiency was to be computed from time to time by comparing the assessed value at the time of the special Act of the lands taken with the assessed value at the time of computation of such of the lands taken as might have again become assessable (Governor, etc. of Poor of City of Bristol v. Bristol Corporation (1887), 18 Q. B. D. 549; 51 J. P. 676). In the county of London it includes only so much of the general rate as represents the poor rate (Islington Borough Council v. London School Board, [1903] 2 K. B. 354; 68 J. P. 35). Where a company purchased houses beyond the limits of deviation to obtain the withdrawal of opposition by the owners to the passing of the special Act, it was held that the deficiency in the poor rate in respect of the houses must be made good, and that it was immaterial that some of them were unoccupied (Putney Overseers v. L. & S. W. Rail. Co., [1891] 1 Q. B. 440; 55 J. P. 422). For the construction of a similar clause in a local Act, see Burrup v. L. & S. W. Rail. Co. (1890), 63 L. T. (N.S.) 112; St. Stephen's Churchwardens v. Great Northern & City Rail. Co. (1902), 66 J. P. 373; 86 L. T. (N.S.) 390. Where the promoters of an undertaking took land and pulled down the houses thereon and were called upon under this section to make good the deficiency in the rates caused by their works, it was held that they were liable to pay the rates according to the full rateable value of the houses and lands taken, notwithstanding the fact that the former owners of some of the houses had made agreements with the rating authority of the district under s. 3 of the 32 & 33 Vict. c. 41 (cf. s. 11 of the R. and V. Act, 1925, ante, p. 1662), to pay the rates instead of the occupiers subject to a deduction of 25 per cent., and that the promoters were not entitled to make a similar deduction (St. Leonard's, Shoreditch, Vestry v. London C. C., [1895] 2 Q. B. 104; 59 J. P. 423). It is doubtful whether the section has any application at all on a purchase of lands by agreement. See Barony Parish Council v. Glasgow School Board (1896), 23 Ct. of Sess. Cas. (4th ser.) 221.

This section does not apply to lands acquired by a local authority under the Housing Act, 1925, or any enactment repealed by that Act (s. 131, ibid., ante, p. 1477).

Notices.

Service of notices upon promoters.

134. And be it enacted, that any summons or notice (a), or any writ or other proceeding at law or in equity, requiring to be served upon the promoters of the undertaking, may be served by the same being left at or transmitted through the post directed to the principal office of the promoters of the undertaking, or one of the principal offices where there shall be more than one, or being given or transmitted through the post directed to the secretary, or in case there be no secretary the solicitor of the said promoters.

(a) For any purpose, and not only in an action (In re South Yorkshire, etc. Rail. Co. (1849), 18 L. J. Q. B. 333; 7 D. & L. 36). But see, as to the service of notices on local authorities, the P. H. A., 1875, ss. 266, 267, ante, pp. 592, 593.

Tender of amends.

135. And be it enacted, that if any party shall have committed any irregularity, trespass, or other wrongful proceeding in the execution of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, or by virtue of any power or authority thereby given, and if, before action brought in respect thereof, such party make tender of sufficient amends to the party injured, such last-mentioned party shall not recover in any such action; and if no such tender shall have been made it shall be lawful for the defendant, by leave of the court where such action shall be pending, at any time before issue joined, to pay into court such sum of money as he shall think fit, and thereupon such proceedings shall be had as in other cases where defendants are allowed to pay money into court.

Payment into court.

Recovery of penalties.

And with respect to the recovery of forfeitures, penalties, and costs, be it enacted as follows (a):

Penalties to be summarily recovered before two justices.

136. Every penalty or forfeiture imposed by this or the special Act, or by any byelaw made in pursuance thereof, the recovery of which is not otherwise provided for, may be recovered by summary proceeding before two justices . . .

137. [Penalties to be levied by distress.]

Distress, how to be levied.

138. Where in this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, any sum of money, whether in the nature of penalty, costs, or otherwise, is directed to be levied by distress, such sum of money shall be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the party liable to pay the same; and the overplus arising from the sale of such goods and chattels, after satisfying such sum of money, and the expenses of the distress and sale, shall be returned, on demand, to the party whose goods shall have been distrained.

Application of penalties.

139. The justices by whom any such penalty or forfeiture shall be imposed may, where the application thereof is not otherwise provided for, award not more than one-half thereof to the informer, and shall award the remainder to the overseers of the poor of the parish in which the offence shall have been committed to be applied in aid of the poor's rate of such parish, . . . (a).

(a) See the Overseers Order, 1927, Art. 13, in App. II., post, p. 3684. The remainder of this section was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1875.

Distress against the treasurer.

140. If any such sum shall be payable by the promoters of the undertaking, and if sufficient goods of the said promoters cannot be found whereon to levy the same, it may, if the amount thereof do not exceed twenty pounds, be recovered by distress of the goods of the treasurer of the said promoters, and the justices aforesaid, or either of them, on application, shall issue their or his warrant accordingly; but no such distress shall issue against the goods of such treasurer unless seven days previous notice in writing, stating the amount so due, and demanding payment thereof, have been given to such treasurer, or left at his residence; and if such treasurer pay any money under such distress as aforesaid, he may retain the amount so paid by him, and all costs and expenses occasioned thereby, out of any money belonging to the promoters of the undertaking coming into his custody or control, or he may sue them for the same.

Notice to treasurer.

Reimbursement of treasurer.

Distress not unlawful for want of form, etc.

141. No distress levied by virtue of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, shall be deemed unlawful, nor shall any party making the same be deemed a trespasser, on account of any defect or want of form in the summons, conviction, warrant of distress, or other proceeding relating thereto, nor shall such party be deemed a trespasser ab initio on account of any irregularity afterwards committed by him, but all persons aggrieved by such defect or irregularity may recover full satisfaction for the special damage in an action upon the case.

142. [Penalties to be sued for within six months] (a).

Penalty on witnesses making default.

143. It shall be lawful for any justice to summon any person to appear before him as a witness in any matter in which such justice shall have jurisdiction, under the provisions of this or the special Act, at a time and place mentioned in such summons, and to administer to him an oath to testify the truth in such matter; and if any person so summoned shall, without reasonable excuse, refuse or neglect to appear at the time and place appointed for that purpose, having been paid or tendered a reasonable sum for his expenses, or if any person appearing shall refuse to be examined upon oath or to give evidence before such justice, every such person shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence (a).

(a) This section is repealed as to England so far as it relates to any matter to which the S. J. Acts apply (47 & 48 Vict. c. 43).

144. [Form of conviction] (a).

(a) This section and Schedule (C.) containing the form of conviction were repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1892.

Section 145.

Proceedings not to be quashed for want of form, etc.

145. No proceeding in pursuance of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, shall be quashed or vacated for want of form, nor shall the same be removed by certiorari or otherwise into any of the superior courts (a).

Appeal.

Parties allowed to appeal to quarter sessions on giving security.

146. If any party shall feel aggrieved by any determination or adjudication of any justice with respect to any penalty or forfeiture under the provisions of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, such party may appeal to the general quarter sessions . . . (a).

(a) The remainder of this section is repealed as to England by the S. J. A., 1884, s. 4.

Court to make such order as they think reasonable.

147. At the quarter sessions for which such notice shall be given the court shall proceed to hear and determine the appeal in a summary way, or they may, if they think fit, adjourn it to the following sessions; and upon the hearing of such appeal the court may, if they think fit, mitigate any penalty or forfeiture, or they may confirm or quash the adjudication, and order any money paid by the appellant, or levied by distress upon his goods, to be returned to him, and may also order such further satisfaction to be made to the party injured as they may judge reasonable; and they may make such order concerning the costs both of the adjudication and of the appeal, as they may think reasonable.

Receiver of the metropolitan police district to receive penalties incurred within his district.

148. Provided always, that notwithstanding any thing herein or in the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, contained, every penalty or forfeiture imposed by this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, or by any byelaw in pursuance thereof, in respect of any offence which shall take place within the metropolitan police district, shall be recovered, enforced, accounted for, and, except where the application thereof is otherwise specially provided for, shall be paid to the receiver of the metropolitan police district, and shall be applied, in the same manner as penalties or forfeitures, other than fines upon drunken persons, or upon constables for misconduct, or for assaults upon police constables, are directed to be recovered, enforced, accounted for, paid, and applied by the Metropolitan Police Courts Act, 1839; and every order or conviction of any of the police magistrates in respect of any such forfeiture or penalty shall be subject to the like appeal and upon the same terms as is provided in respect of any order or conviction of any of the said police magistrates by the said last-mentioned Act; and every magistrate by whom any order or conviction shall have been made shall have the same power of binding over the witnesses who shall have been examined, and such witnesses shall be entitled to the same allowance of expenses, as he or they would have had or been entitled to in case the order, conviction, and appeal had been made in pursuance of the provisions of the said last-mentioned Act.

2 & 3 Vict. c. 71.

149. [False evidence] (a).

* * * * * * (b)

(a) Repealed by the Perjury Act, 1911.

(b) The remaining sections of the Act relating to access to the special Act are not incorporated with the P. H. A., 1875. See s. 176, ante, p. 436.

THE RAILWAYS CLAUSES CONSOLIDATION ACT, 1845.

(8 & 9 VICT. c. 20) (a).

An Act for consolidating in one Act certain provisions usually inserted in Acts authorising the making of Railways. [8th May, 1845.]

* * * * * *

Recovery of damages and penalties.

And with respect to the recovery of damages not specially provided for, and of penalties, and to the determination of any other matter referred to justices, be it enacted as follows (b):

(a) The following sections of this Act are here set out as being incorporated with the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, s. 40, post, p. 2176, and the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, s. 85.

Provision for ascertainment of damages not otherwise provided for.

140. In all cases where any damages, costs, or expenses are by this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, directed to be paid, and the method of ascertaining the amount or enforcing the payment thereof is not provided for (a), such amount, in case of dispute, shall be ascertained and determined by two justices; and if the amount so ascertained be not paid by the company or other party liable to pay the same within seven days after demand the amount may be recovered by distress of the goods of the company or other party liable as aforesaid; and the justices by whom the same shall have been ordered to be paid, or either of them, or any other justice on application, shall issue their or his warrant accordingly (b).

Section 140.

Enforcement by distress.

(a) See Swansea Corporation v. Harpur, [1913] A. C. 597; 77 J. P. 381.

(b) These damages, costs, and expenses are now apparently civil debts within the S. J. A., 1879, ss. 6, 35, as being sums recoverable on complaint to a court of summary jurisdiction.

Distress against the treasurer.

141. If sufficient goods of the company cannot be found whereon to levy any such damages, costs, and expenses payable by the company, the same may, if the amount thereof do not exceed twenty pounds, be recovered by distress of the goods of the treasurer of the company; and the justices aforesaid, or either of them, on application, shall issue their or his warrant accordingly; but no such distress shall issue against the goods of such treasurer unless seven days previous notice in writing, stating the amount so due, and demanding payment thereof, have been given to such treasurer, or left at his residence; and if such treasurer pay any money under such distress as aforesaid, he may retain the amount so paid by him, and all costs and expenses occasioned thereby, out of any money belonging to the company coming into his custody or control, or he may sue the company for the same.

Notice to treasurer.

Reimbursement of treasurer.

Method of proceeding before justices in questions of damages, etc.

142. Where in this or the special Act any question of compensation, expenses, charges, or damages, or other matter, is referred to the determination of any one justice, or more, it shall be lawful for any justice, upon the application of either party, to summon the other party to appear before one justice, or before two justices, as the case may require, at a time and place to be named in such summons; and upon the appearance of such parties, or in the absence of any of them, upon proof of due service of the summons, it shall be lawful for such one justice, or such two justices, as the case may be, to hear and determine such question, and for that purpose to examine such parties or any of them, and their witnesses, on oath; and the cost of every such inquiry shall be in the discretion of such justices, and they shall determine the amount thereof.

Publication of penalties.

143. The company shall publish the short particulars of the several offences for which any penalty is imposed by this or the special Act, or by any byelaw of the company affecting other persons than the shareholders, officers, or servants of the company, and of the amount of every such penalty, and shall cause such particulars to be painted on a board, or printed upon paper and pasted thereon, and shall cause such board to be hung up or affixed on some conspicuous part of the principal place of business of the company, and where any such penalties are of local application shall cause such boards to be affixed in some conspicuous place in the immediate neighbourhood to which such penalties are applicable or have reference; and such particulars shall be renewed as often as the same or any part thereof is obliterated or destroyed; and no such penalty shall be recoverable unless it shall have been published and kept published in the manner hereinbefore required.

Penalty for defacing boards used for such publication.

144. If any person pull down or injure any board put up or affixed as required by this or the special Act for the purpose of publishing any byelaw or penalty, or shall obliterate any of the letters or figures thereon, he shall forfeit for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds and shall defray the expenses attending the restoration of such board.

145. Every penalty or forfeiture imposed by this or the special Act, or by any byelaw made in pursuance thereof, the recovery of which is not otherwise provided for, may be recovered by summary proceedings (a) before two justices (b).

Penalties to be summarily recovered before two justices.

(a) See Metropolitan Water Board v. Bunn, [1913] 3 K. B. 181; 77 J. P. 353.

(b) The remainder of this section and the whole of the two following sections are repealed by the S. J. A., 1884, s. 4, and Schedule, and again by the S. L. R. A., 1892.

146. [Penalties to be levied by distress.]

147. [Imprisonment in default of distress.]

148. Where in this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith any sum of money, whether in the nature of penalty or otherwise, is directed to be levied by distress, such sum of money shall be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the party liable to pay the same; and the overplus arising from the sale of such goods and chattels, after satisfying such sum of money, and the expenses of the distress and sale, shall be returned, on demand, to the party whose goods shall have been distrained.

Distress how to be levied.

149. No distress levied by virtue of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, shall be deemed unlawful, nor shall any party making the same be deemed a trespasser, on account of any defect or want of form in the summons, conviction, warrant of distress, or other proceeding relating thereto, nor shall such party be deemed a trespasser ab initio on account of any irregularity afterwards committed by him, but all persons aggrieved by such defect or irregularity may recover full satisfaction for the special damage in an action upon the case.

Distress not unlawful for want of form etc.

150. The justices by whom any such penalty or forfeiture shall be imposed may, where the application thereof is not otherwise provided for, award not more than one half thereof to the informer, and shall award the remainder to the overseers of the poor of the parish in which the offence shall have been committed, to be applied in aid of the poor's rate of such parish, . . . (a).

Application of penalties.

(a) The remainder of this section relating to extra-parochial places is repealed as obsolete by the S. L. R. A., 1875. Overseers having been abolished by s. 62, R. and V. Act, 1925, see now as to the application of these penalties the Overseers Order, 1927 (S. R. & O., 1927, No. 55), Art. 13 (1) (b), in App. II., post, p. 3684.

151. [Penalties to be sued for within six months] (a).

152. If, through any act, neglect, or default, on account whereof any person shall have incurred any penalty imposed by this or the special Act, any damage to the property of the company shall have been committed by such person, he shall be liable to make good such damage as well as to pay such penalty; and the amount of such damages shall, in case of dispute, be determined by the justices by whom the party incurring such penalty shall have been convicted; and on non-payment of such damages, on demand, the same shall be levied by distress, and such justices, or one of them, shall issue their or his warrant accordingly.

Damage to be made good in addition to penalty.

153. It shall be lawful for any justice to summon any person to appear before him as a witness in any matter in which such justice shall have jurisdiction under the provisions of this or the special Act, at a time and place mentioned in such summons, and to administer to him an oath to testify the truth in such matter; and if any person so summoned shall, without reasonable excuse, refuse or neglect to appear at the time and place appointed

Penalty on witnesses making default.

Section 153. for that purpose, having been paid or tendered a reasonable sum for his expenses, or if any person appearing shall refuse to be examined upon oath or to give evidence before such justice, every such person shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence (a).

(a) This section is repealed so far as relates to any matter to which the S. J. Acts apply (47 & 48 Vict. c. 43).

Transient offenders.

154. It shall be lawful for any officer or agent of the company, and all persons called by him to his assistance, to seize and detain any person who shall have committed any offence against the provisions of this or the special Act, and whose name and residence shall be unknown to such officer or agent, and convey him with all convenient despatch before some justice, without any warrant or other authority than this or the special Act; and such justice shall proceed with all convenient despatch to the hearing and determining of the complaint against such offender.

155. [Form of conviction] (a).

(a) This section is repealed by the S. J. A., 1884, s. 4, and Schedule, and again by the S. L. R. A., 1892.

Proceedings not to be quashed for want of form, etc.

156. No proceeding in pursuance of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, shall be quashed or vacated for want of form, nor shall the same be removed by certiorari or otherwise into any of the superior courts (a).

Appeal.

Parties allowed to appeal to quarter sessions, on giving security.

157. If any party shall feel aggrieved by any determination or adjudication of any justice with respect to any penalty or forfeiture under the provisions of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, such party may appeal to the general quarter sessions . . . (a).

(a) The remainder of this section is repealed as to England by the S. J. A., 1884, s. 4, and Schedule. See now s. 6 of that Act, and the S. J. A., 1879, s. 31.

Court to make such order as they think reasonable.

158. At the quarter sessions for which such notice shall be given the court shall proceed to hear and determine the appeal in a summary way, or they may, if they think fit, adjourn it to the following sessions; and upon the hearing of such appeal the court may, if they think fit, mitigate any penalty or forfeiture, or they may confirm or quash the adjudication, and order any money paid by the appellant, or levied by distress upon his goods, to be returned to him, and may also order such further satisfaction to be made to the party injured as they may judge reasonable; and they may make such order concerning the costs, both of the adjudication and of the appeal, as they may think reasonable.

Receiver of metropolitan police district to receive penalties incurred within his district.

159. Provided always, that notwithstanding anything herein or in the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, contained, every penalty or forfeiture imposed by this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, or by any byelaw in pursuance thereof, in respect of any offence which shall take place within the metropolitan police district, shall be recovered, enforced, accounted for, and, except where the application thereof is otherwise specially provided for, shall be paid to the receiver of the metropolitan police district, and shall be applied, in the same manner as penalties or forfeitures, other than fines upon drunken persons, or upon constables for misconduct, or for assaults upon police constables, are directed to be recovered, enforced, accounted for, paid, and applied by the Metropolitan Police Courts Act, 1839; and every order or conviction of any of the police magistrates in respect of any such forfeiture or penalty shall be subject to the like appeal, 2 & 3 Vict. c. 71.

and upon the same terms, as is provided in respect of any order or conviction of any of the said police magistrates by the said last-mentioned Act; and every magistrate by whom any order or conviction shall have been made shall have the same power of binding over the witnesses who shall have been examined, and such witnesses shall be entitled to the same allowance of expenses, as he or they would have had or been entitled to in case the order, conviction, and appeal had been made in pursuance of the provisions of the said last-mentioned Act.

160. [False evidence] (a).

(a) Repealed by the Perjury Act, 1911.

THE BATHS AND WASHHOUSES ACT, 1846.

(9 & 10 VICT. c. 74) (a).

An Act to encourage the Establishment of Public Baths and Washhouses.

[26th August, 1846.]

This Act may be adopted in boroughs and in parishes not within boroughs.

5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 76.

[1.] This Act may be adopted for any incorporated borough in England which is regulated under an Act passed in the sixth year of the reign of his late Majesty, to provide for the regulation of municipal corporations, or any charter granted in pursuance of the said Act, or any Act passed for the amendment thereof, and also, with the approval of one of her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State (b), for any parish in England not within any such incorporated borough (c).

(a) As to the adoption of this Act and the exercise of the powers conferred by it upon urban authorities, see the P. H. A., 1875, s. 10, ante, p. 44. This Act is amended by 10 & 11 Vict. c. 61; 41 & 42 Vict c. 14; 45 & 46 Vict. c. 30; and 62 & 63 Vict. c. 29, all of which are set out, post, pp. 2213, 2402, 2413, 2601, and by Part IX. of the P. H. A., 1925, ante, p. 1627.

In some places the provision of public bathing places and drying grounds is regulated by ss. 136—141 of the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847. See also the P. H. A., 1907, s. 92, ante, p. 1159, as to the provision of bathing sheds.

(b) The powers and duties of the Secretary of State under these Acts were transferred to the Local Government Board by 34 & 35 Vict. c. 70, and are now vested in the Minister of Health by 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 21, s. 3, post. Approval is now only required in the case of rural parishes. There is no provision in the Act for the rescission of a resolution of adoption. See, however, s. 32, post, p. 2151.

(c) But see the P. H. A., 1875, s. 10, ante, p. 44, which gives the urban authority power to adopt an Act under the statute to the exclusion of any other authority within their district, and as to rural parishes, see the L. G. A., 1894, s. 7.

Interpretation.

2. In this Act the following words and expressions shall have the several meanings hereby assigned to them, unless there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction; that is to say,

["Parish" . . .] (a).

"Borough" shall mean city, borough, port, cinque port, or town corporate: "Borough."

["Ratepayers" . . .] (b).

"Churchwardens" shall mean also chapelwardens or other persons discharging the duties of churchwardens: "Churchwardens."

"Overseers" shall mean also any persons authorised and required to make and collect or cause to be collected the rate for the relief of the poor of the parish, and acting instead of overseers of the poor: (c) "Overseers."

"Vestry" shall mean the inhabitants of the parish lawfully assembled in vestry, or for any of the purposes for which vestries are holden, except in those parishes in which there is a select vestry . . . (d) elected under the Vestries Act, 1831, or elected under the provisions of any local "Vestry." 1 & 2 Will. 4, c. 60.

Act of Parliament for the government of any parish by vestries, in which parishes it shall mean such select vestry :

"Commissioners."

"Commissioners" shall mean the commissioners appointed in accordance with this Act for any parish, and for the time being in office and acting as such commissioners :

"Clerk."

"Clerk" shall mean, as regards an incorporated borough, the town clerk of such borough ; and, as regards a parish, the clerk appointed pursuant to this Act by the commissioners :

"Justice."

"Justice" shall mean justice of the peace for the county, riding, division, liberty, borough, or place, where the matter requiring the cognizance of justices shall arise :

"Lands."

"Lands" shall mean lands, tenements, and hereditaments, of whatsoever nature or tenure :

Gender.

Words importing the masculine gender shall include the feminine :

Number.

Words of the plural number shall include the singular, and words of the singular number shall include the plural (e).

(a) The definition of parish was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1875. The word parish now shall, unless the contrary intention appears and subject to any alteration of area made on or after April 1, 1927, by or in pursuance of any Act, mean a place for which immediately before April 1, 1927, a separate poor rate was or could be made or a separate overseer was or could be appointed (R. and V. Act, 1925, s. 68 (4), ante, p. 1752).

(b) This definition was also repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1875. It is replaced by 10 & 11 Vict. c. 61, post, p. 2213.

(c) Overseers were abolished by the R. and V. Act, 1925, s. 62. The poor rate is now levied as a part of the general rate by the rating authority under that Act, q.v., ante, p. 1633.

(d) The S. L. R. A., 1875, repealed the part of this clause which, as originally enacted, contained a reference to 59 Geo. 3, c. 17. See also the amendment of the definition in 10 & 11 Vict. c. 61, post, p. 2213.

(e) Section 3, authorising councils of boroughs to adopt this Act, is repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1875 ; as also is the whole of s. 4 except the part set out in the text.

* * * * * *

Income to be carried to borough fund, and separate accounts kept.

4. The income arising from the baths and washhouses and open bathing places in any borough shall be paid to the credit of the borough fund (a) thereof, and the council shall keep distinct accounts of their receipts, payments, credits, and liabilities, with reference to the execution of this Act, to be called "The Public Baths and Washhouses Account" (b).

(a) As from the date of the first new valuation under the R. and V. Act, 1925, the borough fund was absorbed in the "general rate fund" (s. 10, ibid., ante, p. 1660).

(b) This section is printed as in part repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1875. Expenses in the case of a borough are now paid out of the general rate fund and general rate as in the case of other urban districts, see s. 207 of the P. H. A., 1875, as amended by the R. and V. Act, 1925, ante, p. 495.

With respect to the application of the income arising from the baths, etc. the L. G. B. stated that they were advised that the word "income" as here used may probably be construed as meaning the net proceeds and not the gross receipts.

Adoption of Act by vestry of parish not within a borough.

5. (a) Upon the requisition in writing of ten or more ratepayers of any such parish as aforesaid, not being within any such incorporated borough, the churchwardens or other persons to whom it belongs to convene meetings of the vestry in such parish (b) shall convene a meeting of the vestry for the special purpose of determining whether this Act shall be adopted for the parish, after public notice of such vestry, and the place and hour of holding the same, and the special purpose thereof, given in the usual manner in which notice of the meetings of the vestry is given, at least seven days before the day to be appointed for holding such vestry ; and if thereupon it shall be resolved by the vestry that this Act ought to be adopted for the parish, a copy of such resolution extracted from the minutes of the vestry, and signed by the chairman, shall be sent to one of her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State (c) for his approval, and as soon as such approval shall have been signified in writing under the hand of any such Secretary of State, such of the provisions of this Act as are applicable in that behalf shall thenceforth take effect and come into operation in the parish: Provided always, that no such resolution of the vestry shall be deemed to be carried, unless at least two-thirds of the number of votes given on the question, according to the usual manner of voting at such vestry, shall have been given for such resolution.

(a) These provisions are not affected with respect to parishes in a rural sanitary district.
(b) The Act is now adopted in rural parishes by the parish meeting, which is convened in manner provided by the L. G. A., 1894, s. 45 (3).
(c) See note (b), ante, p. 2143.

Appointment of commissioners for carrying Act into execution.

6. In such case the vestry shall appoint not less than three nor more than seven persons, being ratepayers of the parish, commissioners for carrying this Act into execution in the parish, of whom one-third, or as nearly as may be one-third, (to be determined among themselves,) shall go out of office yearly, but shall be eligible for immediate re-appointment.

Resignation of commissioners.

7. Any commissioner may at any time resign his office as a commissioner, on giving seven days notice in writing of his intention to resign to the clerk, and also to the churchwardens.

Vacancies.

8. Any vacancies in the commissionership may be filled up by the vestry, when and as the vestry shall think fit.

Meetings of commissioners.

9. The commissioners shall meet at least once in every calendar month at their office, or some other convenient place previously publicly notified.

Special meetings of commissioners.

10. The commissioners may meet at such other time as at any previous meeting shall be determined upon, and it shall be at all times competent for any one commissioner, by writing under his hand, to summon, with at least forty-eight hours notice, the commissioners for any special purpose therein named, and to meet at such times as shall be therein named.

Quorum of meetings of commissioners.

11. At all meetings of the commissioners any number not less than one-third of the whole number when more than three commissioners shall have been appointed, and when only three commissioners shall have been appointed then any number not less than two commissioners, shall be a sufficient number for transacting business, and for exercising all the powers of the commissioners.

Commissioners may appoint and remove officers, and pay their salaries, and may hire an office.

12. The commissioners shall appoint, and may remove at pleasure, a clerk and such other officers and servants as shall be necessary for effecting the purposes of this Act, and, with the approval of the vestry, may appoint reasonable salaries, wages, and allowances for such clerk, officers, and servants, and, when necessary, may hire and rent a sufficient office for holding their meetings and transacting their business, and may agree for and pay a reasonable rent for such office.

Minutes of proceedings of commissioners.

13. All orders and proceedings of the commissioners shall be entered in books, to be kept by them for that purpose, and shall be signed by the commissioners, or any two of them; and all such orders and proceedings so entered and purporting to be so signed, shall be deemed to be original orders and proceedings; and such books may be produced and read as evidence of all such orders and proceedings upon any appeal, trial, information, or other proceeding, civil or criminal, and in any court of law or equity whatsoever.

Commissioners to keep accounts.

14. The commissioners shall provide and keep books in which shall be entered true and regular accounts of all sums of money received and paid for or on account of the purposes of this Act in the parish, and of all liabilities incurred by them for such purposes, and of the several purposes for which such sums of money shall have been paid and such liabilities shall have been incurred; and such books shall at all reasonable times be open to the examination of every commissioner, churchwarden, overseer, and ratepayer, without fee or reward, and they respectively may take copies of or extracts from such books, or any part thereof, without paying for the same; and in case the commissioners, or any of them, or any of their officers or servants having the custody of the said books, being thereunto reasonably requested, shall refuse to permit or shall not permit any churchwarden, overseer, or ratepayer to examine the same, or take any such copy or extract, every commissioner, officer, or servant so offending shall for every such offence forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Auditors to be appointed yearly, who shall examine the accounts, and report to vestry.

15. The vestry shall yearly appoint two persons, not being commissioners, to be auditors of the accounts of the commissioners, and at such time in the month of March in every year after the adoption of this Act for the parish as the vestry shall appoint the commissioners shall produce to the auditors their accounts, with sufficient vouchers for all moneys received and paid, and the auditors shall examine such accounts and vouchers, and report thereon to the vestry (a).

(a) These auditors are superseded by the P. H. A., 1875, ss. 247 and 248, ante, pp. 540, 546.

Expenses of executing Act to be paid out of the poor rate.

16. The expenses of carrying this Act into execution in any parish not within any such incorporated borough, to such amount as shall be from time to time sanctioned by the vestry, shall be chargeable upon and paid out of the moneys to be raised or applicable for the relief of the poor of the parish (a).

(a) Out of the general rate, when the urban authority are the commissioners. See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 207, ante, p. 495; and see notes to s. 4 of this Act, ante, p. 2144.

Overseers to levy, as part of the poor rate, such sums as vestry shall deem necessary to pay expenses and pay the same to person appointed by commissioners.

17. For defraying the expenses which shall have been or shall be incurred in carrying this Act into execution in the parish the vestry may and shall from time to time order the overseers to levy with and as part of the rate for the relief of the poor of the parish such sums as the vestry shall deem necessary, and the amount thereof shall accordingly be assessed, levied, paid, and recovered in like manner, and with the like powers and remedies in all respects, as such rate, and shall be paid by the overseers, according to the order of the vestry, to such person as shall be appointed by the commissioners to receive the same, and his receipt shall be a sufficient discharge to the overseers for the same, and shall be allowed accordingly in passing their accounts.

See, now, the R. and V. Act, 1925, ante, p. 1633.

Moneys raised, and the income arising from baths, etc. in the parish, to be applied towards defraying expenses.

18. The money raised for defraying the expenses of carrying this Act into execution, and the income arising from the baths and washhouses and open bathing places in the parish, shall be applied by the commissioners in or toward defraying the expenses of carrying this Act into execution in the parish; and whenever, after repayment of all moneys borrowed for the purpose of carrying this Act into execution in the parish, and the interest thereof, and after satisfying all the liabilities of the commissioners with reference to the execution of this Act in the parish, and providing such a balance as shall be deemed by the commissioners sufficient to meet their probable liabilities during the then next year, there shall be at the time of holding the meeting of the vestry at which the yearly report of the auditors shall be produced any surplus money at the disposal of the commissioners they shall pay the same to the overseers in aid of the rate for the relief of the poor of the parish (a).

Surplus to be paid to overseers in aid of poor rate.

(a) As to the effect of this provision in view of the R. and V. Act, 1925, see the Overseers Order, 1927 (S. R. & O., 1927, No. 55), Art. 13 (1) in App. II., post, p. 3684.

19. The vestries of any two or more neighbouring parishes (a) which shall have respectively adopted this Act may concur in carrying this Act into execution in such parishes in such manner, not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, and for such time, as they shall mutually agree; and for that purpose it may, with the approval of such Secretary of State (b), be agreed on between such vestries that any public baths and washhouses and open bathing places shall be erected and made in any one of such parishes, to be vested in the commissioners thereof, and that the expenses of carrying this Act into execution with reference to the same shall be borne by such parishes in such proportions as such vestries shall mutually agree, and the proportion for each of such parishes of such expenses shall be chargeable upon and paid out of the moneys to be raised for the relief of the poor of the same respective parish accordingly; and, according and subject to the terms which shall have been so agreed on, the commissioners appointed for each of such parishes shall, in the management of the said baths and washhouses and open bathing places, form one body of commissioners, and shall act accordingly in the execution of this Act, and the accounts and vouchers of such commissioners shall be examined and reported on by the auditors of each of such parishes; and the surplus money at the disposal as aforesaid of such commissioners shall be paid to the overseers of such parishes respectively, in the same proportions as those in which such parishes shall be liable to such expenses (c).

Section 19.

Vestries of two or more parishes may concur in carrying this Act into execution, subject to the approval of Secretary of State.

(a) It is doubtful whether a district and parish council may combine. See P. H. A., 1875, s. 285, ante, p. 620, and L. G. A., 1894, s. 57, ante, p. 1022.

(c) See note (a) to s. 18, ante, p. 2146.

20. The commissioners of every such parish shall be a body corporate, with perpetual succession, which shall not be deemed to be interrupted by any partial or total vacancy from time to time in their office, by the name of "The Commissioners for Public Baths and Washhouses in the Parish of ( ) in the County of ( )," and by that name may sue and be sued in all courts, and before all justices and others, and may have and use a common seal, and by that name may take, hold, and convey any lands vested in them for the purposes of this Act.

Incorporation of commissioners.

21. For carrying this Act into execution in any borough or parish respectively, the council, with the approval of the Treasury (a), and the commissioners, with the sanction of the vestry, and also with the approval of the Treasury, may from time to time borrow at interest, on the security of a mortgage, as the case may be, of the borough fund, or of the rates for the relief of the poor of the parish (b), the money which may be by them respectively required, and shall apply the moneys so borrowed accordingly.

Councils and commissioners etc. may borrow money for the purposes of the Act, with the approval of the Treasury.

(a) The L. G. B. was substituted for the Commissioners of the Treasury by 41 & 42 Vict. c. 14, s. 9, post, and the powers and duties of the L. G. B. are now vested in the Minister of Health by 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 21, s. 3, post.

(b) See further, the P. H. A., 1875, s. 233, ante, p. 519. As to repayment out of moneys paid into court under s. 69 of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, ante, p. 2109, see Re Derby Municipal Estates (1876), 3 Ch. D. 289. References to the borough fund and poor rate must now be read as referring to the general rate fund and general rate (R. and V. Act, 1925, ss. 10, 69 (2), ante, pp. 1660, 1752).

Application to the M. of H. for sanction to the borrowing of money for the purposes of the Baths and Washhouses Acts should be made by resolution of the council, of which a copy should be forwarded by the clerk, together with plans and elevations of the proposed buildings, detailed estimates of cost, and particulars (in prescribed form) of existing debt for all purposes of the district. Proof will also be required of the due adoption of the Acts. It is advisable also to forward a plan of the town showing the situation of the site, and to explain whether terms have provisionally been come to with the owner. The Minister usually allows the following periods for the repayment of loans for purposes of public baths: sixty years for land; thirty years for buildings and swimming baths; twenty years for slipper baths and Turkish baths; fifteen years for a movable floor in a swimming bath; ten years for heating apparatus and fittings; and five years for towels, mats, etc. on first establishment.

Section 22.

The Public Works Loan Commissioners may advance money for the purposes of this Act.

5 & 6 Vict. c. 9.

22. The commissioners for carrying into execution an Act passed in the second session of the fifth year of the reign of her Majesty, intituled "An Act to authorise the advance of money out of the consolidated fund to a limited amount for carrying on public works and fisheries, and employment of the poor; and to amend the Acts authorising the issue of Exchequer bills for the like purposes," may from time to time make to the . . . commissioners of any such parish respectively, for the purposes of this Act, any loan under the provisions of the recited Act or the several Acts therein recited or referred to, upon security of . . . the rates for the relief of the poor of the parish . . . (a).

(a) References in the section to the council of the borough and the borough fund were repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1875. The statute referred to is 5 & 6 Vict. c. 9. The reference to the poor rates must now be read as relating to the general rate, see s. 69 (2), R. and V. Act, 1925, ante, p. 1752. The Public Works Loan Commissioners may lend money for purposes of public baths and washhouses. See First Schedule to Public Works Loans Act, 1875, post, p. 2373.

Provisions of 8 & 9 Vict. c. 16, as to borrowing money, accountability of officers, byelaws, damages, and penalties, incorporated with this Act.

23. The provisions of the Companies Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (a), with respect to the borrowing of money by any company on mortgage, and the provisions of the same Act with respect to the accountability of the officers of the company, and the provisions of the same Act with respect to the making of byelaws, subject to the provisions hereinafter contained, and the provisions of the same Act with respect to the recovery of damages not specially provided for, and penalties, so far as such provisions may respectively be applicable to the purposes of this Act, shall be respectively incorporated with this Act; and the expressions in such provisions applicable to the company and the directors shall apply, as regards a borough, to the council and, as regards a parish, to the commissioners; and all deeds and writings which under such provisions are required or directed to be made or executed under the common seal of the company shall in the application of such provisions to this Act be deemed to be required or directed to be made or executed, as regards a borough, under the common seal of the mayor, aldermen, and burgesses, and, as regards a parish, under the common seal of the commissioner; and so much of such provisions as are applicable to the "secretary of the company" shall apply to the clerk; and in such of the said provisions as relate to the inspection of accounts, as regards a borough, the burgesses, and, as regards a parish, the ratepayers, shall have the privileges of shareholders.,

Council may appropriate, with consent of the Treasury, lands vested in the mayor, etc.

Commissioners may, with approval of vestry etc., appropriate lands belonging to parish.

Council or commissioners may contract for purchase or hire of lands.

24. In any such borough the council, with the approval of the Treasury (a) may from time to time appropriate for the purposes of this Act in the borough any lands vested in the mayor, aldermen and burgesses; and in any such parish the commissioners appointed under this Act, with the approval of the vestry and of the guardians of the poor of the parish (if any), and of the Poor Law Commissioners for England and Wales (b), may from time to time appropriate for the purposes of this Act in the parish any lands vested in such guardians, or in the churchwardens, or in the churchwardens and overseers of the parish, or in any feoffees, trustees, or others, for the general benefit of the parish; and in any such parish the commissioners, with the approval of the vestry, and in any such borough the council, may from time to time contract (c) for the purchasing or renting of any lands necessary for the purposes of this Act, and the property therein shall be vested in the mayor, aldermen, and burgesses in the case of a borough, or in the commissioners in the case of a parish (d).

(a) Now the M. of H. See the Local Authorities (Treasury Powers) Act, 1906, ante, p. 1091. The L. G. B. (predecessors of the M. of H.) expressed the opinion that the section did not enable them to approve the appropriation of corporate land outside the borough. Probably procedure under the Municipal Corporations Acts would meet the difficulty in such a case.

The above-mentioned procedure is made available to urban district councils other than town councils by the P. H. A., 1875, s. 10, ante, p. 44.

See also the P. H. A., 1907, s. 95, ante, p. 1161, for a general provision as to appropriating lands vested in district councils to purposes other than those for which such lands were acquired. An urban district council proposed to erect a swimming bath in a public park which had been presented to them, and applied for sanction to a loan for the purpose. Upon an inspection of the deed of gift, however, the L. G. B. stated that it was not clear to them that the council could, without the consent of the donor, use the proposed site for the purposes of a swimming bath.

(b) The powers and duties of the Poor Law Commissioners were transferred to the L. G. B. by 34 & 35 Vict. c. 70, and are now vested in the Minister of Health by 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 21, s. 3, post.

(c) Land cannot be acquired compulsorily for the purposes of these Acts (s. 4 of the 1847 Act, post, p. 2214) except by Metropolitan Borough Councils (19 & 20 Geo. 5, c. lxxxvii, s. 60).

(d) The power conferred by this section to purchase or rent lands is extended to lands in the immediate neighbourhood of the borough or parish by 45 & 46 Vict. c. 30, s. 3, post, p. 2413. In urban districts these powers must be exercised by the urban district council. See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 10, ante, p. 44. Compare generally the powers of s. 136 of the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847, and s. 114 of the Education Act, 1921.

Councils and commissioners may erect, etc. public baths and washhouses and open bathing places.

25. The council and commissioners respectively may from time to time, on any lands so appropriated, purchased, or rented, or contracted so to be respectively, erect any buildings suitable for public baths and washhouses, and as to such washhouses either with or without open drying grounds, and make any open bathing places (a), and convert any buildings into public baths and washhouses, and may from time to time alter, enlarge, repair, and improve the same respectively, and fit up, furnish, and supply the same respectively with all requisite fittings, furniture, and conveniences (b).

(a) Extended to covered swimming baths by 41 & 42 Vict. c. 14, s. 3, post, p. 2402. The Act cannot be adopted for the purpose of providing baths only, but when adopted, the council may exercise their powers only to the extent of providing such baths as are authorised by the Act.

The L. G. B. once informed an urban district council that the provision of public baths for medical purposes would appear to be outside their powers under the Baths and Washhouses Acts.

The L. G. B. also stated that the letting of baths by an urban district council for an annual rent in consideration of their receiving the fees was not a legal arrangement. A town council proposed to purchase the exclusive right of using bathing vans on foreshore which was held by private persons, together with vans and other equipment:—Held, by the L. G. B., that ss. 21 and 25 did not authorise purchase, and that there was no authority enabling them to sanction a loan.

(b) A metropolitan borough council inaugurated a scheme whereby the inhabitants generally, instead of bringing and washing and taking away their clothes themselves, were invited to have their clothes collected and mechanically washed for them by employees of the council, and delivered by a van to the customers at a low rate of charge, in relief of any personal labour, attention or care on their part. It was held that the new undertaking was in the nature of an ordinary laundry business, and was not authorised by the Acts, nor was the undertaking, according to the principle laid down in Att.-Gen. v. G. E. Ry. (1880), 5 App. Cas. 473, incidental to or consequential upon the system authorised by the Acts, of providing facilities for the public to come and do their own washing, and further that "convenience" and "materials" mentioned in the above sections are limited to convenience and materials for the purposes of the Acts, namely, the providing of facilities for persons to do their own washing (Att.-Gen. v. Fulham Corporation, [1921] 1 Ch. 440; 85 J. P. 213).

Councils and commissioners may enter into contracts for the purposes of this Act.

26. The council and commissioners respectively may from time to time enter into any contract with any persons or companies for building and making, and for altering, enlarging, repairing, and improving, such public baths and washhouses and open bathing places, and for supplying the same respectively with water, and for lighting the same respectively, and for fitting up the same respectively, and for furnishing any materials (a) and things, and for executing and doing any other works and things necessary for the purposes

Section 26. of this Act; which contracts respectively shall specify the several works and things to be executed, furnished, and done, and the prices to be paid for the same, and the times when the works and things are to be executed, furnished, and done, and the penalties to be suffered in cases of non-performance; and all such contracts, or true copies thereof, shall be entered in books to be kept for that purpose: Provided always, that no contract above the value or sum of one hundred pounds shall be entered into by the council or the commissioners for the purposes of this Act, unless previous to the making thereof fourteen days notice shall be given in one or more of the public newspapers published in the county in which the borough or parish shall be situated, expressing the intention of entering into such contract in order that any person willing to undertake the same may make proposals, for that purpose, to be offered to the council or commissioners at a certain time and place in such notice to be mentioned; but it shall not be incumbent on the council or commissioners to contract with the person offering the lowest price.

No contract above £100 to be entered into without notice enabling persons to make tenders.

(a) See note (b) to s. 25, p. 2149, ante.

Council or commissioners may purchase existing baths, etc.

Trustees of such baths, etc. empowered to sell or lease them.

27. The council of any such borough, and the commissioners, with the approval of the vestry, of any such parish, may, if they shall think fit, contract for the purchase or lease of any baths and washhouses already or hereafter to be built and provided in any such borough or parish (a), and appropriate the same to the purposes of this Act, with such additions or alterations as they shall respectively deem necessary; and the trustees of any public baths and washhouses which have been already or may hereafter be built or provided in any such borough or parish (a), by private subscriptions or otherwise, may, with the consent of the council of any such borough, or with the consent of the commissioners and approval of the vestry of any such parish, and with the consent of the majority of the committee or other persons by whom they were appointed trustees, sell or lease the said baths and washhouses to the said council or commissioners respectively, or make over to them the management of such baths and washhouses; and in all such cases the baths and washhouses so purchased or leased, or of which the management has been so made over, shall be deemed to be within the provisions of this Act as fully as if they had been built or provided by the said council or commissioners; and the property therein shall be vested in the mayor, aldermen, and burgesses in the case of a borough, or in the commissioners in the case of a parish (b).

(a) Or in the immediate neighbourhood of such borough or parish (45 & 46 Vict. c. 30, s. 2, post, p. 2413).

(b) In an Irish case decided upon 9 & 10 Vict. c. 87, s. 27, which is similar to this clause in the text, it was held by the Lord Chancellor of Ireland, confirming the decision of the Master of the Rolls, that where a town council contracted to purchase baths and washhouses commenced by a private society on lands held under a sub-lease, being portion of lands comprised in a demise from the owner in fee, so that they were subject to a rent above that in the sub-lease as well as to the covenants and conditions in the original lease, they were not compellable to complete their contract, as it would have been a breach of trust on their part to purchase lands the interest in which might be lost by the default of others (Mulholland v. Belfast Corporation (1859), 9 Ir. Ch. R. 204, 292).

Power to water and gas companies to supply water and gas to baths, etc either without charge or on reduced terms.

28. Any commissioners of waterworks, trustees of waterworks, water companies, canal companies, gas companies, and other corporations, bodies and persons having the management of any waterworks, canals, reservoirs, wells, springs, and streams of water, and gasworks respectively, may in their discretion grant and furnish supplies of water or gas for such public baths and washhouses and open bathing places, either without charge or on such other favourable terms as they shall think fit (a).

(a) See the P. H. A., 1875, ss. 52 and 65, and notes thereto in Vol. I. (ante, pp. 133, 151). It is competent to a council exercising the powers of this Act to sink a well to supply public baths with water, although the district is within the limits of a water company having parliamentary powers.

Section 29.

Councillors and commissioners not to be personally liable.

29. Nothing in this Act contained shall render any member of the council of any borough or any commissioner personally, or any of their lands, goods, chattels, or moneys, (other than such lands, goods, chattels, or moneys as may be vested in or under the management or control of the council or commissioners respectively in pursuance of this Act,) liable to the payment of any sum of money as or by way of compensation or satisfaction for or in respect of any thing done or suffered in due pursuance of this Act (a).

Appeals against orders of councils and commissioners.

8 & 9 Vict. c. 16.

30. Every person who shall feel aggrieved by any byelaw, order, direction, or appointment of or by the council or commissioners shall have the like power of appeal to the general quarter sessions as, under the provisions of the Companies Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, incorporated with this Act, he might have if feeling aggrieved by any determination of any justice with respect to any penalty (a).

(a) See s. 23, ante, p. 2148.

Councils, etc. empowered to make sale and exchange of lands, with consent of Treasury, etc.

31. The council, with the approval of the Treasury (a), and the commissioners appointed under this Act, with the approval of the vestry and of the Treasury, respectively, may from time to time make sale and dispose of any lands vested in the mayor, aldermen, and burgesses, or in the commissioners respectively for the purposes of this Act, and apply the proceeds in or towards the purchase of other lands better adapted for such purposes, and may, with the like approval, exchange any lands so vested, and either with or without paying or receiving any money for equality of exchange, for any other lands better adapted for such purposes; and the mayor, aldermen, and burgesses, or the commissioners, may convey the lands so sold or exchanged accordingly.

(a) See note (a) to s. 24, ante, p. 2148. In a case in which washhouses were found to be unremunerative, the L. G. B. advised a metropolitan vestry (before the passing of the London Government Act, 1899), that it was apparently competent to them to close the washhouses and appropriate the buildings for other purposes of the Baths and Washhouses Acts, or, after obtaining the required approval, to sell the washhouses if they were considered to be unnecessary or too expensive. At the same time, the Board stated that the advice must not be understood as implying that the unremunerative character of washhouses would necessarily in itself constitute a sufficient reason for such a step. The maximum charges are now entirely within the discretion of the local authority (s. 85, P. H. A., 1925, ante, p. 1627), but until a scale under s. 85 has been authorised by the local authority the maxima in 10 & 11 Vict. c. 61, s. 7, and Sched., and 41 & 42 Vict. c. 14, ss. 4 and 14, and Sched., remain in force.

When baths, etc. are considered unnecessary or too expensive, they may, with approval of Treasury, be sold, and proceeds of sale carried to borough fund or poor rate.

32. Whenever any public baths or washhouses or open bathing places which shall have been for seven years or upwards established under the authority of this Act shall be determined by the council or by the vestry, in accordance with a previous recommendation of the commissioners, to be unnecessary, or too expensive to be kept up, the council or commissioners, with the approval of the Treasury (a), may sell the same for the best price that can reasonably be obtained for the same; and the mayor, aldermen, and burgesses, or the commissioners, shall convey the same accordingly; and the purchase money shall be paid to such person as the council or commissioners shall appoint, and his receipt shall be a sufficient discharge for the same; and the net proceeds of such sale shall be paid to the credit of the borough fund, or of the rate for the relief of the poor of the parish (b).

(b) To the general rate fund account in the case where the authority has been transferred to the urban authority under 21 & 22 Vict. c. 98, s. 47, or the P. H. A., 1875, s. 10, ante, p. 44. Similar provisions as to sale are contained in s. 141 of the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847.

Management to be vested in councils and parish commissioners.

33. The general management, regulation, and control of the public baths and washhouses and open bathing places established under this Act shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, be, as to any borough, vested in and exercised by the council, and, as to any parish, vested in and exercised by the commissioners (a).

Byelaws for regulating baths and washhouses.

34. The byelaws which the council and commissioners respectively may from time to time make, alter, repeal, and enforce, shall include such byelaws for the management, use, and regulation of the public baths and washhouses and open bathing places, and of the persons resorting thereto respectively, and for determining from time to time the charges for the use of such baths and washhouses and open bathing places respectively (a) as the council and commissioners respectively shall think fit; and they respectively may appoint any penalty not exceeding five pounds for any and every breach, whether by their officers or servants, or by other persons, of any byelaw made by them respectively; . . . (b) Provided always, that no byelaw made under the authority of this Act shall be of any legal force until the same shall have received the approval of one of her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State (c).

(a) The words in italics will be repealed in any district from the date on which a scale of charges under s. 85 of the P. H. A., 1925, post, p. 1627, is authorised by the local authority. The model byelaws did not contain any clauses for determining the charges. It was considered that byelaws on the subject were rendered practically unnecessary by the provisions of s. 7 of 10 & 11 Vict. c. 61, post, p. 2214, and ss. 4 and 14 of 41 & 42 Vict. c. 14, post, p. 2402, and the Schedules to those Acts.

A local authority asked the L. G. B. whether, if they provided swimming baths or an open bathing place, they would be under an obligation to charge for admission. The Board replied that the question was one which they had no jurisdiction to decide, but it appeared to them that the Baths and Washhouses Act, 1846, contemplated that charges should be made by the authority for the use of baths provided by them.

(b) Words requiring byelaws to be made for the specific purposes mentioned in the Schedule are here omitted as repealed by s. 86 and Sched. V. of the P. H. A., 1925, ante, p. 1628.

(c) Now the Minister of Health. See note (b) to s. 1, ante, p. 2143. Model byelaws were issued by the L. G. B. under this section and s. 6 of 41 & 42 Vict. c. 14 (now repealed).

The M. of H. expressed the opinion that a local authority could not by byelaws or regulations limit the use, at certain hours, of a swimming bath to children attending public elementary schools. If, however, a bath were part of a pleasure ground, the powers of the P. H. A., 1907, s. 76 (1) (b), ante, p. 1147, might possibly be used to set apart for the purpose for a reasonable time that portion of the pleasure ground forming the bath.

Copies or abstracts of byelaws to be hung up in every bathroom, etc.

35. A printed copy or sufficient abstract of the byelaws relating to the use of the baths and open bathing places respectively shall be put up in every bath room and open bathing place respectively; and a printed copy or sufficient abstract of the byelaws relating to the use of the washhouses shall be put up in some convenient place near every washing tub or trough, or every pair of washing tubs or troughs, in every washhouse (a).

Proportion of baths for the labouring classes.

36. The number of baths for the labouring classes in any building or buildings under the management of the same council or commissioners shall not be less than twice the number of the baths of any higher class, if but one, or of all the baths of any higher classes, if more than one, in the same building or buildings (a).

(a) The M. of H. have in some cases required urban district councils to reconstruct their scheme when it has been proposed to erect buildings which will contravene the requirements of this section. See further, as to the proportion of washing accommodation for the labouring classes, 10 & 11 Vict. c. 61, s. 5, post, p. 2214, and compare s. 137 of the

Note to Section 36.

Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847. Sections 37 and 41, and Sched. (B.) to this Act, were repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1875. Section 37 and Sched. (B.) had also been repealed by 10 & 11 Vict. c. 61, s. 6. As to charges for use of baths, etc., see 10 & 11 Vict. c. 61, s. 7, post, p. 2214, and 41 & 42 Vict. c. 14, ss. 4 and 14, post, p. 2402; all these sections are repealed by the P. H. A., 1925, Sched. V., as from the date that a scale of charges is authorised by the local authority under s. 85 of that Act, ante, p. 1627.

Recovery of charges at washhouses.

38. For the recovery of the charges at such washhouses the officers, servants, and others having the management thereof may detain the clothes brought to be washed, or other goods and chattels, of any person refusing to pay the charge to which such person may be liable, or any part thereof, till full payment thereof be made, and in case such payment be not made within seven days may sell such clothes, goods, and chattels, or any of them, returning the surplus proceeds of such sale, after deducting the unpaid charge and the expenses of such detention and sale, and the unsold articles, if any, on demand, to such person (a).

Penalty on officers taking fees beyond salaries, or being interested in contracts; also on councillors or commissioners taking fees or accepting offices or being interested in contracts.

39. If any clerk or other officer, or any servant who shall be in anywise employed by any council or commissioners in pursuance of this Act, shall exact or accept any fee or reward whatsoever for or on account of any thing done or forborne or to be done or forborne in pursuance of this Act, or on any account whatsoever relative to putting this Act into execution, other than such salaries, wages, or allowances as shall have been appointed by the council or commissioners, or shall in anywise be concerned or interested in any bargain or contract made by the council or commissioners for or on account of anything done or forborne or to be done or forborne in pursuance of this Act, or on any account whatsoever relative to the putting of this Act into execution, or if any person during the time he holds the office of member of the council or commissioner shall exact or accept any such fee or reward, or shall accept or hold any office or place of trust created by virtue of this Act, or be concerned directly or indirectly in any such bargain or contract, every such person, so offending shall be incapable of ever serving or being employed under this Act, and shall for every such offence also forfeit the sum of fifty pounds (a).

Application of penalties.

40. Such part of any penalty recovered under this Act as shall not be awarded to the informer shall be paid to the credit, as regards a borough, of the borough fund, and, as regards a parish, of the rate for the relief of the poor thereof (a).

(a) See the R. and V. Act, 1925, ante, p. 1633, and the Overseers Order, 1927 (S. R. & O., 1927, No. 55), Art. 13 (1), in App. II., post, p. 3684, made thereunder.

SCHEDULES REFERRED TO BY THE FOREGOING ACT.

SCHEDULE (A.) (a)

(a) This Schedule was repealed by the P. H. A., 1925, Sched. V. See s. 86, ibid., ante, p. 1628.

Section 1.

THE MARKETS AND FAIRS CLAUSES ACT, 1847.

(10 & 11 VICT. c. 14) (a).

An Act for consolidating in one Act certain provisions usually contained in Acts for contructing or regulating Markets and Fairs.

[23rd April, 1847.]

This Act to extend to such markets or fairs as shall be authorised by Acts hereafter to be passed which shall declare that this Act shall be incorporated therewith.

[1.] This Act shall extend only to such markets or fairs as shall be authorised by any Act of Parliament hereafter (b) to be passed which shall declare that this Act shall be incorporated therewith; and all the clauses of this Act, save so far as they shall be expressly varied or excepted by any such Act, shall apply to the undertaking authorised thereby, so far as the same shall be applicable to such undertaking, and shall, with the clauses of every other Act which shall be incorporated therewith, form part of such Act, and be construed therewith as forming one Act.

(a) The sections of this Act hereinafter set out, 12—16, 21—30, 31—41, are (in so far as they relate to markets) incorporated with the P. H. A., 1875, by s. 167, ante, p. 404. The Fairs Act, 1871, post, p. 2315, as affected by s. 27 of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 992, enacts that the Secretary of State, on the representation of the district council, or the owner of any fair or of the district council, with the consent of the owner of such fair or the tolls payable in respect thereof, may order any fair to be abolished. His order is to be published in the London Gazette, and some local newspaper, and then the fair is to be abolished. By the Fairs Act, 1873, s. 6, post, p. 2338, which repealed 31 & 32 Vict. c. 51, he may order the day of holding the fair to be altered. Reference should be made to the Diseases of Animals Act, 1894, as amended by later Acts, and to the Orders made under those Acts, as affecting markets and fairs.

Interpretation.

And with respect to the construction of this Act, and any Act incorporated therewith, be it enacted as follows:

"The special Act."

2. The expression "the special Act," used in this Act shall be construed to mean any Act which shall be hereafter passed authorising the construction or regulation of a market or fair, and with which this Act shall be incorporated; "Prescribed." and the word "prescribed" used in this Act in reference to any matter herein stated shall be construed to refer to such matter as the same shall be prescribed or provided for in the special Act, and the sentence in which such word occurs shall be construed as if instead of the word "prescribed," the expression "prescribed for that purpose in the special Act" had been used; and the "The lands." expression "the lands" shall mean the lands which shall by the special Act be authorised to be taken or used for the purposes thereof; and the expression "The undertaking." "the undertaking" shall mean the market or fair (a) and, the works connected therewith, by the special Act authorised to be constructed or regulated; and "The undertakers." the expression "the undertakers" shall mean the persons authorised by the special Act to construct or regulate the market or fair.

(a) The P. H. A., 1875, s. 167, ante, p. 404, does not extend to a fair. As to what constitutes a fair, see Collins v. Cooper (1893), 57 J. P. 248; 68 L. T. (N.S.) 450; Walker v. Murphy, [1915] 1 Ch. 71; 79 J. P. 137. See also the notes to ss. 166 and 168 of the Act of 1875, ante, pp. 394, 407.

Interpretation.

3. The following words and expressions in both this and the special Act, and any Act incorporated therewith, shall have the meanings hereby assigned to them, unless there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction; (that is to say,) (a)

Number.

Words importing the singular number shall include the plural number, and words importing the plural number shall include also the singular number:

Section 3.

Gender. Words importing the masculine gender shall include females :

"Person." The word "person" shall include a corporation, whether aggregate or sole :

"Lands." The word "lands" shall include messuages, lands, tenements, and hereditaments, or heritages, of any tenure :

"Lease." The word "lease" shall include (b) . . . an agreement for a lease :

"The market or fair." The expression "the market or fair" shall mean the market or fair, and the works connected therewith, by the special Act authorised to be constructed or regulated (c) :

"Cart." The word "cart" shall include waggon, and also any carriage used wholly or chiefly for the conveyance of goods :

"Driver." The word "driver" shall include the carter or other person having the care of any cart :

"Cattle." The word "cattle" shall include horse, ass, mule, ram, ewe, wether, lamb, goat, kid, or swine :

"Collector." The expression "the collector" shall mean the person appointed by the undertakers to collect the stallages, rents, or tolls authorised by the special Act, and shall include the assistants of the collector :

"Month." The word "month" shall mean calendar month :

"Superior courts." The expression "superior courts," when the matter submitted to the cognisance of the court arises in England . . . shall mean Her Majesty's superior courts of record at Westminister . . . (b).

"Oath." The word "oath" shall include affirmation in the case of Quakers, and any declaration lawfully substituted for an oath in the case of any other persons allowed by law to make a declaration instead of taking an oath :

"County." The word "county" shall include riding or other division of a county having a separate commission of the peace (b) . . . and it shall also include county of a city or county of a town :

"Justice." "Two justices." The word "justice" shall mean justice of the peace acting for the place where the matter requiring the cognisance of any such justice arises ; and if such matter arise in respect of lands situated not wholly in any one jurisdiction, shall mean a justice acting for the place where any part of such lands shall be situated ; and where any matter is authorised or required to be done by two justices, the expression "two justices" shall be understood to mean two or more justices assembled and acting together (b) :

. . . . . .

"Quarter sessions." The expression "quarter sessions" shall mean quarter sessions as defined in the special Act ; and if such expression be not there defined it shall mean the general or quarter sessions of the peace which shall be held at the place nearest to the market or fair, or the principal office thereof, for the county or place in which the market or fair is situate, or for some division of such county having a separate commission of the peace.

(a) See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 316, ante, p. 655, as to the interpretation of terms in incorporated statutes. Sections 1—5 of this Act are not incorporated, but reference to them may be necessary to explain the terms used in later incorporated sections. They are, therefore, included here.

(b) Words relating to Scotland and Ireland only are here omitted.

(c) As to the meaning of "fair" under local Acts, see Walker v. Murphy, cited in note (a) to s. 2, ante, p. 2154.

Citing the Act. And with respect to citing this Act, or any part thereof, be it enacted as follows :

Short title. 4. In citing this Act in other Acts of Parliament, and in legal instruments, it shall be sufficient to use the expression "The Markets and Fairs Clauses Act, 1847."

Section 5.

Form in which portions of this Act may be incorporated in other Acts.

5. For the purposes of incorporating part only of this Act with any Act hereafter to be passed, it shall be enough to describe the clauses of this Act with respect to any matter in the words introductory to the enactment with respect to such matter, and to enact that the clauses so described, or that this Act, with the exception of the clauses so described, shall be incorporated with such Act; and thereupon all the clauses of this Act so incorporated shall, save so far as they shall be expressly varied or excepted by such Act, form part of such Act, and such Act shall be construed as if such clauses were set forth therein with reference to the matter to which such Act relates.

* * * * * *

Holding of market, etc.

And with respect to the holding of the market or fair, and the protection thereof, be it enacted as follows (a):

(a) These clauses are incorporated by the P. H. A., 1875, s. 167, ante, p. 404.

Before the market or fair shall be opened notice to be given by undertakers.

12. Before the market or fair shall be opened for public use the undertakers shall give not less than ten days' notice of the time when the same will be opened, and such notice shall be given by the publication thereof in some newspaper circulating within the limits of the special Act, and by printed handbills posted on some conspicuous place within those limits.

Sales elsewhere than in market, or in shops, etc., prohibited.

13. After the market place is opened for public use, every person other than a licensed hawker (a) who shall sell or expose for sale in any place within the prescribed limits (b), except in his own dwelling place or shop (c), any articles in respect of which tolls are by the special Act authorised to be taken in the market (d), shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings (e).

(a) A licensed hawker is within this exemption, although he is selling goods for which a hawker's licence is not required (Llandudno U. D. C. v. Hughes, [1900] 1 Q. B. 472; 64 J. P. 357). A licensed pedlar who sold potatoes and fruit outside the market, but within the limits, was held to be protected by the provisions, though he had a horse and waggon, and was thus acting rather as a hawker than as a pedlar (Howard v. Lupton (1875), L. R. 10 Q. B. 598; 40 J. P. 7). But that case was disapproved of, and the contrary held, subsequently to the passing of 44 & 45 Vict. c. 45 in the meantime, in Woolwich L. B. v. Gardiner, [1895] 2 Q. B. 497; 59 J. P. 597. See as to hawkers' licences, the Hawkers Act, 1888; O'Dea v. Crowhurst (1899), 68 L. J. Q. B. 655; 63 J. P. 424; Holland v. Hall (1902), 66 J. P. 424; 86 L. T. (N.S.) 355; Philpott v. Allright (1906), 70 J. P. 287; 94 L. T. (N.S.) 540; see also the Pedlars Acts, 34 & 35 Vict. c. 96, s. 6, and 44 & 45 Vict. c. 45.

The provision in the Hawkers Act, 1888, that it shall not be necessary for a licence to be taken out by any person selling fruit, victuals, or coal, relates only to the Excise licence under that Act, and was held not to enable a person to hawk fish in a town subject to a local Act, which contained a provision similar to that in the text, and a further provision enabling the corporation to grant licences for the sale of marketable commodities in the street (Openshaw v. Oakley (1889), 53 J. P. 740; 60 L. T. (N.S.) 929). Under a similar clause, in a local Act, it was held that a pedlar, who had a pedlar's licence, did not require to have a licence from the corporation to sell hat-guards in the street, as these were not tollable articles (Loftos v. Gleave (1891), 55 J. P. 149). So also where fish were exempt from toll under another Act, a corporation licence was held not to be necessary (Loftos v. Kiggins (1891), 55 J. P. 151). A local Act provided that if any person sold save in his own dwelling place or shop any tollable article he should be liable to a penalty unless he had a licence under the Act. It further provided that nothing in the Act should interfere with the lawful exercise of their calling by duly licensed hawkers. The respondent who had taken out a licence under the Hawkers Act, 1888, but had no licence under the local Act sold tomatoes (which were tollable articles) from a hand barrow in the street. It was held that he was not exempt from the necessity of having a licence under the local Act, for he was not acting under his hawker's licence, and the Act did not exempt hawkers as a class but only hawkers lawfully exercising their calling as such (Lee v. Wallocks (1914), 78 J. P. 365).

(b) As to the prescribed limits, see the P. H. A., 1875, s. 316, ante, p. 655. In Caswell v. Cook, post, p. 2158, the term was held to mean the limits to which the local Act applied, in that case to the boundaries of the borough. A farmer residing at B., ten miles from T., a district under the P. H. A., contracted at B., with a butcher living in T., to sell some pigs to him, which were to be killed at B., and delivered at T. It was held that no offence was committed within this section (Bourne v. Lowndes (1858), 22 J. P. 354; 31 L. T. (o.s). 114). A sale is not within the section unless the bulk of the goods sold is, at the time of such sale, substantially within the prescribed limits (Newtownards Town Commissioners v. Woods (1877), Ir. R. 11 C. L. 506). But a sale by sample, the bulk being within the limits, is within the section (Londonderry Corporation v. McElhinney (1874), Ir. R. 9 C. L. 71). As to a sale in a part of a town not in existence at the time of the passing of a local Act, see Collier v. Worth (1876), 1 Ex. D. 464; 40 J. P. 342; Killmister v. Fitton (1886), 53 L. T. (n.s.) 959. H. delivered certain carcases at a door within the limits, and the carcases were then weighed and paid for, but it was alleged that they were delivered in pursuance of a previous contract entered into between the same parties at the same place a week previously. It was held that the sale was within the section (Exeter Corporation v. Heaman (1877), 42 J. P. 503; 37 L. T. (n.s.) 534). And where a greengrocer, within the limits, used to order vegetables from B., a farmer outside, and paid for them monthly, it was held that B. was liable to be convicted of selling in a place within the limits other than his own shop (Torquay Market Co. v. Burridge (1883), 48 J. P. 71). These cases may be distinguished from Bourne v. Lowndes, supra, on the ground that there the sale was made beyond the limits; but they cannot be reconciled with Stretch v. White (1861), 25 J. P. 485, where a farmer living without the limits was held not to offend by sending all his butter from time to time to a shop within the limits, and being allowed the market price for it. As to Stretch v. White, the observations of the judges in Pletts v. Campbell, [1895] 2 Q. B. 229; 59 J. P. 502, may be referred to, though the former decision was followed in Newtownards U. D. C. v. Tweedie (1907), 41 Ir. L. T. 23. All these cases were discussed in Lambert v. Rowe, [1914] 1 K. B. 38; 78 J. P. 20. In that case a farmer at his own dwelling-house agreed to sell to a butcher two specified pigs at a certain price per score. By the terms of the contract, the pigs were to be killed and delivered by the seller and were to be at his risk until delivery. A few days later he killed and delivered the pigs at the purchaser's shop which was within the market limits. Dead pigs were tollable articles. It was held that the word "sell" in the above section is to be understood in a popular and not its strict legal sense, that for the purposes of the section the pigs were sold where the agreement was made, notwithstanding that the property in them did not pass, and that the seller had consequently not committed an offence against the section. And see Quilligan v. Limerick Market Trustees (1883), 14 L. R. Ir. 265; Lisburn U. D. C. v. Shortt (1912), 46 Ir. L. T. 132. The T. Market Act prohibited the sale within certain limits of corn, grain, fish, meat, poultry, or other provisions, or any bulls, sheep, swine, or other live cattle which was usually sold in public markets. It was held that a shopkeeper selling potatoes came within the statute, these being "provisions," and also "usually sold within markets" (Shepherd v. Folland (1884), 49 J. P. 165). A cattle salesman was convicted under this section for selling cattle in a yard which he held under lease from the urban authority, containing covenant for quiet enjoyment, the urban authority having established their market after the date of the leases (Spurling v. Bantoft, [1891] 2 Q. B. 384; 56 J. P. 132). G. was charged on a summons with having sold and exposed for sale on June 13th, 1904, within the limits of a market, a quantity of potatoes which were tollable articles. It appeared that on June 9th, G. had agreed with M., within the limits of the market, to supply him with one hundredweight of potatoes, no price being agreed on. The potatoes were not at the time within the limits of the market, but were delivered within such limits on June 13th:—Held, that G. was not guilty of any offence against this section (Gracey v. Banbridge U. D. C., [1905] 2 I. R. 209).

A local Act imposed tolls on waggons and carts used for the exposure of goods on any market day. A baker, who was not a licensed hawker, had a customer within the limits of the market, whom he supplied with bread three times a week. It was held that he could not be convicted of exposing bread for sale so as to be within the above section (White v. Yeovil Corporation (1892), 61 L. J. M. C. 213). Under a similar local Act the use of a cart for the delivery of mineral waters from a distant manufactory to customers within the limits was held not to be a using for exposing for sale (Newton-in-Makerfield U. D. C. v. Lyon (1900), 69 L. J. Q. B. 230; 81 L. T. (n.s.) 756). Where a right to take tolls was imposed by a local Act, it was held that no right to sell without paying toll could be acquired by non-payment of tolls for a considerable period, and such selling might be restrained by injunction (Woolwich Corporation v. Gibson (1905), 69 J. P. 361; 92 L. T. (n.s.) 538).

(c) A vessel moored to a wharf on a canal within the limits is not a shop (Wiltshire v. Baker (1861), 11 C. B. (n.s.) 237). In order to be within the exemption, the shop need not be attached to a dwelling-house; but a sale by auction in a shop attached to and being part of a dwelling-house is privileged (Wiltshire v. Willett (1861), 26 J. P. 312; 11 C. B. (n.s.) 240). A structure which resembled a booth or stall, having no stable or substantial character, no room for customers within it, nor means of sheltering or protecting goods from the weather or from depredators, was held not to be a shop (Pope v. Whalley (1865), 29 J. P. 134; 6 B. & S. 303). A stall with a canvas roof standing upon a vacant piece of land and from which the goods were removed each day was held not to be a "shop" within a similar provision in a local Act (Pike v. Jones (1923), 87 J. P. 36). But the business carried on wholesale in the ground floor of a building, the other floors of which are used for warehouse and storage business, is carried on in a shop (Haynes v. Ford, [1911] 2 Ch. 237; 75 J. P. 401). A sale by auction of horses in a yard attached to a dwelling-house is not a sale in a shop (Llandaff and Canton Market Co. v. Lyndon (1860), 25 J. P. 295; 8 C. B. (N.S.) 515). A piece of ground outside a dwelling-house, which had been used for many years as the site of a wooden shed in which articles had been sold, was held to be an accessory to the shop, and within this exception (Ashworth v. Heyworth (1869), L. R. 4 Q. B. 316; 33 J. P. 565). An agricultural hall with land containing pens and sheds for the sale of cattle and sheep by auction, though adjoining the auctioneer's dwelling-place, was held not to be a shop (Fearon v. Mitchell (1872), L. R. 7 Q. B. 690; 36 J. P. 804; McHole v. Davies (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 59; 40 J. P. 548). A sale in a skittle ground let for two days for the occasion was held not to be a sale in a shop (Hooper v. Kenshole (1877), 2 Q. B. D. 127; 41 J. P. 142; and see also Perkins v. Arber (1873), 37 J. P. 406). A sale of marketable commodities from carts and van standing in the street opposite a shop is not a sale in the shop (Horner v. Freeman, W. N. (1884), p. 223). A room on the first floor of a building in the City of London where goods are regularly put up for auction is not a shop—so held by SCRUTTON, J., in Clayton v. Le Roy, [1911] 2 K. B. 1031; 75 J. P. 229. This point was not questioned in the Court of Appeal, see [1911] 2 K. B. 1046; 75 J. P. 521.

Commissioners were, by a local Act incorporating this Act, empowered to set up a market and take toll. Section 47 of the local Act imposed tolls upon all persons selling marketable commodities, except on premises in their own occupation. An auctioneer held sales in a field in his own occupation, and it was held that he was not liable for penalties (Rutherford v. Straker (1889), 42 Ch. D. 85 n.). It was further held that he could not be sued for disturbance of the market (Abergavenny Improvement Commissioners v. Straker (1889), 42 Ch. D. 83). In another case a local Act prohibited sales by a person "except on any land or in any building belonging to him or in his occupation." It was held that this provision superseded the enactment in the text (Hailsham Cattle Market Co. v. Tolman, [1915] 2 Ch. 1; 79 J. P. 420).

There may be a right by immemorial enjoyment or prescription to exclude persons from selling marketable articles in shops on market days. See Mosley v. Walker (1827), 7 B. & C. 40; 5 L. J. K. B. 358; Macclesfield Corporation v. Pedley (1833), 4 B. & Ad. 397; 1 Nev. & M. 708; Shepherd v. Folland, ante, p. 1213; but the grant of a market with all liberties and free customs to such market belonging, does not imply such a right (Macclesfield Corporation v. Chapman (1844), 12 M. & W. 18; 13 L. J. Ex. 32; Penryn Corporation v. Best (1878), 3 Ex. D. 292; 42 J. P. 629). A local Act stated that for preventing encroachments on the markets, any person who shall sell, among other things, roots, fruit, or garden stuff in any other places within the town than in the market should be liable to a penalty. A. bought vegetables from a dealer in the market, and then offered them for sale in the streets of the town:—Held, that he had incurred the penalty (Black v. Sackett (1870), 10 B. & S. 639).

By a local Act it was necessary to obtain a licence to sell (inter alia) mutton. The defendant, who had no licence to sell mutton, had some mutton on his premises for storage purposes only. His wife, contrary to his express instructions, sold some mutton. It was held that the wife had exceeded her general authority, and that the defendant was not liable (Wake v. Dyer (1911), 75 J. P. 210; 104 L. T. 448).

As to what amounts to disturbance of a market, see Prince v. Lewis (1826), 5 B. & C. 363; 4 L. J. K. B. 188; In re Islington Market Bill (1835), 3 C. & F. 513; Holcroft v. Heel (1799), 1 B. & P. 400; Mosley v. Chadwick (1782), 7 B. & C. 47 n.; 3 Doug. 117; De Rutzen v. Lloyd (1836), 5 A. & E. 456; 6 Nev. & M. 776; Brecon Corporation v. Edwards (1862), 26 J. P. 614; 1 H. & C. 51; Dorchester Corporation v. Ensor (1869), L. R. 4 Ex. 335; 34 J. P. 167; London Corporation v. Low (1880), 49 L. J. Q. B. 144; 44 J. P. 169; Elwes v. Payne (1879), 12 Ch. D. 468; Manchester Corporation v. Lyons (1882), 22 Ch. D. 287; 47 L. T. (N.S.) 677; G. E. Rail. Co. v. Goldsmid (1884), 9 App. Cas. 927; 49 J. P. 260; Wilcox v. Steel, [1904] 1 Ch. 212; 68 J. P. 146. See also the cases cited in the notes to s. 166 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 402, and Stevens v. Chown, [1901] 1 Ch. 894.

(d) Where a local Act imposed a toll upon the shops or stalls in the market, and not on the commodities sold there, it was held that a person who sold fruit and fish, which were marketable commodities, from door to door within the prescribed limits was not liable under this section (Caswell v. Cook (1863), 27 J. P. 183; 11 C. B. (N.S.) 637). A horse is an article within this section (Llandaff and Canton Market Co. v. Lyndon, supra). And see Shepherd v. Folland, ante, p. 2157.

A market Act provided that no person should sell or expose for sale in a certain district, except in the market place, any provisions or other goods mentioned in the schedule. The schedule, among other things, contained this item: "For every stallion exposed to view, one shilling." It was held that the Act did not so incorporate the words of the schedule as to make it an offence to expose to view a stallion within the district, for it applied only to exposing for sale (Luke v. Charles (1861), 25 J. P. 148). An Act authorised a corporation to take a toll "for every cartload of hay, straw, grass, vetches or other article, commodity or thing exposed for public sale." It was held that coal was not included in the general words "other article, commodity or thing" (Johnson v. Atkinson (1909), 73 J. P. 510; 101 L. T. 637). A toll was imposed "for every cart containing milk, fish, or other goods, provisions, marketable commodities or articles" brought to the market for sale or exposure for sale. The respondent sold milk from a cart within the prescribed limits of the borough, but not in the authorised market, and was summoned under this section (which was incorporated in the local Act) for unlawfully selling milk within the prescribed limit. It was held that the toll was a toll on every cart containing milk and not on the sale of milk, and that the respondent could not be convicted (Jenkins v. Thomas (1911), 75 J. P. 87; 104 L. T. 74). See also Londonderry Corporation v. Osborne, [1926] N. I. 58.

It is to be observed that the section does not enable a person to sell elsewhere than in the market or in a shop on payment of the tolls. Sometimes in local Acts, however, there is provision for selling in the streets, etc., upon obtaining a licence or on paying the prescribed tolls. See Carter v. Parkhouse (1870), 34 J. P. 438; 22 L. T. (N.S.) 788.

As to what are marketable commodities within the provisions of a local Act, see Morgan v. Kingdon (1875), 39 J. P. 471; Johnson v. Atkinson, supra.

(e) An association of retail dealers, many of whom dealt in tollable articles in a place in which this Act was applicable under s. 167 of the P. H. A., 1875, was held entitled by their servant to take proceedings as a party aggrieved within the meaning of s. 253 of that Act, ante, p. 558, for the recovery of penalties for selling tollable articles in that place contrary to the text (Ross v. Taylerson (1898), 62 J. P. 181).

14. After the market place or place for fairs is opened for public use the undertakers shall hold markets and fairs therein on the prescribed days (if any), and on such other days as the undertakers shall appoint from time to time by any byelaw to be made in pursuance of this or the special Act (a). Market days.

(a) See s. 42, post, p. 2164. It is doubtful whether 27 Hen. 6, c. 5, as amended by 13 & 14 Vict. c. 23, is applicable to prevent the holding of markets belonging to a local authority on Sundays, feast days, etc. Section 1 of the Sunday Observance Act, 1677, prohibits the exposure for sale of any wares, merchandise, fruit, herbs, goods, or chattels whatsoever, upon the Lord's Day, under pain of forfeiture of the wares, etc. Cf. Clifton v. Holborn B. C. (1929), 27 L. G. R. 658. The owner of a market may remove not only the whole, but a part of it, from one place to another within the compass of his district (Wortley v. Nottingham L. B. (1869), 21 L. T. (N.S.) 582). And see Edinburgh Magistrates v. Blackie (1886), 11 App. Cas. 665.

A byelaw that no auctioneer should sell cattle by auction in the market before twelve o'clock on the market day was held to be valid (Collins v. Wells Corporation (1885), 1 T. L. R. 328).

15. Every person who shall sell or expose for sale any unwholesome meat or provisions in the market or fair shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds for every such offence; and any inspector of provisions appointed by the undertakers may seize such unwholesome meat or provisions, and carry the same before a justice, and thereupon such proceedings shall be had as are hereinafter directed to be had in the case of any cattle or carcase seized in any slaughter-house and carried before a justice; and every person who shall obstruct or hinder the inspector of provisions from seizing or carrying away such unwholesome meat or provisions shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds for every such offence (a). Penalty for selling or exposing for sale unwholesome meat, &c.

(a) See the provisions of the P. H. A., 1875, ss. 116–119, ante, pp. 231–239, as to unsound meat, etc. See also s. 20, infra, as to cattle, etc., seized in a slaughter-house, and ss. 125—131 of 10 & 11 Vict. c. 34, post, pp. 2210 et seq.

16. Every person who shall assault or obstruct any person appointed by the undertakers to superintend the market or fair, or to keep order therein, whilst in the execution of his duty, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings. Penalty for obstructing market or fair keeper.

And with respect to slaughter-houses, be it enacted as follows: Slaughter-houses.

* * * * * *

20. The inspector of provisions, or any officer appointed by the undertakers for that purpose, may at all times of the day, with or without assistants, Inspection of slaughter-houses.

Section 20.

enter into and inspect all buildings erected or set apart by the undertakers for slaughtering cattle, and examine whether any cattle or the carcase of any cattle is deposited there; and in case such officer shall find any cattle, or the carcase or part of the carcase of any such cattle, which shall appear unfit for the food of man, he may seize and carry the same before a justice, and such justice shall forthwith order the same to be further inspected and examined by competent persons; and in case upon such inspection and examination such cattle, carcase, or part of a carcase shall be found unfit for the food of man, such justice shall order the same to be immediately destroyed or otherwise disposed of in such way as to prevent the same being exposed for sale or used for the food of man; and every person who shall obstruct or hinder such inspector or other officer in the discharge of any of the duties aforesaid shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds for every such offence (a).

(a) This section is not incorporated in the P. H. A., 1875, but is inserted as being referred to in s. 15, ante, p. 2159.

Weighing of goods and carts.

And with respect to weighing goods and carts, be it enacted as follows (a):

(a) Incorporated by the P. H. A., 1875, s. 167, ante, p. 404. As to the purchase, adjusting, and testing of these weighing machines, see 22 & 23 Vict. c. 56, ss. 6—8, 12, re-enacted by the Weights and Measures Act, 1878, Sched. VI., Part 2, the Revenue Act, 1889, s. 29, the Weights and Measures Act, 1889, the Weights and Measures Act, 1904, the Weights and Measures (Amendment) Act, 1926, and the cases of Hayley v. Taylor (1900), 82 L. T. (N.S.) 803; Lane v. Rendall, [1899] 2 Q. B. 673; 63 J. P. 757; London C. C. v. Payne, [1904] 1 K. B. 194; 68 J. P. 21; Anglo-American Oil Co. v. Manning, [1908] 1 K. B. 536; 72 J. P. 35, as to false and unjust weights. As to the weighing of cattle, see 50 & 51 Vict. c. 27; 54 & 55 Vict. c. 70; and 16 & 17 Geo. 5, c. 21, post, pp. 2490, 2534, 2908.

Weights and measures for weighing commodities sold at markets and fairs.

21. The undertakers shall provide sufficient and proper weighing houses or places for weighing or measuring the commodities sold in the market or fair, and shall keep therein proper weights, scales, and measures, according to the standard weights and measures for the time being, for weighing such commodities as aforesaid, and shall appoint proper persons to attend to the weighing or measuring such commodities at all times during which the market or fair is holden (a).

(a) See also 41 & 42 Vict. c. 49, Sched. VI., Part 2, re-enacting 22 & 23 Vict. c. 56, ss. 6—8, 12.

Articles to be weighed if requested by the buyer.

22. Every person selling or offering for sale any articles in the market or fair shall, if required so to do by the buyer, cause the same to be weighed or measured by the weights and scales or measures provided by the undertakers; and any such person who shall refuse, on demand, to cause such articles to be weighed or measured in manner aforesaid shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

Penalty for refusal to weigh.

23. Every person appointed by the undertakers to weigh or measure any articles sold in the market or fair who shall refuse or neglect to weigh or measure the same when required shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings (a).

(a) See also 41 & 42 Vict. c. 49, Sched. VI., Part 2, re-enacting 22 & 23 Vict. c. 56, ss. 6–8, 12.

Machines for weighing carts, etc.

24. The undertakers shall provide sufficient and proper buildings or places for weighing carts in which goods are brought for sale within the market or fair or the prescribed limits, and shall keep therein machines and weights proper for that purpose, and shall from time to time appoint a person in every such building or place to afford the use of such machines to the public by weighing such carts with or without their loading, as may be required.

Weighing of carts with their loads, and after discharge.

25. The driver of every such cart shall, at the request of the buyer or seller of such goods, or his agent, take such cart, with or without the loading thereof, to the nearest of the said weighing machines, and shall permit the same to be weighed; and if such cart be weighed with its load thereupon the driver shall, if required, take such cart after its load has been discharged to the weighing machine nearest to such place of discharge, and permit it to be reweighed without such load; and if any such driver shall for the purposes aforesaid be required to take such cart a greater distance than half a mile, including the going to and returning from such machines respectively, the owner of the cart shall be paid for every horse which shall be used in drawing such cart twopence for the first half mile, and a like sum for every additional half mile; and such payment shall be made by the person requiring such cart to be weighed as aforesaid before the driver thereof shall be obliged to take it as aforesaid for the purpose of having it weighed.

Penalty on drivers for refusing to take carts to be weighed, &c.

26. The driver of any such cart who shall not, upon being so requested as aforesaid, and having such payment made or tendered as aforesaid, take the same to such weighing machine as hereinbefore directed, or who shall refuse to assist in the weighing of the same, shall forfeit to the person requiring such cart to be weighed a sum not exceeding twenty shillings.

Penalties on drivers committing frauds in weighing.

27. Every driver of any such cart weighed at any weighing machine to be provided in pursuance of this or the special Act who shall commit any of the following offences shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds for each offence; (that is to say,)

If he at the time of weighing any such cart knowingly have anything in or about the same other than the proper loading thereof:

If he alter any ticket denoting the weight of any such cart, or the loading of the same:

If he make or use, or be privy to making or using, any ticket falsely stating the weight of any such cart or the loading thereof:

If he, after the weighing of any such cart with the loading thereof, remove any part of such loading, and afterwards dispose of or attempt to dispose of or represent the residue of such loading as being the full loading denoted by such ticket:

If he between the time when the cart and the loading thereof have been so weighed and the time when such cart is weighed without such loading change the wheels of such cart, or make any other change upon it after being required to allow such cart to be weighed without the loading thereof:

If he be guilty of any other fraudulent contrivance to misrepresent the weight of any such cart or the loading thereof.

Penalty on buyers or sellers for committing frauds in weighing.

28. If the buyer or seller of any goods brought in any cart for sale within the market or fair, and which shall be required to be weighed as aforesaid, shall do anything to such cart or its loading whereby the true weight thereof respectively shall be altered before such weighing, he shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

Penalties for frauds committed by the machine keeper.

29. The person for the time being appointed to keep any weighing machine provided in pursuance of this or the special Act shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds in any of the following cases; (that is to say,)

If he wilfully neglect, on application, duly to weigh any cart, with or without its loading, as the case may be, that is brought to the machine kept by him to be weighed:

If he do not fairly weigh every such cart, with or without loading, as the case may be:

If he do not deliver to the buyer or seller of any such loading, or to any person interested therein, on application, a ticket or account specifying the true weight of such cart, with or without such loading, as may be required:

Section 29.

If he give to the driver of any such cart a false ticket or account of the weight of such cart, with or without the loading thereof:

If he weigh any cart, with or without its loading, knowing that anything had been done to such cart or to the loading thereof, to alter the true weight thereof respectively:

If he knowingly assist in or connive at any fraud concerning the weighing of any cart or the loading thereof, or make or connive at making any false representation of the weight of the same respectively.

Penalty on other parties committing frauds as to weighing.

30. Every person who shall knowingly act or assist in committing any fraud respecting the weighing or weight of any cart, or the loading thereof in pursuance of this or the special Act, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

Tolls.

And with respect to the stallages, rents, and tolls to be taken by the undertakers, be it enacted as follows (a):

(a) Incorporated with the P. H. A., 1875, by s. 167, ante, p. 404. No tolls are leviable by the authority unless, as regards such as were established between 1858 and 1872, they were approved of by the Secretary of State. As regards such as have been or shall be approved of by the M. of H., see 21 & 22 Vict. c. 98, s. 50; 34 & 35 Vict. c. 70; and the P. H. A., 1875, s. 167, ante, p. 404. The tolls therein referred to were interpreted by the L. G. B. to be tolls on buying and selling. They have no power to approve of stallages, rents, or pickage tolls under the section last mentioned.

As to the return of tolls which must be made under the Local Taxation Returns Act, 1860, see the Act, post, p. 2257.

Tolls, etc. not to be demanded until market or fair completed.

31. Unless it be otherwise provided by the special Act, the undertakers shall not demand or receive any stallage, rent, or toll until the market place or place for a fair or slaughter-house in respect of the use of which the same shall be demanded shall be completed and fit for the use of the persons resorting thereunto (a).

(a) Where the undertakers receive toll and invite persons to come to market with their cattle, a duty is imposed on them at common law to keep the market in a safe condition for the cattle as regards the construction of the market place (Lax v. Darlington Corporation (1880), 5 Ex. D. 28; 44 J. P. 312). The L. G. B. once stated that they were not aware of any provision in the general law enabling a district council to levy tolls upon cattle passing through the district.

Certificate of two justices to be evidence that market or fair is completed.

32. A certificate under the hand of any two justices shall be conclusive evidence that the same is completed and fit for public use as aforesaid; and any such justices shall sign such certificate on proof being adduced to them that the market place or place for a fair or slaughter-house is so completed and fit for public use.

Tolls, etc. to be paid on demand to undertakers or collector.

33. The several stallages, rents, or tolls payable in respect of the market or fair or slaughter-house shall be paid from time to time, on demand, to the undertakers, or the collector or other person authorised by the undertakers to receive the same.

Tolls for weighing, etc. to be paid before goods, etc. are weighed, etc.

34. The tolls payable in respect of weighing or measuring marketable commodities, or carts with or without goods, shall be paid to the person authorised by the undertakers to weigh or measure the same by the persons bringing such marketable commodities or carts to be weighed or measured, before the same are weighed or measured.

Tolls in respect of cattle brought to market for sale.

35. The tolls in respect of cattle brought to the market for sale shall become due as soon as the cattle in respect whereof they are demandable, are brought into the market place, and before the cattle are put into any pen, or tied up in such market place; and if the cattle be not removed within one hour after the close of the market, another toll shall become due in respect of the cattle so omitted to be removed. Section 35.

36 (a). The undertakers may from time to time change the stallages, rents, and tolls to be taken in respect of the market or fair, or for the slaughter-houses, or for weighing and measuring, provided that the stallages, rents, and tolls in no case exceed the amounts authorised by the special Act (b). Stallages, tolls, etc. may be varied from time to time.

(a) Sections 36–41 (both included) are applied to tolls for weighing cattle by s. 8 of the Markets and Fairs (Weighing of Cattle) Act, 1887, post, p. 2492.

(b) As to the construction of the Liverpool New Cattle Market Act, 1831, see Att.-Gen. v. Liverpool New Cattle Market Co., W. N. (1896) 30 (2).

37. Every person who shall demand or receive a greater toll than that authorised to be taken under the provisions of this or the special Act, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings. Penalty on taking a greater toll than authorised by this or the special Act.

38. If any person liable to the payment of any stallage, rent, or toll authorised by this or the special Act to be taken do not pay the same when demanded, the undertakers or their lessee, or any person authorised by the undertakers or their lessee to collect the same, may levy the same in England . . . by distress . . . of all or any of the cattle or other articles in respect of which such stallage, rent, or toll is payable, or of any other cattle or other articles in the market belonging to the person liable to pay such stallage, rent, or toll, or under his charge, or such tolls may be recovered in any court having competent jurisdiction (a). Recovery of tolls by distress, etc.

(a) Words relating to Ireland and Scotland are omitted from this section.

39. If any dispute arise concerning any such stallage, rent, or toll, such dispute shall be determined in England . . . by a justice, . . . and such justice . . . shall, on application made to him, determine the same, and make such order therein, and award such costs to either party, as to him shall seem proper; and in default of payment, on demand, of the money which shall be so awarded, and of the costs, the same shall be forthwith levied in England . . . by distress, . . . and the justice . . . shall issue his warrant accordingly (a). Disputes respecting tolls, how to be settled.

(a) Words relating to Ireland and Scotland are omitted from this section.

40. Every person who shall assault or obstruct any person authorised to collect any stallage, rent, or toll authorised by this or the special Act, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings. Penalty for obstructing collector of rents, etc.

41. The undertakers or their lessee shall from time to time cause to be painted on boards, or to be printed and attached to boards, in large and legible characters, a list of the several stallages, rents, and tolls from time to time payable under this and the special Act, and shall cause a board containing such list to be conspicuously set up and continued in the market or fair, and in each weighing-house and slaughter-house provided by the undertakers, to which each such list shall relate, and no stallage, rent, or toll shall be payable during the time such list is not so set up, or for anything not specified therein: Provided always, that if such list shall be destroyed, injured, or obliterated, the stallages, rents, and tolls shall continue to be payable during such time as shall be reasonably required for the restoration of such list, in the same manner as if such list had continued in the state required by this Act. List of tolls, etc. to be set up and placed in conspicuous places.

Byelaws.

And with respect to the byelaws to be made by the undertakers, be it enacted as follows (a):

Section 42.

Byelaws may be made for all or any of the purposes herein named.

42. The undertakers may from time to time make such byelaws as they think fit for all or any of the following purposes; (that is to say,)

For regulating the use of the market place and fair, and the buildings, stalls, pens, and standings therein, and for preventing nuisances or obstructions therein, or in the immediate approaches thereto:

For fixing the days, and the hours during each day, on which the market or fair shall be held:

For inspection of the slaughter-houses (b), and for keeping the same in a cleanly and proper state, and for removing filth and refuse at least once in every twenty-four hours, and for requiring that they be provided with a sufficient supply of water, and preventing the exercise of cruelty therein:

For regulating the carriers resorting to the market or fair, and fixing the rates for carrying articles carried therefrom within the limits of the special Act:

For regulating the use of the weighing machines provided by the undertakers, and for preventing the use of false or defective weights, scales, or measures:

For preventing the sale or exposure for sale of unwholesome provisions in the market or fair.

(a) Under s. 167 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 404, an authority may make byelaws for any of the purposes mentioned in the above section. These byelaws will be made under the P. H. A., and the remaining sections of this Act as to byelaws need not therefore be referred to. Model byelaws under this section are issued by the Ministry of Health.

A byelaw made by a local board prevented persons from throwing skins upon any part of the ground occupied by the market, or the immediate approaches, or in any cart standing thereon without being authorised so to do by the superintendent of the market. This was held to be too general, and therefore bad, as in restraint of trade (Wortley v. Nottingham L. B. (1869), 33 J. P. 806; 21 L. T. (N.S.) 582). A byelaw that no auctioneer should sell cattle by auction in the market before 12 o'clock on the market day was held to be valid (Collins v. Wells Corporation (1885), 1 T. L. R. 328). A byelaw made under a local Act for regulating markets was held not to be unreasonable or in restraint of trade by reason of its setting apart a part of a market for sale by wholesale only, and providing a penalty for selling by retail in that part (Strike v. Collins (1886), 50 J. P. 741; 55 L. T. (N.S.) 182). A byelaw that sale rings established by the local authority shall be used only for public sales by auction on conditions equally applicable to all bidders and buyers, and not for private sales, or for sales to any limited number of persons, or for sales in which any class of the public are excluded from bidding or buying was held to be good in Scott v. Glasgow Corporation, [1899] A. C. 470; 64 J. P. 132. A byelaw prohibiting sale by auction in a public market without the consent of the superintendent of the market is ultra vires (Nicholls v. Tavistock U. D. C., [1923] 2 Ch. 18; 87 J. P. 98). See also Diseases of Animals Act, 1894, ss. 22 (ix.), (xx.) and 39.

As to the confirmation of byelaws made under this section, see 47 & 48 Vict. c. 12, ante, p. 762.

(b) I.e., the slaughter-houses referred to in ss. 17 and 20 of this Act which are not incorporated. Urban authorities may make byelaws for the regulation of slaughter-houses under 10 & 11 Vict. c. 34, ss. 128—130, post, pp. 2211 et seq., incorporated by the P. H. A., 1875, s. 169, ante, p. 403.

THE GASWORKS CLAUSES ACT, 1847.

(10 & 11 Vict. c. 15) (a).

An Act for consolidating in one Act certain provisions usually contained in Acts authorising the making of Gasworks for supplying Towns with Gas.

[23rd April, 1847.]

Incorporation with special Act.

[1.] This Act shall extend only to such gasworks as shall be authorised by any Act of Parliament hereafter to be passed which shall declare that this Act shall be incorporated therewith, and all the clauses of this Act, save so far as they shall be expressly varied or excepted by any such Act, shall apply to the undertaking authorised thereby, so far as the same shall be applicable to such undertaking, and shall, with the clauses of every other Act which shall be incorporated therewith, form part of such Act, and be construed therewith as forming one Act (b). Section 1.

(a) The P. H. A., 1875, s. 161, ante, p. 382, enabled an urban authority to obtain a Provisional Order authorising a gas undertaking under the Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870, and any Act amending the same (36 & 37 Vict. c. 89). These Acts, which are set out, post, pp. 2272, 2339, incorporate this Act, and in consequence the amending Act of 1871, post, p. 2315, both of which are, therefore, included in this Appendix. Reference should, however, be made to the Gas Regulation Act, 1920, post, p. 2807, which contains important provisions relating to the manufacturing and sale of gas, the charges made for gas supplied, the testing of gas, etc., and the Gas Undertakings Act, 1929, post., p. 3025. A Provisional Order is now replaced by a " special " order and the Board of Trade have replaced the L. G. B. as the central authority.

As to the powers of gas undertakers in relation to residuals, see Deuchar v. Gas Light and Coke Co., [1925] A. C. 691 ; 89 J. P. 177 ; and s. 4 of the Gas Undertakings Act, 1929, post, p. 3026.

(b) As to the limits of supply, see Gaslight and Coke Co. v. South Metropolitan Gas Co. (1889), 54 J. P. 373 ; 62 L. T. (N.S.) 126, the facts of which are set out, ante, p. 383. A water company was authorised to give a supply of water within certain specified parishes, and extended its water main to the boundary of the district within which it was authorised to supply water, and from thence continued it at the cost of the consumer to a place beyond its district. Then they erected a hydrant and meter from which pipes were laid to the consumer's house. It was held that a " supply " of water covered the delivery of water for use at the terminals, wherever they might be, at which a consumer took possession of the water and devoted it to his own use, and that the company was not entitled to give such supply and must be restrained by injunction (Att.-Gen. v. West Gloucestershire Water Co., [1909] 2 Ch. 338 ; 73 J. P. 453). Gas undertakers may obtain an order from the Board of Trade to supply premises outside their limits of supply under s. 5, Gas Undertakings Act, 1929, post, p. 3026.

And with respect to the construction of this Act, and any Act incorporated therewith, be it enacted as follows : Interpretation.

2. The expression " the special Act " used in this Act shall be construed to mean any Act which shall be hereafter passed authorising the construction of gasworks, and with which this Act shall be so incorporated as aforesaid ; and the word " prescribed," used in this Act in reference to any matter herein stated, shall be construed to refer to such matter as the same shall be prescribed or provided for in the special Act, and the sentence in which such word occurs shall be construed as if instead of the word " prescribed " the expression " prescribed for that purpose in the special Act " had been used ; and the expression " the lands " shall mean the lands which shall by the special Act be authorised to be taken or used for the purposes thereof : and the expression " the undertaking " shall mean the gasworks, and the works connected therewith, by the special Act authorised to be constructed ; and the expression " the undertakers " shall mean the persons by the special Act authorised to construct the gasworks. " The special Act." " Prescribed." " The lands." " The undertaking." " The undertakers."

3. The following words and expressions in both this and the special Act, and any Act incorporated therewith, shall have the meanings hereby assigned to them, unless there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction ; (that is to say,) Interpretations.

Words importing the singular number only shall include the plural number, and words importing the plural number only shall include also the singular number : Number.

Words importing the masculine gender shall include females : Gender.

The word " person " shall include corporation, whether aggregate or sole : " Person."

The word " lands " shall include messuages, lands, tenements, and hereditaments, or heritages of any tenure : " Lands."

Section 3.

"Street." The word "street" shall include any square, court, or alley, highway, lane, road, thoroughfare, or public passage or place, within the limits of the special Act (a):

"The gasworks." The expression "the gasworks" shall mean the gasworks, and the works connected therewith, by the special Act authorised to be constructed (b):

"Gas rate." The expression "gas rate" shall include any rent, reward, or payment to be made to the undertakers for a supply of gas:

"Month." The word "month" shall mean calendar month:

"Superior courts." The expression "superior courts," where the matter submitted to the cognizance of the superior courts arises in England . . . shall mean Her Majesty's superior courts of record at Westminster . . . (c).

"Oath." The word "oath" shall include affirmation in the case of Quakers, and any declaration lawfully substituted for an oath in the case of any other persons allowed by law to make a declaration instead of taking an oath:

"County." The word "county" shall include riding or other division of a county having a separate commission of the peace . . . (c) and it shall also include county of a city or county of a town:

"Justice." "Two justices." The word "justice" shall mean justice of the peace acting for the place where the matter requiring the cognizance of any such justice arises; and where any matter shall be authorised or required to be done by two justices, the expression "two justices" shall be understood to mean two or more justices met and acting together (c):

"Quarter sessions." The expression "quarter sessions" shall mean quarter sessions as defined in the special Act; and if such expression be not there defined it shall mean the court of general or quarter sessions of the peace which shall be held at the place nearest to the gasworks, or the principal office thereof, for the county or place in which the gasworks are situate, or for some division of such county having a separate commission of the peace.

(a) This definition was held not to include an open tract of land above mean high water-mark, which belonged to the owner of enclosed land fronting the shore. It appeared that the inhabitants of two villages on the shore had always gone to and fro between them along the shore, and at high water passed over this land as they chose, but by no defined track (Maddock v. Wallasey L. B. (1886), 55 L. J. Q. B. 267; 50 J. P. 404).

(b) The expression "gasworks and plant" in s. 46 of the Hamilton Gas Works Act, 1895, was held to include not only the works themselves in the material sense, but the undertaking as a going concern (Hamilton Gas Co. v. Hamilton Corporation, [1910] A. C. 300; 74 J. P. 185; Perth Gas Co. v. Perth City Corporation, [1911] A. C. 506; 27 T. L. R. 526).

(c) Words relating to Scotland and Ireland only are here omitted.

Citing the Act. And with respect to citing this Act, or any part thereof, be it enacted as follows:

Short title of this Act. 4. In citing this Act in other Acts of Parliament, and in legal instruments, it shall be enough to use the expression "The Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847."

Incorporation of parts of this Act with other Acts. 5. For the purpose of incorporating part only of this Act with any Act hereafter to be passed, it shall be enough to describe the clauses of this Act with respect to any matter in the words introductory to the enactment with respect to such matter, and to enact that the clauses so described, or that this Act, with the exception of the clauses so described, shall be incorporated with such Act; and thereupon all the clauses of this Act so incorporated shall, save so far as they are expressly varied or excepted by such Act, form part of such Act; and such Act shall be construed as if such clauses were set forth therein with reference to the matter to which such Act relates.

And with respect to the breaking up of streets for the purpose of laying pipes, be it enacted as follows (a) :

Laying of pipes.

Power to break up streets, etc. under superintendence, and to open drains, and to lay pipes, make sewers, erect lamps, etc.

6. The undertakers, under such superintendence as is hereinafter specified, may open and break up the soil and pavement of the several streets and bridges within the limits of the special Act, and may open and break up any sewers, drains, or tunnels (b) within or under such streets and bridges, and lay down and place within the same limits, pipes, conduits, service pipes, and other works (c), and from time to time repair, alter, or remove the same, and also make any sewers that may be necessary for carrying off the washings and waste liquids which may arise in the making of the gas, and for the purposes aforesaid may remove and use all earth and materials in and under such streets and bridges, and they may in such streets erect any pillars, lamps, and other works, and do all other acts which the undertakers shall from time to time deem necessary for supplying gas to the inhabitants of the district included within the said limits, doing as little damage as may be (d) in the execution of the powers hereby or by the special Act granted, and making compensation for any damage which may be done in the execution of such powers (e).

(b) A tunnel, with brick sides and a roof of girders set in concrete, which is constructed by the owner of the soil on either side of a public highway, is not a tunnel within the meaning of the section with which the undertakers may interfere (Schweder v. Worthing Gas Light and Coke Co. (No. 1), [1912] 1 Ch. 83 ; 76 J. P. 3).

(c) A corporation, empowered to supply gas within a township, of which the local board, as undertakers within the meaning of this section, had the exclusive right of laying gas mains therein and was compelled to repair them and to allow the corporation to use them, was held to have a mere easement in the mains and not liable to be rated in respect of them (Southport Corporation v. Ormskirk Assessment Committee, [1894] 1 Q. B. 196 ; 58 J. P. 212). As to the meaning, in a local Act, of the term "mains," see Whittington Gas Light and Coke Co. v. Chesterfield Gas and Water Board, [1914] 2 Ch. 146 ; 78 J. P. 379.

(e) As to the assessment of compensation, see 64 J. P. 291.

Undertakers not to enter on private land without consent.

7. Provided always, that nothing herein shall authorise or empower the undertakers to lay down or place any pipe or other works into, through, or against any building (a), or in any land, not dedicated to public use (b), without the consent of the owners and occupiers thereof ; except that the undertakers may at any time enter upon and lay or place any new pipe in the place of an existing pipe in any land wherein any pipe hath been already lawfully laid down or placed in pursuance of this or the special Act or any other Act of Parliament, and may repair or alter any pipe so laid down (c).

(b) The dedication of a road to public use brings it within s. 6 (supra), and no part of it can for the purposes of gas or water undertakings be properly held to be land "not dedicated to public use" under this section. Dedication as between the owner of the soil on the one hand and the controlling authority on the other, involves not merely the occupation by the public of the surface, but also the dedication of so much of the subjacent soil as is necessary for the proper maintenance of the surface as a road or street (Schweder v. Worthing Gas Light and Coke Co. (No. 2), [1913] 1 Ch. 118 ; 77 J. P. 41). As to breaking up occupation roads not dedicated to the public, see Selby v. Crystal Palace District Gas Co. (1861), 30 Beav. 606 ; 31 L. J. Ch. 592. Power is now given to local authority undertakers upon application by the owner or occupier of premises abutting on a street to lay gas and water pipes in streets laid out but not dedicated (P. H. A., 1925, s. 80, ante, p. 1625).

Note to Section 6.

As to what constitutes such a street, see Davies v. Ripon Corporation, [1928] 1 Ch. 884; 92 J. P. 153.

(c) This section does not preclude the undertakers from taking a pipe through a railway bridge under s. 6 without cutting into the structure of the bridge but laying the pipe in the soil (Taff Vale Rail. Co. v. Cardiff Gaslight and Coke Co. (1907), 71 J. P. 350; 23 T. L. R. 528).

In view of this section the undertakers are not liable to penalties under s. 36 of the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871, post, p. 2323, for neglect or refusal to supply gas to a lamp in a private passage where the owner objects to their laying the pipe (Bellamy v. Liverpool United Gas Co. (1904), 68 J. P. 540; 2 L. G. R. 1182).

Notice to be served on persons having control, etc. before breaking up streets or opening drains.

8. Before the undertakers proceed to open or break up any street, bridge, sewer, drain, or tunnel, they shall give to the persons (a) under whose control or management the same may be, or to their clerk, surveyor, or other officer notice in writing of their intention to open or break up the same, not less than three clear days beforebeginning such work, except in cases of emergency arising from defects in any of the pipes or other works, and then so soon as is possible after the beginning of the work, or the necessity for the same shall have arisen (b).

(a) A rural district council as "highway authority" under s. 25, L. G. A., 1894, was held not to be, and a county council in respect of a rural district is therefore not a "person under whose control or management" a highway, dedicated to the public, but not repairable by the inhabitants at large, is within the meaning of this section (Redhill Gas Co. v. Reigate R. D. C., [1911] 2 K. B. 565; 75 J. P. 358). Within the area of an urban district council there were three streets or roads which were open for public use, but which were not repairable by the inhabitants at large. The Post Office authorities were desirous of placing telegraph wires along these streets, and applied to the district council for their consent, but the council refused to give consent on the ground that the streets were not under their control within the meaning of s. 13 of the Telegraph Act, 1863. It was held that the council "had not the control over the roads" and were not therefore entitled to give consent (Postmaster-General v. Hendon U. D. C., [1914] 1 K. B. 564; 78 J. P. 145). See also Postmaster-General v. Hutchings, [1916] 1 K. B. 774; 80 J. P. 246.

(b) Consent is not necessary (Dover Gaslight Co. v. Dover Corporation (1855), 7 De G. M. & G. 545; 1 Jur. (N.S.) 812). As to what notice must be given, see Edgware Highway Board v. Colne Valley Water Co. (1877), 46 L. J. Ch. 889. As to the right of support of pipes laid in a highway, see Normanton Gas Co. v. Pope (1883), 52 L. J. Q. B. 629; 49 L. T. (N.S.) 798.

Streets or drains not to be broken up except under superintendence of persons having control of the same.

9. No such street, bridge, sewer, drain, or tunnel shall except in the cases of emergency aforesaid, be opened or broken up except under the superintendence of the persons having the control or management thereof, or of their officer, and according to such plan as shall be approved of by such persons or their officer, or in case of any difference respecting such plan, then according to such plan as shall be determined by two justices; and such justices may, on the application of the persons having the control or management of any such sewer or drain, or their officer, require the undertakers to make such temporary or other works as they may think necessary for guarding against any interruption of the drainage during the execution of any works which interfere with any such sewer or drain: Provided always, that if the persons having such control or management as aforesaid, and their officer, fail to attend at the time fixed for the opening of any such street, bridge, sewer, drain, or tunnel, after having had such notice of the undertakers' intention as aforesaid, or shall not propose any plan for breaking up or opening the same, or shall refuse or neglect to superintend the operation, the undertakers may perform the work specified in such notice without the superintendence of such persons or their officer (a).

Where a local authority in the metropolis employ a contractor to reinstate streets broken up by a company under statutory powers, they cannot recover from the company under s. 114 of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, any sum in addition to the amount actually paid to the contractor, in respect of supervision exercised by their officers over the work, if in fact no expense has been incurred for supervision beyond that which would have been incurred if the company had executed the work of reinstatement (Metropolitan Water Board v. Westminster City Council (1905), 75 L. J. K. B. 384; 70 J. P. 52).

A metropolitan borough council purporting to act under the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, s. 114, passed a resolution that they would in all cases where any pavement was opened by a gas company do the work of reinstatement themselves. Subsequently a gas company having opened the pavement of a street and finished laying their pipes, gave notice to the council that reinstatement was necessary. It was held that the resolution did not, upon the mere expiry of a reasonable time after receipt of the notice, ipso facto release the company from the duty imposed by the above section. To effect such release it was necessary that the council should dismiss the company from the control of the reinstatement, and in fact take charge of the work themselves (Brame v. Commercial Gas Co., [1914] 3 K. B. 1181; 79 J. P. 55).

10. When the undertakers open or break up the road or pavement of any street or bridge, or any sewer, drain, or tunnel, they shall with all convenient speed complete the work for which the same shall be broken up, and fill in the ground, and reinstate and make good the road or pavement, or the sewer, drain, or tunnel, so opened or broken up, and carry away the rubbish occasioned thereby, and shall at all times, whilst any such road or pavement shall be so opened or broken up, cause the same to be fenced and guarded, and shall cause a light sufficient for the warning of passengers to be set up and maintained against or near such road or pavement, where the same shall be open or broken up, every night during which the same shall be continued open or broken up, and shall keep the road or pavement which has been so broken up in good repair for three months after replacing and making good the same, and for such further time, if any, not being more than twelve months in the whole, as the soil so broken up shall continue to subside.

Streets, etc. broken up to be reinstated without delay.

Roads, etc. to be fenced and lighted while opened;

and to be kept in repair for a certain time afterwards.

11. If the undertakers open or break up any street or bridge, or any sewer, drain, or tunnel, without giving such notice as aforesaid, or in a manner different from that which shall have been approved of or determined as aforesaid, or without making such temporary or other works as aforesaid when so required, except in the cases in which the undertakers are hereby authorised to perform such works without any superintendence or notice, or if the undertakers make any delay in completing any such work, or in filling in the ground, or reinstating and making good the road or pavement, or the sewer, drain, or tunnel, so opened or broken up, or in carrying away the rubbish occasioned thereby, or if they neglect to cause the place where such road or pavement has been broken up to be fenced, guarded, and lighted, or neglect to keep the road or pavement in repair for the space of three months next after the same is made good, or such further time as aforesaid, they shall forfeit to the persons having the control or management of the street, bridge, sewer, drain, or tunnel, in respect of which such default is made, a sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence, and they shall forfeit an additional sum of five pounds for each day during which any such delay as aforesaid shall continue after they shall have received notice thereof (a).

Penalty for delay in reinstating streets, etc.

(a) Notwithstanding this section the undertakers may be liable in damages to a person injured in consequence of careless or defective filling in of the ground (Goodson v. Sunbury Gas Co. (1896), 60 J. P. 585; 75 L. T. (N.S.) 251). In the metropolis the local authority may claim to reinstate the street under s. 114 of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, instead of permitting a gas company to do it, and in that case the gas company are not liable if it is done negligently (Cressy v. South Metropolitan Gas Co. (1906), 70 J. P. 405; 94 L. T. (N.S.) 790). This case was distinguished in Brame v. Commercial Gas Co., cited in the note to s. 9, supra. Recovery of expenses of reinstatement from the gas company in such cases is provided for by s. 82 of the Metropolis Management Amendment Act, 1862. See Commercial Gas Co. v. Poplar Borough Council (1907), 70 J. P. 178; 94 L. T. (N.S.) 222.

Section 12.

In case of delay, persons having control of streets, etc. may reinstate them.

12. If any such delay or omission as aforesaid take place, the persons having the control or management of the street, bridge, sewer, drain, or tunnel, in respect of which such delay or omission shall take place, may cause the work so delayed or omitted to be executed, and the expense (a) of executing the same shall be repaid to such persons by the undertakers; and such expenses may be recovered in the same manner as damages are recoverable under this or the special Act.

Supply of gas.

And with respect to the supply of gas, and the recovery of the rent to be paid for the same, be it enacted as follows (a):

(a) It should be mentioned here that important alterations in the mode of charging for gas supplied are introduced by the Gas Regulation Act, 1920, 10 & 11 Geo. 5, c. 28, post, p. 2807, and the Gas Undertakings Act, 1929, s. 6, post, p. 3027.

Power of the undertakers to contract for lighting buildings, streets, etc.

13. The undertakers may from time to time enter into any contract with any person for lighting or supplying with gas any public or private building, or for providing any person with pipes, burners, meters, and lamps, and for the repair thereof; and may also from time to time enter into any contract with the commissioners, trustees, or other persons having the control of the streets within the limits of the special Act for lighting the same or any of them with gas, and for providing such commissioners, trustees, or persons with lamps, lamp-posts, burners, and pipes for such purpose, and for the repairs thereof, in such manner and upon such terms as shall be agreed upon between the undertakers and the said commissioners, trustees, or other persons (a).

(a) See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 161, ante, p. 382. Sections 14 and 15 of this Act are repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1875, except in so far as incorporated with the special Acts to which 34 & 35 Vict. c. 41, post, p. 2315, does not apply. Section 14 related to the exemption of gas fittings from distress, as to which, see Gaslight and Coke Co. v. Hardy (1886), 17 Q. B. D. 619; 51 J. P. 6.

If rent is not paid, gas may be cut off and rent and expenses recovered.

16. If any person supplied with gas by virtue of this or the special Act, neglect to pay the rent due for the same to the undertakers, the undertakers may stop the gas from entering the premises of such person, by cutting off the service-pipe, or by such means as the undertakers shall think fit (a).

(a) The remainder of this section was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1875, as also was s. 17, except in so far as incorporated with special Acts to which 34 & 35 Vict. c. 41, post, p. 2315, does not apply. The liability under this section attaches to the person, not to the premises, and the undertakers may cut off the gas supplied to one set of premises of a customer for default made by him in respect of another set of premises (Montreal Gas Co. v. Cadieux, [1899] A. C. 589).

The payment due to a gas company for gas supplied, though called a rent, is not really a rent, and consequently a gas company does not come within the words "or other person to whom any rent is due" in s. 34 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1869 (now s. 35 (1) of the Bankruptcy Act, 1914 (4 & 5 Geo. 5, c. 59) (Ex parte Harrison, Re Peake (1883), 13 Q. B. D. 753).

An incoming tenant is not liable for arrears due from an outgoing tenant under the Gaslight and Coke Company's special Act (Cannon Brewery Co. v. Gaslight and Coke Co., [1904] A. C. 331; 68 J. P. 461). But where a woman took and paid for gas supplied to her house and afterwards married, it was held that she continued liable for gas supplied after her marriage until she discontinued the supply or gave the gas company notice of her marriage (Lea Bridge Gas Co. v. Malvern, [1917] 1 K. B. 803; 81 J. P. 141).

* * * * * *

Undue use of gas.

And with respect to waste or misuse of the gas, or injury to the pipes and other works, be it enacted as follows:

Penalty for fraudulently using the gas

18. Every person who shall lay or cause to be laid any pipe to communicate with any pipe belonging to the undertakers without their consent, or shall fraudulently injure any such meter as aforesaid, or who, in case the gas supplied by the undertakers is not ascertained by meter, shall use any burner other than such as has been provided or approved of by the undertakers, or of larger dimensions than he has contracted to pay for, or shall keep the lights burning for a longer time than he has contracted to pay for, or who shall otherwise improperly use or burn such gas (a), or shall supply any other person with any part of the gas supplied to him by the undertakers, shall forfeit to the undertakers the sum of five pounds for every such offence, and also the sum of forty shillings for every day such pipe shall so remain, or such works or burner shall be so used, or such excess be so committed or continued, or such supply furnished; and the undertakers may take off the gas from the house and premises of the person so offending, notwithstanding any contract which may have been previously entered into (b).

(a) I.e., in respect of gas ascertained otherwise than by meter (Falkirk Corporation v. Russell, [1911] S. C. (J.) 99).

(b) As to larceny of gas, see R. v. White (1853), 3 C. & K. 363; R. v. Foster (1865), L. R. 1 C. C. R. 172. As to the operation of the Statute of Limitations, when there has been a fraudulent concealment of an improper using of gas within this section, see Imperial Gaslight and Coke Co. v. London Gaslight Co. (1854), 10 Ex. 39. The appellants, on their own premises, substituted for part of a gas pipe belonging to the respondents a larger pipe, in order to increase their supply, without having first obtained the respondents' consent, though notice under 34 & 35 Vict. c. 41, s. 15, post, p. 2319, to disconnect the pipe from the meter was duly given. There was no proof of any fraud, waste, or misuse of the gas. It was held that the appellants had committed an offence under the above section (Morrison, Wood & Co. v. West Ham Gas Co. (1885), 49 J. P. 662; 52 L. T. (N.S.) 817).

Penalty for wilfully removing or damaging pipes, etc.

19. Every person who shall wilfully remove, destroy, or damage any pipe, pillar, post, plug, lamp, or other work of the undertakers for supplying gas, or who shall wilfully extinguish any of the public lamps or lights, or waste or improperly use any of the gas supplied by the undertakers, shall for each such offence forfeit to the undertakers any sum not exceeding five pounds, in addition to the amount of the damage done.

Satisfaction for accidentally damaging pipes, etc.

20. Every person who shall carelessly or accidentally break, throw down, or damage any pipe, pillar, or lamp belonging to the undertakers, or under their control, shall pay such sum of money by way of satisfaction to the undertakers for the damage done, not exceeding five pounds, as any two justices or the sheriff shall think reasonable (a).

(a) Under this section a person may be made responsible although the lamp is placed by the local authority in an unsafe or improper position and is broken by such person without any negligence on his part (Burgess v. Morris (1897), 61 J. P. 553). But a master is not liable for damages to a lamp caused accidentally by his servant (Harding v. Barker (1889), 53 J. P. 308; 37 W. R. 78). He is, however, liable to an action at common law for damages caused by the negligence of his servant (Crystal Palace Gas Co. v. Idris & Co. (1900), 64 J. P. 452). If the summons charge damage as done unlawfully and carelessly it need not say "carelessly or accidentally," and a conviction will be good if there be evidence of carelessness, though short of what might be called negligence (Ashton v. Eccles Corporation (1907), 71 J. P. 55). See also Gibbons v. Vanguard Motor Bus Co. (1908), 72 J. P. 505; 25 T. L. R. 13; Barnes U. D. C. v. London General Omnibus Co. (1909), 73 J. P. 68; 100 L. T. 115; Isaac Walton & Co. v. Vanguard Motor Bus Co. (1908), 72 J. P. 505; 25 T. L. R. 13. Where, however, the damage was caused by a van being blown over by an exceptional gale, it was held that the driver of the van was not liable under the corresponding section of a Scots local Act (Hogg v. Macpherson, [1928] S. L. T. 35). See also per SCRUTTON, and ATKIN, L.JJ., in P. M. G. v. Beck and Pollitzer, [1924] 2 K. B. 308; 88 J. P. 137.

The words of the section "in satisfaction" mean "in full satisfaction." Therefore where the Justices have awarded a sum under the section, the undertakers cannot recover a further sum in an action for negligence (Birmingham Corporation v. Allsopp (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 549).

Nuisance from gas.

And with respect to the provision for guarding against fouling water, or other nuisance from the gas, be it enacted as follows (a):

Note to Section 21.

(a) See also the provisions of the P. H. A., 1875, s. 68, ante, p. 155, and the notes thereon; the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, ss. 61—67, post, pp. 2194 et seq.; and the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876, ante, p. 706. As to the liability of a gas company for damage caused by an escape of gas, see Jones v. Carshalton Gas Co. (1888), 5 T. L. R. 69; Burrows v. March Gas and Coke Co., infra, and by the discharge of noxious waste products into a trout river, see Granby (Marquis of) v. Bakewell U. D. C. (1923), 87 J. P. 105; 21 L. G. R. 329.

Penalty on undertakers allowing washings, etc. produced in making gas to flow into streams, reservoirs, etc.

21. If the undertakers shall at any time cause or suffer to be brought or to flow into any stream, reservoir, or aqueduct, pond, or place for water, or into any drain communicating therewith, any washing or other substance produced in making or supplying gas, or shall wilfully do any act connected with the making or supplying of gas whereby the water in any such stream, reservoir, aqueduct, pond, or place for water shall be fouled, the undertakers shall forfeit for every such offence the sum of two hundred pounds.

Penalty to be sued for in superior court within six months.

22. The said penalty of two hundred pounds shall be recovered, with full costs of suit, in any of the superior courts, by the person into whose water such wasting or other substance shall be conveyed or shall flow, or whose water shall be fouled, by any such act as aforesaid; but such penalty shall not be recoverable unless it be sued for during the continuance of the offence, or within six months after it shall have ceased (a).

(a) As to the effect of this section on a local Act, see Parry v. Croydon Commercial Gas Co. (1864), 28 J. P. 86; 15 C. B. (N.S.) 568.

Daily penalty during the continuance of the offence.

23. In addition to the said penalty of two hundred pounds (and whether such penalty shall have been recovered or not) the undertakers shall forfeit the sum of twenty pounds (to be recovered in the like manner) for each day during which such washing or other substance shall be brought or shall flow as aforesaid, or the act by which such water shall be fouled shall continue, after the expiration of twenty-four hours from the time when notice of the offence shall have been served on the undertakers by the person into whose water such washing or other substance shall be brought or shall flow, or whose water shall be fouled thereby, and such penalty shall be paid to such last-mentioned person.

Daily penalty during escape of gas after notice.

24. Whenever any gas shall escape from any pipe laid down or set up by or belonging to the undertakers, they shall, immediately after receiving notice thereof in writing, prevent such gas from escaping; and in case the undertakers shall not within twenty-four hours next after service of such notice effectually prevent the gas from escaping, and wholly remove the cause of complaint, they shall for every such offence forfeit the sum of five pounds for each day during which the gas shall be suffered to escape after the expiration of twenty-four hours from the service of such notice (a).

Penalty for fouling water by gas.

25. Whenever any water within the limits of the special Act shall be fouled by the gas of the undertakers, they shall forfeit to the person whose water shall be so fouled for every such offence a sum not exceeding twenty pounds, and a further sum not exceeding ten pounds for each day during which the offence shall continue after the expiration of twenty-four hours from the service of notice of such offence.

Power to open ground and examine gas pipes to ascertain whether

26. For the purpose of ascertaining whether such water be fouled by the gas of the undertakers, the person to whom the water supposed to be fouled shall belong may dig up the ground and examine the pipes, conduits, and works of the undertakers; provided that such person, before proceeding so to dig and examine, shall give twenty-four hours notice in writing to the undertakers of the time at which such digging and examination is intended to take place, and shall give the like notice to the persons having the control or management of the road, pavement, or place where such digging is to take place; and they shall be subject to the like obligation of reinstating the said road and pavement, and the same penalties for delay or any nonfeasance or misfeasance therein, as are hereinbefore provided with respect to roads and pavements broken up by the undertakers for the purpose of laying their pipes.

Ground, etc. to be reinstated.

27. If upon any such examination it appear that such water has been fouled by any gas belonging to the undertakers, the expenses of the digging, examination, and repair of the street or place disturbed in any such examination shall be paid by the undertakers; but if upon such examination it appear that the water has not been fouled by the gas of the undertakers, the person causing such examination to be made shall pay all such expenses, and shall also make good to the undertakers any injury which may be occasioned to their works by such examination.

Expenses to abide result of examination.

28. The amount of the expenses of every such examination and repair and of any injury done to the undertakers, shall, in case of any dispute about the same, together with the cost of ascertaining and recovering the same, be ascertained and recovered in the same manner as damages for the ascertaining and recovery whereof no special provision is made are to be ascertained and recovered.

How expenses shall be ascertained and recovered.

29. Nothing in this or the special Act contained shall prevent the undertakers from being liable to an indictment for nuisance, or to any other legal proceeding to which they may be liable, in consequence of making or supplying gas (a).

Nothing to exempt undertakers from being indicted for a nuisance

(a) See section 9 of the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871, post, p. 2317, and Jordeson v. Sutton, Southcoates and Drypool Gas Co., [1899] 2 Ch. 217; 63 J. P. 692; Batcheller v. Tunbridge Wells Gas Co. (1901), 65 J. P. 680; 84 L. T. (N.S.) 765. A company cannot justify a nuisance by setting up incapacity to make or supply gas without so doing (Att.-Gen. v. Gaslight and Coke Co. (1878), 7 Ch. D. 217). But compare with this the decision in Harrison v. Southwark and Vauxhall Waterworks Co., [1891] 2 Ch. 409, where it was held that a statutory authority to sink a shaft included all things reasonably necessary, though causing a temporary nuisance. This case was distinguished in Knight v. Isle of Wight Electric Light and Power Co., Ltd. (1904), 73 L. J. Ch. 299; 68 J. P. 266, where the nuisance complained of was a continuing nuisance; see also Midwood v. Manchester Corporation, [1905] 2 K. B. 597; 69 J. P. 348 (decided with reference to a similar section in the Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899, Sched., clause 81), in which it was held that the undertakers were liable in damages for an explosion occasioned by a leakage of electricity from one of their mains which ignited gas escaping into the plaintiff's premises in an adjoining street; see also Farrell v. Limerick Corporation (1912), 45 Ir. L. T. 169; Elliott v. Battersea Corporation (1911), 74 J. P. N. C. 627; Charing Cross, West End and City Electricity Supply Co. v. London Hydraulic Power Co., [1914] 3 K. B. 772; 78 J. P. 305; Manchester Corporation v. Farnworth (1930), 94 J. P. 62; 27 L. G. R. 709; and see the note to clause 81 of Schedule to the Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899, post, p. 2599.

But where gas escaped from a main not belonging to a local authority and was ignited by a spark in a box belonging to the local authority as part of their electrical equipment, it was held that the local authority were not liable for injury to a passer-by as the result of the explosion (Goodbody v. Poplar Borough Council (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1230; 79 J. P. 218).

And with respect to the amount of profit to be received by the undertakers when the gasworks are carried on for their benefit, be it enacted as follows:

Profits of the undertakers.

30. The profits of the undertaking to be divided amongst the undertakers in any year shall not exceed the prescribed rate, or where no rate is prescribed they shall not exceed the rate of ten pounds in the hundred by the year on the paid-up capital in the undertaking, which in such case shall be deemed the prescribed rate, unless a larger dividend be at any time necessary to make up the deficiency of any previous dividend which shall have fallen short of the said yearly rate (a).

Profits of the undertakers limited.

Note to Section 30.

(a) See Chelsea Waterworks Co. v. Metropolitan Water Board, [1904] 2 K. B. 77; Kent Waterworks v. Lamplough, [1904] A. C. 27; 68 J. P. 361; In re New River Co. and Metropolitan Water Board (1904), 20 T. L. R. 687; Ashton Gas Co. v. Att.-Gen., [1906] A. C. 10; 70 J. P. 49.

If profits exceed the amount limited, excess to be invested and form a reserved fund.

31. If the clear profits of the undertaking in any year amount to a larger sum than is sufficient, after making up the deficiency in the dividends of any previous year as aforesaid, to make a dividend at the prescribed rate, the excess beyond the sum necessary for such purpose shall from time to time be invested in Government or other securities, and the dividends and interest arising from such securities shall also be invested in the same or like securities, in order that the same may accumulate at compound interest until the fund so formed amounts to the prescribed sum, or if no sum be prescribed a sum equal to one-tenth of the nominal capital of the undertakers(a), which sum shall form a reserved fund to answer any deficiency which may at any time happen in the amount of divisible profits, or to meet any extraordinary claim or demand which may at any time arise against the undertakers; and if such fund be at any time reduced, it may thereafter be again restored to the said sum, and so from time to time as often as such reduction shall happen (b).

Reserved fund not to be resorted to to meet an extraordinary claim except on certificate.

32. Provided always, that no sum of money shall be taken from the said fund for the purpose of meeting any extraordinary claim, unless it be first certified in England . . . by two justices . . . that the sum so proposed to be taken is required for the purpose of meeting an extraordinary claim within the meaning of this or the special Act (a).

(a) Words relating to Scotland and Ireland only are here omitted.

When fund amounts to prescribed sum, interest to be applied to purposes of the undertaking.

33. When such fund shall, by accumulation or otherwise, amount to the prescribed sum, or one-tenth of the nominal capital of the company (a), as the case may be, the interest and dividends thereon shall no longer be invested, but shall be applied to any of the general purposes of the undertaking to which the profits thereof are applicable (b).

(b) Certain consumers of gas brought an action against the company which supplied them on the ground that the company had created a reserve fund greatly in excess of that authorised by its special Acts, and had carried over from year to year large undivided profits, thereby avoiding the obligation upon it to reduce the price of the gas which it so supplied:—Held, that no such duty as alleged was imposed by the Acts on the company; that the consumers had not control over the affairs of the company, and were not, therefore, entitled to raise the question, the shareholders alone being interested, and that the court could not order the reserve fund and undivided profits to be applied in reduction of the price of the gas in the manner suggested (Mason v. Ashton Gas Co. (1886), 50 J. P. 628; 54 L. T. (N.S.) 708).

If profits are less than the prescribed rate, deficiency may be supplied from the reserved fund.

34. If in any year the profits of the undertaking divisible amongst the undertakers shall not amount to the prescribed rate, such a sum may be taken from the reserved fund as, with the actual divisible profits of such year, will enable the undertakers to make a dividend of the amount aforesaid, and so from time to time as often as the occasion shall require.

If profits are more than the amount prescribed, a rateable deduction to be made in the price of gas.

35. In England . . . the court of quarter sessions . . . may, on the petition of any two gas ratepayers within the limits of the special Act, nominate and appoint some accountant or other competent person, not being a proprietor of any gasworks, to examine and ascertain, at the expense of the undertakers (the amount of such expense to be determined by the said court . . .), the actual state and condition of the concerns of the undertakers, and to make report thereof to the said court at the then present or some following sessions . . . ; and the said court . . . may examine any witnesses upon oath touching the truth of the said accounts and the matters therein referred to; and if it thereupon appear to the said court . . . that the profits of the undertakers for the preceding year have exceeded the prescribed rate, the undertakers shall, in case the whole of the said reserved fund has been and then remains invested as aforesaid, and in case dividends to the amount hereinbefore limited have been paid, make such a rateable reduction in the rate for gas to be furnished by them as in the judgment of the said court . . . shall be proper, but so as such rates, when reduced, shall ensure to the undertakers (regard being had to the amount of profit before received) a profit as near as may be to the prescribed rate (a).

(a) Words relating to Scotland and Ireland only are omitted from this and the two following sections. The court of quarter sessions has no jurisdiction under this section to appoint a gas engineer to assist an accountant appointed thereunder to examine and ascertain the actual state and condition of the concerns of the gas company, and where such order is made a writ of certiorari will lie to bring the order up to be quashed (R. v. Brindley (1886), 50 J. P. 534; 54 L. T. (N.S.) 435).

An order cannot be made to reduce the price of gas under this section unless the whole of the reserve fund has been invested and the prescribed dividend paid; nor can an order be made for the payment of costs by the company to the petitioners. The quarter sessions may inquire into the accounts of past years for the purpose of ascertaining the actual condition of the concern, but they cannot disallow and recast them so as to vary the accounts of the year into which they are inquiring (R. v. Hanley (Recorder of) (1887), 19 Q. B. D. 481; 52 J. P. 100). Where a corporation supply gas they are not bound to give credit for the value of gas supplied for lighting streets or other public purposes (Att.-Gen. v. Oldham Corporation (1892), 14 M. C. C. 195).

Court may order petitioner to pay costs of groundless petition.

36. Provided always, that if, in the case of any petition so presented, it appear to the said court . . . that there was no sufficient ground for presenting the same, the said court . . . may, if they or he think fit, order the petitioner to pay the whole or any part of the costs of or incident to such petition (the amount thereof to be determined by the said court . . . ,) and the costs so ordered to be paid shall be recoverable in the same way as damages are recoverable under this or the special Act.

Penalty on undertakers for refusing to produce books, vouchers, etc.

37. If the undertakers shall, for seven days after being required to produce to the said court . . . , or to the said accountant or other person as aforesaid, any books of account or other books, bill, receipts, vouchers, or papers relating to the pecuniary affairs of the undertakers, refuse or neglect to produce such books, bills, receipts, vouchers, or papers, they shall forfeit the sum of one hundred pounds for every such refusal or wilful neglect, and the further sum of ten pounds for every day such refusal or wilful neglect shall continue after the expiration of the said seven days; such respective penalties to be recovered by any person who will sue for the same, with full costs of suit, in any of the superior courts.

Account.

Annual account to be made up by undertakers.

38. And with respect to the yearly receipt and expenditure of the undertakers, be it enacted, that the undertakers shall, in each year after they have begun to supply gas under the provisions of this or the special Act, cause an account in abstract to be prepared of the total receipts and expenditure of all rents or funds levied under the powers of this or the special Act for the year preceding, under the several distinct heads of receipt and expenditure, with a statement of the balance of such account, duly audited and certified by the chairman of the undertakers, and also by the auditors thereof, if any; and a copy of such annual account, if the gasworks be situated in England . . . shall be transmitted, free of charge, to the clerk of the peace for the county in which the gasworks are situate . . . and such transmission shall be made on or before the thirty-first day of January in each year, under a penalty of twenty pounds for each default; and the copy of such account so sent to the said clerk of the peace . . . shall be kept by him, and shall be open to inspection by all persons at all seasonable hours, on payment of one shilling for each inspection (a).

Recovery of damages and penalties.

And with respect to the recovery of damages not specially provided for, and of penalties, and to the determination of any other matter referred to justices or to the sheriff, be it enacted as follows:

Railway Clauses Acts, as to damages, etc. to be incorporated with this and the special Act.

40. If the gasworks be in England . . . the clauses of the Railways Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (a), with respect to the recovery of damages not specially provided for, and of penalties, and to the determination of any other matter referred to justices, shall be incorporated with this and the special Act . . . (b).

(b) The parts of this section relating to Scotland and Ireland only are here omitted.

41 (a). . . .

Acts which may be done by one magistrate.

42. All things herein or in the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, authorised or required to be done by two justices, may and shall be done in England . . . by any one magistrate having by law authority to act alone for any purpose with the powers of two or more justices . . . (a).

(a) The parts of this section relating to Scotland and Ireland only are here omitted.

Penalties, etc. within metropolitan police district.

43. Every penalty or forfeiture imposed by this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, or by any byelaw in pursuance thereof, in respect of any offence which shall take place within the metropolitan police district, shall be recovered, enforced, accounted for, and, except where the application thereof is otherwise specially provided for, shall be paid to the receiver of the metropolitan police district, and shall be applied, in the same manner as penalties or forfeitures, other than fines upon drunken persons, or upon constables for misconduct, or for assaults upon police constables, are directed to be recovered, enforced, accounted for, paid, and applied by the Metropolitan Police Courts Act, 1839; and every order or conviction of any of the police magistrates in respect of any such forfeiture or penalty shall be subject to the like appeal, and upon the same terms, as is provided in respect of any order or conviction of any of the said police magistrates by the said last-mentioned Act; and every magistrate by whom any order or conviction shall have been made shall have the same power of binding over the witnesses who shall have been examined; and such witnesses shall be entitled to the same allowance of expenses as they would have had or been entitled to in case the order, conviction, and appeal had been made in pursuance of the provisions of the said last-mentioned Act.

2 & 3 Vict. c. 71.
Appeal, etc.

44. [False evidence] (a).

(a) Repealed by the Perjury Act, 1911.

And with respect to access to the special Act, be in enacted as follows:

Section 45.

Access to special Act.

Copies of special Act.

45. The undertakers shall at all times after the expiration of six months after the passing of the special Act keep in their principal office of business a copy of the special Act, printed by the printers to her Majesty, or some of them, and shall also within the space of such six months deposit in the office of the clerk of the peace in England . . . of the county in which the undertaking is situated, a copy of such special Act, so printed as aforesaid; and the said clerk of the peace . . . shall receive, and they and the undertakers respectively shall keep, the said copies of the special Act, and shall permit all persons interested to inspect the same, and make extracts or copies therefrom, in the like manner, and upon the like terms, and under the like penalty for default, as is provided in the case of certain plans and sections by the Parliamentary Documents Deposit Act, 1837 (a).

7 Will. 4 & 1 Vict. c. 83.

(a) The parts of this section relating to Scotland and Ireland only are here omitted.

Penalty on undertakers failing to keep or deposit such copies.

46. If the undertakers fail to keep or deposit, as hereinbefore mentioned, any of the said copies of the special Act, they shall forfeit twenty pounds for every such offence, and also five pounds for every day afterwards during which such copy shall be not so kept or deposited.

Saving as to 57 Geo. 3, c. xxix., etc.

47. And be it enacted, that nothing in this Act contained shall be deemed to exempt the undertakers from the provisions of an Act passed in the fifty-seventh year of the reign of his late Majesty King George the Third, intituled An Act for better paving, improving, and regulating the Streets of the Metropolis, and removing and preventing Nuisances and Obstructions therein (a), or from the laws of sewers for the time being in force within ten miles from the Royal Exchange in the city of London.

(a) Now called the General Paving (Metropolis) Act, 1817, but better known as Michael Angelo Taylor's Act.

Saving as to the rights of the Crown.

48. Nothing in this or the special Act shall be deemed to extend to or affect any Act of Parliament relating to her Majesty's duties of customs or excise, or any other revenue of the Crown, or to extend to or affect any claim of her Majesty in right of her Crown, or otherwise howsoever, or any proceedings at law or in equity, by or on behalf of her Majesty, in any part of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

Saving as to future Acts.

49. Nothing herein or in the special Act contained shall be deemed to exempt the undertakers from any general Act relating to gasworks, or any Act for improving the sanitary conditions of towns and populous districts, which may be passed in the same session in which the special Act is passed, or any future session of Parliament (a).

(a) The Public Health (Buildings in Streets) Act, 1888, ante, p. 826, is an "Act for improving the sanitary conditions of towns and populous districts" within the meaning of this section (Grand Junction Waterworks Co. v. Hampton U. D. C., [1898] 2 Ch. 331; 62 J. P. 566). The corresponding section of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, s. 93, does not exempt a water company from the provisions of the P. H. A., 1875, and they are therefore bound to comply with the byelaws made under s. 157 of the latter Act, ante, p. 346 (Uckfield R. D. C. v. Crowborough District Water Co., [1899] 2 Q. B. 664). See also London C. C. v. Wandsworth and Putney Gas Co. (1900), 64 J. P. 500; 82 L. T. (N.S.) 562. Section 50 is repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1875.

* * * * * *

Section 1.

THE WATERWORKS CLAUSES ACT, 1847.

(10 & 11 VICT. c. 17) (a).

An Act for consolidating in One Act certain Provisions usually contained in Acts authorising the making of Waterworks for supplying Towns with Water. [23rd April, 1847.]

Incorporation with special Act.

[1.] This Act shall extend only to such waterworks as shall be authorised by any Act of Parliament hereafter to be passed which shall declare that this Act shall be incorporated therewith; and all the clauses of this Act, save so far as they shall be expressly varied or excepted by any such Act, shall apply to the undertaking authorised thereby, so far as the same shall be applicable to such undertaking, and shall, with the clauses of every other Act which shall be incorporated therewith, form part of such Act, and be construed therewith as forming one Act.

(a) Incorporated in part by the P. H. A., 1875, s. 57, ante, p. 140 (together with the amending Act of 1863 (26 & 27 Vict. c. 93), post, p. 2264), and also by the P. H. A., 1875 (Support of Sewers), Amendment Act, 1883, ante, p. 756. See notes to those Acts.

Interpretation.

And with respect to the construction of this Act, and any Act incorporated therewith, be it enacted as follows:

"The special Act." "Prescribed." "The lands and streams." "The undertaking." "The undertakers."

2. The expression "the special Act" used in this Act shall be construed to mean any Act which shall be hereafter passed authorising the construction of waterworks, and with which this Act shall be incorporated; and the word "prescribed" used in this Act in reference to any matter herein stated shall be construed to refer to such matter as the same shall be prescribed or provided for in the special Act, and the sentence in which such word occurs shall be construed as if instead of the word "prescribed" the expression "prescribed for that purpose in the special Act" had been used; and the expression "the lands and streams" shall mean the lands and streams of water which shall by the special Act be authorised to be taken or used for the purposes thereof; and the expression "the undertaking" shall mean the waterworks, and the works connected therewith, by the special Act authorised to be constructed; and the expression "the undertakers" shall mean the persons by the special Act authorised to contruct the waterworks.

Interpretations in this and the special Act.

3. The following words and expressions in both this and the special Act, and any Act incorporated therewith, shall have the meanings hereby assigned to them, unless there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction; (that is to say,)

Number. Words importing the singular number shall include the pural number, and words importing the pural number only shall include also the singular number:

Gender. Words importing the masculine gender shall include females:

"Person." The word "person" shall include a corporation, whether aggregate or sole:

"Lands." The word "lands" shall include messuages, lands, tenements, and hereditaments, or heritages, of any tenure:

"Streams." The word "streams" shall include springs, brooks, rivers, and other running waters:

"Street." The word "street" shall include any square, court or alley, highway, lane, road, thoroughfare, or public passage or place, within the limits of the special Act (a):

"The waterworks." The expression "the waterworks" shall mean the waterworks, and the works connected therewith, by the special Act authorised to be constructed (b):

"Water rate." The expression "water rate" shall include any rent, reward, or payment to be made to the undertakers for a supply of water:

"Month." The word "month" shall mean calendar month:

"Superior courts." The expression "superior courts," where the matter submitted to the cognizance of the court arises in England . . . shall mean her Majesty's superior courts of record at Westminster . . . (c).

"Oath." The word "oath" shall include affirmation in the case of Quakers, and any declaration lawfully substituted for an oath in the case of any other persons allowed by law to make a declaration instead of taking an oath:

"County." The word "county" shall include riding or other division of a county having a separate commission of the peace . . . (c), and it shall also include county of a city or county of a town:

"Justice." The word "justice" shall mean justice of the peace acting for the place where the matter requiring the cognizance of any such justice arises; and if such matter arise in respect of lands or streams situated not wholly in one jurisdiction shall mean a justice acting for the county or place where any part of such lands or streams shall be situated; and where any matter is authorised or required to be done by two justices, the expression "two justices" shall be understood to mean two or more justices met and acting together (c): "Two justices."

. . . . . .

"Quarter sessions." The expression "quarter sessions" shall mean quarter sessions as defined in the special Act; and if such expression be not there defined it shall mean the court of general or quarter sessions of the peace which shall be held at the place nearest to the waterworks, or the principal office thereof, for the county or place in which the waterworks, or the principal office thereof, is situate, or for some division of such county having a separate commission of the peace:

"The town commissioners." The expression "the town commissioners" shall mean the parties defined under that title in the special Act, and where no such parties shall be there defined shall mean the commissioners, trustees, or other parties having the control or management of the streets under any Act for paving or improving the town or district to be supplied with water under the special Act:

"Inspector." The word "inspector" shall mean an officer appointed under any local Act relating to the town or district supplied with water under the special Act for the purpose of inspecting or superintending works connected with the paving, drainage, or supply of water of such town or district, or an officer appointed under any general Act for executing the like duties with respect to such town or district together with other towns or districts.

(a) See Maddock v. Wallasey L. B., ante, p. 2166. See also as to the meaning of the word "street" in a local Act, incorporating this Act, Bristol Waterworks Co. v. Bristol Corporation (1889), 5 T. L. R. 551. For the purposes of the application of this Act under s. 57 of the P. H. A., 1875, the term "street" includes a private street (Hill v. Wallasey L. B. [1894] 1 Ch. 133). As to the limits of supply, see Att.-Gen. v. West Gloucestershire Water Co., [1909] 2 Ch. 338; 73 J. P. 453. C.* (Basingstoke Canal) Act, 1911, [1914] 1 Ch. 300. As to the limits of supply under the Metropolis Water Act, 1902, see Sutton District Water Co. v. Metropolitan Water Board (1926), 90 J. P. 61.

(b) As to the power of the undertakers to construct works other than those authorised by the special Act, see Att.-Gen. v. Frimley and Farnborough District Water Co., [1908] 1 Ch. 727; 72 J. P. 204; Att.-Gen. v. South Staffordshire Waterworks Co. (1909), 25 T. L. R. 408; Marriott v. East Grinstead Gas and Water Co., [1909] 1 Ch. 70; 72 J. P. 509; Att.-Gen. v. Barnet District Gas and Water Co. (1910), 74 J. P. 193; 102 L. T. 546.

(c) Words relating to Scotland and Ireland only are here omitted.

Section 4.

Citing the Act.

And with respect to citing this Act, or any part thereof, be it enacted as follows:

Short title of this Act.

4. In citing this Act in other Acts of Parliament, and in legal instruments, it shall be enough to use the expression "The Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847."

Forms in which portions of this Act may be incorporated in other Acts.

5. For the purpose of incorporating part only of this Act with any Act hereafter to be passed, it shall be enough to describe the clauses of this Act with respect to any matter in the words introductory to the enactment with respect to such matter, and to enact that the clauses so described, or that this Act, with the exception of the clauses so described, shall be incorporated with such Act; and thereupon all the clauses of this Act so incorporated shall, save so far as they are expressly varied or excepted by such Act, form part of such Act, and such Act shall be construed as if such clauses were set forth therein with reference to the matter to which such Act relates.

* * * * * *

Mines.

And with respect to mines, be it enacted as follows (a):

(a) These sections, 18—27, are incorporated by the Public Health Act, 1875 (Support of Sewers), Amendment Act, 1883, ante, p. 756. These sections amount to a code defining and regulating the mutual rights of water companies and owners of minerals (South Staffordshire Waterworks Co. v. Mason (1887), 56 L. J. Q. B. 255; 57 L. T. (N.S.) 116). They very closely resemble ss. 77—82 of the Railways Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, and the cases decided under that Act may be referred to:—particularly Midland Rail. Co. v. Miles (No. 1) (1885), 30 Ch. D. 634; Midland Rail. Co. v. Miles (No. 2) (1886), 33 Ch. D. 632, and Maritime Coal Co. v. Barry Dock and Rail. Co. (1886), 2 T. L. R. 803. As to the corresponding law in Canada, see Davies v. James Bay Ry., [1914] A. C. 1043.

Where land is acquired by agreement for the purposes of constructing waterworks under a special Act which incorporates the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, and the undertakers purchase all the mines and minerals under the land so taken, they acquire all the rights of support from minerals under adjacent lands which the vendor had at common law at the time the land was taken. In such a case, ss. 18—27 of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, do not take away the common law right of support from minerals under adjacent lands, or give the owners of such minerals any greater right to work them, so as to let down the surface of the land taken as against the undertakers, than they had against the vendor before the land was taken. In such a case, and, semble, in all cases these sections have no reference to lands outside the limit of forty yards, or other limit prescribed by the special Act. The rights of the undertakers and the owner of such minerals in relation to their working are governed by the common law (New Moss Colliery, Ltd. v. Manchester Corporation, [1908] A. C. 117; 72 J. P. 169; and see Howley Park Coal and Cannel Co. v. L. & N. W. Rail. Co., [1913] A. C. 11).

Undertakers not entitled to mines unless expressly purchased.

18. The undertakers shall not be entitled to any mines of coal, ironstone slate, or other minerals (a) under any land purchased by them, except only such parts thereof as shall be necessary to be dug or carried away or used in the construction of the waterworks, unless the same shall have been expressly purchased, and all such mines, excepting as aforesaid, shall be deemed to be excepted out of the conveyance of such lands, unless they shall have been expressly named therein and conveyed thereby.

(a) A great number of cases have been decided as to what substances are included in the term minerals. It is necessary to remember that the description of the mines in other Acts or in leases is not always the same, and that the words "other minerals" may not always be ejusdem generis with those set out in the text, although they are so in reference to the form of words used in the particular case. The following authorities should be consulted. As to freestone, it was held in Bell v. Wilson (1866), L. R. 1 Ch. 303, to be a mineral, but see now Symington v. Caledonian Rail. Co., [1912] A. C. 87, where it was held to be a question of fact in each case. Minerals, stone got from quarries (Micklethwait v. Winter (1871), L. R. 135, it was held to be a question of fact in each case, and sand was held not to be a mineral when it was covered by a thin layer of soil only. See also Skey v. Parsons, supra. Sandstone was held to be a mineral in Greville v. Hemingway (1903), 87 L. T. 443; but not so in North British Rail. Co. v. Budhill Coal and Sandstone Co., [1910] A. C. 116. As to whinstone, see Forth Bridge Rail. Co. v. Dunfermline Guildry, [1910] S. C. 316. As to mounds of tap-cinder produced in working ironstone mines, see Boileau v. Heath, [1898] 2 Ch. 301. And as to what is included in an exception of mines and minerals in a lease, see Johnstone v. Crompton, [1899] 2 Ch. 190. The mines referred to in the section include those which can only be worked by open or surface operations (Midland Rail. Co. v. Robinson (1890), 15 App. Cas. 19; 54 J. P. 580).

It has been held that the right to pump brine is a right to work minerals for purposes of the Mineral Rights Duty (Att.-Gen. v. Salt Union, [1917] 2 K. B. 488).

Map and plan of underground works to be made, and corrected from time to time.

19. The undertakers shall from time to time, within six months from the time at which any pipes, conduits, or underground works shall have been laid down or formed by them, cause a survey and map to be made of the district within which any pipes or underground works shall be laid, on a scale not less than one foot to a mile, and shall cause to be marked thereon the course and situation of all existing pipes or conduits for the collection, passage, or distribution of water and underground works belonging to them, in order to show all such underground works within the said district, and shall, within six months from the making of any alterations or additions, cause the said map to be from time to time corrected, and such additions made thereto as may show the line and situation of all such pipes, conduits, and underground works as may be laid down or formed by them from time to time after the passing of the special Act; and such map and plan, or a copy thereof, with the date expressed thereon of the last time when the same shall have been so corrected as aforesaid, shall be kept in the office of the undertakers, and shall be open to the inspection of all persons interested in the same within the said district (a).

(a) The map required to be made by 46 & 47 Vict. c. 37, s. 3, ante, p. 758, was to be made before August 25th, 1884.

Copies of such map or plan to be deposited with clerk of the peace, etc.

20. The undertakers shall from time to time, within three months from the time at which any such map or plan, or any such correction thereof or addition thereto, shall have been made as aforesaid, deposit with the clerks of the peace in England . . . of every county . . . in which such district or any part thereof may be situate, and also with the parish clerks of the several parishes in England . . . in which such underground work shall be situate, copies of the said map or plan, with all such particulars and all such corrections and additions as aforesaid, so far as relates to such counties . . . and parishes respectively (a).

(a) Words in this section relating to Scotland and Ireland only are omitted. A company who have not deposited a survey and map in accordance with this section have no right to the support of the soil in which their pipes are laid as against the owner of the minerals underneath (South Staffordshire Waterworks Co. v. Mason (1887), 56 L. J. Q. B. 255; 57 L. T. 116).

Section 21.

Clerks of the peace, etc. to receive and keep copies of the map, etc. and allow inspection.

7 Will. 4 & 1 Vict. c. 83.

21. The said clerks of the peace . . . and . . . parish clerks . . . shall receive the said copies of the said map and plan respectively, and shall keep the same, and shall allow all persons interested to inspect the same, and take copies or extracts of and from the same, in the like manner, and upon the like terms, and under the like penalty for default, as is provided in the case of maps and plans deposited under the Parliamentary Documents Deposit Act, 1837 (a).

(a) Words in this section relating to Scotland and Ireland only are omitted.

As to working of mines lying near the works.

22. Except where otherwise provided for by agreement between the undertakers and other parties, if the owner, lessee, or occupier of any mines or minerals lying under the reservoirs or buildings belonging to the undertakers, or under any of their pipes or works which shall be underground and shall be described in the map or plan which shall be so kept and deposited as hereinbefore mentioned, or within the prescribed distance, if any, and if no distance be prescribed within forty yards therefrom, be desirous of working the same, such owner, lessee, or occupier shall give the undertakers notice in writing of his intention so to do, thirty days before the commencement of working; and upon the receipt of such notice it shall be lawful for the undertakers to cause such mines to be inspected by any person appointed by them for the purpose, and if it appear to the undertakers that the working of such mines or minerals is likely to damage the said works, and if they be willing to make compensation for such mines to such owner, lessee, or occupier thereof, then he shall not work the same; and if the undertakers and such owner do not agree as to the amount of such compensation, the same shall be settled as in other cases of disputed compensation (a).

(a) See 46 & 47 Vict. c. 37, s. 3, ante, p. 758, as to the power of a local authority to define the extent to which they require support to be left, and as to the mode of assessing compensation. To justify a notice under this section there must be a bonâ fide intention to work the mines by the owner or his lessees or licensees (Midland Rail. Co. v. Robinson, ante, p. 2181). The service of a notice under this section requiring the owner to abstain from working his minerals has, like a notice to treat under the Lands Clauses Acts, the effect of creating a statutory contract between the parties whereby the one party is bound to abstain from working his minerals and the other is bound to make compensation therefor. The award in the arbitration is final both as to the amount of compensation to be paid and (unless the title of the mineral owner is in dispute) as to the obligation of the undertakers to pay the amount (Clippens Oil Co., Ltd. v. Edinburgh and District Water Trustees (1901), 38 Sc. L. R. 354).

If the party entitled to the minerals begins working without giving the notice, the undertakers may bring an action for an injunction and damages, but the wrongful working does not debar the party from afterwards giving the notice and claiming compensation (Edinburgh and District Water Trustees v. Clippens Oil Co., Ltd. (1898), 25 Ct. of Sess. Cas. (4th ser.) 504).

Where there has been a rise in the value of mineral since the notice, and but for the notice the mine owner would have obtained the benefit of the rise, consideration must be had to the rise in assessing the compensation (Bwllfa and Merthyr Dare Steam Collieries v. Pontypridd Waterworks Co., [1903] A. C. 426).

The compensation payable by a railway company under s. 78 of the Railways Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, in respect of such mines as they require to be left unworked is the full value of the minerals required to be left unworked, namely, what the minerals would have sold for if worked, less the cost of working them (Eden v. N. E. Rail. Co., [1907] A. C. 400; 71 J. P. 450). Where the minerals had no marketable value but were of value to the claimants who had a cement factory close by, it was held that their value to the claimants was what they might fairly be expected to have made by working in the ordinary and reasonable manner in which they would have been worked but for the notices to treat; that the profits which they would have made by turning them into cement might properly be taken into consideration by an arbitrator as an indication, though not as a measure, of that value; and that the value was not affected by the fact that the claimants owned large quantities of the same minerals which they might have worked instead of the minerals in question (Rugby Portland Cement Co. v. L. & N. W. Rail. Co., [1903] 2 K. B. 606; 72 J. P. 245). A county council, acting under the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1908, and an Order of the Board of Agriculture which incorporated ss. 77 and 78 of the Railways Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, gave notice to treat to the owner of a farm.

Note to Section 22.

In arbitration proceedings it was contended that the arbitrator should take into consideration the fact that the council merely acquired an interest in the surface without a right to support. It was held, that in assessing the value of the land the arbitrator was to deal with it as if there were no mines to be considered, and nothing but the surface; that the legislature had conferred rights upon purchasers in substitution for the common law right of support, and that the arbitrator was entitled, although he might not be actually bound, to disregard the absence of a right to support when assessing the value (Carlisle (Executrix of Earl) v. Northumberland C. C. (1911), 75 J. P. 539; 105 L. T. 797. See also Butterley Co., Ltd. v. New Hucknall Colliery Co., Ltd., [1910] A. C. 381; Howley Park Coal and Cannel Co. v. L. & N. W. Rail. Co., ante, p. 2180.

As to the right to interest upon an award of compensation, see Fletcher v. L. & Y. Rail. Co., [1902] 1 Ch. 901; 66 J. P. 631; and Richard v. G. W. Rail. Co., [1905] 1 K. B. 68; 69 J. P. 17.

If undertakers do not states their willingness to treat for payment of compensation owner may work the mines.

23. If before the expiration of such thirty days the undertakers do not state their willingness to treat with such owner, lessee, or occupier for the payment of such compensation, it shall be lawful for him to work the said mines, and to drain the same, by means of engines or otherwise, as if this Act and the special Act had not been passed, so that no wilful damage be done to the said works, and so that the said mines be not worked in an unusual manner; and if any damage or obstruction be occasioned to the works of the undertakers by the working of such mines in an unusual manner, the same shall be forthwith repaired or removed (as the case may require), and such damage made good by the owner, lessee, or occupier of such mines or minerals, and at his own expense; and if such repair or removal be not forthwith done, or if the undertakers shall so think fit, without waiting for the same to be done by such owner, lessee, or occupier, it shall be lawful for the undertakers to execute the same, and recover from such owner, lessee, or occupier the expense occasioned thereby, by action in any of the superior courts (a).

(a) The mines may be worked by open workings if that is usual in the district (Midland Rail. Co. v. Miles, ante, p. 2180); and see Midland Rail. Co. v. Robinson, ante, p. 2181; Ruabon Brick and Terra Cotta Co. v. G. W. Rail. Co., [1893] 1 Ch. 427; In re An Arbitration between Lord Gerard and L. & N. W. Rail. Co., [1895] 1 Q. B. 459. See further, as to the right to work the mines so as to let down the surface, Consett Waterworks Co. v. Ritson (1888), 22 Q. B. D. 318, 702; 53 J. P. 373. For a case involving a claim to work mines under a canal in pursuance of a special Act, see Knowles v. L. & Y. Rail. Co. (1885), 14 App. Cas. 248; 54 J. P. 103. Apparently the undertakers could not be compelled by mandamus to reinstate the waterworks if damaged by the working of the mines. See R. v. G. W. Rail. Co. (1894), 62 L. J. Q. B. 572; 58 J. P. 74.

Mining communications.

24. If the working of any such mines under the said works of the undertakers or within the above-mentioned distance therefrom be prevented as aforesaid by reason of apprehended injury to such works, it shall be lawful for the respective owners, lessees, and occupiers of such mines to cut and make such and so many airways, headways, gateways, or water levels through the mines, measures, or strata, the working whereof shall be so prevented, as may be requisite to enable them to ventilate, drain, and work any mines or minerals on each or either side thereof, but no such airway, headway, gateway, or water level shall be of greater dimensions or sections than the prescribed dimensions or sections, and where no dimensions are prescribed eight feet wide and eight feet high, nor shall the same be cut or made upon any part of the said works so as to injure the same.

Undertakers to make compensation to owner, lessee, or occupier of mines for expenses incurred by severance of mines, or by interruptions of or restric-

25. Except where otherwise provided for by agreement, the undertakers shall from time to time pay to the owner, lessee, or occupier of any mines of coal, ironstone, and other minerals extending so as to lie on both sides of any reservoirs, buildings, pipes, conduits, or other works, all such additional expenses and losses as shall be incurred by such owner, lessee, or occupier by reason of the severance of the lands over such mines or minerals by such reservoirs or other works, or of the continuous working of such mines or tions on works, and for minerals not obtained.

Disputes to be settled by arbitration.

minerals being interrupted as aforesaid, or by reason of the same being worked under the restrictions contained in this or the special Act, and for any mines or minerals not purchased by the undertakers which cannot be obtained by reason of making and maintaining the said works, or by reason of such apprehended injury from the working thereof as aforesaid; and if any dispute or question shall arise between the undertakers and such owner, lessee, or occupier as aforesaid touching the price of such minerals, the same shall be settled by arbitration in such manner as is provided by the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, if the undertaking shall be situate in England . . . (a).

(a) Words relating to Scotland and Ireland only are here omitted. See 46 & 47 Vict. c. 37, s. 3 (4), aute, p. 759, as to the method of settling disputes as to compensation. As to the compensation which may be claimed, see Whitehouse v. Wolverhampton and Walsall Rail. Co. (1870), L. R. 5 Ex. 6; 21 L. T. 558; Barnsley Canal Navigation Co. v. Twibell (1844), 7 Beav. 19; Ex parte Neath and Brecon Rail. Co. (1876), 2 Ch. D. 201; Holliday v. Wakefield Corporation, [1891] A. C. 81; 55 J. P. 325.

Power to undertakers to enter and inspect the working of mines, after giving notice of the same.

26. For better ascertaining whether any such mines are being worked or have been worked so as to damage the said works, it shall be lawful for the undertakers, after giving twenty-four hours notice in writing, to enter upon any lands through or near which the said works are situate, and wherein any such mines are being worked or are supposed so to be, and to enter into and return from any such mines or the works connected therewith, and for that purpose it shall be lawful for them to make use of any apparatus or machinery belonging to the owner, lessee, or occupier of such mines, and to use all necessary means for discovering the distance from the said works to the parts of such mines which are being worked or about to be worked.

Nothing to prevent undertakers from being liable to actions for injury done to mines.

27. Nothing in this or the special Act shall prevent the undertakers from being liable to any action or other legal proceeding to which they would have been liable for any damage or injury done or occasioned to any mines by means or in consequence of the waterworks, in case the same had not been constructed or maintained by virtue of this Act or the special Act (a).

(a) This section is limited to damage to mines (per VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, J., in Harrison v. Southwark and Vauxhall Water Co., [1891] 2 Ch., at p. 415). See also Graigola Merthyr Co. v. Swansea Corporation, [1928] Ch. 31; 138 L. T. 465. This case went to the House of Lords on another point ([1929] A. C. 344).

Laying of pipes.

And with respect to the breaking up of streets for the purpose of laying pipes, be it enacted as follows (a):

(a) Sections 28—34 are incorporated by the P. H. A., 1875, s. 57, ante, p. 140. See also s. 149 of that Act, and the notes thereto, ante, p. 289; s. 80 of the P. H. A., 1925, ante, p. 1625, and the corresponding clauses of the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, ante, p. 2167.

Power to break up streets, etc. under superintendence, and to open drains, and to lay pipes, etc.

28. The undertakers, under such superintendence as is hereinafter specified, may open and break up the soil and pavement of the several streets and bridges within the limits of the special Act, and may open and break up any sewers, drains, or tunnels within or under such streets and bridges, and lay down and place within the same limits pipes conduits, service pipes (a), and other works and engines, and from time to time repair, alter, or remove the same, and for the purposes aforesaid remove and use all earth and materials in and under such streets and bridges, and do all other acts which the undertakers shall from time to time deem necessary for supplying water to the inhabitants of the district included within the said limits, doing as little damage as can be in the execution of the powers hereby (b) or by the special Act granted, and making compensation for any damage which may be done in the execution of such powers (c).

Note to Section 28.

(a) See Grand Junction Waterworks Co. v. Rodochanachi, [1904] 2 K. B. 230; 68 J. P. 290; Colne Valley Water Co. v. Hall (1907), 72 J. P. 25; 98 L. T. 398; Parnell v. Portsmouth Waterworks Co. (1911), 75 J. P. 99; 8 L. G. R. 1029. And as to "mains," see Whittington Gas Light and Coke Co. v. Chesterfield Gas and Water Board, ante, p. 2167.

(b) See Swansea Corporation v. Harpur, [1913] A. C. 597; 77 J. P. 381.

(c) Where under a special Act incorporating this Act, a water company has within the period fixed by the special Act for the completion of its works laid a main according to deposited plans, the company may, after the expiration of that period, lay down a second main having regard to this Act, and particularly where the special Act gives them power to "extend, enlarge or alter any of their mains or pipes at any time and from time to time as occasion may require, for the purpose of supplying the inhabitants within the limits of the Act with water," due regard being had to the requirements of the special and general Acts as to notice and otherwise before breaking up the road for the purpose (East Molesey L. B. v. Lambeth Waterworks Co., [1892] 3 Ch. 289). The power given by this section includes any works which the undertakers may deem necessary for the purpose of regulating the supply of water, and is not confined to the laying down of apparatus underground, but enables the undertakers to place such works on the surface of the street as may not be inconsistent with the substantial reinstatement of the road in its previous condition or create a nuisance; and it was held, therefore, that a water company was authorised by the section to place in the pavement of a street covers or guard-boxes to protect stop-valves placed for the purpose of regulating the supply of water in the communication pipes by which water was supplied to premises in the street, such covers or guard-boxes not creating a nuisance or being inconsistent with the substantial reinstatement of the pavement (East London Waterworks Co. v. St. Matthew, Bethnal Green, Vestry (1886), 17 Q. B. D. 475; 50 J. P. 820). Where the cover of such a guard-box to a stop-cock attached to a service pipe supplying a private house was out of repair and could not be repaired without breaking up the street, and an accident occurred by a foot passenger tripping over it, the company were held liable, even assuming that the property in the guard-box was in the occupier of the private house, because the company had power to break up the street to repair it, which the occupier could not do (Chapman v. Fylde Waterworks Co., [1894] 2 Q. B. 599; 59 J. P. 5). The case of Batt v. Metropolitan Water Board, [1911] 2 K. B. 965; 75 J. P. 545, does not apply to a borough where this Act is in force for it was decided with reference only to s. 8 of the Metropolitan Water Board (Charges) Act, 1907, and the same observation applies to Mist v. Metropolitan Water Board (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 2041. See also Osborn v. Metropolitan Water Board (1910), 74 J. P. 190; 102 L. T. 217; Rosenbaum v. Metropolitan Water Board (1910), 75 J. P. 12; 103 L. T. 739; Stacey v. Gas Light and Coke Co. and Metropolitan Water Board (1910), 9 L. G. R. 174. The section merely enables a water company to lay pipes under streets in connection with the undertaking authorised by their special Acts, and if they are being laid in connection with unauthorised works the owner of the soil can sue the water company in trespass, raise the question of ultra vires and obtain an injunction without joining the Attorney-General (Marriott v. East Grinstead Gas and Water Co., [1909] 1 Ch. 70; 72 J. P. 509).

Public water commissioners in Scotland had statutory authority to lay a line of water pipes along a road which passed over two girder bridges belonging to a railway company. These bridges were constructed of several flat girders with spaces between them. Small transverse girders were placed on these main girders and supported iron sole plates forming a floor on which the material for the roadway was placed. This construction gave the bridges a very thin skin, within which there was not sufficient space to lay the water mains. Accordingly, the commissioners wanted to remove the sole plates and hang their water mains by iron bars attached to the cross-girders, carrying the pipes through the stone abutments forming the solid ends of the bridges on either side above the cuttings:—Held, that the powers conferred by ss. 28 and 29 of this Act did not entitle the commissioners to interfere with the weight-bearing portions of the bridges and they were interdicted from doing what they proposed (Glasgow and South Western Rail. Co. v. Glasgow Magistrates, [1895] A. C. 376; 59 J. P. 788). This case was followed in another Scotch case, Caledonian Rail. Co. v. Glasgow Corporation (1901), 3 F. 526, where it was also held that "tunnels" meant tunnels similar in character to sewers and drains and did not apply to a railway tunnel, and that the right to interfere with did not warrant the permanent displacement or removal of tunnels.

Undertakers not to enter on private land without consent.

29. Provided always, that nothing herein contained shall authorise or empower the undertakers to lay down or place any pipe, conduit, service pipe, or other work in any land not dedicated to public use (a) without the consent of the owners and occupiers thereof, except that the undertakers at any time may enter upon and lay or place any new pipe in the place of an existing pipe in any land wherein any pipe hath been already lawfully

Section 29. laid down or placed in pursuance of this or the special Act, or any other Act of Parliament, and may repair or alter any pipe so laid down.

(a) A public street or footpath is "land dedicated to public use," so that pipes in connection with authorised works could be laid without the consent of the owner of the soil (Marriott v. East Grinstead Gas and Water Co., supra). See further note (b) to s. 7 of the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, ante, p. 2167.

Notice to be served on persons having control, etc. before breaking up streets or opening drains.

30. Before the undertakers open or break up any street, bridge, sewer, drain, or tunnel, they shall give to the persons under whose control or management the same may be, or to their clerk, surveyor, or other officer notice in writing of their intention to open or break up the same, not less than three clear days before beginning such work, except in cases of emergency arising from defects in any of the pipes or other works, and then so soon as is possible after the beginning of the work, or the necessity for the same shall have arisen (a).

Streets or drains not to be broken up except under superintendence of persons having control of the same.

31. No such street, bridge, sewer, drain, or tunnel shall, except in the cases of emergency aforesaid, be opened or broken up, except under the superintendence of the persons having the control or management thereof (a), or of their officer, and according to such plan as shall be approved of by such persons or their officer, or in case of any difference respecting such plan, then according to such plan as shall be determined by two justices; and such justices may, on the application of the persons having the control or management of any such sewer or drain, or their officer, require the undertakers to make such temporary or other works as they may think necessary for guarding against any interruption of the drainage during the execution of any works which interfere with any such sewer or drain: Provided always, that if the persons having such control or management as aforesaid, and their officer, fail to attend at the time fixed for the opening of any such street, bridge, sewer, drain, or tunnel, after having had such notice of the intention of the undertakers as aforesaid, or shall not propose any plan for breaking up or opening the same, or shall refuse or neglect to superintend the operation, the undertakers may perform the work specified in such notice without the superintendence of such persons, or their officer (b).

(a) That is, after notice to the highway authority sufficient to enable them to judge whether what is proposed ought to be done without modification (Edgware Highway Board v. Colne Valley Water Co. (1877), 46 L. J. Ch. 889). In the same case it was held that the plan should show not only the mode and manner of opening the street, but also the depth and position of the cutting, and such other particulars as would enable the road authority to judge whether what was proposed to be done should be accepted without modification without going to the justices. This was approved of by the Court of Appeal in East Molesey L. B. v. Lambeth Waterworks Co., [1892] 3 Ch. 289.

Streets, etc. broken up to be reinstated without delay.

32. When the undertakers open or break up the road or pavement of any street or bridge, or any sewer, drain or tunnel, they shall with all convenient speed complete the work for which the same shall be broken up, and fill in the ground, and reinstate and make good the road or pavement, or the sewer, drain, or tunnel, so opened or broken up, and carry away the rubbish occasioned thereby, and shall at all times, whilst any such road or pavement shall be so opened or broken up, cause the same to be fenced and guarded, and shall cause a light sufficient for the warning of passengers to be set up and kept thereagainst, every night during which such road or pavement shall be continued open or broken up, and shall, after replacing and making good the road or pavement which shall have been so broken up, keep the same in good repair for three months thereafter, and such further time, if any, not being more than twelve months in the whole, as the soil so broken up shall continue to subside (a).

Note to Section 32.

(a) The mere passive omission by a road authority to rectify a subsidence in a road in their area which has been originally occasioned by the neglect of a water company to make the road after having broken it up for the purposes of their undertaking does not exonerate the water company from liability for an injury caused to a person using the road by reason of the subsidence (Hartley v. Rochdale Corporation, [1908] 2 K. B. 594; 72 J. P. 343). This section imposes a continuing duty upon undertakers to remedy any neglect in an improper filling in of the ground and accordingly time does not begin to run under the Public Authorities Protection Act, 1893, ante, p. 939, so long as that duty remains undischarged (Huyton and Roby Gas Co. v. Liverpool Corporation, [1926] 1 K. B. 146; 90 J. P. 45).

Penalty for delay in reinstating streets, etc.

33. If the undertakers open or break up any street or bridge, or any sewer drain, or tunnel, without giving such notice as aforesaid, or in a manner different from that which shall have been approved of or determined as aforesaid, or without making such temporary or other works as aforesaid, when so required, except in the cases in which the undertakers are authorised to perform such works without any superintendence or notice, or, if the undertakers make any unnecessary delay in completing any such work, or in filling in the ground, or reinstating and making good the road or pavement, or the sewer, drain, or tunnel, so opened or broken up, or in carrying away the rubbish occasioned thereby, or if they neglect to cause the place where such road or pavement has been broken up to be fenced, guarded, and lighted, or neglect to keep the road or pavement in repair for the space of six months next after the same is made good, or such further time as aforesaid, they shall forfeit to the persons having the control or management of the street, bridge, sewer, drain, or tunnel in respect of which such default is made a sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence, and an additional sum of five pounds for each day during which any such delay as aforesaid shall continue after they shall have received notice thereof.

In case of delay, persons having control of streets, etc. may reinstate them.

34. If any such delay or omission as aforesaid shall take place, the persons having the control or management of the street, bridge, sewer, drain, or tunnel in respect of which such delay or omission shall take place may cause the work so delayed or omitted to be executed, and the expense of executing the same shall be repaid to such persons by the undertakers; and such expenses may be recovered in the same way as damages are recoverable under this and the special Act (a).

Constant supply of water to be kept for domestic use of all inhabitants entitled to demand a supply.

35. The undertakers shall provide and keep in the pipes to be laid down by them a supply of pure and wholesome water, sufficient for the domestic use of all the inhabitants of the town or district within the limits of the Special Act, who, as hereinafter provided, shall be entitled to demand a supply, and shall be willing to pay water rate for the same; and such supply shall be constantly laid on at such a pressure as will make the water reach the top story of the highest houses within the said limits, unless it be provided by the special Act that the water to be supplied by the undertakers need not be constantly laid on under pressure; and the undertakers shall cause pipes to be laid down and water to be brought to every part of the town or district within the limits of the special Act whereunto they shall be required by so many owners or occupiers of houses in that part of the town or district as that the aggregate amount of water rate payable by them annually, at the

Section 35. rates specified in the special Act, shall be not less than one tenth part of the expence of providing and laying down such pipes; provided that no such requisition shall be binding on the undertakers, unless such owners or occupiers shall severally execute an agreement binding themselves to take such supply of water for three successive years at least (a).

(a) This section is not incorporated with the P. H. A., 1875. See, however, as to the giving of guarantees by district councils under this section, note (f) to s. 51 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 133.

Pipes to be laid by the undertakers.

And with respect to the communication pipes to be laid by the undertakers be it enacted as follows (a):

(a) Sections 44—74 are incorporated by the P. H. A., 1875, s. 57, ante, p. 140. The proviso to that section provides that the provisions with respect to the communication pipes to be laid by the undertakers and the inhabitants respectively shall apply only in districts or parts of districts where the local authority lay any pipes for the supply of any of the inhabitants thereof.

Undertakers to lay down communication pipes, on request of occupier and with consent of owners.

44. The undertakers shall, upon the request of the owner of any dwelling-house in any street in which pipes shall have been laid down by them, the annual value of which house shall not exceed ten pounds, or upon request of the occupier with the consent in writing of the owner, or reputed owner, of any such house, or of the agent of such owner (a), and upon payment or tender of the proportion of water rate in respect of such house by this or the special Act, made payable in advance, lay down communication pipes and other necessary works for the supply of such house with water for domestic or other purposes, and shall keep the same in repair, and thereupon the occupier of such house shall be entitled to have a sufficient supply of water for his domestic purposes from the undertakers; and the undertakers may charge for such pipes and works, in addition to the water rate, such reasonable annual rent (b) as shall be agreed upon, or, in case of dispute, as shall be settled by such inspector as aforesaid, when appointed, and in the meantime as shall in England . . . be settled by two justices . . . and such rent shall be chargeable on and recoverable from the occupier, or, in his default, from the owner of such house, at the same times and in the same manner as water rates; and such pipes and other works shall not be subject to distress . . . nor to be taken in execution under any process of a court of law or equity, or under any fiat or sequestration in bankruptcy, against such occupier or against such owner, unless he shall have become the proprietor of the said pipes and works under the provisions hereinafter contained (c).

(a) These words are to be omitted. See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 57, ante, p. 140. As to the meaning of the expression "consumer" in a special Act, see Cooke v. New River Co. (1889), 14 App. Cas. 698; 54 J. P. 260.
(b) This rent may be deducted from the rent paid to the owner. See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 57, ante, p. 140.
(c) Words relating to Scotland and Ireland only are omitted from this section.

Penalty on undertakers for neglect, etc. to lay communication pipes.

45. If, upon such request and consent, and upon tender or payment of such proportion of rate as aforesaid, the undertakers for seven days neglect or refuse to lay down such communication pipes or other works, they shall be liable to forfeit to the person so making such request the sum of five pounds and a further sum of forty shillings for every day during which such refusal or neglect shall continue after seven days from the making of such request and tender as aforesaid.

On non-payment of rate, or if house be

46. If the occupier for the time being of the house in which any such communication pipes or other works and engines shall have been laid down unoccupied, undertakers may remove pipes, etc. provided by them.

by the undertakers refuse to pay for a supply of water, or if such house be unoccupied for twelve months, the undertakers may demand from the owner thereof payment of the amount of the principal money invested by them in providing and laying down such communication pipes and other works and engines; and if such owner, after ten days notice given to him by the undertakers, neglect or refuse to pay such principal money, the undertakers may enter the house and remove such pipes and other works; and the balance of such principal money, after deducting the value of such pipes and other works, with all arrears of rent for such pipes and works, shall, in default of payment, be recovered, with the costs incurred, from the owner or from the occupier for the time being, in the same manner as water rates are directed by this or the special Act to be recovered: Provided always, that no greater sum shall be recovered from any such occupier than the amount of rent for the time being owing by him, unless he refuse to discover the amount of rent owing by him; and that every such occupier shall be entitled to deduct from the amount of rent payable by him the sum so recovered from him, or which he shall have paid, on demand.

Owner to be at liberty to purchase the pipes.

47. The owner or reputed owner of any house where any such communication pipes or other works shall have been laid down by the undertakers may at any time pay off the amount then due to the undertakers in respect of the costs of providing and laying down such pipes and works, and all rent at that time due in respect thereof, and thereupon such pipes and works shall become the property of such owner, and all further rent in respect thereof shall cease to accrue to the undertakers.

Pipes to be laid by the inhabitants.

And with respect to the communication pipes to be laid by the inhabitants, be it enacted as follows:

Power to inhabitants to lay service pipes from houses to pipes of undertakers.

48. Any owner or occupier of any dwelling-house, or part of a dwelling-house within the limits of the special Act who shall wish to have water from the waterworks of the undertakers brought into his premises, and who shall have paid or tendered to the undertakers the portion of water rate in respect of such premises by this or the special Act directed to be paid in advance, may open the ground between the pipes of the undertakers and his premises, having first obtained the consent of the owners and occupiers of such ground (a), and lay any leaden or other pipes from such premises, to communicate with the pipes of the undertakers, such pipes to be of a strength and material to be approved of by the undertakers, or, in case of dispute, to be settled in England . . . by two justices . . . or in either case by the inspector to be appointed as aforesaid: Provided always, that every such owner or occupier shall, before he begins to lay any such pipe, give to the undertakers fourteen days notice of his intention to do so (b).

(a) The ground referred to must be private ground intervening between his premises to be supplied and the water main. Power to open streets is given in express terms by s. 52, post, p. 2190.

(b) Words relating to Scotland and Ireland are omitted from this section. An action lies for cutting off by the undertakers of a connection lawfully and properly made without lawful cause (Gale v. Rhymney and Aber Valleys Gas and Water Co. (1903), 67 J. P. 430; 89 L. T. (N.S.) 399). As to the liability to repair communication pipes, see Parnell v. Portsmouth Waterworks Co. (1911), 75 J. P. 99; 8 L. G. R. 1029, and compare Colne Valley Water Co. v. Hall (1908), 72 J. P. 25.

Communication with the pipes of the undertakers to be made under the superintendence of their surveyor.

49. Before any pipe is made to communicate with the pipes of the undertakers, the person intending to lay such pipe shall give two days notice to the undertakers of the day and hour when such pipe is intended to be made to communicate with the pipes of the undertakers; and every such pipe shall be so made to communicate under the superintendence and according

Section 49. to the directions of the surveyor or other officer appointed for that purpose by the undertakers, unless such surveyor or officer fail to attend at the time mentioned in the said notice; and in case of any dispute as to the manner in which such pipe shall be so made to communicate, it shall in England . . . be settled by two justices . . . or in either case by the inspector to be appointed as aforesaid (a).

Bore of service pipes.

50. The bore of any such pipe as last aforesaid shall not exceed the prescribed limits, and where no limit shall be prescribed it shall not exceed half an inch, except with the consent of the undertakers.

Service pipes may be removed, after giving notice.

Penalty for removing pipes without notice.

51. Any person who shall have laid down any pipe or other works, or who shall have become the proprietor thereof, may remove the same, after having first given six days' notice in writing to the undertakers of his intention so to do, and of the time of such proposed removal, and every such person shall make compensation to the undertakers for any injury or damage to their pipes or works which may be caused by such removal; and every person who shall remove any such pipe or other works without giving such notice as aforesaid shall forfeit to the undertakers a sum not exceeding five pounds, over and above the damage which he may be found liable to pay in any action at law, at the suit of the undertakers, for the damage done to their pipes or works.

Power to inhabitants to break up pavements, etc.

52. Any such owner or occupier may open or break up so much of the pavement of any street as shall be between the pipe of the undertakers and his house, building, or premises (a), and any sewer or drain therein, for any such purpose as aforesaid, doing as little damage as may be (b), and making compensation for any damage done in the execution of any such work: Provided always, that every such owner or occupier desiring to break up the pavement of any street, or any sewer or drain therein, shall be subject to the same necessity of giving previous notice, and shall be subject to the same control, restriction, and obligations in and during the time of breaking up the same, and also reinstating the same, and to the same penalties for any delay in regard thereto, as the undertakers are subject to by virtue of this or the special Act (c).

(b) See R. v. East and West India Docks, etc. Rail. Co., ante, p. 2167.

(c) A waterworks company is not liable for the negligence of an occupier in opening a street under this section. The word "pavement" as used in this section is not confined to the footpath only. See Glover v. East London Waterworks Co. (1867), 17 L. T. (N.S.) 475; 16 W. R. 310.

As to the power of a company to require a consumer to fix a screw-down valve in the street to shut off water from the premises as apparatus for regulating the supply within the meaning of a special Act, see Ward v. Folkestone Waterworks Co. (1890), 24 Q. B. D. 334; 54 J. P. 628.

Right of owners or occupiers to supply of water for domestic purposes.

53. Every owner and occupier of any dwelling-house (a) or part of a dwelling-house within the limits of the special Act shall, when he has laid such communication pipes as aforesaid, and paid or tendered (b) the water rate payable in respect thereof, according to the provisions of this and the special Act, be entitled to demand and receive from the undertakers (c) a sufficient supply of water for his domestic purposes (d).

(a) As to what is a "private dwelling-house," see Bristol Guardians v. Bristol Waterworks Co., [1914] 1 A. C. 379. In that case it was held that the right to demand a supply was by the special Act limited to private dwelling-houses, and that a workhouse was not within this description. This case was followed in Northern Theatres Co. v. Shillito, [1925] 2 K. B. 100; 89 J. P. 101 (a theatre).

(b) The occupier of premises used as a post office which were not rated has been held to be entitled to a supply of water for domestic purposes as of right without prepayment of the water rate (Postmaster-General v. Nenagh U. D. C., [1913] 1 I. R. 238).

(c) See Pitts v. Plymouth Corporation, [1912] 3 K. B. 301.

(d) As to the duty of the company to supply water fit for domestic use, see Att.-Gen. v. North Shields Waterworks Co., Times, May 12th, 1892. The supply of water for the use of a horse and the washing of a carriage in a stable attached to a dwelling-house, and used for the sole accommodation of the occupier, was held to be for domestic use in Bushby v. Chesterfield Waterworks Co. (1858), 22 J. P. 689; El. B. & E. 176. But see 26 & 27 Vict. c. 93, s. 12, post, p. 2266. The guardians of a union are entitled under this section to supply to a workhouse, such a supply being for domestic purposes (Liskeard Union v. Liskeard Waterworks (1881), 7 Q. B. D. 505; 45 J. P. 780), but the court will distinguish between the different purposes for which water is supplied to such an institution (Chester Waterworks Co. v. Chester Union (1908), 72 J. P. 121; 98 L. T. 701). This case was discussed and followed in Frederick v. Bognor Water Co., [1909] 1 Ch. 149; 72 J. P. 501, decided under a special Act, in which it was held that the keeping of a boarding school in which water was used for the domestic purposes of all the inmates was not carrying on a "business for which water is required." The phrase "domestic purposes" includes a supply for a fixed bath (Weaver v. Cardiff Corporation (1883), 47 J. P. 599; 48 L. T. (N.S.) 906), unless baths are excluded by express words (Walker v. Lambeth Waterworks Co. (1894), 58 J. P. 736; 71 L. T. (N.S.) 75); and a supply of water for a swimming-bath erected and used for the purposes of the business of a school is not a supply for "domestic purposes" (Barnard Castle U. D. C. v. Wilson, [1902] 2 Ch. 746, and see Frederick v. Bognor Water Co., supra). On the other hand, water supplied for domestic purposes is none the less so supplied because the house may be used as a boarding house (Pidgeon v. Great Yarmouth Waterworks Co., [1902] 1 K. B. 310; 66 J. P. 309), or as a school (South West Suburban Water Co. v. St. Marylebone Guardians, [1904] 2 K. B. 174; 68 J. P. 257). It has been held that water for domestic purposes does not include water for watering a garden (per JESSEL, M.R., in Low v. Lambeth Waterworks Co., not reported, and see 26 & 27 Vict. c. 93, s. 12, post, p. 2266). See, however, Bristol Waterworks Co. v. Uren, post, p. 2197, and Grand Junction Waterworks v. Neal (1895), 30 L. J. Newsp. 85. And water used by a person carrying on the profession of a physician or surgeon for washing a motor car used in his profession is not supplied for a trade manufacture or business within 26 & 27 Vict. c. 93, s. 12, so as to be excluded from being considered as supplied for domestic purposes (Harrogate Corporation v. Mackay, [1907] 2 K. B. 211; 71 J. P. 458). Water supplied for use in a dentist's surgery is not used for non-domestic purposes (Manchester Corporation v. Buttle, infra). A gas company provided at their works certain sanitary conveniences as required by the Factory and Workshop Act, 1901. No one resided at the works, which were exempt from inhabited house duty. It was held that the question was not the character of the premises, but the character of the purposes for which the water was used; that the supply in question was for domestic purposes; and that the company were not entitled to a supply by meter as for trade purposes under s. 16 of the Metropolitan Water Board (Charges) Act, 1907 (South Suburban Gas Co. v. Metropolitan Water Board, [1909] 2 Ch. 666; 73 J. P. 503). This was approved in Metropolitan Water Board v. Avery, [1914] A. C. 118, where it was held that under their local Act the Board were bound to supply water for washing up plates and dishes in a public-house where luncheons were served at the rate for domestic purposes. But where it was necessary to construe an Act which provided that the Board should not be bound to supply otherwise than by meter to a house used wholly or partly for any trade it was held that the test was the character of the building and not the use to which the water was put (Oddenino v. Metropolitan Water Board, [1914] 2 Ch. 734. And this decision was followed in Barrett v. Ilkeston Corporation, [1917] 1 K. B. 827; 81 J. P. 133 (Beerhouse) and Manchester Corporation v. Buttle, [1929] 2 Ch. 390; 45 T. L. R. 568 (Dentist's surgery). Water supplied to urinals and water-closets at a railway station and to a tap used for drinking purposes and for cleansing the platforms is not supplied for domestic purposes (Metropolitan Water Board v. L. B. & S. C. Rail. Co., [1910] 2 K. B. 890; 74 J. P. 409). A supply of water to a factory for drinking and washing by workmen employed there and for urinals and water-closets provided for their use is a supply for domestic purposes (Colley's Patents, Ltd. v. Metropolitan Water Board, [1912] A. C. 24; 76 J. P. 33). Water supplied for a public-house, where, in addition to the ordinary consumption of water in such a case, a catering business is carried on, is water supplied for domestic purposes (Metropolitan Water Board v. Avery, [1914] A. C. 118; 78 J. P. 121). It is not easy to reconcile with this decision the case of Airdrie, Coatbridge and District Water Trustees v. Flanagan (1906), 8 F. 932, where water supplied for a public-house mainly for sanitary purposes and cooking was held not to be a supply for domestic purposes. A golf club-house in which no one slept was held not to be a "house," and therefore not entitled to a supply of water at the domestic rate (Fergusson v. Prestwick (Provost, etc. of), [1909] S. C. 94, decided under the Burgh Police (Scotland) Act, 1892, ss. 4, 263, 264). Where such extra charges are expressly authorised for water-closets, that means water-closets used as such and having water laid on to them (Roberts v. South Essex Waterworks Co. (1903), 1 L. G. R. 719).

Where a supply was cut off for non-payment of water rates, the company were held not warranted in refusing to supply a subsequent tenant until the arrears were paid (Sheffield Waterworks Co. v. Wilkinson (1879), 4 C. P. D. 410). See, further, as to the cutting off of a supply, 50 & 51 Vict. c. 21, post, p. 2489.

As to the right of a company to cut off the supply when the consumer has failed to provide a meter for water supplied for purposes other than for "family use," see Sheffield Waterworks Co. v. Carter (1882), 8 Q. B. D. 632; 46 J. P. 548. And as to the obligation to provide a meter in such case, see Sheffield Waterworks Co. v. Bingham (1884), 25 Ch. D. 443.

The company are only bound to furnish a reasonable supply, that is, a supply which is reasonable according to the means at their disposal (Jackson v. Farnham Water Co. (1887), 3 T. L. R. 632).

As to drought being an unavoidable cause preventing the supply and excusing the undertakers from furnishing a sufficient supply, see Industrial Dwellings Co. v. East London Waterworks Co. (1894), 58 J. P. 430.

As to the meaning of the words "require a supply of water" in s. 17 of the Metropolitan Water Board (Charges) Act, 1907, see Metropolitan Water Board v. Johnson & Co., [1913] 3 K. B. 900; 77 J. P. 384.

Protection of water.

And with respect to waste or misuse of the water supplied by the undertakers, be it enacted as follows:

Persons using water not required to be laid on at high pressure to provide cisterns, etc.

54. If by the special Act it be provided that the water to be supplied by the undertakers need not be constantly laid on under pressure, every person supplied with water shall, when required by the undertakers, provide a proper cistern to hold the water with which he shall be so supplied, with a ball and stop-cock, in the pipe bringing the water from the works of the undertakers to such cistern, and shall keep such cistern, ball, and stop-cock in good repair so as effectually to prevent the water from running to waste; and in case any such person shall, when required by the undertakers, neglect to provide such cistern, ball, or stop-cock, or to keep the same in good repair, the undertakers may cut off the pipe or turn off the water from the premises of such person until such cistern and ball and stop-cock shall be provided or repaired, as the case may require (a).

Penalty for neglect.

(a) Where a company were entitled to require the provision of "proper ball and stop-cocks, or other necessary apparatus for regulating the supply," it was held that they could not require a screw-down valve to be inserted in the communication pipe laid in the street so that the water might be shut off from the premises on any indication of waste (Ward v. Folkestone Waterworks Co., ante, p. 2190).

As to the conditions of constant supply in the metropolis, see West Middlesex Waterworks Co. v. Tappenden (1888), 5 T. L. R. 477.

Penalty for suffering cistern, etc. to be out of repair so that water is wasted.

55. Every person supplied with water by the undertakers who shall suffer any such cistern, pipe, ball, or stop-cock to be out of repair, so that the water supplied to him by the undertakers shall be wasted, shall forfeit to the undertakers for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds (a).

(a) Section 55 was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1875, so far as it relates to special Acts with which 26 & 27 Vict. c. 93, post, p. 2264, is incorporated. The owner of a house let to a tenant upon a weekly tenancy, but himself liable to payment of the water rate by reason of the house being under the annual value of £10 (see s. 72, post, p. 2199), is "a person supplied with water" within the meaning of this section (Brock v. Harrison, [1899] 1 Q. B. 958; 63 J. P. 455).

Undertakers may repair cisterns, etc.

56. The undertakers may repair any such cistern, pipe, ball, or stop-cock, so as to prevent any such waste of water, and the expenses of such repair shall be repaid to them by the person so allowing the same to be out of repair, and may be received (a) as damages.

(a) Sic in Parliament Roll. It should of course be "recovered." It was held that the work of repair for the expenses of which the owner of a defective communication pipe was liable under the M. W. B. (Various Powers) Act, 1907, s. 71, was limited to work done after the Board had ascertained that it was from his pipe that the leakage of water came, and did not include an exploratory opening of the ground for the purpose of locating the source of the leakage (David v. Metropolitan Water Board, [1919] 1 K. B. 44; 83 J. P. 58).

Note to Section 56.

Power to undertakers' surveyor to enter houses to inspect, etc.

57. The surveyor, or any other person acting under the authority of the undertakers, may, between the hours of nine of the clock in the forenoon and four of the clock in the afternoon, enter into any house or premises supplied with water by virtue of this or the special Act in order to examine if there be any waste or misuse of such water; and if such surveyor or other person at any such time be refused admittance into such dwelling-house or premises for the purpose aforesaid, or be prevented from making such examination as aforesaid, the undertakers may turn off the water supplied by them from such house or other premises.

Penalty for allowing persons to use water supplied by undertakers.

58. Every owner or occupier of any tenement supplied with water under this or the special Act who shall supply to any other person or wilfully permit him to take any such water from any cistern or pipe in such tenement, unless for the purpose of extinguishing any fire, or unless he be a person supplied with water by the undertakers, and the pipes belonging to him be, without his default, out of repair, shall forfeit to the undertakers for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds (a).

(a) A covenant to repair or renew a pipe is broken if in consequence of the pipe becoming furred by encrustation the flow of water is substantially diminished although it is still sufficient for ordinary purposes. Where a railway company has obtained a supply of water by meter to a railway station, this does not authorise the use of such supply for another station. Knowledge of such wrongful use over a long period cannot be imputed to the principals supplying the water by reason of their agent having from time to time read a meter which happened to be side by side with the meter which measured the wrongful uses of the supply (G. N. Ry. v. Bradford Corporation (1919), 88 L. J. Ch. 101; 83 J. P. 33.

Penalty for taking water belonging to undertakers without agreement.

59. Every person who, not having agreed to be supplied with water by the undertakers, shall take any water from any reservoir, watercourse, or conduit belonging to the undertakers, or any pipe leading to any such reservoir, watercourse, or conduit, or from any cistern or other like place containing water belonging to the undertakers, other than such as may have been provided for the gratuitous use of the public, shall forfeit to the undertakers for every such offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds (a).

A section in a special Act provided that if any person should wilfully waste the water of the company, or apply it to any purpose other than that agreed upon, he should be liable to a penalty. It was held that this section did not apply to a case where water, after being used for ordinary domestic purposes, was conveyed into an apparatus for flushing a water-closet (Evans v. Gornall (1891), 8 T. L. R. 620).

Penalty for destroying valves, drawing off water, etc.

60. Every person who shall wilfully or carelessly break, injure, or open any lock, cock, valve, pipe, work, or engine belonging to the undertakers, or shall flush or draw off the water from the reservoirs or other works of the undertakers, or shall do any other wilful act whereby such water shall be wasted, shall forfeit to the undertakers for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Fouling the water.

And with respect to the provisions for guarding against fouling the water of the undertakers, be it enacted as follows (a):

(a) See also 26 & 27 Vict. c. 93, ss. 16–20, post, pp. 2267—2269.

Section 61.

Penalties for causing the water of the undertakers to be fouled, etc.

61. Every person who shall commit any of the offences next hereinafter enumerated shall for every such offence forfeit to the undertakers a sum not exceeding five pounds; (that is to say,)

Every person who shall bathe in any stream, reservoir, aqueduct, or other waterworks belonging to the undertakers, or wash, throw, or cause to enter therein any dog or other animal:

Every person who shall throw any rubbish, dirt, filth, or other noisome thing into any such stream, reservoir, aqueduct, or other waterworks as aforesaid, or wash or cleanse therein any cloth, wool, leather, or skin of any animal, or any clothes or other thing:

Every person who shall cause the water of any sink, sewer, or drain, steam engine, boiler, or other filthy water belonging to him or under his control, to run or be brought into any stream, reservoir, aqueduct, or other waterworks belonging to the undertakers, or shall do any other act whereby the water of the undertakers shall be fouled:

And every such person shall forfeit a further sum of twenty shillings for each day (if more than one) that such last-mentioned offence shall be continued.

Penalty for permitting substances produced in making gas to flow into the streams or works of the undertakers.

62. Every person making or supplying gas within the limits of the special Act who shall at any time cause or suffer to be brought or to flow into any stream, reservoir, aqueduct, or waterworks belonging to the undertakers, or into any drain communicating therewith, any washing or other substance which shall be produced in making or supplying gas, or who shall wilfully do any act connected with the making or supplying of gas whereby the water in any such stream, reservoir, aqueduct, or waterworks shall be fouled, shall forfeit to the undertakers for every such offence the sum of two hundred pounds; and such penalty shall be recovered, with full costs of suit, in any of the superior courts; but such penalty shall not be recoverable unless it be sued for during the continuance of the offence, or within six months after it has ceased (a).

Daily penalty during the continuance of the offence.

63. In addition to the said penalty of two hundred pounds, and whether such penalty have been recovered or not, the person making or supplying gas as aforesaid shall forfeit to the undertakers the sum of twenty pounds, to be recovered in like manner, for each day during which such washing or substance shall be brought or shall flow as aforesaid, or during which the act shall continue by which such water is fouled, after the expiration in either case of twenty-four hours from the time when notice of the offence has been served on such person by the undertakers.

Penalty on gas makers causing water to be fouled.

64. Whenever the water supplied by the undertakers shall be fouled by the gas of any person making or supplying gas within the limits of the special Act, such person shall forfeit to the undertakers for every such offence a sum not exceeding twenty pounds, and a further sum not exceeding ten pounds for each day during which the offence shall continue after the expiration of twenty-four hours from the service of notice of such offence.

Power to open ground and examine gas pipes, to ascertain whether water is being fouled by gas.

65. For the purpose of ascertaining whether the water of the undertakers be fouled by the gas of any person making or supplying gas within the limits of the special Act, the undertakers may dig up the ground, and examine the pipes, conduits, and works of the persons making or supplying gas; provided that before proceeding so to dig and examine the undertakers shall give twenty-four hours notice in writing to the person so making or supplying gas of the time at which such digging and examination is intended to take place, and they shall give the like notice to the persons having the control or management of the pavements or place where such digging shall take place, and they shall be subject to the like obligation of reinstating the road and pavement, and to the same penalties for delay or any nonfeasance or misfeasance therein, as hereinbefore provided with respect to roads and pavements broken up by them for laying their pipes (a).

(a) See also ss. 28—34, ante, pp. 2184—2187.

Expenses to abide the result of the examination

66. If upon such examination it appear that such water has been fouled by any gas belonging to such person, the expenses of the digging, examination, and repair of the street or place disturbed in any such examination shall be paid by the person making or supplying gas; but if upon such examination it appear that the water has not been fouled by the gas of such person, then the undertakers shall pay all the expenses of the examination and repair, and also make good to the said person any injury which may be occasioned to his works by such examination.

Recovery of expenses.

67. The amount of the expenses of every such examination and repair, and any injury done to the undertakers, shall, in case of any dispute about the same, together with the costs of ascertaining and recovering the same, be ascertained and recovered in the same manner as damages for the ascertaining and recovery whereof no special provision is made are directed to be ascertained and recovered.

Water rates.

And with respect to the payment and recovery of the water rates, be it enacted as follows:

Rates to be recoverable from person supplied with water.

68. The water rates, except as hereinafter (a) and in the special Act mentioned, shall be paid by and be recoverable from the person requiring, receiving or using the supply of water, and shall be payable according to the annual value of the tenements (b) supplied with water, and if any dispute arise as to such value the same shall be determined by two justices (c).

(b) See Metropolitan Water Board v. Baker (1910), 74 J. P. 337; 102 L. T. 536; Metropolitan Water Board v. Phillips, [1913] A. C. 86; 77 J. P. 73.

(c) Water rates under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 56, ante, p. 138, as modified by the R. and V. Act, 1925, and the L. G. A., 1929, are to be assessed upon the net annual value appearing in the valuation list under the R. and V. Act, 1925, but if no such value appears therein (see the notes to s. 56 at p. 139) then that value is to be ascertained by two justices in like manner as disputes are determined under the provision in the text. Section 77 of the L. G. A., 1929, ante, p. 1941, contains a general modification of the provisions of all Acts requiring the assessment of water rates upon a value shown in the valuation list.

In the application of these modifications the decisions upon the provisions in the text may be useful. They are, therefore, set out here.

By their local Act, 16 Vict. c. xxii., s. 79, the plaintiffs were bound to supply the houses within a certain district with water "at the following rate per annum, that is to say, where the rent" of such dwelling-houses should not amount to £7 per annum, at a rate not exceeding 6 per cent. per annum on such rent, but not exceeding 7*s*. 2*d*. per annum; and so on in a graduated scale. The defendant was owner of several small houses supplied with water by the plaintiffs, in respect of which he paid, either under statutory obligation or by voluntary agreement, the poor rate, water rate, and district rate. It was held that "rent" in s. 79 was equivalent to "annual value," and that in estimating the rent on which the water rate was payable, the defendant was entitled to deduct the water rates so paid by him (Sheffield Waterworks Co. v. Bennett (1872), L. R. 7 Ex. 409).

By s. 56 of the New River Company's Act, 1852, which incorporates the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, it is enacted that "nothing in this Act or in any Act incorporated herewith contained shall prevent the company from recovering any sum of money not exceeding £50, which shall be due to them for water rates or rents, or for damages, costs or expenses, by action or proceeding in such manner as is by law provided for the recovery of debts not exceeding £50." It was held that where a bonâ fide dispute arises as to the annual value, the company must, before they can sue for the rate, obtain a decision of justices in that dispute under s. 68 of the Act of 1847, supra (New River Co. v. Mather (1875), L. R. 10 C. P. 442; 39 J. P. 614).

By the special Act of a water company which incorporated the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, save so far as the clauses or provisions thereof were expressly varied or excepted, the company were obliged to supply water to the occupiers of dwelling houses for domestic purposes at a rate not exceeding £6 per cent. per annum upon the annual "rack-rent or value" of the premises supplied. It was further provided by a subsequent section of the Act that the rate should be "payable according to the annual value at which the premises were from time to time assessed to the poor rate if the same were so assessed, or, if not, according to the net annual value of the premises." It was held that the water rate charged by the company must be calculated on the "rateable value," not on the "gross estimated rental" of the premises supplied with water (Warrington Waterworks Co. v. Longshaw (1882), 9 Q. B. D. 145; 46 J. P. 773).

It was provided by a local Act that the charge to be made for the supply of water for domestic use should be at a rate varying according to the "annual rent" of the premises supplied. The appellant was the owner of certain houses supplied with water by the respondents under the Act. The houses were let at weekly rents, the appellant paying all rates charged thereon, and also for all repairs and insurances in respect thereof. He was allowed as an owner, under the Poor Rate Assessment and Collection Act, 1869, s. 4, a reduction of 30 per cent. from the full amount of the poor rate which an occupier if rated would have paid. The respondents charged the appellant with water rates calculated on the following basis: They multiplied the weekly rents by fifty-two and deducted from the amount the actual sums paid by the appellant for rates and then charged the water rates upon the balance. It was held that in order to arrive at the "annual rent" upon which the water rate was to be computed, an allowance should be made in respect of "voids," i.e., houses lying vacant from time to time; and that the actual amount of the poor rates and other rates paid by the appellant was rightly deducted, but that the appellant was not entitled to deduct the full amount of the rates which an occupier if rated would have paid; nor the amount he paid for repairs and insurances (Smith v. Birmingham Corporation (1883), 11 Q. B. D. 195; 47 J. P. 645; and see Dobbs v. Grand Junction Waterworks Co., infra).

A water company by a special Act of 1826 was compellable to supply water to certain dwelling-houses in the metropolis for domestic purposes at certain rates per cent. per annum payable "according to the actual amount of the rent where the same can be ascertained, and where the same cannot be ascertained, according to the actual amount or annual value upon which the assessment to the poor's rate is computed in the parish or district where the house is situated." By a special Act of 1852, the company were compelled to furnish water "where the annual value of the dwelling-house or other place supplied shall not exceed £200 at a rate per cent. per annum on such value not exceeding £3." The occupier of one of the houses was lessee for a long term at a ground rent, and paid no rent except the ground rent:—Held, reversing the decision of the Court of Appeal, that whether the later Act repealed the provisions of the former Act or not the case must be dealt with under the later Act; and that the words "annual value" in the later Act meant "net annual value" as defined in the Parochial Assessments Act, 1836, s. 1:—Held also, that "annual value" had the same meaning in the earlier as in the later Act (Dobbs v. Grand Junction Waterworks Co. (1884), 9 App. Cas. 49; 48 J. P. 5). See also Northampton Corporation v. Ellen, [1904] 1 K. B. 299; 68 J. P. 197.

By the special Act of a water company it was provided that water should be supplied for domestic purposes by the company at a rate per cent. upon the annual value of the dwelling-house or other place supplied, that a supply of water for domestic purposes should not include a supply of water for, among other things, any trade or manufacture, or business requiring an extra supply of water, and that the company might furnish water for other than domestic purposes on such terms as might be agreed on between the company and the consumer. The company supplied water for domestic purposes to a house occupied as a licensed public house. The company contended that the annual value of the premises as a licensed public house should be taken as the basis of the water rate payable in respect of such supply, and that therefore the fact of the premises being licensed, and a premium which had been paid for the lease of the premises as a public house ought to be taken into consideration in fixing the value. The occupier contended that such water rate should be based upon the value of the premises for domestic purposes only. It was held that the contention of the company was correct (West Middlesex Waterworks Co. v. Coleman (1885), 14 Q. B. D. 529; 49 J. P. 341).

Section 68 of the Bristol Waterworks Act, 1862, enacts that the company shall furnish to every occupier of a private dwelling-house within their limits a sufficient supply of water for the domestic use of such occupier, at certain annual rents or rates, according to the "annual rack-rent or value of the premises so supplied," such supply (by s. 71) not to include, amongst other things, a supply of water "for watering gardens by means of a tap, tube, pipe, or other such like apparatus." And s. 32 of the Bristol Waterworks Amendment Act, 1865, enacts that "if any dispute shall arise as to the amount of the annual rent or value of any dwelling-house or premises supplied with water by the company, such dispute shall be decided by two justices: provided that the amount of the annual rack-rent or value to be fixed by such justices shall not be less than the gross sum assessed to the poor rate or less than the sum actually paid for such dwelling-house or premises." A dwelling-house and garden in the occupation of the owner were assessed to the poor rate as follows: "Gross estimated rental £240"; "Rateable value, £204." It was proved that the value of the house without the garden would be 10 per cent. less, and that the owner contracted to pay, and did pay £1 1*s.* annually for the watering by means of a pipe and a tap in the garden which surrounded the dwelling-house, and was occupied and assessed therewith:—Held, by MATHEW and SMITH, JJ., upon a case stated by the justices that the words "gross sum assessed to the poor rate," meant the "gross estimated rental," and not "rateable or net value"; and that the water rent was chargeable upon the gross estimated rental of "the premises," including the pleasure garden occupied with the house, and not merely the dwelling-house itself, the extra charge for the garden supply being for using a pipe and a tap (Bristol Waterworks Co. v. Uren (1885), 15 Q. B. D. 637; 49 J. P. 564). See Grand Junction Waterworks Co. v. Davies, post, p. 2198.

The owner of three cottages let them at weekly rents to separate tenants and paid all rates including water rates. By s. 32 of a special Act the water board were to supply water at the rates specified, that is to say, "where the annual rack-rent or value shall not exceed twenty pounds at a rate per cent. per annum not exceeding ten pounds." It was held that the owner was entitled to deduct the general district rate, the poor rate and the water rate from the gross rent of the cottages so as to arrive at the "annual rack-rent or value" on which the water rate was to be assessed (Wilkinson v. Bury Water Board (1905), 69 J. P. 214; 92 L. T. 417).

Where a dispute had arisen as to the amount of the water rate payable by an occupier of premises to a water company (whose special Act incorporated the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847), it was held that the determination of the annual value of the premises supplied, by two justices, under s. 68 of the Act of 1847, was a condition precedent to the right of the occupier to sue the company for cutting off the water, and for the amount alleged to have been paid in excess (Whiting v. East London Waterworks Co. (1884), 1 Cab. & El. 331).

A local waterworks Act empowered a company to distrain for water rates for an agreed amount. A later Act limited the rates to such sums as should be "reasonable." Under the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, which incorporates 8 & 9 Vict. c. 20, s. 140, water rates under £20 are to be recovered by means of a distress warrant issued by justices. A third Act of the company in 1852 incorporated the Waterworks Clauses Act, but expressly preserved the powers conferred by the former Acts. It was held that the right of the company to levy their own distress was kept alive by the saving clause in the Act of 1852, and that the distress by justices' warrant was additional to, and not in substitution for, the company's original remedy (Richards v. West Middlesex Waterworks Co. (1885), 15 Q. B. D. 660; 49 J. P. 631).

Although the statutory remedy provided by s. 68 of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, for the settlement by two justices of disputes as to the annual value of a tenement supplied by water, and the special remedy by penalties given by s. 43 against a company for withholding water, have not ousted the general jurisdiction to restrain the company by injunction from cutting off the supply of water pending proceedings for settling a dispute as to value, such injunction will not be granted on the application of an owner or occupier who will not undertake to commence proceedings with due speed before the justices under s. 68 (Hayward v. East London Waterworks Co. (1885), 28 Ch. D. 138; 49 J. P. 452).

Upon the hearing of a summons to enforce payment of a water rate, the justices have power under the above section to determine a dispute as to the annual value of the premises rated. It is not necessary to their jurisdiction before making an order for payment of the rate upon such summons that the dispute should have been previously determined in a separate proceeding before justices (Lea v. Abergavenny Improvement Commissioners (1886), 16 Q. B. D. 18; 50 J. P. 165).

Where water rates had been paid for a number of years without objection it was held that the excess which had been charged in respect of an annual value beyond that prescribed in the section could not be recovered back (Henderson v. Folkestone Waterworks Co. (1884), 1 T. L. R. 329).

So where water rate had been paid on gross value instead of net value in ignorance of the fact that the former was a wrong basis, it was held that the excess could not be recovered (Slater v. Burnley Corporation (1889), 53 J. P. 70). And see Slater v. Burnley Corporation (No. 2) (1889), 53 J. P. 535. And see Stanley v. Nuneaton Corporation (1913), 77 J. P. 349; 108 L. T. 986.

Where a water company was authorised by their special Act to charge at agreed rates for water supplied for purposes other than domestic, it was held that they were not by implication prohibited from entering into agreements for the supply of water for domestic purposes at agreed rates (Southwark and Vauxhall Waterworks Co. v. Dickenson (1888), 5 T. L. R. 251).

The Barnet Gas and Water Act, 1872 (with which is incorporated the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847), provides (inter alia): " Section 56. The company . . . shall furnish . . . a sufficient supply of water . . . at any rate, on the actual rack-rental of the house or part of a house or premises supplied if the same be let at rack-rent, and on the annual value if, and while, the same is not let at rack-rent, not exceeding " (so much) :—Held, that " the annual rack-rent " means the same as " the annual value," and does not mean " net annual value " (Stevens v. Barnet District Gas and Water Co. (1888), 57 L. J. M. C. 82 ; 52 J. P. 276).

By 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. cxiv., s. 8, the churchwardens of a parish were required to make a rate " on the full annual rent or value " of all houses rateable to the relief of the poor :—Held, that the full annual rent or value meant the full annual net value and that the rate could not be made on the gross estimated rental (Rose v. Watson, [1894] 2 Q. B. 90 ; 58 J. P. 589).

In determining the annual value of a residential tenement under s. 68 of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, for the purposes of water supply to the dwelling-house for domestic purposes only, it is not competent to justices to exclude a portion of the garden occupied and enjoyed with the dwelling-house. The section contemplates the valuation of the existing tenement as the owner and occupier choose to enjoy it (Grand Junction Waterworks Co. v. Davies, [1897] 2 Q. B. 209 ; 61 J. P. 484).

If a statute which authorises a water company to charge its consumers with a water rate is ambiguous with regard to the amount of the rate to be charged or the mode of assessing it, it must be construed in favour of the consumer and against the company (South Staffordshire Waterworks Co. v. Barrow (1897), 61 J. P. 661). But where a section of the special Act provided that the company should supply water at the yearly rates specified, namely, where the gross estimated rental of the premises should not exceed a certain amount, at a rate per cent. on the amount specified, it was held that the provision varied that in the text and that the rate must be calculated on the gross estimated rental (Woking Water and Gas Co. v. Parker, [1916] 1 K. B. 473 ; 80 J. P .188).

Where an owner was entitled by statute to a supply at a reduced rate by reason of his house standing on a particular estate, but he had for many years paid the full rate in ignorance that his house stood on that estate, he was held entitled to recover back the over-payments (Meadows v. Grand Junction Waterworks Co. (1905), 69 J. P. 255 ; 21 T. L. R. 538).

A water company, before the Education Act, 1902, came into operation supplied water by meter to the managers of a voluntary public elementary school for the non-domestic purposes of the school buildings, and continued to supply them after the Act of 1902 came into force. There was no written contract. The company continued, as they had done before the Act, to send the demand note for payment for the water supplied to the managers, who included the charges in their quarterly accounts of expenditure sent by them to the local education authority who paid the amount direct to the company. The company sent the receipts to the local education authority. The local education authority having made default in the payments, the company brought an action against them for water supplied. It was held by the Divisional Court that the local education authority had power to enter into a contract for the supply of water necessary for the maintenance of the school, and that there was evidence upon which the county court judge might properly find that they had in fact entered into such a contract with the company (Trowbridge Water Co. v. Wilts C. C., [1909] 1 K. B. 824 ; 73 J. P. 280). See also Northern Theatres Co. v. Shillito, [1925] 2 K. B. 100 ; 89 J. P. 101, and the cases of Metropolitan Water Board v. Baker (1910), 74 J. P. 337 ; 102 L. T. 536, and Metropolitan Water Board v. Phillips. [1913] A. C. 86 ; 77 J. P. 73, decided under the Metropolitan Water Board (Charges) Act, 1907, s. 8.

Where several houses are supplied by one pipe, each shall pay as if separately supplied.

69. When several houses or parts of houses in the separate occupation of several persons are supplied by one common pipe, the several owners or occupiers of such houses or parts of houses shall be liable to the payment of the same rates for the supply of water as they would have been liable to if each of such several houses or parts of houses had been supplied with water from the works of the undertakers by a separate pipe.

Rates to be paid quarterly in advance.

70. The rates shall be paid in advance (a) by equal quarterly payments in England . . . at Christmas Day, Lady Day, Midsummer Day, and Michaelmas Day, . . . and the first payment shall be made at the time when the pipe by which the water is supplied is made to communicate with the pipes of the undertakers, or at the time when the agreement to take water from the undertakers is made (b).

(a) Therefore no demand is necessary before proceedings for recovery (East London Waterworks Co. v. Kyffin, [1895] 1 Q. B. 55; 59 J. P. 405). But see, per ALVERSTONE, L.C.J., in Elliott v. Russell, [1902] 2 K. B., at p. 754; 67 J. P. 158.

(b) Words relating to Scotland and Ireland only are omitted from this section.

Note to Section 70.

Parties giving notice to discontinue use of water, or removing, to pay to the next quarter day.

71. The occupier of any dwelling-house or part of a dwelling-house liable to the payment of any water rate who shall give notice of his intention to discontinue the use of the water supplied by the undertakers, or who shall remove from his dwelling between any two quarterly days of payment, shall pay the water rate in respect of such dwelling-house or part of a dwelling-house for the quarter ending on the quarterly day of payment next after his quitting the same or giving such notice.

Owners of houses not exceeding £10 rent to be liable to water rates.

72. The owners of all dwelling-houses or parts of dwelling-houses occupied as separate tenements, the annual value of which houses or tenements shall not exceed the sum of ten pounds, shall be liable to the payment of the rates instead of the occupiers thereof; and the powers and provisions herein or in the special Act contained for the recovery of rates from occupiers shall be construed to apply to the owners of such houses and tenements (a); and the person receiving the rents of any such house or tenement as aforesaid from the occupier thereof, on his own account, or as agent or receiver for any person interested therein, shall be deemed the owner of such house or tenement (b).

(a) The respondents, relying on s. 58 of their private Act (15 & 16 Vict. c. clviii.), which extended the provisions of s. 72 of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, to houses not exceeding the annual value of £20, claimed water rates from the appellants, as owners of certain houses under the annual value of £20 each, for two quarters, during the whole of which time such houses were unoccupied:—Held, that an owner's liability for rates under s. 72 of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, ceases on the quarterly day of payment next after the house has become unoccupied, and that as s. 58 of the respondents' private Act merely extended the provisions of that section to houses not exceeding the annual value of £20, the respondents were not entitled to recover (British Empire Mutual Life Assurance Co. v. Southwark and Vauxhall Water Co. (1888), 52 J. P. 758; 59 L. T. 321). When a house is unoccupied at the beginning of a quarter, and becomes occupied in the course of that quarter, the water rate is payable only for that portion of the quarter during which the house is occupied, although the company had no notice of the non-occupation, and continued to supply water (East London Waterworks Co. v. Foulkes, [1894] 1 Q. B. 819; 58 J. P. 384). Where upon adjudication the trustee in bankruptcy takes possession of the debtor's premises, and carries on therein the business with a view to selling it as a going concern, he is in the position of an "incoming tenant" within s. 48 of the Metropolis Water Act, 1871, and is not liable for arrears of water rate left unpaid by the debtor; and if he has paid such arrears under protest he is entitled to recover them back (Re Flack, Ex parte Berry, [1900] 2 Q. B. 32).

It is sufficient to prove that the rateable value as settled by the local authority does not exceed the maximum sum under which the owner is liable (Metropolitan Water Board v. Streeton (1910), 74 J. P. 180; 102 L. T. 220).

(b) Where the premises were mortgaged and a receiver was appointed, the mortgagor appointed another person to collect the rents. The collector handed over the rents intact, at first to the mortgagor and subsequently to the receiver. It was held that the collector and not the receiver was the person liable under a section of a special Act substantially identical with the text, to pay the water rate (Metropolitan Water Board v. Brooks, [1911] 1 K. B. 289; 75 J. P. 41).

Sums paid by owner recoverable as rent from tenant.

73. Provided always, that when any owner shall pay any such rate in respect of any such dwelling-house or part of a dwelling-house which shall be in the occupation of any tenant under any lease or agreement made prior to the passing of the special Act, such tenant shall repay to the owner all sums which shall be so by him paid during the continuance of such lease, unless it have been agreed that the owner shall pay the water rates in respect of such dwelling-house or part of a dwelling-house (a); and every such sum of money payable by the tenant to the owner, under the provision hereinbefore contained, may be recovered, if the same be not paid upon demand, as arrears of rent could be recovered from the occupier by the said owner.

Note to Section 73.

(a) Under a covenant by a lessor to pay all water rates imposed or assessed upon the premises, or on the lessor or lessee in respect thereof, the lessor is not bound to pay for water supplied to the lessee for trade purposes (Re Floyd, Floyd v. Lyons & Co., [1897] 1 Ch. 633). But under a covenant to pay all rates and taxes payable in respect of the demised premises a lessor is bound to pay water rate for water supplied for domestic purposes (Bourne and Tant v. Salmon and Gluckstein, [1907] 1 Ch. 616 ; 71 J. P. 329 ; Drieselman v. Winstanley (1909), 53 Sol. Jo. 631).

If rates are not paid, water may be cut off, and rates and expenses recovered.

74. If any person supplied with water by the undertakers, or liable (a) as herein or in the special Act provided to pay the water rate, neglect to pay such water rate at any of the said times of payment thereof, the undertakers may stop the water from flowing into the premises in respect of which such rate is payable, by cutting off the pipe to such premises, or by such means as the undertakers shall think fit, and may recover the rate due from such person, if less than twenty pounds, with the expenses of cutting off the water, and costs of recovering the rate, in the same manner as any damages for the recovery of which no special provision is made are recoverable by this or the special Act ; or if the rate so due amount to twenty pounds or upwards, the undertakers may recover the same, with the expenses of cutting off the water, by action in any court of competent jurisdiction (b).

(a) I.e., liable at the time the water rate became due. Provided that there was at that date an occupier other than the owner and that the owner and not the occupier was liable for the payment of the rate, s. 4 of the Water Companies (Regulation of Powers) Act, 1887, post, p. 2489, prohibits the water company from cutting off the supply for non-payment of the rate even after the occupier has given up possession and the premises have become vacant (Metropolitan Water Board v. Bibbey, [1911] 2 K. B. 74 ; 75 J. P. 322).

(b) See also 26 & 27 Vict. c. 93, s. 21, post, p. 2269. See Sheffield Waterworks Co. v. Wilkinson, ante, p. 2192. With reference to the particular mode of recovering the rates here prescribed, it may be stated that damages not specially provided for are by s. 85 recoverable under the sections of the Railways Clauses Act, 1845, ante, p. 2139. In such case the claim of a water company for arrears of rates is a complaint within s. 11 of the S. J. A., 1848, and the summons must be issued within six months from the date when the rate was due and demanded (East London Waterworks Co. v. Charles, [1894] 2 Q. B. 730 ; see, per WILLS, J., in Elliott v. Russell, [1902] 2 K. B., at p. 755 ; 67 J. P. 158). The limitation of six months imposed in respect of summary proceedings does not apply to proceedings in the county court when both remedies are open to the company (Metropolitan Water Board v. Bunn, [1913] 3 K. B. 181 ; 77 J. P. 353). The rates being payable quarterly in advance no demand is necessary (East London Waterworks Co. v. Kyffin, ante, p. 2199 ; but see, per ALVERSTONE, L.C.J., in Elliott v. Russell, [1902] 2 K. B., at 754 ; 67 J. P. 158). Water rates made by an urban authority will, however, be recoverable by summary proceedings under s. 256 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 562.

See, as to the right to cut off the water when the rates are payable by the owner, 50 & 51 Vict. c. 21, s. 4, and the notes thereto, post, p. 2489.

It is not a condition precedent to the right to recover the rate that the power of cutting off the water should first have been exercised (R. v. Hutton, [1907] 2 K. B. 578 ; 71 J. P. 424.

As to the discretion of the justices in respect of costs, see Ruabon Water Co. v. Evans (1906), 22 T. L. R. 541.

THE TOWNS IMPROVEMENT CLAUSES ACT, 1847.

(10 & 11 VICT. c. 34) (a).

An Act for consolidating in one Act certain Provisions usually contained in Acts for Paving, Draining, Cleansing, Lighting, and Improving Towns.

[21st June, 1847.]

Incorporation of this Act with special Act.

[1.] This Act shall extend only to such towns or districts in England or Ireland as shall be comprised in any Act of Parliament hereafter to be passed which shall declare that this Act shall be incorporated therewith ; and all the clauses of this Act, save so far as they shall be expressly varied or excepted by any such Act, shall apply to the town or district which shall be comprised in such Act, and to the commissioners appointed for improving and regulating the same, so far as such clauses shall be applicable thereto respectively, and shall, with the clauses of every other Act which shall be incorporated therewith, form part of such Act, and be construed therewith as forming one Act.

Interpretation.

And with respect to the construction of this Act, whether incorporated in whole or in part with any other Act, and of any Act incorporated therewith, be it enacted as follows:

"The special Act."

2. The expression "the special Act" used in this Act shall be construed to mean any Act which shall be hereafter passed for the improvement or regulation of any town or district, or of any class of towns or districts, defined or comprised therein, and with which this Act shall be incorporated; and the word "prescribed" used in this Act in reference to any matter herein stated shall be construed to refer to such matter as the same shall be prescribed or provided for in the special Act, and the sentence in which such word shall occur shall be construed as if instead of the word "prescribed" the expression "prescribed for that purpose in the special Act" had been used; and the expression "the commissioners" shall mean the commissioners, trustees, or other persons or body corporate intrusted by the special Act with powers of executing the purposes thereof.

"Prescribed."

"The commissioners."

Interpretations in this and the special Act.

3. The following words and expressions in both this and the special Act, and any Act incorporated therewith, shall have the meanings hereby assigned to them, unless there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction; (that is to say,)

Number. — Words importing the singular number shall include the plural number, and words importing the plural number shall include the singular number:

Gender. — Words importing the masculine gender shall include females:

"Person." — The word "person" shall include a corporation, whether aggregate or sole:

"Lands." — The word "lands" shall include messuages, lands, tenements, and hereditaments, of any tenure:

"Street." — The word "street" shall extend to and include any road, square, court, alley, and thoroughfare, within the limits of the special Act:

"Month." — The word "month" shall mean calendar month:

"Superior courts." — The expression "superior courts" shall mean her Majesty's superior courts of record at Westminster . . .

"Oath." — The word "oath" shall include affirmation in the case of Quakers, and any declaration lawfully substituted for an oath in the case of any other persons allowed by law to make a declaration instead of taking an oath:

"County." — The word "county" shall include riding or other division of a county having a separate commission of the peace, and shall also include county of a city or county of a town:

"Justice." — The word "justice" shall mean justice of the peace acting for the place where the matter requiring the cognizance of any such justice arises; and where any matter is authorised or required to be done by two justices, the expression "two justices" shall be understood to mean two or more justices met and acting together:

"Two justices."

"Quarter sessions." — The expression "quarter sessions" shall mean quarter sessions as defined in the special Act, and if such expression be not there defined shall mean the court of general or quarter sessions of the peace which shall be held in or at the place nearest to the district in which the matter arises requiring the cognizance of any such court, and having jurisdiction over such district :

"Owner." The word "owner" used with reference to any lands or buildings in respect of which any work is required to be done, or any rate to be paid, under this or the special Act shall mean the person for the time being entitled to receive, or who, if such lands or buildings were let to a tenant at rack-rent, would be entitled to receive, the rack-rent from the occupier thereof :

"Cattle." The word "cattle" shall include horses, asses, mules, sheep, goats, and swine.

Citing the Act.

And with respect to citing this Act or any part thereof, be it enacted as follows :

Short title of this Act.

4. In citing this Act in other Acts of Parliament, and in legal instruments, it shall be enough to use the expression "The Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847."

Form in which portions of this Act may be incorporated with other Acts.

5. For the purposes of incorporating part only of this Act with any Act hereafter to be passed, it shall be enough to describe the clauses of this Act with respect to any matter in the words introductory to the enactment with respect to such matter, and to enact that the clauses so described, or that this Act, with the exception of the clauses so described, shall be incorporated with such Act; and thereupon all the clauses of this Act so incorporated shall, save so far as they are expressly varied or excepted by such Act, form part of such Act, and such Act shall be construed as if such clauses were set forth therein with reference to the matter to which such Act relates.

* * * * * *

Naming streets.

And with respect to naming the streets and numbering the houses, be it enacted as follows (a) :

(a) These clauses are incorporated with the P. H. A., 1875, by s. 160, ante, p. 381. See also notes to that section. Where s. 19 of the P. H. A., 1925, ante, p. 1558, has been adopted the incorporation of these clauses by s. 160 of the P. H. A., 1875, ceases to have effect in so far as it relates to the naming of the streets (s. 19 (3), P. H. A., 1925). The provisions with respect to the numbering of houses still remain operative.

Houses to be numbered and streets named.

64. The commissioners shall from time to time cause the houses and buildings in all or any of the streets to be marked with numbers as they think fit, and shall cause to be put up or painted on a conspicuous part of some house, building, or place, at or near each end, corner, or entrance of every such street, the name by which such street is to be known (a); and every person who destroys, pulls down, or defaces any such number or name, or puts up any number or name different from the number or name put up by the commissioners, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for every such offence (b).

(a) This gives the local authority no power to change the names of streets, and if the proposed change is likely to be injurious to the owners or occupiers of houses in the street, the local authority may be restrained from making it (Anderson v. Dublin Corporation (1884), 15 L. R. Ir. 510). But although the local authority have approved of plans for a new street, giving it a name, they may afterwards, when the street is actually laid out, give it another name (Collins v. Hornsey U. D. C., [1901] 2 K. B. 180 ; 65 J. P. 606). See also on the subject of altering the names of streets, s. 21 of the P. H. A., 1907, ante, p. 1116, and s. 18 of the P. H. A., 1925, ante, p. 1557, which when adopted supersedes s. 21 of the 1907 Act.

It is not a violation of any legal right of the owner of a house for the owner of another house to call it by the same name. There is no legal right to the exclusive use of any particular name for a particular house (Day v. Brownrigg (1879), 10 Ch. D. 294).

(b) As to the recovery of this penalty, see s. 316 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 655. The numbers must be provided at the expense of the occupiers, and there is no distinct legal authority for charging them to the rates.

Numbers of houses to be renewed by occupiers.

65. The occupiers of houses and other buildings in the streets shall mark their houses with such numbers as the commissioners approve of, and shall renew such numbers as often as they become obliterated or defaced; and every such occupier who fails, within one week after notice for that purpose from the commissioners, to mark his house with a number approved of by the commissioners, or to renew such number when obliterated, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings, and the commissioners shall cause such numbers to be marked or to be renewed, as the case may require, and the expense thereof shall be repaid to them by such occupier, and shall be recoverable as damages (a).

Improving streets.

And with respect to improving the line of the streets, and removing obstructions, be it enacted as follows (a):

(a) These clauses are incorporated with the P. H. A., 1875, by s. 160, ante, p. 381. See also notes to that section. See also the P. H. (Buildings in Streets) A., 1888, ante, p. 826, the P. H. A., 1925, s. 33, ante, p. 1576, and the Roads Improvement Act, 1925, s. 5, ante, p. 1542.

Houses may be set forward for improving line of street.

66. The commissioners may allow, upon such terms as they think fit, any building within the limits of the special Act to be set forward, for improving the line of the street in which such building, or any building adjacent thereto, is situated (a).

(a) The word street is here used in its popular acceptation of a line of buildings, and does not include a highway generally. This section gives no power to divert a highway, not being a street; that can only be done under the Highway Acts (R. v. Platts (1880), 49 L. J. Q. B. 848; 44 J. P. 765); or under Inclosure Acts, as in Hornby v. Sylvester (1888), 20 Q. B. D. 797; 52 J. P. 468; or by an improvement or reconstruction scheme under the Housing Act, 1925, s. 38 (1) (d), ante, p. 1413. See also s. 155 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 343, and note thereto.

Commissioners may purchase lands for widening streets, etc. and sell the parts not wanted.

67. The commissioners may agree with the owners of any lands within the limits of the special Act for the absolute purchase thereof, for the purpose of widening, enlarging, or otherwise improving any of the streets, and they shall resell any parts of the land so purchased which shall not be wanted for the enlargement of the street (a).

(a) A similar power is conferred upon urban authorities by s. 154 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 340, as interpreted by s. 83 of the P. H. A., 1925, ante, p. 1627. See also s. 175 of that Act as to the disposal of surplus lands, ante, p. 431.

Houses projecting beyond line of street, when taken down, to be set back.

68. When any house or building, any part of which projects beyond the regular line of the street (a), or beyond the front of the house or building on either side thereof, has been taken down in order to be rebuilt or altered, the commissioners may require the same to be set backwards to or towards the line of the street, or the line of the adjoining houses or buildings, in such manner as the commissioners direct, for the improvement of such street: Provided always, that the commissioners shall make full compensation to the owner of any such house or building for any damage he thereby sustains (b).

As to the right of an adjoining owner to sue in respect of a building erected contrary to this section, see Brooks v. Terry (1888), 4 T. L. R. 678.

Note to Section 68.

As to the determination of the general line of buildings in the metropolis, see St. George, Hanover Square v. Sparrow (1864), 16 C. B. (N.S.) 209; Bauman v. St. Pancras Vestry (1867), L. (b) See also the P. H. A., 1875, s. 155, ante, p. 343, and the notes thereto.

Future projections of houses, etc. to be removed on notice.

69. The commissioners may give notice to the occupier (a) of any house or building to remove or alter any porch, shed, projecting window, step, cellar, cellar door or window, sign, sign post, sign iron, showboard, window shutter, wall, gate, or fence, or any other obstruction or projection erected or placed, after the passing of the special Act, against or in front of any house or building within the limits of the special Act, and which is an obstruction to the safe and convenient passage along any street; and such occupier shall, within fourteen days after the service of such notice upon him, remove such obstruction, or alter the same in such manner as shall have been directed by the commissioners, and in default thereof shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings; and the commissioners in such case may remove such obstruction or projection, and the expense of such removal shall be paid by the occupier so making default, and shall be recoverable as damages: Provided always, that, except in the case in which such obstructions or projections were made or put up by the occupier, such occupier shall be entitled to deduct the expense of removing the same from the rent payable by him to the owner of the house or building (b).

(a) Or owner. See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 160, ante, p. 381.

The local authority are not obliged to give notice to the owner or occupier before passing a resolution to send him notice to remove a projection, but if he objects to their order, his proper course is to apply to the local authority to be heard and lay his objections before them (Att.-Gen. v. Hooper, [1893] 3 Ch. 483; 57 J. P. 564).

(b) Any projection erected or placed against or in front of any house or building which by reason of being insecurely fixed or of defective construction or otherwise is a source of danger to persons lawfully using a street in an urban district, where s. 24 of the P. H. A., 1925, has been adopted, is to be deemed to be an obstruction to the safe and convenient passage along the street for the purposes of this and the next section (s. 24, P. H. A., 1925, ante, p. 1564). As to area railings, see Bouverie v. Miles (1830), 1 B. & Ad. 38; Barker v. Herbert, infra; as to a projecting shop front, see R. v. Ingham (1852), 17 Q. B. 884. As to a projecting porch, see Gordon v. St. Mary Abbotts Vestry, [1894] 2 Q. B. 742; Coburg Hotel Co. v. London C. C. (1899), 63 J. P. 805; 81 L. T. 450; as to a show-case on the footway, Openshaw v. Pickering (1913), 77 J. P. 27. A corresponding section of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, was held not to justify the removal of a shed and seats erected by a publican upon a piece of ground between the footway and the roadway, the intervening space being found not to be part of the street, and the shed and seats not being against or in front of any house (Le Neve v. Mile End Old Town Vestry, ante, p. 20). And see Hoare v. Lewisham Borough Council (1903), 67 J. P. 20; 87 L. T. 464. A shopkeeper placed goods on the pavement in front of his shop for sale, and was summoned under s. 28 of the Towns Police Clauses Act, 1847. He contended that he bona fide claimed the right to put the goods there, and the justices considered that their jurisdiction was ousted, but stated a case:—Held, that the justices ought to determine whether the land on which the goods were placed was part of the highway or not; and that unless the defendant established a restricted dedication no question as to a claim of right arose (Leicester Urban Sanitary Authority v. Holland (1888), 57 L. J. M. C. 75; 52 J. P. 788). Where a question arises as to whether the portion of the highway obstructed had ever been dedicated, the justices must determine this point and their jurisdiction is not ousted (Williams v. Deptford U. D. C. (1924), 41 T. L. R. 47). As to proof of dedication of embayments adjoining the foot pavement, see Piggott v. Goldstraw (1901), 65 J. P. 259. As to a dedication of a street subject to existing obstructions or projections, see Fisher v. Prowse; Cooper v. Walker (1862), 26 J. P. 613; 2 B. & S. 770, where such dedication was held to be an answer in actions for accidents caused by cellar flaps and projecting doorsteps. And see Brackley v. Midland Rail. Co. (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1596; 80 J. P. 369. It is a good defence that the footway was dedicated to the public subject to the right of the defendant to commit the acts of obstruction complained of, and such defence if raised bonâ fide ousts the jurisdiction of the justices. The evidence, however, to establish such a defence should be of a cogent character (R. (Christie) v. Londonderry JJ., [1902] 2 I. R. 266). And see R. (Kennedy) v. Cork County JJ. (1911), 45 Ir. L. T. 217. There may be a dedication subject to the right to erect and maintain gates (Att.-Gen. v. Meyrick (1915), 79 J. P. 515). As to projections existing before the passing of the local Act, see Wilson v. Cunliffe (1874), 38 J. P. 231; 29 L. T. 913; Whittaker v. Rhodes (1881), 46 J. P. 182. As to the liability of the occupier for accidents caused by projections, see Tarry v. Ashton (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 314; 40 J. P. 439; Watson v. Ellis (1884), 1 T. L. R. 317, where the plaintiff tripped over a carpet laid across a pavement to a carriage; De Tyron v. Waring (1884), 1 T. L. R. 414; Hoare v. Kearley (1884), 1 T. L. R. 426; Strube v. Southwark and Vauxhall Waterworks Co. (1889), 53 J. P. 424; 5 T. L. R. 638, where the plaintiff fell in consequence of having put his staff into a stop-cock box negligently left uncovered in the road; Braithwaite v. Watson (1888), 5 T. L. R. 331, where the plaintiff was injured by reason of a coal-cellar plate in the pavement being insecurely fastened; Stiefsohn v. Brooke (1889), 53 J. P. 790; 5 T. L. R. 684, where the plaintiff was injured by a lift inside an aperture adjoining the highway; Barker v. Herbert, [1911] 2 K. B. 633; 75 J. P. 481, where a child was injured when climbing on defective railings. As to overhead wires, see Wandsworth Board of Works v. United Telephone Co. (1884), 13 Q. B. D. 904; 48 J. P. 676.

Note to Section 69.

It will be for the magistrate to decide whether the thing complained of is an obstruction to the passage. See Gabriel v. St. James's, Westminster (1859), 23 J. P. 372, where the court intimated that this could be decided without calling a person to prove he had been actually obstructed. This was also decided in Read v. Perrett (1876), 1 Ex. D. 349; 41 J. P. 135. But see Hill v. Somerset (1887), 51 J. P. 356. A projection consisting of an oriel window, the lowest part of which is fifteen feet above the pavement, is not an obstruction. See Goldstraw v. Duckworth (1880), 5 Q. B. D. 275; 44 J. P. 410. In the Scotch case of McMillan v. Bennett (1895), 22 Ct. of Sess. Cas. (4th ser.) (J.C.) 23, the appellant, a bill poster, was convicted under s. 381 of the Burgh Police (Scotland) Act, 1892, for affixing a projecting advertising board to a building without the consent of the burgh commissioners. The building in question was the back wall of a workshop, on which the appellant fixed a board or wooden lining on which to post his bills, that board being about 102 feet long, 7 feet 6 inches high, and (taking into account the straps to which the board was affixed) it projected from the wall to the extent of 1¾ inches. Section 159 of the Act was in much the same terms as this section:—Held, following Goldstraw v. Duckworth, ante, that it was not a projecting advertising board in the sense of the statute, which was intended to strike only at such projections as constituted an obstruction to the free passage of the street. See also Hull v. London C. C., [1901] 1 K. B. 580; 65 J. P. 309; Winsborrow v. London Joint Stock Bank (1903), 67 J. P. 289; 88 L. T. 803; London C. C. v. Illuminated Advertisements Co., [1904] 2 K. B. 886; 68 J. P. 445; London C. C. v. Schewzik, [1905] 2 K. B. 695; 69 J. P. 409; London C. C. v. Hancock and James, [1907] 2 K. B. 45; 71 J. P. 268; R. v. Denman (1907), 71 J. P. 279; 96 L. T. 672.

Apart from statute there may be a legal easement to have a projection such as a signboard affixed to the wall of an adjoining house. See Moody v. Steggles (1879), 12 Ch. D. 261.

Commissioners may cause existing projections to be removed, on giving notice and making compensation.

70. If any such obstructions or projections were erected or placed against or in front of any house or building in any such street before the passing of the special Act, the commissioners may cause the same to be removed or altered as they think fit (a); provided that they give notice of such intended removal or alteration to the occupier (b) of the house or building against or in front of which such obstruction or projection shall be thirty days before such alteration or removal is begun, and, if such obstructions or projections shall have been lawfully made, they shall make reasonable compensation to every person who suffers damage by such removal or alteration.

(b) Or owner. See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 160, ante, p. 381. As to the liability of the owner of the premises and of the local authority for injuries caused by a gate opening outwards, see Evans v. Edinburgh Corporation, [1916] 2 A. C. 45.

Section 71.

Doors, etc. in future not to be made to open outwards, except when so allowed in case of public buildings.

71. All doors, gates, and bars put up after the passing of the special Act within the limits thereof, and which open upon any street, shall be hung or placed so as not to open outwards, except when, in the case of public buildings, the commissioners allow such doors, gates, or bars to be otherwise hung or placed; and if, except as aforesaid, any such door, gate, or bar be hung or placed so as to open outwards on any street, the occupier (a) of such house, building, yard, or land shall, within eight days after notice from the commissioners to that effect, cause the same to be altered so as not to open outwards; and in case he neglect so to do, the commissioners may make such alteration, and the expenses of such alteration shall be paid to the commissioners by such occupier (a), and shall be recoverable from him as damages (b), and he shall, in addition, be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

(b) See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 160, ante, p. 381, as to the recovery of these costs from the owner, and the deduction of them from the rent, as in the case of private improvement rates.

Existing doors, etc. opening outwards may be altered.

72. If any such door, gate, or bar was before the passing of the special Act hung so as to open outwards upon any street, the commissioners may alter the same, so that no part thereof when open shall project over any public way.

Coverings for cellar doors to be made by occupiers.

73. When any opening is made in any pavement or footpath within the limits of the special Act, as an entrance to any vault or cellar, a door or covering shall be made by the occupier (a) of such vault or cellar, of iron or such other materials, and in such manner as the commissioners direct, and such door or covering shall from time to time be kept in good repair by the occupier of such vault or cellar; and if such occupier do not within a reasonable time make such door or covering, or if he make any such door or covering contrary to the directions of the commissioners, or if he do not keep the same when properly made in good repair, he shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

Water spouts to be affixed to houses or buildings.

74. The occupier (a) of every house or building in, adjoining, or near to any street shall, within seven days next after service of an order of the commissioners for that purpose, put up and keep in good condition a shoot or trough of the whole length of such house or building, and shall connect the same either with a similar shoot on the adjoining house or with a pipe or trunk to be fixed to the front or side of such building from the roof to the ground, to carry the water from the roof thereof, in such manner that the water from such house, or any portico or projection therefrom, shall not fall upon the persons passing along the street, or flow over the footpath; and in default of compliance with any such order within the period aforesaid, such occupier shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for every day that he shall so make default (b).

(a) Or owner. See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 160, ante, p. 381.

(b) Further powers, which are in addition to those conferred by this section, may be obtained by the adoption of s. 21 of the P. H. A., 1925, ante, p. 1560.

Ruinous or dangerous buildings.

And with respect to ruinous or dangerous buildings (a), be it enacted as follows:

(a) As to fencing lands adjoining streets, which lands are, owing to the absence or inadequate repair of fences, a source of danger to passengers, see ss. 30 and 31 of the P. H. A., 1907, ante, p. 1122. And as to the securing of dangerous ground or cliffs under a local Act, see Gaby v. Palmer (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1240; 80 J. P. 212.

Ruinous or dangerous buildings to be taken down or secured by owners, etc.

75. If any building or wall, or anything affixed thereon, within the limits of the special Act, be deemed by the surveyor of the commissioners to be in a ruinous state, and dangerous to passengers (a) or to the occupiers of the neighbouring buildings, such surveyor shall immediately cause a proper hoard or fence to be put up for the protection of passengers (b), and shall cause notice in writing to be given to the owner (c) of such building or wall, if he be known and resident within the said limits, and shall also cause such notice to be put on the door or other conspicuous part of the said premises, or otherwise to be given to the occupier thereof, if any, requiring such owner or occupier forthwith to take down, secure, or repair such building, wall, or other thing, as the case shall require; and if such owner or occupier do not begin to repair, take down, or secure such building, wall, or other thing within the space of three days after any such notice has been so given or put up as aforesaid, and complete such repairs, or taking down or securing, as speedily as the nature of the case will admit, the said surveyor may make complaint thereof before two justices (d), and it shall be lawful for such justices to order the owner, or in his default the occupier (if any), of such building, wall, or other thing, to take down, rebuild, repair, or otherwise secure, to the satisfaction of such surveyor, the same, or such part thereof as appears to them to be in a dangerous state (e), within the time to be fixed by such justices; and in case the same be not taken down, repaired, rebuilt, or otherwise secured within the time so limited, or if no owner or occupier can be found on whom to serve such order, the commissioners shall with all convenient speed cause all or so much of such building, wall, or other thing as shall be in a ruinous condition, and dangerous as aforesaid, to be taken down, repaired, rebuilt, or otherwise secured, in such manner as shall be requisite; and all the expenses (f) of putting up every such fence, and of taking down, repairing, rebuilding, or securing such building, wall, or other thing, shall be paid by the owner thereof.

(a) The similar provisions of s. 73 of the Metropolitan Building Act, 1855, applied to any dangerous structure, notwithstanding that it did not adjoin a public highway (London C. C. or R. v. Herring, [1894] 2 Q. B. 522; 58 J. P. 721). That decision was followed in relation to a structure outside the metropolis, in Mellor v. Warden (1896), 40 Sol. J. 567. The liability of an owner is not affected by the fact that the London County Council has temporarily shored up the building in pursuance of the London Building Act, 1894, s. 106. In order that a house may be dangerous within the meaning of ss. 103, 106 and 107 (1) of that Act, it is not necessary that it should be dangerous to inmates or to the public passing along the highway. It is sufficient if there is an apprehension of danger or injury to adjoining houses or to their inhabitants, or even to trespassers (London C. C. v. Jones, [1912] 2 K. B. 504; 76 J. P. 293).

(b) The erection of a hoard is not a condition precedent to the institution of proceedings against the owner (R. v. Tyrone JJ., [1928] N. I. 103).

(c) See R. v. Lee (1878), 4 Q. B. D. 75; 43 J. P. 302, where it was held that the incumbent of a church was not the owner so as to render him liable in respect of its dangerous condition. The owner may remain liable under this section though a notice has been served upon him for the purpose of compulsorily taking his buildings under the Artizans and Labourers Dwellings Improvement Act, 1875 (repealed and replaced by the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1890, see now Part II. of the Housing Act, 1925) (Barnet v. Metropolitan Board of Works (1882), 46 J. P. 469; 46 L. T. 384). Although the justices have jurisdiction to inquire who is the owner of the wall in order to ascertain whether the proper notices have been given, that inquiry is one preliminary to the exercise of their jurisdiction, and their decision as to ownership is not conclusive in a subsequent proceeding to recover expenses (R. (Ahern) v. Cork Recorder, [1913] 2 I. R. 35).

(d) Compare the provisions of a local Act in Cheetham v. Manchester Corporation (1875), 39 J. P. 343. The section implies that on the surveyor's complaint a summons must issue.

(e) An order requiring an owner to "take down, rebuild and repair" a wall "to the satisfaction of" the surveyor is not bad for uncertainty (R. v. Tyrone JJ., [1928] N. I. 103).

(f) The expenses are recoverable, although the matter has never been actually before the local authority but has been entirely in the hands of their surveyor by their general directions to him (London C. C. v. Hobbis (1897), 61 J. P. 85; 75 L. T. 687). As to the expenses which may be recovered, see Debenham v. Metropolitan Board of Works (1881), 6 Q. B. D. 112; 45 J. P. 190. They include the expenses of reinstating the pavement (Crisp v. London C. C., [1899] 1 Q. B. 720; 63 J. P. 484). As between tenant for life of leaseholds and remainderman these expenses are chargeable against income (Re Copland's Settlement, Johns v. Carden, [1900] 1 Ch. 326; and see Re Willis, Willis v. Willis, [1902]

Note to Section 75.

1 Ch. 15). These expenses are "outgoings" within the meaning of a contract for sale (Tubbs v. Wynne, [1897] 1 Q. B. 74). With regard to the liability as between vendor and purchaser of leaseholds, see Re Highett and Bird's Contract, [1903] 1 Ch. 287. Where an owner was required to do work under this section, and he applied to the tenant for leave to enter, who vacated her premises and intimated an intention of surrendering them, and the owner accepted the key and executed the works, thereby rendering occupation impossible, it was held there had been an acceptance of the surrender (Smith v. Roberts, Times, April 13th, 1892). As to the tenant's liability under an ordinary covenant to repair, see Lister v. Lane, [1893] 2 Q. B. 212; 57 J. P. 725; Wright v. Lawson (1904), 68 J. P. 34.

Levy of expenses by distress.

76. If such owner can be found within the limits of the special Act, and if, on demand of the expenses aforesaid, he neglect or refuse to pay the same, then such expenses may be levied by distress, and any justice may issue his warrant accordingly (a).

(a) These expenses must be recovered within six months from the date of demand. See the cases in the notes to s. 252 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 556. But it is not necessary that three months should elapse between the date of the demand and the commencement of the proceedings for the recovery of the expenses, because s. 257 of the P. H. A., 1875, only applies in cases of apportionment (Usk U. D. C. v. Mortimer (1904), 68 J. P. 38; 90 L. T. 25).

If owner cannot be found within the limits, or distress cannot be made, commissioners may take the house or ground.

8 & 9 Vict. c. 18.

77. If such owner cannot be found within the said limits, or sufficient distress of his goods and chattels within the said limits cannot be made, the commissioners, after giving twenty-eight days notice of their intention to do so, by posting a printed or written notice in a conspicuous place on such building or on the land whereon such building stood, may take such building or land, provided that such expenses be not paid or tendered to them within the said twenty-eight days, making compensation to the owner of such building or land in the manner provided by the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (a), in the case of lands taken otherwise than with the consent of the owners and occupiers thereof, and the commissioners shall be entitled to deduct out of such compensation the amount of the expenses aforesaid, and may thereupon sell or otherwise dispose of the said building or land for the purposes of this Act.

Commissioners may sell the materials for payment of expenses, restoring to the owner the overplus arising from the sale.

78. If any such house or building as aforesaid, or any part of the same, be pulled down by virtue of the powers aforesaid, the commissioners may sell the materials thereof, or so much of the same as shall be pulled down, and apply the proceeds of such sale in payment of the expenses incurred in respect of such house or building; and the commissioners shall restore any overplus arising from such sale to the owner of such house or building, on demand; nevertheless, the commissioners, although they sell such materials for the purposes aforesaid, shall have the same remedies for compelling the payment of so much of the said expenses as may remain due after the application of the proceeds of such sale as are hereinbefore given to them for compelling the payment of the whole of the said expenses.

Precautions during repairs.

And with respect to precautions during the construction and repair of the sewers, streets, and houses, be it enacted as follows:

Houses to be protected, and bars to be erected across streets, during repairs.

79. The commissioners shall, during the construction or repair of any of the streets vested in them, and during the construction or repair of any sewers or drains, take proper precaution for guarding against accident, by shoreing-up and protecting the adjoining houses, and shall cause such bars or chains to be fixed across or in any of the streets, to prevent the passage of carriages and horses while such works are carried on, as to them shall seem proper; and the commissioners shall cause any sewer or drain or other works, during the construction or repair thereof by them, to be lighted and guarded during the night, so as to prevent accidents; and every person who takes down, alters, or removes any of the said bars or chains, or extinguishes any light, without the authority or consent of the commissioners shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds (a).

Hoards to be set up during repairs, with footways and lights.

80. Every person intending to build or take down any building within the limits of the special Act, or to cause the same to be so done, or to alter or repair the outward part of any such building, or to cause the same to be so done, where any street or footway will be obstructed or rendered inconvenient by means of such work, shall before beginning the same cause sufficient hoards or fences to be put up, in order to separate the building where such works are being carried on from the street, with a convenient platform and handrail, if there be room enough, to serve as a footway for passengers, outside of such hoard or fence, and shall continue such hoard or fence, with such platform and handrail as aforesaid, standing and in good condition, to the satisfaction of the commissioners, during such time as the public safety or convenience requires, and shall in all cases in which it is necessary, in order to prevent accidents, cause the same to be sufficiently lighted during the night; and every such person who fails to put up such fence or hoard, or platform with such handrail as aforesaid, or to continue the same respectively standing and in good condition as aforesaid during the time aforesaid, or who does not, while the said hoard or fence is standing, keep the same sufficiently lighted in the night, or who does not remove the same, when directed by the commissioners, within a reasonable time afterwards, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, and a further penalty not exceeding forty shillings for every day while such default is continued (a).

(a) In districts where the P. H. A., 1890, has been adopted, this section has been superseded by s. 34 of that Act, ante, p. 896. And where Part II. of the P. H. A., 1907, applies, hoards must, under s. 32 of that Act, ante, p. 1125, be securely fixed to the satisfaction of the local authority under penalties as therein provided. As to the right to erect a hoarding, though it may obstruct a highway to some extent, see Fisher v. Prowse, ante, p. 2205. As to the liability for damages for wrongfully erecting and continuing a hoarding, see Bradbee v. Christ's Hospital (1842), 4 M. & G. 714; 5 Scott, N. R. 79. As to a case where a licence for a hoarding was required by a local Act, see R. v. Commissioners of Sewers (1870), 22 L. T. 582; Barnett v. Covell (1904), 68 J. P. 93; 90 L. T. 29; Rockleys, Ltd. v. Pritchard (1910), 74 J. P. 11; 101 L. T. 575; Stockport Corporation v. Rollinson (1910), 74 J. P. 236; 102 L. T. 567. As to the liability for injuries caused by negligently erecting and keeping a hoarding, see Hoare v. Kearley (1884), 1 T. L. R. 426. As to rating of hoardings used as advertising stations, see the Advertising Stations (Rating) Act, 1889, and Chappell v. St. Botolph Overseers, [1892] 1 Q. B. 561; 56 J. P. 310; Shelley v. Dillon (1892), 30 L. R. Ir. 304; Burton v. St. Giles and St. George's, Bloomsbury, [1900] 1 Q. B. 389; 64 J. P. 213; and resolutions 23 and 53 of the Central Valuation Committee in the 1st and 4th series of representations made by that committee under s. 57 of the R. and V. Act, 1925.

When building materials are deposited in streets, etc. the same shall be lighted at night and fenced.

81. When any building materials, rubbish, or other things are laid, or any hole made, in any of the streets, whether the same be done by order of the commissioners or not, the person causing such materials or other things to be so laid, or such hole to be made, shall at his own expense cause a sufficient light to be fixed in a proper place upon or near the same, and continue such light every night from sun-setting to sun-rising, while such materials or hole remain; and such person shall, at his own expense, cause such materials or other things, and such hole, to be sufficiently fenced and inclosed, until such materials or other things are removed, or the hole filled up or otherwise made secure; and every such person who fails so to light, fence, or inclose such materials or other things, or such hole, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, and a further penalty not exceeding forty shillings for every day while such default is continued (a).

(a) In Fearnley v. Ormsby (1879), 4 C. P. D. 136; 43 J. P. 384, it was held that a surveyor of highways was rightly convicted under s. 72 of the Highway Act, 1835, for leaving materials for the repair of the road without lights and fences at night. As to personal knowledge being necessary for conviction, see Hardcastle v. Bielby, [1892] 1 Q. B. 709; 56 J. P. 549.

Penalty for continuing deposits of building materials or excavations for an unreasonable time.

82. In no case shall any such building materials or other things or such hole be allowed to remain for an unnecessary time, under a penalty not exceeding five pounds to be paid for every such offence by the person who causes such materials or other things to be laid or such hole to be made, and a further penalty not exceeding forty shillings for every day during which such offence is continued after the conviction for such offence; and in any such case the proof that the time has not exceeded the necessary time shall be upon the person so causing such materials or other things to be laid, or causing such hole to be made.

Commissioners to cause dangerous places to be repaired or inclosed.

83. If any building or hole or any other place near any street (a) be, for want of sufficient repair, protection, or inclosure, dangerous to the passengers along such street, the commissioners shall cause the same to be repaired, protected, or inclosed, so as to prevent danger therefrom; and the expenses of such repair, protection, or inclosure shall be repaid to the commissioners by the owner of the premises so repaired, protected, or inclosed, and shall be recoverable from him as damages.

(a) A goit running by the side of an ancient public footpath was held not to be a hole or other place within the meaning of these words (Wilson v. Halifax Corporation, ante, p. 268).

Apart from this enactment the occupier of adjoining land is liable to be indicted for a nuisance if he leaves a dangerous excavation adjoining the highway without a fence (Barnes v. Ward (1850), 9 C. B. 392; 19 L. J. C. P. 195), unless the highway has been dedicated subject to the nuisance (Robbins v. Jones (1864), 15 C. B. (N.S.) 224; 33 L. J. C. P. 1). This last mentioned case was followed in Horridge v. Makinson (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1294; 79 J. P. 484. See also Att.-Gen. v. Roe, [1915] 1 Ch. 235; 79 J. P. 263.

See also s. 31 of the P. H. A., 1907, ante, p. 1124, as to fencing lands adjoining streets.

Slaughter-houses.

And with respect to slaughter-houses, be it enacted as follows (a):

(a) See notes to s. 169 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 408. Where the P. H. A., 1890, has been adopted in any district it will be necessary to bear in mind the provisions of ss. 29—31 of that Act, ante, pp. 893—895, as to the duration of licences, notice of change of occupation of slaughter-houses, and the revocation of licences on conviction for the sale of meat unfit for food. Reference may be made to the notes to these sections and to the case of R. v. Essex JJ., Ex parte Barking U. D. C., [1916] 2 K. B. 406; 80 J. P. 345. It was here held that a knacker's licence, such as was formerly granted under the Knackers Act, 1786 (ante, p. 2071), may now be granted under the sections just mentioned and this Act.

Commissioners may license slaughter-houses, etc.

125. The commissioners may license (a) such slaughter-houses and knackers' yards as they from time to time think proper for slaughtering cattle within the limits of the special Act.

(a) A resolution of a committee, confirmed by the board, was held to be equivalent to a licence, though not communicated to the grantee (Howarth v. Manchester Corporation (1862), 6 L. T. 683). A licence for the erection of a slaughter-house is sufficient to authorise its use (Anthony v. Brecon Markets Co., post, p. 2211).

New slaughter-houses not to be erected without a licence.

126. No place shall be used or occupied as a slaughter-house (a) or knacker's yard within the said limits which was not in such use and occupation at the time of the passing of the special Act (b), and has so continued ever since, unless and until a licence for the erection thereof, or for the use and occupation thereof as a slaughter-house or knacker's yard, have been obtained from the commissioners; and every person who, without having first obtained such licence as aforesaid, uses (c) as a slaughter-house or knacker's yard any place within the said limits not used as such at the passing of the special Act, and so continued to be used ever since, shall for each offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, and a like penalty for every day after the conviction for such offence upon which the said offence is continued.

(a) This Act does not apply only to places where cattle are slaughtered for human food, as in Elias v. Nightingale (1858), 22 J. P. 131; 8 El. & Bl. 698.

(b) The application of premises for the slaughter of bullocks which had been used for the slaughter of pigs before the Act came into operation does not take the case out of the exception (Brighton L. B. v. Stenning (1867), 31 J. P. 246; 15 L. T. 567). The enlargement of premises does not destroy their exemption (Hanman v. Adkins (1876), 40 J. P. 744). The user of premises for pining cattle only, as part of the business of slaughtering, the actual slaughtering taking place elsewhere, is a continuance of user within this section (Hides v. Littlejohn (1896), 60 J. P. 101; 74 L. T. 24). The occasional use of the premises for slaughter is a continuance of user within this section (Woolliscroft v. Stoke-on-Trent Corporation (1928), 92 J. P. 150. A local authority cannot remove from the register premises entitled to be registered under this and the following section because the owners of the premises have not complied with the P. H. (Meat) Regulations, 1924, made under the P. H. (Regulations as to Food, etc.) Act, 1907 (ibid.).

(c) A person who merely pays the owner of premises for being allowed to slaughter animals there does not use such premises as a slaughter-house within this section (R. v. Heyworth (1866), 30 J. P. 423; 14 L. T. 600). See Second or Lower District Committee of Renfrew C. C. v. Anderson (1899), 1 F. (Just. Cas.) 48. Using a place for the deposit for a night of a carcase of a horse in transit to the place where it is to be ultimately disposed of was held not to be a user contrary to s. 285 of the Burgh Police (Scotland) Act, 1892, which prohibits the user of unlicensed places for the slaughtering of horses, or as a place of deposit for their carcases (Simpson v. Proctor (1896), 23 Ct. of Sess. Cas. (4th ser.) (J.C.) 22). A market company who had not used any part of their premises as a slaughter-house before this Act was applied to the district were held to be rightly convicted under this section for using part of their premises as a slaughter-house after the Act was applied (Liverpool New Cattle Market Co. v. Hodson (1867), 31 J. P. 245; 15 L. T. 534). As to what is a sufficient licence, see Anthony v. Brecon Markets Co. (1872), L. R. 7 Ex. 399; 31 J. P. 200; Hughes v. Trew (1877), 41 J. P. 453; 36 L. T. 585.

Existing slaughter-houses, etc. to be registered.

127. Every place within the limits of the special Act which shall be used as a slaughter-house or knacker's yard shall, within three months after the passing of such Act, be registered by the owner or occupier thereof, at the office of the commissioners, and on application to the commissioners for that purpose the commissioners shall cause every such slaughter-house or knacker's yard to be registered in a book to be kept by them for that purpose; and every person who after the expiration of the said three months, and after one week's notice of this provision from the commissioners, uses or suffers to be used any such place as a slaughter-house or knacker's yard, without its being so registered, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds for such offence, and a penalty not exceeding ten shillings for every day after the first day during which such place shall be used as a slaughter-house or knacker's yard without having been so registered.

Commissioners may make byelaws for regulation of slaughter-houses, etc.

128. The commissioners shall from time to time, by byelaws (a), to be made and confirmed in the manner hereinafter provided, make regulations for the licensing, registering, and inspection of the said slaughter-houses and knackers' yards, and preventing cruelty therein, and for keeping the same in a cleanly and proper state, and for removing filth at least once in every twenty-four hours, and requiring them to be provided with a sufficient supply of water, and they may impose pecuniary penalties on persons breaking such byelaws; provided that no such penalty exceed for any one offence the sum of five pounds, and in the case of a continuing nuisance the sum

Section 128. of ten shillings for every day during which such nuisance shall be continued after the conviction for the first offence.

(a) See the Markets and Fairs Clauses Act, 1847, s. 42, ante, p. 2164. The M. of H. have issued Model Byelaws for the regulation of private slaughter-houses. As to the confirmation of these byelaws, see 47 & 48 Vict. c. 12, ante, p. 762. As to the responsibility of the master for a breach of the byelaws committed by the servant, see Collman v. Mills, [1897] 1 Q. B. 396; 61 J. P. 102.

A bye-law prescribing method of humane slaughtering and requiring animals to be stunned was held valid in Dodd v. Venner (1922), 86 J. P. 130.

Justice may suspend or revoke licences of slaughter-houses, etc. or forbid use of registered slaughter-houses, etc.

129. The justices before whom any person is convicted of killing or dressing any cattle contrary to the provisions of this or the special Act, or of the non-observance of any of the byelaws or regulations made by virtue of this or the special Act, in addition to the penalty imposed on such person under the authority of this or the special Act, may suspend for any period not exceeding two months the licence granted to such person under this or the special Act, or, in case such person be the owner or proprietor of any registered slaughter-house or knacker's yard, may forbid for any period not exceeding two months the slaughtering of the cattle therein; and such justices, upon the conviction of any person for a second or other subsequent like offence, may, in addition to the penalty imposed under the authority of this or the special Act, declare the licence granted under this or the special Act revoked, or, if such person be the owner or proprietor of any registered slaughter-house, may forbid absolutely the slaughtering of cattle therein; and whenever the licence of any such person is revoked as aforesaid, or whenever the slaughtering of cattle in any registered slaughter-house or knacker's yard is absolutely forbidden as aforesaid, the commissioners may refuse to grant any licence whatever to the person whose licence has been so revoked, or on account of whose default the slaughtering of cattle in any registered slaughter-house has been forbidden.

Penalty for slaughtering cattle during suspension of licence, etc.

130. Every person who during the period for which any such licence is suspended, or after the same is revoked as aforesaid, slaughters cattle in the slaughter-house or knacker's yard to which such licence relates, or otherwise uses such slaughter-house or knacker's yard, or allows the same to be used as a slaughter-house or knacker's yard, and every person who during the period that the slaughtering of cattle in any such registered slaughter-house or knacker's yard is forbidden as aforesaid, or after such slaughtering has been absolutely forbidden therein, slaughters any cattle in any such registered slaughter-house, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds for such offence, and a further penalty of five pounds for every day on which any such offence is committed after the conviction for the first offence.

Officers may enter and inspect slaughter-houses, etc. and seize and destroy carcases, etc. unfit for food.

131. The inspector of nuisances, the officer of health, or any other officer appointed by the commissioners for that purpose, may at all reasonable times, with or without assistants, enter into and inspect any building or place whatsoever within the said limits kept or used for the sale of butchers' meat, or for slaughtering cattle, and examine whether any cattle, or the carcase of any such cattle, is deposited there, and in case such officer shall find any cattle, or the carcase or part of the carcase of any beast, which appears unfit for the food of man, he may seize and carry the same before a justice, and such justice shall forthwith order the same to be further inspected and examined by competent persons (a); and in case upon such inspection and examination such cattle, carcase, or part of a carcase, be found to be unfit for the food of man, such justice shall order the same to be immediately destroyed or otherwise disposed of in such way as to prevent the same being exposed for sale or used for the food of man; and such justice may adjudge the person to whom such cattle, carcase, or part of a carcase, belongs, or in whose custody the same is found, to pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds for every such animal, or carcase, or part of a carcase, so found; and the owner or occupier of any building or place kept or used for the sale of butchers' meat, or for slaughtering cattle, and every other person, who obstructs or hinders such inspector or other officer from entering into and inspecting the same, and examining, seizing, or carrying away any such animal, or carcase, or part of a carcase, so appearing to be unfit for the food of man, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds for each offence.

THE BATHS AND WASHHOUSES ACT, 1847.

(10 & 11 VICT. C. 61) (a).

An Act to amend the Act for the Establishment of Public Baths and Washhouses. [2nd July, 1847.]

[Preamble recites 9 & 10 Vict. c. 74.]

Construction.

[1.] The recited Act, as amended by this Act, and this Act shall be construed and be carried into execution as one Act.

(a) See 9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, ante, p. 2143; 41 & 42 Vict. c. 14, post, p. 2402; 45 & 46 Vict. c. 30, post, p. 2413; 62 & 63 Vict. c. 29, post, p. 2601; and Part IX. of the P. H. A., 1925, ante, p. 1627.

Interpretation.

2. The following words and expressions in the recited Act shall have in the said Act and this Act the several meanings hereby assigned to them, unless there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction; (that is to say,)

"Parish." "Parish" shall mean not only every place having separate overseers of the poor and separately maintaining its own poor, but also every place maintaining its own poor and having a vestry (a):

"Ratepayers." "Ratepayers" shall mean all persons for the time being assessed to and paying rates for the relief of the poor of the parish (b):

"Vestry." "Vestry" shall mean not only a vestry as defined in the said Act, but also any body of persons, by whatever name distinguished, acting by virtue of any Act of Parliament, prescription, custom, or otherwise, as or instead of a vestry or select vestry.

(a) See note (a) to 9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, s. 2, ante, p. 2144, for the definition of parish contained in the R. and V. Act, 1925.

(b) These words do not require actual payment of the rates. The poor rate is now absorbed in the general rate, and the general rate must accordingly be substituted in this section (R. and V. Act, 1925, s. 69 (2), ante, p. 1752).

Acts of any person acting as commissioner, etc. to be valid, notwithstanding disqualification etc.

3. . . . (a) All acts and proceedings of any person in possession of the office of such commissioner, and acting in good faith as such commissioner, whether appointed before or after the passing of this Act, shall, notwithstanding his disqualification or want of qualification for or any defect or irregularity in or in any way concerning his appointment to such office, be as valid and effectual as if he were duly qualified, or there had not been any such defect or irregularity.

Incorporation of 8 & 9 Vict. c. 18, in part.

4. The Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (a), shall be incorporated with the recited Act and this Act: Provided always, that the council and commissioners respectively shall not purchase or take any lands otherwise than by agreement.

(a) Ante, p. 2088.

Proportion of washing accommodation for labouring classes.

5. The number of washing tubs or troughs for the labouring classes in any building or buildings under the management of the same council or commissioners shall not be less than twice the number of the washing tubs or troughs of any higher class, if but one, or of all the higher classes, if more than one, in the same building or buildings (a).

(a) See as to baths, 9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, s. 36, ante, p. 2152. Section 6 was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1875, as also was s. 8.

* * * * * *

Charges for use of baths, etc.

7. The council and the commissioners respectively may from time to time make such reasonable charges for the use of the baths and washhouses and open bathing places provided under the recited Act and this Act respectively as they think fit, not exceeding the charges mentioned in the Schedule annexed to this Act (a).

(a) This section and the Schedule will be repealed in any district from the date upon which a scale of charges is authorised by the local authority under s. 85 of the P. H. A., 1925, ante, p. 1627 (s. 9 and Sched. V., ibid.). As to recovery of charges, see 9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, s. 38, ante, p. 2153.

* * * * * *

SCHEDULE TO WHICH THIS ACT REFERS.

CHARGES FOR THE BATHS AND WASHHOUSES AND OPEN BATHING PLACES.

1. Baths for the Labouring Classes.

Every bath to be supplied with clean water for every person bathing alone, or for several children bathing together, and in either case with one clean towel for every bather.

For one person above eight years old :

Cold bath, or cold shower-bath, any sum not exceeding – One Penny.

Warm bath, or warm shower-bath, or vapour-bath, any sum not exceeding – – – – – – – Two-pence.

For several children, not above eight years old, nor exceeding four, bathing together :

Cold bath, or cold shower-bath, any sum not exceeding – Two-pence.

Warm bath, or warm shower-bath, or vapour bath, any sum not exceeding – – – – – – – Four-pence.

2. Baths of any Higher Class.

Such charges as the council and the commissioners respectively think fit, not exceeding in any case three times the charges above mentioned for the several kinds of baths for the labouring classes.

3. Washhouses for the Labouring Classes.

Every washhouse to be supplied with conveniences for washing and drying clothes and other articles.

For the use by one person of one washing tub or trough, and of a copper or boiler (if any), or, where one of the washing tubs or troughs shall be used as a copper or boiler, for the use of one pair of washing tubs or troughs, and for the use of the conveniences for drying :

For one hour only, in any one day, any sum not exceeding One Penny.

For two hours together, in any one day, any sum not exceeding – – – – – – – – Three-pence.

Any time over the hour or two hours respectively, if not exceeding five minutes, not to be reckoned.

For two hours not together, or for more than two hours in any one day, such charges as the council and the commissioners respectively think fit.

Schedule.

For the use of the washing conveniences alone, or of the drying conveniences alone, such charges as the council and the commissioners respectively think fit, but not exceeding in either case the charges for the use for the same time of both the washing and the drying conveniences.

4. Washhouses of any Higher Class.

Such charges as the council and the commissioners respectively think fit.

5. Open Bathing Places.

Where several persons bathe in the same water, for one person [one penny] (a).

(a) Words in square brackets substituted for ½*d.* by 41 & 42 Vict. c. 14, s. 14, post, p. 2403.

THE CEMETERIES CLAUSES ACT, 1847.

(10 & 11 VICT. C. 65) (a).

An Act for consolidating in one Act certain provisions usually contained in Acts authorising the making of Cemeteries. [9th July, 1847.]

[1.] This Act shall extend only to such cemeteries as shall be authorised by any Act of Parliament hereafter to be passed which shall declare that this Act shall be incorporated therewith; and all the clauses of this Act, save so far as they shall be expressly varied or excepted in any such Act, shall apply to the cemetery authorised thereby, so far as they are applicable to such cemetery, and shall, with the clauses of every other Act incorporated therewith, form part of such Act, and be construed therewith as forming one Act. Incorporation with special Act.

And with respect to the construction of this Act, and any Act incorporated therewith, be it enacted as follows: Interpretation

2. The expression "the special Act" used in this Act shall be construed to mean any Act which shall be hereinafter passed authorising the making of a cemetery, and with which this Act shall be incorporated; and the word "prescribed" used in this Act in reference to any matter herein stated shall be construed to refer to such matter as the same shall be prescribed or provided for in the special Act, and the sentence in which such word occurs shall be construed as if instead of the word "prescribed" the expression "prescribed for that purpose in the special Act" had been used; and the expression "the lands" shall mean the lands which shall by the special Act be authorised to be taken or used for the purposes thereof; and the expression "the company" shall mean the person by the special Act authorised to construct the cemetery. "The Special Act." "Prescribed." "The lands." "The company."

3. The following words and expressions in both this and the special Act, and any Act incorporated therewith, shall have the meanings hereby assigned to them, unless there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction; (that is to say,) Interpretations in this and the special Act.

Words importing the singular number shall include the plural number, and words importing the plural number only shall include also the singular number: Number.

Words importing the masculine gender shall include females: Gender.

The word "person" shall include a corporation, whether aggregate or sole: "Person."

The word "lands" shall include messuages, lands, and hereditaments, of any tenure: "Lands."

Section 3.

"The cemetery." The expression "the cemetery" shall mean the cemetery or burial ground, and the works connected therewith, by the special Act authorised to be constructed:

"Month." The word "month" shall mean calendar month:

"Superior Courts." The expression "superior courts" shall mean her Majesty's superior courts at Westminster . . . as the case may require (a):

"Oath." The word "oath" shall include affirmation in the case of Quakers, and any declaration lawfully substituted for an oath in the case of any other persons allowed by law to make a declaration instead of taking an oath:

"Established Church." The expression "Established Church" shall mean the . . . church of England . . . as by law established (a):

"County." The word "county" shall include any riding or other division of a county having a separate commission of the peace, and shall also include the county of a city or county of a town:

"Justice." The word "justice" shall mean justice of the peace acting for the place where the matter requiring the cognizance of any such justice arises, and if such matter arise in respect of lands situated not wholly in one jurisdiction shall mean a justice acting for the place where any part of such lands shall be situated; and where any matter is authorised or required to be done by "two justices," the expression "two justices" shall be understood to mean two or more justices met and acting together (b):

"Two justices."

"Quarter sessions." The expression "quarter sessions" shall mean the quarter sessions as defined by the special Act; or if such expression be not therein defined it shall mean the general or quarter sessions of the peace which shall be held at the place nearest the cemetery for the county or place in which the cemetery or some part thereof is situated, or for some division of such county having a separate commission of the peace.

(a) Words relating to Ireland only are here omitted.
(b) And see s. 64, post, p. 2225.

Citing the Act.

And with respect to citing this Act or any part thereof, be it enacted as follows:

Short title.

4. In citing this Act in other Acts of Parliament, and in legal instruments, it shall be sufficient to use the expression "The Cemeteries Clauses Act, 1847."

Form in which portions of this Act may be incorporated in other Acts.

5. For the purpose of incorporating part only of this Act with any Act hereafter to be passed, it shall be enough to describe the clauses of this Act with respect to any matter in the words introductory to the enactment with respect to such matter, and to enact that the clauses so described, or that this Act, with the exception of the clauses so described, shall be incorporated with such Act; and thereupon all the clauses of this Act so incorporated shall, save so far as they are expressly varied or excepted by such Act, form part of such Act, and such Act shall be construed as if such clauses were set forth therein with reference to the matter to which such Act relates.

Making of cemetery.

And with respect to the making of the cemetery, be it enacted as follows:

Taking of lands for purposes of special Act to be subject to this Act and the Lands Clauses Act. 8 & 9 Vict. c. 18.

6. Where by the special Act the company shall be empowered for the purpose of making the cemetery, to take or use any lands otherwise than with the consent of the owners and occupiers thereof, they shall, in exercising the power so given to them, be subject to the provisions and restrictions contained in this Act and the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (a), and shall make to the owners and occupiers of and all other parties interested in any lands taken or used for the purposes of the special Act, or injuriously affected by the construction of the works thereby authorised, full compensation for the value of the lands so taken or used, and for all damage sustained by such owners, occupiers, or other parties, by reason of the exercise, as regards such lands, of the powers vested in the company by this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith; and, except where otherwise provided by this or the special Act, the amount of such compensation shall be determined in the manner provided by the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (a), for determining questions of compensation with regard to lands purchased or taken under the provisions thereof, and all the provisions of the last-mentioned Act shall be applicable to determine the amount of such compensation, and to enforce payment or other satisfaction thereof.

(a) Ante, p. 2088. A local authority may obtain a provisional order for the compulsory purchase of land under s. 176 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 436.

Correction of errors and omissions in special Act.

7. If any omission, mis-statement, or wrong description shall have been made of any lands, or of the owners, lessees, or occupiers of any lands, described in the special Act or the schedule thereto, the company, after giving ten days' notice to the owners of the lands affected by such proposed correction, may apply to two justices for the correction thereof; and if it appear to such justices that such omission, mis-statement, or wrong description arose from mistake, they shall certify the same accordingly, and shall in such certificate state the particulars of any such omission, mis-statement, or wrong description; and such certificate shall be deposited with the clerk of the peace of the county in which the lands affected thereby shall be situated, and thereupon the special Act or schedule shall be deemed to be corrected according to such certificate, and the company may take the lands according to such certificate, as if such omission, mis-statement, or wrong description had not been made.

Certified copies of alterations, etc. to be evidence.

8. Copies of any alteration or correction of the special Act, or the schedule thereto, or of any extract therefrom, certified by any such clerk of the peace in whose custody such alteration or correction may be, which certificate such clerk of the peace shall give to all parties interested, when required, shall be received in all courts of justice or elsewhere as evidence of the contents thereof.

Land used for burials not to be used for other than authorised purposes.

9. The company shall not sell or dispose of any land which shall have been consecrated or used for the burial of the dead, or make use of such land for any purpose except such as shall be authorised by this (a) or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith.

(a) See s. 40, post, p. 2222. See also R. v. Twiss (1869), L. R. 4 Q. B. 407; 33 J. P. 516; Campbell v. Liverpool Corporation (1870), L. R. 9 Eq. 579; Harper v. Forbes (1859), 5 Jur. (N.S.) 275. And see the Burial Act, 1900, s. 6, post, p. 2614, as to the necessity for leave of the M. of H. to the use of unconsecrated land for other purposes.

Cemetery not to be within a certain distance of houses.

10. No part of the cemetery shall be constructed nearer to any dwelling-house than the prescribed distance, or if no distance be prescribed, two (a) hundred yards, except with the consent in writing of the owner, lessee, and occupier of such house (b).

(a) Now one hundred yards. See the Burial Act, 1906, s. 2, post, p. 2687.

(b) This distance is to be calculated from the house itself, not from the curtilage (Wright v. Wallasey L. B. (1887), 18 Q. B. D. 783; 52 J. P. 4). See also s. 9 of the Burials Act, 1855, which prevents land not already used or appropriated as a cemetery being used for actual burials within one hundred yards of a dwelling-house without the consent of the owner and occupier. This section is directed against actual burial, and did not prevent the inclusion of land within the prescribed distance in the cemetery, so long as it was not used for actual burials (Cowley v. Byas (1877), 5 Ch. D. 944; 41 J. P. 804), but it was held to prevent a burial authority, who had laid out a burial ground since 1855, from using it for burials within two hundred yards of a dwelling-house erected after the burial ground had been laid out, without the consent mentioned (Godden v. Hythe Burial Board, [1906] 2 Ch. 270; 70 J. P. 285). The law as settled by this decision has, however, since been modified by s. 1 of the Burial Act, 1906, post, p. 2686, which enacts that the consent above mentioned shall not be and shall be deemed never to have been required in any case where the dwelling-house is or was begun to be erected, or is or was erected or completed after any part of the ground is or has been used or appropriated for a burial ground, subject to a proviso for certain vested rights. It seems that the necessary consents may be purchased, it is not required that they should in all cases be given for nothing. No action can be brought under s. 9 of the Act of 1855 by a person who is a mere nominee of one who has just sold the land to the local authority for a cemetery (Toms v. Clacton U. D. C. (1898), 62 J. P. 505; 78 L. T. 712). As to the position of an owner within an area where an Order in Council requires the consent of the L. G. B. (now M. of H.), see Clegg v. Metcalfe, [1914] 1 Ch. 808; 78 J. P. 251.

By s. 5 of the Cremation Act, 1902, post, p. 2655, no crematorium shall be constructed nearer to any dwelling-house than two hundred yards, except with the consent in writing of the owner, lessee, and occupier of such house, nor within fifty yards of any public highway, nor in the consecrated part of the burial ground of any burial authority.

Company may build chapels, and lay out their grounds.

11. The company, upon any land which by the special Act they are authorised to use for the purposes of the cemetery, may build such chapels for the performance of the burial service as they think fit, and may lay out and embellish the grounds of the cemetery as they think fit (a).

(a) See s. 25, post, p. 2220, and 63 & 64 Vict. c. 15, s. 2, post, p. 2611.

Company may make or widen roads to cemetery.

12. The company, upon any land purchased by them under this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, may make any new roads to the cemetery, or widen or improve any existing roads thereto which they think fit.

No road to be widened without consent.

13. Provided always, that the company shall not widen or improve any existing road without the consent of the owner thereof, if the road be private, or, if the road be public, without the consent of the persons in whom the management of the road is vested by law.

Improvement of roads.

14. The company and the owners or persons having the management of any such road as aforesaid may enter into such agreements as they think fit, for enabling the company to widen or improve any such road, and for maintaining the same.

15. [Cemetery to be inclosed and fenced] (a).

(a) This section no longer applies to cemeteries provided under the Public Health (Interments) Act, 1879. See 63 & 64 Vict. c. 15, s. 10, post, p. 2615. It required the provision of a wall or fence at least eight feet high. Burial grounds provided under the Burial Acts are not subject to any statutory requirements as to the height of fences, but the M. of H. require all burial grounds to be effectually walled or fenced, and any fences to be of sufficiently close construction to exclude dogs and other animals.

Cemetery to be kept in repair.

16. The company shall keep the cemetery and the buildings and fences thereof in complete repair, and in good order and condition, out of the monies to be received by them by virtue of this and the special Act (a).

(a) The company are occupiers and rateable (R. v. St. Mary Abbotts, Kensington (1841), 12 A. & E. 824; and see R. v. Abney Park Cemetery Co. (1874), L. R. 8 Q. B. 515; 38 J. P. 822).

Compensation for damage.

17. Provided always, that in the exercise of the powers by this and the special Act granted to the company they shall do as little damage as can be, and shall make full compensation to all parties interested for all damage sustained by them through the exercise of such powers (a).

(a) See also Crowhurst v. Amersham Burial Board (1879), 4 Ex. D. 5, and the observations on that case in Cheater v. Cater, [1918] 1 K. B. 247.

And with respect to preventing nuisance from the cemetery, be it enacted as follows :

Prevention of nuisances.

Power to make sewers, drains, etc. in and about the cemetery.

18. The company shall make all necessary and proper sewers and drains in and about the cemetery, for draining and keeping the same dry, and they may from time to time, as occasion requires, cause any such sewer or drain to open into any existing sewer, with the consent in writing of the persons having the management of such sewer, and with the consent in writing of the persons having the management of the street or road, and of the owners and occupiers of the lands through which such opening is made, doing as little damage as possible to the road or ground wherein such sewer or drain may be made, and restoring it to the same or as good condition as it was in before being disturbed.

Provisions of 10 & 11 Vict. c. 17 incorporated with this Act.

19. When any street or road or sewer shall be opened with such consent as aforesaid, the clauses of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847 (a), with respect to breaking up of streets for the purpose of laying pipes, so far as the same are consistent with this Act and applicable thereto, shall be incorporated with this Act, and shall apply to the company, and to any ground broken by them for making any such sewer or drain as aforesaid to open into any existing sewer..

(a) Sections 28—34, ante, pp. 2184—2187.

Penalty on company for allowing water to be fouled.

20. If the company at any time cause or suffer to be brought or to flow into any stream, canal, reservoir, aqueduct, pond, or watering place, any offensive matter from the cemetery, whereby the water therein shall be fouled, they shall forfeit for every such offence the sum of fifty pounds (a).

(a) See also Ballard v. Tomlinson (1885), 29 Ch. D. 115 ; 49 J. P. 692.

By whom, how, and within what time, such penalty may be recovered.

21. The said penalty, with full costs of suit, may be recovered by any person having right to use the water fouled by such offensive matter, in any of the superior courts, by action of debt or on the case : Provided always, that the said penalty shall not be recoverable unless the same be sued for during the continuance of the offence, or within six months after it has ceased.

Damages, or a daily penalty during the continuance of the offence, after notice, may be recovered.

22. In addition to the said penalty of fifty pounds, (and whether such penalty is recovered or not,) any person having right to use the water fouled by such offensive matter may sue the company, in an action on the case, in any court of competent jurisdiction, for any damage specially sustained by him by reason of the water being so fouled ; or if no special damage be alleged, for the sum of ten pounds for each day during which such offensive matter is brought or flows as aforesaid after the expiration of twenty-four hours from the time when notice of the offence is served on the company by such person.

And with respect to burials in the cemetery, be it enacted as follows :

Burials.

Part of cemetery may be set apart for burial according to rites of Established Church.

23. The bishop of the diocese in which the cemetery is situated may, on the application of the company (a), consecrate any portion of the cemetery set apart for the burial of the dead according to the rites of the Established Church, if he be satisfied with the title of the company to such portion, and thinks fit to consecrate such portion ; and the part which is so consecrated shall be used only for burials according to the rites of the Established Church.

(a) It did not appear to be obligatory on the company to make this application. Therefore it would seem that no mandamus would lie to make them do it as it would in the case of a burial board under s. 12 of the Burial Act, 1857. And if no part of the cemetery is consecrated, then ss. 24—34 of this Act have no application. But now under 63 & 64 Vict. c. 15, s. 1, post, p. 2611, there is provision made for enforcing consecration of part in the case of a cemetery provided by a burial authority within the meaning of that Act.

Section 24.

Consecrated and unconsecrated ground to be defined.

24. The company shall define by suitable marks the consecrated and unconsecrated portions of the cemetery (a).

(a) No wall or fence between the consecrated and unconsecrated portions is necessary if sufficient boundary marks of iron or stone be maintained (Burial Act, 1857, s. 11). See also R. v. Tiverton (1849), 13 L. T. (o.s.) 233. An urban district council acting as a burial board proposed to use the word "general" instead of the word "unconsecrated." The L. G. B. stated that they were advised that if unconsecrated ground was not so described in documents it was essential that these should be so framed as to leave no doubt as to the intention to denote unconsecrated ground by any other description which might be adopted.

Chapel for Established Church service.

25. The company shall build, within the consecrated part of the cemetery and according to a plan approved of by the bishop of the diocese, a chapel for the performance of the burial service according to the rights of the Established Church (a).

(a) See, however, 63 & 64 Vict. c. 15, s. 2, post, p. 2611.

Removal of bodies from consecrated ground.

26. No body buried in the consecrated part of the cemetery shall be removed from its place of burial without the like authority as is by law required for the removal of any body buried in the churchyard belonging to a parish church (a).

(a) By s. 25 of the Burial Act, 1857, no body may be removed from a place of burial (except from one consecrated place of burial to another by faculty granted by the ordinary for that purpose), without licence under the hand of a Secretary of State. See also St. Helen's, Bishopsgate, Rector v. Parishioners, [1892] P. 259; St. Mary-at-Hill v. Parishioners, [1892] P. 394; 56 J. P. 824; St. Botolph Without, Aldgate, Vicar v. Parishioners (No. 1), [1892] P. 161; Lee v. Hawtrey, [1898] P. 63; St. Nicholas, Leicester v. Langton, [1899] P. 19. It is within the jurisdiction of the Consistory Court to grant a faculty for the examination of the contents of a coffin buried in consecrated ground, and s. 25 of the Burial Act, 1857, does not make the licence of the Home Secretary a condition precedent to such grant (R. v. Tristram, [1898] 2 Q. B. 371). But a consistory Court has no power to order the disinterment of a body, or to issue a citation to a cemetery company to show cause against the making of such an order (R. v. Tristram (1900), 63 J. P. 391; 80 L. T. 414).

27. [Appointment and licensing of chaplain] (a).

(a) By s. 7 of the Burial Act, 1900, post, p. 2614, the power of the burial authority to appoint a chaplain for a burial ground provided under the P. H. (Interments) Act, 1879, shall cease. This is because under the same section the incumbent of the parish is to perform the service for his own parishioners and those dying in his parish, as he does under the Burial Acts. The same section also provides for registration of the burials.

28. [Burial service over bodies entitled to burial in consecrated ground.]

Other clergymen of Established Church may be allowed to officiate.

29. Any clerk in holy orders of the Established Church, not being prohibited by the bishop, nor under ecclesiastical censure, at the request of the executor of the will of any deceased person, or any other person having the charge of the burial of the body of any deceased person, and with the consent of the chaplain for the time being of the cemetery, or if there be no chaplain with the consent of the bishop, may perform the said burial service over such body in the consecrated part of the cemetery.

30. [Company to pay the chaplain a stipend approved by the bishop.]

31. [Stipend may be recovered by action at law.]

Register of burials in the consecrated portion.

32. All burials in the consecrated part of the cemetery shall be registered in register books to be provided by the company, and kept for that purpose by the chaplain, according to the laws in force by which registers are required to be kept by the rectors, vicars, or curates of parishes or ecclesiastical districts in England (a); and such register books, or copies or extracts therefrom, shall be received in all courts in evidence of such burials; and copies or transcripts thereof shall be from time to time sent to the registrar of the ecclesiastical court of the bishop of the diocese in which the cemetery is situated, to be kept with the copies of the other register books of the parishes within his diocese.

(a) That is, under 52 Geo. 3, c. 146. See Brooke Little's Law of Burials. This, however, does not now apply to any burial in the consecrated part of a burial ground provided under the P. H. (Interments) Acts, 1879, but burials there are now under s. 7 of the Burial Act, 1900, post, p. 2614, registered like burials in the unconsecrated part.

Registers to be subject to the regulations of 6 & 7 Will. 4, c. 86, as to searches, etc.

33. The said register books, so far as respects searches to be made therein, and copies and extracts to be taken therefrom, shall be subject to the same regulations as are provided by the Births and Deaths Registration Act, 1836, so far as such regulations relate to register books of burials kept by any rector, vicar, or curate.

Appointment of clerk for consecrated part of the cemetery.

34. The company may, with the consent of the chaplain for the time being, from time to time appoint a clerk to assist in performing the services for burials in the consecrated part of the cemetery, and allow to such clerk such stipend (a) as they think proper out of the monies to be received by virtue of this and the special Act, and they may remove such clerk at their pleasure.

(a) By s. 3 (5) of the Burial Act, 1900, post, p. 2613, no fee other than fees payable to a sexton for services rendered by him, shall be paid to any clerk or other ecclesiastical officer in respect of interments in a burial ground maintained by a burial authority. This, however, is subject to a proviso for compensation in respect of rights existing at the date of the passing of the Act.

Burial of persons not members of Established Church.

35. The company may set apart the whole or a portion of that part of the cemetery which is not set apart for burials according to the rites of the Established Church as a place of burial for the bodies of persons not being members of the Established Church, and may allow such bodies to be buried therein, under such regulations as the company appoint (a).

(a) By s. 9 of the Burial Act, 1900, post, p. 2615, the unconsecrated part of a burial ground provided under the P. H. (Interments) Act, 1879, shall be allotted in such manner and in such portions as may be sanctioned by one of her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State.

Any burial service may be performed in chapels on unconsecrated part.

36. The company may allow, in any chapel built within the unconsecrated part of the cemetery (a), a burial service to be performed according to the rites of any church or congregation other than the Established Church, by any minister of such other church or congregation duly authorised by law to officiate in such church or congregation, or recognised as such by the religious community or society to which he belongs.

Power to appoint gravediggers, etc.

37. The company may appoint gravediggers and other servants necessary for the care and use of the cemetery, and may pay them such wages and allowances as they think fit out of the monies to be received by virtue of this and the special Act, and may remove them or any of them at their pleasure (a).

(a) A byelaw of a cemetery prohibited any discharged servant from being admitted to the cemetery except by special leave of the directors, and it authorised his removal. D., the owner of a grave, employed W., a discharged servant, to do some work :—Held, that there was nothing unreasonable in the byelaw, and that W. was rightly excluded by force from the cemetery (Martin v. Wyatt (1883), 48 J. P. 215).

Regulations.

38. The company shall make regulations for ensuring that all burials within the cemetery are conducted in a decent and solemn manner.

Section 39.

No burials under or close to chapels.

39. No body shall be buried in any vault under any chapel of the cemetery, or within fifteen feet of the outer wall of any such chapel.

Exclusive rights of burials.

And with respect to exclusive rights of burial, and monumental inscriptions, in the cemetery, be it enacted as follows:

Parts of the cemetery set apart for grant of exclusive rights of burial.

40. The company may set apart such parts of the cemetery as they think fit for the purpose of granting exclusive rights of burial therein, and they may sell, either in perpetuity or for a limited time, and subject to such conditions as they think fit, the exclusive right of burial in any parts of the cemetery so set apart, or the right of one or more burials therein, and they may sell the right of placing any monument or gravestone in the cemetery, or any tablet or monumental inscription on the walls of any chapel or other building within the cemetery (a).

(a) The sale of an exclusive right of burial under 15 & 16 Vict. c. 85, s. 33, was held not to deprive the burial authority of the general control of the burial ground under s. 38, or to prevent their removing a wreath covered with a glass shade and wire frame which had been placed on the grave (McGough v. Lancaster Burial Board (1888), 21 Q. B. D. 323; 52 J. P. 740). The grantee of an exclusive right of burial in a space upon which a vault is constructed with the consent of the burial authority has no freehold interest in the vault, no right to use the vault for private ceremonies and no right to open and enter the vault except for purposes of repair and burial without the consent of the burial authority (Hoskyns-Abrahall v. Paignton U. D. C., [1929] 1 Ch. 375; 93 J. P. 93). The company are liable to pay income tax on sums paid to them for keeping private graves in order (Paisley Cemetery Co. v. Reith, W. N. (1899), 196; 63 J. P. 806).

Plan of parts set apart for grant of exclusive rights, and book of reference thereto, to be kept.

41. The company shall cause a plan of the cemetery to be made upon a scale sufficiently large to show the situation of every burial place in all the parts of the cemetery so set apart, and in which an extensive right of burial has been granted; and all such burial places shall be numbered, and such numbers shall be entered in a book to be kept for that purpose, and such book shall contain the names and descriptions of the several persons to whom the exclusive right of burial in any such place of burial has been granted by the company; and no place of burial, with exclusive right of burial therein, shall be made in the cemetery without the same being marked out in such plan, and a corresponding entry made in the said book, and the said plan and book shall be kept by the clerk of the company.

Grant of exclusive right, etc., may be according to form in Schedule.

42. The grant of the exclusive right of burial in any part of the cemetery, either in perpetuity or for a limited time, and of the right of one or more burials therein, or of placing therein any monument, tablet, or gravestone, may be made in the form in the Schedule to this Act annexed, or to the like effect, and where the company are not incorporated it may be executed by the company or any two or more of them (a).

(a) Sic. As to the form, see an adaptation for the use of local authorities, Form 26, Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. II., p. 615.

Register of grants to be kept.

43. A register of all such grants shall be kept by the clerk to the company, and within fourteen days after the date of any such grant an entry or memorial of the date thereof and of the parties thereto, and also of the consideration for such grant, and also a proper description of the ground described in such grant, so as the situation thereof may be ascertained, shall be made by the said clerk in such register; and such clerk shall be entitled to demand such sum as the company think fit, not exceeding the prescribed sum, or if no sum be prescribed two shillings and sixpence, for every such entry or memorial; and the said register may be perused at all reasonable times by any grantee or assignee of any right conveyed in any such grant, upon payment of the prescribed sum, or if no sum be prescribed the sum of one shilling, to the clerk of the company.

Rights of burial may be assigned or bequeathed.

44. The exclusive right of burial in any such place of burial shall, whether granted in perpetuity or for a limited time, be considered as the personal estate of the grantee, and may be assigned in his lifetime or bequeathed by his will (a).

(a) A burial company having erected a memorial stone, removed and sold it because it was not paid for :—Held, that the proper remedy of the company was to sue for the money, and that they had no right to remove the stone (Sims v. London Necropolis Co. (1884), 1 T. L. R. 584).

Form of assignments.

45. Every such assignment made in the lifetime of the assignor shall be by deed duly stamped, in which the consideration shall be duly set forth, and may be in the Form in the Schedule to this Act annexed, or to the like effect (a).

(a) See also Form 27, Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. II., p. 616.

Assignments to be registered.

46. Every such assignment shall, within six months after the execution thereof, if executed in Great Britain . . . or within six months after the arrival thereof in Great Britain . . . if executed elsewhere, be produced to the clerk of the company, and an entry or memorial of such assignment shall be made in the register by the clerk of the company, in the same manner as that of the original grant ; and until such entry or memorial, no right of burial shall be acquired under any such memorial (a) ; and for every such entry or memorial the clerk shall be entitled to demand such sum as the company think fit, not exceeding the prescribed sum, or if no sum be prescribed two shillings and sixpence.

(a) Sic. Quære, a mistake for " assignment."

Probates of wills disposing of rights of burial to be registered.

47. An entry or memorial of the probate of every will by which the exclusive right of burial within the cemetery is bequeathed, and in case there be any specific disposition of such exclusive right of burial in the said will an entry of such disposition, shall, within six months after the probate of such will, be made in the said register, in the same manner as that of the original grant ; and until such entry no right of exclusive burial shall be acquired under such will ; and for every such entry or memorial the clerk of the company shall be entitled to demand such sum as the company think fit, not exceeding the prescribed sum, or if no sum be prescribed two shillings and sixpence.

Burials in places where exclusive right has been granted.

48. No body shall be buried in any place wherein the exclusive right of burial shall have been granted by the company, except with the consent of the owner for the time being of such exclusive right of burial.

No grant to give right in consecrated ground, etc. to persons not entitled to be buried according to rites of Established Church.

49. No such grant as aforesaid shall give the right to bury within the consecrated part of the cemetery the body of any person not entitled to be buried in consecrated ground according to the rites and usage of the Established Church, or to place any monument, gravestone, tablet, or monumental inscription respecting any such body within the consecrated part of the cemetery.

Power to remove monuments erected without authority.

50. The company may take down and remove any gravestone, monument, tablet, or monumental inscription which shall have been placed within the cemetery without their authority (a).

(a) If the right be granted to the grantee and his heirs, it is doubtful whether this section would apply. See Matthews v. Jeffery (1881), 6 Q. B. D. 290 ; 45 J. P. 361. An exclusive right of burial is an easement, and can only be granted by deed (Bryan v. Whistler (1828), 8 B. & C. 288). See also the Burial Act, 1852, s. 33, and Ashby v. Harris (1868), L. R. 3 C. P. 523 ; McGough v. Lancaster, ante, p. 2222.

Section 51.

Rights of bishop to object to monumental inscriptions in consecrated part of cemetery.

51. The bishop of the diocese in which the cemetery is situated, and all persons acting under his authority, shall have the same right and power to object to the placing, and to procure the removal of any monumental inscription within the consecrated part of the cemetery as he by law (a) has to object to or procure the removal of any monumental inscription in any church or chapel of the Established Church, or the burial ground belonging to such church or chapel, or any other consecrated ground.

(a) See Maidman v. Malpas (1794), 1 Hagg. Con. 205; Harper v. Forbes (1859), 5 Jur. (N.S.) 275; Ex parte Medwin (1853), 1 El. & Bl. 609; Keet v. Smith (1876), 1 P. D. 73.

Payments to incumbents of parishes.

And with respect to payments to incumbents of parishes or ecclesiastical districts, and to parish clerks, be it enacted as follows (a):

(a) Sections 52—57 entitled incumbents and parish clerks only to such fees as were prescribed by the special Act. They were extended to the disposition or interment of the ashes of a cremated body by s. 13 of the Cremation Act, 1902, post, p. 2658. Where a cemetery has been provided by a local authority under the P. H. (Interments) Act, 1879, ante, p. 751, that Act is the special Act (s. 3), and in such case the special Act prescribes no sums as payable to incumbents. In such a cemetery, ss. 52—57 are wholly inapplicable. But the Burial Act, 1900, by s. 3, post, p. 2612, now requires the burial authority to prepare a table of fees to be approved by a Secretary of State, and these fees are to be collected by the authority, and paid over to the minister or sexton performing the services.

Protection of cemetery.

And with respect to the protection of the cemetery, be it enacted as follows:

Penalty for damaging the cemetery.

58. Every person who shall wilfully destroy or injure any building, wall, or fence belonging to the cemetery, or destroy or injure any tree or plant therein, or who shall daub or disfigure any wall thereof, or put up any bill therein or on any wall thereof or wilfully destroy, injure, or deface any monument, tablet, inscription, or gravestone within the cemetery, or do any other wilful damage therein, shall forfeit to the company for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Disturbances and nuisances in cemetery.

59. Every person who shall play at any game or sport, or discharge firearms, save at a military funeral, in the cemetery, or who shall wilfully and unlawfully disturb any persons assembled in the cemetery for the purpose of burying any body therein, or who shall commit any nuisance within the cemetery, shall forfeit to the company for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Annual accounts.

60. And with respect to the accounts to be kept by the company, be it enacted, that the company shall every year cause an account to be prepared, showing the total receipt and expenditure of all monies levied by virtue of this or the special Act for the year ending on the thirty-first day of December, or some other convenient day in each year, under the several distinct heads of receipt and expenditure, with a statement of the balance of such account, certified by the chairman of the company, and duly audited, and shall send a copy of the said account, free of charge, to the clerk of the peace for the county in which the cemetery is situated, on or before the expiration of one month from the day on which such accounts end, which last-mentioned account shall be open to the inspection of the public at all reasonable hours, on payment of the sum of one shilling for every such inspection; and if the company omit to prepare or send such account as aforesaid, they shall forfeit for every such omission the sum of twenty pounds (a).

* * * * * *

And with respect to the recovery of damages not specially provided for, and of penalties, and to the determination of any other matter referred to justices, be it enacted as follows:

Recovery of damages and penalties.

62. The clauses of the Railways Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (a), with respect to the recovery of damages not specially provided for, and of penalties, and to the determination of any other matter referred to justices, shall be incorporated with this and the special Act; and such clauses shall apply to the cemetery and to the company respectively (b).

Railways Clauses Consolidation Act (8 & 9 Vict. c. 20), incorporated as to damages, etc.

(b) Section 63 related only to penalties in Ireland, and was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1875.

* * * * * *

64. All things herein or in the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, authorised or required to be done by two justices may and shall be done by any one magistrate having by law authority to act alone for any purpose with the powers of two or more justices.

Powers of justices.

65. [False evidence] (a).

(a) Repealed by the Perjury Act, 1911.

And with respect to affording access to the special Act, be it enacted as follows:

Access to special Act.

66. The company shall at all times after the expiration of six months after the passing of the special Act keep in their principal office of business a copy of the special Act, printed by the printers to her Majesty, or some of them, and shall also within the space of such six months deposit in the office of the clerk of the peace of the county in which the cemetery is situated a copy of such special Act, so printed as aforesaid; and the said clerk of the peace shall receive, and he and the company respectively shall keep, the said copies of the special Act, and shall allow all persons interested therein to inspect the same, and make extracts or copies therefrom, in the like manner, and upon the like terms, and under the like penalty for default, as is provided in the case of certain plans and sections by the Parliamentary Documents Deposits Act, 1837.

Copies of special Act to be open to inspection.

7 Will. 4 & 1 Vict. c. 83.

67. If the company fail to keep or deposit any of the said copies of the special Act, as hereinbefore-mentioned, they shall forfeit twenty pounds for every such offence, and also five pounds for every day afterwards during which such copy shall be not so kept or deposited.

Penalty on company failing to keep or deposit such copies.

68. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to exempt the company from any general Act relating to burials in towns or populous places which may be passed in the same session of Parliament in which the special Act is passed, or any future session of Parliament.

Saving as to future Acts.

THE TOWN POLICE CLAUSES ACT, 1847.

(10 & 11 VICT. c. 89)(a).

An Act for consolidating in one Act certain provisions usually contained in Acts for regulating the Police of Towns. [22nd July, 1847.]

Incorporation with special Act.

[1.] This Act shall extend only to such towns or districts in England or Ireland as shall be comprised in any Act of Parliament hereafter to be passed which shall declare that this Act shall be incorporated therewith; and all the clauses of this Act, save so far as they shall be expressly varied or excepted by any such Act, shall apply to the town or district which shall be comprised in such Act, and to the commissioners appointed for improving and regulating the same, so far as such clauses shall be applicable thereto respectively, and shall, with the clauses of every other Act which shall be incorporated therewith, form part of such Act, and be construed therewith as forming one Act.

(a) For the incorporation of parts of this Act with the P. H. A., 1875, see s. 171 of that Act, ante, p. 411. This Act is amended by 52 & 53 Vict. c. 14, post, p. 2524, which extends to omnibuses the provisions of certain sections relating to hackney carriages.

Interpretation.

And with respect to the construction of this Act, whether incorporated in whole or in part with any other Act, and of any Act incorporated therewith, be it enacted as follows:

"The special Act."

2. The expression "the special Act" used in this Act shall be construed to mean any Act which shall be hereafter passed for the improvement or regulation of any town or district defined or comprised therein, and with which this Act shall be incorporated; and the word "prescribed" used in this Act in reference to any matter herein stated, shall be construed to refer to such matter as the same shall be prescribed or provided for in the special Act, and the sentence in which such word shall occur shall be construed as if instead of the word "prescribed" the expression "prescribed for that purpose in the special Act" had been used; and the expression "the commissioners" shall mean the commissioners, trustees, or other persons or body corporate intrusted by the special Act with powers for executing the purposes thereof.

"Prescribed."

"The commissioners."

3. The following words and expressions in both this and the special Act, and any Act incorporated therewith, shall have the meanings hereby assigned to them, unless there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction; (that is to say),

Section 3.

Interpretations in this and the special Act.

Words importing the singular number shall include the plural number, and words importing the plural number shall include the singular number: — Number.

Words importing the masculine gender shall include females: — Gender.

The word "person" shall include a corporation, whether aggregate or sole: — "Person."

The word "lands" shall include messuages, lands, tenements, and hereditaments, of any tenure: — "Lands."

The word "street" shall extend to and include any road, square, court, alley, and thoroughfare, or public passage, within the limits of the special Act (a): — "Street."

The word "month" shall mean calendar month: — "Month."

The expression "superior courts" shall mean her Majesty's superior courts of record at Westminster. . . . — "Superior courts."

The word "oath" shall include affirmation in the case of Quakers, and any declaration lawfully substituted for an oath in the case of any other persons allowed by law to make a declaration instead of taking an oath: — "Oath."

The word "county" shall include riding or other division of a county having a separate commission of the peace, and shall also include county of a city or county of a town: — "County."

The word "justice" shall mean justice of the peace acting for the county, city, borough, liberty, cinque port, or other place where the matter requiring the cognizance of any such justice arises; and where any matter shall be authorised or required to be done by two justices, the expression "two justices" shall be understood to mean two or more justices met and acting together: — "Justice." "Two justices."

The expression "quarter sessions" shall mean quarter sessions as defined in the special Act, and if such expression be not there defined shall mean the general or quarter sessions of the peace which shall be held in or at the place nearest to the district comprised within the special Act for the county in which such district or some part thereof is situated, or for some division of such county having a separate commission of the peace: — "Quarter sessions."

The word "cattle" shall include horses, asses, mules, sheep, goats, and swine. — "Cattle."

(a) It appears from Curtis v. Embery (1872), L. R. 7 Ex. 369, that in this Act the definition here given must be adopted. See also Jones v. Short (1900), 69 L. J. Q. B. 473; 64 J. P. 247.

See as to the meaning of this term, Maddock v. Wallasey L. B., ante, p. 2166; Heatherton v. Watson (1880), 7 Ct. of Sess. Cas. (4th ser.) (J.C.) 5. These cases decide that the seashore or foreshore is not a street; see also the notes to ss. 38 and 45, post, pp. 2242, 2245.

And with respect to citing this Act, or any part thereof, be it enacted as follows:

Citing the Act.

4. In citing this Act in other Acts of Parliament, and in legal instruments, it shall be enough to use the expression "The Town Police Clauses Act, 1847."

Short title of this Act.

5. For the purpose of incorporating part only of this Act with any Act hereafter to be passed, it shall be enough to describe the clauses of this Act with respect to any matter in the words introductory to the enactment with respect to such matter, and to enact that the clauses so described, or that

Form in which portions of this Act may be incorporated with other Acts.

Section 5. this Act, with the exception of the clauses so described, shall be incorporated with such Act; and thereupon all the clauses of this Act so incorporated shall, save so far as they are expressly varied or excepted by such Act, form part of such Act, and such Act shall be construed as if such clauses were set forth therein with reference to the matter to which such Act relates.

Obstructions and Nuisances.

And with respect to obstructions and nuisances in the streets, be it enacted as follows (a):

(a) It is to be observed that many of the offences mentioned in the following sections are punishable under the provisions of the Highway Acts and the Vagrancy Acts, which should, therefore, be referred to in further illustration of the meaning of these sections.

Power to make orders for preventing obstructions in the streets during public processions, etc.

21. The commissioners may from time to time make orders (a) for the route to be observed by all carts, carriages, horses, and persons, and for preventing obstruction of the streets, within the limits of the special Act, in all times of public processions, rejoicings, or illuminations, and in any case where the streets are thronged or liable to be obstructed (b), and may also give directions to the constables for keeping order and preventing any obstruction of the streets in the neighbourhood of theatres and other places of public resort; and every wilful breach of any such order shall be deemed a separate offence against this Act, and every person committing any such offence shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

(a) An urban authority acting under this section made an order that the constables stationed at certain crossings should give directions to the drivers of vehicles for the purpose of regulating the traffic. The driver of a motor cab was summoned for failing to stop his cab in accordance with the directions of the police officer, on duty, and was convicted. The Divisional Court held that the order implied an obligation on the part of drivers to obey the directions of the constable, and that, therefore, the appellant was rightly convicted (Dudderidge v. Rawlings (1913), 77 J. P. 167; 108 L. T. 802). See also s. 74 of the P. H. A., 1925, ante, p. 1620, and s. 9 of the London Traffic Act, 1924, post, p. 2860, as to the direction of traffic by police constables. As to the prohibition of hawking by costermongers at stated times, see Teale v. Williams, [1914] 3 K. B. 395; 78 J. P. 383; Edwards v. Wanstall (1930), 28 L. G. R. 38. An order under this section does not require confirmation by the M. of H. (ibid.).

(b) See s. 28, post, p. 2230, and Fox v. Palmer (1858), 22 J. P. 449, in regard to an obstruction by running horses in the access to a market. As to obstruction by a theatre queue, see the cases cited in note (p), to s. 28, post, p. 2234.

Power to regulate the route of persons driving stage carriages, etc. near places of worship during hours of Divine service.

22. On application to the commissioners by the minister or churchwardens or chapelwardens of any church, chapel, or other place of public worship within the limits of the special Act, the commissioners may make orders for regulating the route by which persons shall drive (a) any cart or carriage, or cattle, or the manner in which they shall drive them, in the neighbourhood of such places of worship, during the hours of Divine service on Sunday, Christmas Day, Good Friday, or any day appointed for a public fast or thanksgiving; and any orders so made shall be printed or put up on or near the church, chapel, or place of public worship to which the same refer, and in some conspicuous places near and leading thereto, and elsewhere as the commissioners direct; and every wilful breach of any such order shall be deemed a separate offence against this Act, and every person committing any such offence shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

(a) A local Act for a parish in which there was a large cattle market enacted that it shall not be lawful for any drover or other person to conduct or drive through any of the streets in the parish any oxen, sheep, or other cattle during Sunday:—Held, that a person driving a van with horses, in which were calves being conveyed to the market, was not driving or conducting cattle within the meaning of the statute (Triggs v. Lester (1866), L. R. 1 Q. B. 259; 30 J. P. 238).

Power to stage carriages to deviate from route under

23. No proprietor of any stage carriage duly licensed to carry passengers for hire shall be liable to any penalty for any deviation from the route or line of route specified in his licence which the driver of such stage carriage order of commissioners.

makes in consequence of any regulation or direction made or given by the commissioners (a).

(a) See Chorlton v. Liggett (1910), 74 J. P. 458; 103 L. T. 543. As no stage carriages are now licensed under the general law, this section is now inoperative.

Power to impound stray cattle.

24. If any cattle be at any time found at large in any street within the limits of the special Act, without any person having the charge thereof (a), any constable or officer of police, or any person residing within the limits of the special Act, may seize and impound such cattle in any common pound within the said limits, or in such other place as the commissioners appoint for that purpose, and may detain the same therein until the owner thereof pay to the commissioners a penalty not exceeding forty shillings, besides the reasonable expenses of impounding and keeping such cattle (b).

(a) Under 4 Geo. 4, c. 95, s. 75, horses grazing on the side of a turnpike road with a man in charge of them were held not liable to be impounded as wandering, straying, or lying about the road (Morris v. Jeffries (1866), L. R. 1 Q. B. 261).

(b) The Protection of Animals Act, 1911, s. 7 (1), requires persons impounding animals to supply them with food and water, and imposes a fine for neglect of the duty. This provision does not apply to the keeper of the pound (Dargan v. Davies (1877), 2 Q. B. D. 118; 41 J. P. 468, decided under corresponding repealed provisions). The Act of 1911 also allows strangers to enter the pound and provide food and water under certain circumstances. The reasonable cost of food and water supplied is recoverable from the owners summarily (s. 7 (2), (3)). Under 1 & 2 Phil. & M. c. 12, s. 2, no person may take for impounding more than fourpence for any one whole distress, under the pain of £5 to the party grieved.

Power to sell cattle impounded for payment of penalty and expenses, after notice or advertisement.

25. If the said penalty and expenses be not paid within three days after such impounding, the pound-keeper or other person appointed by the commissioners for that purpose may proceed to sell or cause to be sold any such cattle; but previous to such sale seven days' notice thereof shall be given to or left at the dwelling-house or place of abode of the owner of such cattle, if he be known, or if not, then notice of such intended sale shall be given by advertisement, to be inserted seven days before such sale in some newspaper published or circulated within the limits of the special Act; and the money arising from such sale, after deducting the said sums and the expenses aforesaid, and all other expenses attending the impounding, advertising, keeping, and sale of any such cattle so impounded, shall be paid to the commissioners, and shall be by them paid, on demand, to the owner of the cattle so sold.

Persons guilty of pound breach to be committed for three months.

26. Every person who releases or attempts to release any cattle from any pound or place where the same are impounded under the authority of this or the special Act, or who pulls down, damages, or destroys the same pound or place, or any part thereof, with intent to procure the unlawful release of such cattle, shall, upon conviction of such offence before any two justices, be committed by them to some common gaol or house of correction for any time not exceeding three months (a).

(a) Compare 6 & 7 Vict. c. 30, s. 1, as to pound-breach, and see R. v. Gee (1885), 49 J. P. 212, 243; 1 T. L. R. 388, decided with reference to that Act.

Power to provide a pound.

27. The commissioners may purchase a piece of land within the limits of the special Act for the purpose of a pound for stray animals, and may erect a pound thereon, and such pound when made shall be kept in repair by the commissioners (a).

(a) A person who distrains cattle is bound to impound them in a proper pound; and if the usual pound is in an unfit state, he must find another (Bignell v. Clarke (1860), 5 H. & N. 485; 29 L. J. Ex. 257). If the pound is wet and muddy, the distrainors are liable for any damage thereby caused to the distress (Wilder v. Speer (1838), 8 A. & E. 547; 7 L. J. Q. B. 249). As to the distance which animals may be taken to a pound, see Coaker v. Willcocks, [1911] 2 K. B. 124; 27 T. L. R. 357.

Penalty on persons committing any of the offences herein named.

28. Every person who in any street (a), to the obstruction, annoyance or danger (b) of the residents or passengers (c), commits any of the following offences, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for each offence, or, in the discretion of the justice before whom he is convicted, may be committed to prison, there to remain for a period not exceeding fourteen days; and any constable (d) or other officer appointed by virtue of this or the special Act shall take into custody, without warrant, and forthwith convey before a justice, any person who within his view commits any such offence; (that is to say,)

Every person who exposes for show, hire, or sale (except in a market or market place or fair lawfully appointed for that purpose) any horse or other animal, or exhibits in a caravan or otherwise any show or public entertainment, or shoes, bleeds, or farries any horse or animal (except in cases of accident), or cleans, dresses, exercises (e), trains, or breaks, or turns loose any horse or animal (f), or makes or repairs any part of any cart or carriage (except in cases of accident (g) where repair on the spot is necessary):

Every person who suffers to be at large any unmuzzled ferocious dog, or sets on or urges any dog or other animal to attack, worry, or put in fear any person or animal (h):

Every owner of any dog who suffers such dog to go at large, knowing or having reasonable ground for believing it to be in a rabid state, or to have been bitten by any dog or other animal in a rabid state (i):

Every person who after public notice given by any justice, directing dogs to be confined on account of suspicion of canine madness, suffers any dog to be at large during the time specified in such notice:

Every person who slaughters or dresses any cattle, or any part thereof, except in the case of any cattle over-driven which may have met with some accident, and which for the public safety or other reasonable cause ought to be killed on the spot (j):

Every person having the care of any waggon, cart, or carriage, who rides on the shafts thereof, or who without having reins, and holding the same, rides upon such waggon, cart, or carriage, or on any animal drawing the same, or who is at such a distance from such waggon, cart, or carriage, as not to have due control over every animal drawing the same (k), or who does not, in meeting any other carriage, keep his waggon, cart, or carriage to the left or near side (l), or who in passing any other carriage does not keep his waggon, cart, or carriage on the right or off side of the road, (except in cases of actual necessity, or some sufficient reason for deviation,) or who, by obstructing the street, wilfully prevents any person or carriage from passing him, or any waggon, cart, or carriage under his care:

Every person who at one time drives more than two carts or waggons, and every person driving two carts or waggons who has not the halter of the horse in the last cart or waggon securely fastened to the back of the first cart or waggon, or has such halter of a greater length from such fastening to the horse's head than four feet (m):

Every person who rides or drives furiously any horse or carriage, or drives furiously any cattle (n):

Every person who causes any public carriage, sledge, truck, or barrow, with or without horses, or any beast of burden, to stand longer than is necessary for loading or unloading goods, or for taking up or setting down passengers, (except hackney carriages, and horses and other beasts of draught or burthen, standing for hire in any place appointed for that purpose by the commissioners or other lawful authority,) and every person who, by means of any cart, carriage, sledge, truck, or barrow, or any animal, or other means (o) wilfully interrupts any public crossing, or wilfully causes any obstruction in any public footpath or other public thoroughfare (p):

Every person who causes any tree or timber or iron beam to be drawn in or upon any carriage, without having sufficient means of safely guiding the same:

Every person who leads or rides any horse or other animal, or draws or drives any cart or carriage, sledge, truck, or barrow, upon any footway of any street, or fastens any horse or other animal so that it stands across or upon any footway:

Every person who places or leaves any furniture, goods, wares, or merchandise, or any cask, tub, basket, pail, or bucket, or places or uses any standing-place, stool, bench, stall, or showboard, on any footway (q), or who places any blind, shade, covering, awning, or other projection over or along any such footway, unless such blind, shade, covering, awning, or other projection is eight feet in height at least in every part thereof from the ground:

Every person who places, hangs up, or otherwise exposes to sale any goods, wares, merchandise, matter, or thing whatsover, so that the same project into or over any footway, or beyond the line of any house, shop, or building at which the same are so exposed, so as to obstruct or incommode the passage of any person over or along such footway (r):

Every person who rolls or carries any cask, tub, hoop, or wheel, or any ladder, plank, pole, timber, or log of wood, upon any footway, except for the purpose of loading or unloading any cart or carriage, or of crossing the footway (s):

Every person who places any line, cord, or pole across any street, or hangs or places any clothes thereon (t):

Every common prostitute or nightwalker loitering and importuning passengers for the purpose of prostitution (u):

Every person who wilfully and indecently exposes his person (x):

Every person who publicly offers for sale or distribution, or exhibits to public view any profane, indecent, or obscene book, paper, print, drawing, painting, or representation, or sings any profane or obscene song or ballad, or uses any profane or obscene language (y):

Every person who wantonly discharges any firearm, or throws or discharges any stone or other missile, or makes any bonfire, or throws or sets fire to any firework (z):

Every person who wilfully and wantonly disturbs any inhabitant, by pulling or ringing any door bell, or knocking at any door (aa), or who wilfully and unlawfully extinguishes the light of any lamp:

Every person who flies any kite, or who makes or uses any slide upon ice or snow:

Every person who cleanses, hoops, fires, washes, or scalds any cask or tubs, or hews, saws, bores, or cuts any timber or stone, or slacks, sifts, or screens any lime:

Every person who throws or lays down any stones, coals, slate, shells, lime, bricks, timber, iron, or other materials (except building materials so inclosed as to prevent mischief to passengers) (bb):

Every person who beats or shakes any carpet, rug, or mat (except door mats beaten or shaken before the hour of eight in the morning):

Every person who fixes or places any flower-pot or box, or other heavy article, in any upper window, without sufficiently guarding the same against being blown down:

Every person who throws from the roof or any part of any house or other building any slate, brick, wood, rubbish, or other thing, except snow thrown so as not to fall on any passenger:

Section 28.

Every occupier of any house or other building, or other person, who orders or permits any person in his service to stand on the sill of any window, in order to clean, paint, or perform any other operation upon the outside of such window, or upon any house or other building within the said limits, unless such window be in the sunk or basement story:

Every person who leaves open any vault or cellar, or the entrance from any street to any cellar or room underground, without a sufficient fence or handrail, or leaves defective the door, window, or other covering of any vault or cellar, or who does not sufficiently fence any area, pit, or sewer left open, or who leaves such open area, pit, or sewer without a sufficient light after sunset to warn and prevent persons from falling thereinto (cc):

Every person who throws or lays any dirt, litter, or ashes, or nightsoil, or any carrion, fish, offal, or rubbish, on any street, or causes any offensive matter to run from any manufactory, brewery, slaughter-house, butcher's shop, or dunghill, into any street (dd): Provided always, that it shall not be deemed an offence to lay sand or other materials in any street in time of frost, to prevent accidents, or litter or other suitable materials to prevent the freezing of water in pipes, or in case of sickness to prevent noise, if the party laying any such things causes them to be removed as soon as the occasion for them ceases:

Every person who keeps any pigsty to the front of any street, not being shut out from such street by a sufficient wall or fence, or who keeps any swine in or near any street, so as to be a common nuisance (ee).

(a) See the definition in s. 3, ante, p. 2227, and compare the definition in the P. H. A., 1875, s. 4, ante, p. 16. See also in relation to certain offences under this section the provisions of s. 81 of the P. H. A., 1907, ante, p. 1150.

(b) These words govern the whole of the section. Compare the language of the Highway Act, 1835, s. 72, and the cases decided thereon: Stinson v. Browning (1866), L. R. 1 C. P. 321; 30 J. P. 312; Hill v. Somerset (1887), 51 J. P. 356. See also Brotherton v. Tittensor (1896), 60 J. P. 72; Strickland v. Hayes, [1896] 1 Q. B. 290; 60 J. P. 164; Mantle v. Jordan, [1897] 1 Q. B. 248; 61 J. P. 119. But in proceedings for an offence it is not necessary to call persons who have been actually annoyed, etc. (Woolley v. Corbishley (1860), 24 J. P. 773; Read v. Perrett, ante, p. 2205; R. v. Fermanagh JJ. (1883), 14 L. R. Ir. 50; McDonald v. White (1882), 9 Ct. of Sess. Cas. (4th ser.), p. 43; Black v. Simpson (1883), 5 Coup., Ct. of Justiciary Cas. (Scotland), p. 212; Semon v. Read (1879), 4 Coup. 221; Leisk v. Galloway (1885), 12 Ct. of Sess. Cas. (4th ser.) (J. C.) 5; Dunn v. Holt (1904), 68 J. P. 271; Hinde v. Evans (1906), 70 J. P. 548; Lees v. Stone (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 1159; 83 J. P. 163). See, however, Stanley v. Ferndale (1892), 56 J. P. 709, where a conviction under a local Act was quashed on the ground that there was no evidence besides that of the constable that there was any annoyance. But where a byelaw of a borough provided that if any person should make any noise in the streets to the annoyance of the inhabitants he should be guilty of an offence, upon a summons against a newspaper boy for shouting out the name of a newspaper incessantly for six minutes, etc., it was held that it was not necessary to prove that more than one inhabitant had in fact been annoyed thereby (Innes v. Newman, [1894] 2 Q. B. 292; 58 J. P. 543). But the information should state the name of the person alleged to have been annoyed; see per Lord Salvesen in Graham v. M'Lennan, [1911] S. C. (J.) 16.

(c) A byelaw contained the words "so as to constitute any reasonable ground of complaint to the passengers or the public," and the penalty was the same whichever class of persons had ground for complaint. Where an information and conviction described the offence as "contrary to the byelaw" without stating in terms any reasonable ground of complaint to the passengers or the public, or either of them, it was held that this statement was insufficient and the conviction was quashed (Cotterill v. Lempriere (1890), 24 Q. B. D. 634; 54 J. P. 583).

(d) This term includes any superintendent of police, and any constable or officer of police acting for or in the district of any urban authority (the P. H. A., 1875, s. 171, ante, p. 411). The police who arrest an offender against this section were held to require no authority to prosecute under s. 253 of the P. H. A., ante, p. 558 (Jobson v. Henderson (1900), 64 J. P. 425; 82 L. T. 260). See, however, the comments on that case in Sheffield Corporation v. Kitson (1929), 93 J. P. 135; 27 L. G. R. 533. In the last-mentioned case it was held that proceedings for a penalty under a provision of this Act incorporated with the P. H. A., 1875, must be recovered in accordance with s. 253 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 558.

Note to Section 28.

(e) See Heatherton v. Watson, ante, p. 2227.

(f) The owner of land adjoining a highway claiming the herbage on the side of the latter put his cattle thereon:—Held, that this was not turning an animal loose thereon (Sherborn v. Wells (1863), 27 J. P. 566; 3 B. & S. 784). See also the provisions of the Highway Acts as to animals straying upon highways, 5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 50, s. 74, and 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 25, and the cases decided on these sections; Morris v. Jeffries (1866), L. R. 1 Q. B. 261; 30 J. P. 198; Lawrence v. King (1868), L. R. 3 Q. B. 345; 32 J. P. 310; Golding v. Stocking (1869), L. R. 4 Q. B. 516; 33 J. P. 566: Bothamley v. Danby (1871), 24 L. See also the provisions of this Act as to impounding animals, ss. 24—27, ante, p. 2229. As to the liability of a person for damage caused by animals while being driven along a street, see Phillips v. Nicoll (1884), 11 Ct. of Sess. Cas. (4th ser.) 592; Tillett v. Ward (1882), 10 Q. B. D. 17; 47 J. P. 438; Goodwyn v. Cheveley (1859), 4 H. & N. 631; and generally as to leading or driving animals in streets, see s. 80 of the P. H. A., 1907; Turnbull v. Wieland (1917), 33 T. L. R. 143. It should be noticed that although the owner of animals may be liable to a penalty under the Highway Acts for allowing them to stray on a highway, these acts impose no civil liability on the owner. See Heath's Garage, Ltd. v. Hodges, [1916] 2 K. B. 370; 80 J. P. 321.

(g) A motor omnibus broke down and was unable to proceed on its journey under its own mechanism. It was pushed into a side street and there repaired. It was held that this was not a case where repair on the spot was necessary, as if it could be pushed so far it could be pushed further, and the owner was not protected by the excepting clause in a similar section (Chapman v. Rawlings (1909), 73 J. P. 512; 101 L. T. 605).

(h) See also 57 & 58 Vict. c. 57, s. 226, as to the powers of the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries to make muzzling orders, and the Dogs Act, 1906, which deals with the liability of owners of dogs for injury to cattle, enables the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries to make orders as to wearing of collars, etc., and provides for the seizure of stray dogs, etc. The Board made an Order as to the wearing of collars under the Diseases of Animals Acts, 1894—1909, dated February 8th, 1910. As to liability of master for injury to a third person caused by servant setting on dog, see Baker v. Snell, [1908] 2 K. B. 825. As to liability of the owner for injuries to cattle, sheep, and poultry, see the Dogs Acts, 1906 and 1928. The following cases as to the law as it stood under the now repealed Dogs Act, 1865, may also be referred to, viz.: Wright v. Pearson (1869), L. R. 4 Q. B. 582; 33 J. P. 534; Lewis v. Jones (1884), 49 J. P. 198; Grange v. Silcock (1897), 61 J. P. 709; 77 L. T. 340; Elliott v. Longden (1901), 17 T. L. R. 648; Gardner v. Hart (1896), 44 W. R. 527; M'Kone v. Wood (1831), 5 C. & P. 1. The removal of a dog which is dangerous and is not kept under proper control from the jurisdiction of a police court after the date of the alleged offence and before the date of the information or complaint, does not take away the power of the magistrates under s. 2 of the Dogs Act, 1871, to make an order against the owner that the dog is to be destroyed, provided that there has been no bonâ fide disposal of the dog (Lockett v. Withey (1908), 72 J. P. 492; 25 T. L. R. 16). Where justices made an order under the same section that a dangerous dog "should be kept under proper control and led by a leash by day and chained up at night," the court refused to make absolute a rule for a mandamus to state a case on the ground that the point could have been more conveniently raised by certiorari (R. v. Owen, Ex parte Scorell (1907), 72 J. P. 60; 52 Sol. J. 132).

(i) Proof that the defendant knew his dog had been bitten by a mad dog was held sufficient evidence of scienter in Jones v. Perry (1796), 2 Esp. 482.

(j) See the Protection of Animals Act, 1911, empowering the police to cause injured animals to be slaughtered, without the consent of the owner, after obtaining a veterinary certificate; and making the expenses recoverable from the owner as a civil debt.

(l) There is not at common law any such rule of the road as to make the left always the proper side. See Finegan v. L. & N. W. Rail. Co. (1889), 53 J. P. 663; 5 T. L. R. 598. As to the power of the local authority to make regulations as to street traffic, see s. 78 of the P. H. A., 1907, ante, p. 1149. The absence of other traffic on the road is a good defence to proceedings under a byelaw similar to the text (Bolton v. Everett (1911), 75 J. P. 534; 105 L. T. 830). And see Chorlton v. Liggett (1910), 74 J. P. 458; 103 L. T. 543; Nuttall v. Pickering, [1913] 1 K. B. 14; 77 J. P. 30. For a case of alleged obstruction in passing a tramway car in a street where there was a double set of lines, see Sleith v. Godfrey (1920), 18 L. G. R. 727; 85 J. P. 46. And as to passing led horses on a road, see per Lord Mackenzie in Umphray v. Ganson, [1917] S. C. 371.

(m) See Robertson v. Burkitt (1858), 7 W. R. 50.

Note to Section 28.

(n) See Chatterton v. Parker, [1914] 78 J. P. 339. Note that this clause, unlike 5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 50, s. 78, includes riding as well as driving furiously. See Williams v. Evans (1876), 1 Ex. D. 277; 41 J. P. 151. See also 24 & 25 Vict. c. 100, s. 35, and s. 74 of the P. H. A., 1925, ante, p. 1620. A bicycle is a carriage within this provision (Taylor v. Goodwin (1879), 4 Q. B. D. 228; 43 J. P. 653; McKee v. Magrath (1892), 30 L. R. Ir. 41). A motor bicycle is a carriage within the meaning of the Customs and Inland Revenue Act, 1888, s. 4 (O'Donoghue v. Moon (1904), 68 J. P. 349; 90 L. T. 843; and see Elieson v. Parker (1917), 81 J. P. 265). See, further, as to bicycles and tricycles, the L. G. A., 1888, s. 85, ante, p. 817. By s. 1 (1) (b) of the Locomotives on Highways Act, 1896, a light locomotive is a carriage within the meaning of this section, and by s. 9 of the Motor Car Act, 1903, no motor car shall travel along a public highway at a greater speed than twenty miles an hour, or than any less speed that may be prescribed for any limits by regulations of the Minister of Transport. Notice of a local speed limit must be given by notices on the highway. Penalties are imposed by s. 9 for an infringement of the speed limit.

(o) Three defendants were convicted by the defendant justices, under this section, for obstructing passengers in the public street and unlawfully preventing persons passing there. It appeared by the evidence of a police constable that the three defendants were standing, with three or four other persons on the pavement, blocking up the same. Several persons had to leave the footpath and go into the road in order to pass. The constable spoke to the defendants, and asked them to move off. They then walked up the street, all three abreast, causing passengers who met them to leave the footpath and go into the road:—Held, that the conviction was wrong, and could not be sustained (R. v. Long (1888), 52 J. P. 630; 59 L. T. 33). It was said in Gill v. Carson (infra) that R. v. Long had been impliedly overruled by Hinde v. Evans, infra. And see R. v. Williams (1891), 55 J. P. 406.

A shopkeeper in a borough placed goods upon the pavement in front of his shop for sale. Upon being summoned under this section for obstructing the footway, he contended that he bonâ fide claimed the right to place his goods there. The justices considered that their jurisdiction was ousted, but stated a case:—Held, that the justices ought to determine whether the land on which the goods were placed was part of the public highway or not, and that unless the defendant established a restricted dedication no question as to a claim of right arose (Leicester Urban Sanitary Authority v. Holland (1888), 52 J. P. 788, 57 L. J. M. C. 75). To a complaint before justices under the section for obstructing a public footway, it is a good defence that such footway was dedicated to the public subject to the right of the defendant to commit the acts of obstruction complained of, and such defence if raised bonâ fide ousts the jurisdiction of the justices. The evidence, however, to establish such a defence should be of a cogent character (R. v. Londonderry JJ., [1902] 2 I. R. 266). See also note (b) to s. 69 of the T. I. C. Act, 1847, ante, p. 2204.

(p) When an undoubted obstruction is proved, the plaintiff need not call persons to prove that they were obstructed, and, on the other hand, no evidence can be called to prove that they were not obstructed. See Read v. Perrett, ante, p. 2205; McDonald v. White, ante, p. 2232. Whether a person wilfully causes an obstruction in a public thoroughfare is in each case a question of degree depending upon the particular facts (Dunn v. Holt (1904), 73 L. J. K. B. 341; 68 J. P. 271; Lowdens v. Keaveney (1903), 67 J. P. 378). The fact that a horse and cart have been placed in charge of some one does not afford a defence to proceedings if there has been obstruction in point of fact. See Hinde v. Evans (1906), 70 J. P. 548. On the other hand, there must be some evidence of obstruction, and where the only evidence was that two carters had left their carts outside a public house while they went in for refreshment, the Court quashed the conviction (Gill v. Carson, [1917] 2 K. B. 674; 81 J. P. 250). A person who had a caravan for the sale of goods stationed in a market place near what was described as a footpath, over which a crowd collected and obstructed the passage:—Held, that he was not guilty of an offence against this clause (Ball v. Ward (1875), 40 J. P. 213; 33 L. T. 170). An obstruction is not caused by persons stopping and talking in the street, unless it is done wilfully and pertinaciously (Wemyss v. Black (1881), 8 Ct. of Cess. Cas. (Just.) (4th ser.), 25). An indictable obstruction may be caused by attracting a crowd by means of pictures, etc., in shop windows (R. v. Carlile (1832), 6 C. & P. 636; and see 46 J. P. 19). A street preacher who collected a crowd in a highway was held rightly convicted under 5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 50, s. 72, though there was room outside the crowd for foot passengers and vehicles to pass and repass (Homer v. (Cadman 1886), 55 L. J. M. C. 110; 50 J. P. 454). And see Back v. Holmes (1887), 57 L. J. M. C. 37; 51 J. P. 693; Ex parte Lewis (1888), 21 Q. B. D. 191; 52 J. P. 773; Burden v. Rigler, [1911] 1 K. B. 337; 75 J. P. 36. A person who by carrying on a theatre causes a crowd to assemble and obstruct the highway, thereby creating a nuisance to private adjoining owners, is answerable for the obstruction if it be the necessary result of his acts, even though it be not his actual object (Lyons, Son & Co. v. Gulliver and Capital Syndicate, Ltd., [1914] 1 Ch. 631; 78 J. P. 98; 30 T. L. R. 75). There is no difference of principle in this respect between outdoor and indoor entertainments (Barber v. Penley, [1893] 2 Ch. 447, and see Wagstaffe v. Edison (1893), 10 T. L. R. 80). A person riding a bicycle on a footpath by the side of a public road was held rightly convicted under an Irish Act (14 & 15 Vict. c. 92, s. 13) of obstructing the free passage of foot passengers, although no evidence was produced of any foot passengers having been actually obstructed (McKee v. Magrath (1892), 30 L. R. Ir. 41). See also R. v. Simpson, Times, January 23rd, 1895. Where there is a public way, though it may only be a bridleway or footway, the public are entitled to use the full width of it, though it may be a private way for carriages (Pullen v. Deffel, W. N. (1891), 39; 64 L. T. 134). But the presumption applicable to an ordinary public highway bounded by fences is not applicable to a public footpath which passes through a lane of irregular shape and of varying breadth between the fences. In such a case there is no presumption that the public right extends over the whole space between the fences (Ford v. Harrow U. D. C. (1903), 67 J. P. 248; 88 L. T. 394). Persons using a traction engine and trucks on a highway six hours daily for seven weeks cannot be found guilty on indictment for a nuisance, unless they create a substantial obstruction and occasion delay and inconvenience to the public substantially greater than would have been caused by horses and carts (R. v. Chittenden (1885), 15 Cox, C. C. 725). This clause will not apply to a place like a mews, which is not a street, and is only dedicated to the public subject to certain restrictions arising from its use (Vestry of Chelsea v. Stoddart (1879), 43 J. P. 782). The cases decided with reference to the Highway Act, 1835, s. 72, should be referred to in illustration of this clause, and see Nuttall v. Pickering, [1913] 1 K. B. 14; 77 J. P. 30. As to claims to erect booths, etc., on highways during a fair, see Simson v. Wells (1872), 26 L. T. 163; a claim to expose goods for sale on market day, R. (Kennedy) v. Cork County JJ., [1912] 2 I. R. 391; a claim by an innkeeper to allow his guest's carriage to remain in the highway, Gerring v. Barfield (1864), 28 J. P. 615; holding a fair on a highway, Elwood v. Bullock (1844), 6 Q. B. 383; R. v. Smith (1802), 4 Esp. 109. To allow trees to grow over a highway is not a wilful obstruction (Walker v. Horner (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 4; 39 J. P. 773). Nor is there any liability under the Highway Acts on an occupier of land for failing to light a tree which has fallen across a road or to warn passengers of the obstruction thereby caused, Hudson v. Bray, [1917] 1 K. B. 520; 81 J. P. 105. But any unreasonable and unnecessary use of a highway is an obstruction, e.g., leaving a horse-van and ploughing gear standing by the side of a highway (Harris v. Mobbs (1878), 3 Ex. D. 268); or leaving a roller (Wilkins v. Day (1884), 12 Q. B. D. 110; 48 J. P. 6); or a motor car (Macfarlane v. Colam, [1908] S C. 56) so as to frighten horses; leaving a heap of earth and refuse by the side of a highway, so as to frighten horses (Brown v. Eastern and Midlands Rail. Co. (1889), 22 Q. B. D. 391; 53 J. P. 342). As to obstructions caused by the erection of barbed wire fences by the side of a highway, see 56 & 57 Vict. c. 32, post, p. 2553; Stewart v. Wright (1893), 9 T. L. R. 480; Collen v. Ellis (1893), 32 L. R. Ir. 491. As to the liability of a highway surveyor for leaving heaps of stones on a highway, see Hardcastle v. Bielby and the other cases cited, ante, p. 274.

As to the liability of a landowner whose soil slips from the banks upon the highway, see Gully v. Smith (1884), 12 Q. B. D. 121; 48 J. P. 309.

(q) There is sometimes a strip of land between the footway and the carriageway which is not dedicated to the public as part of the street. This clause would not affect the right to place goods, etc., upon it. See Le Neve v. Mile End Old Town Vestry, ante, p. 20; R. v. Wigan JJ. (1879), 43 J. P. 220; Jones v. Matthews (1884), 1 T. L. R. 482; Hitchman v. Watt (1894), 58 J. P. 720. But in general, if a person asserts the right to obstruct the way by virtue of a qualified dedication he must prove it. See Spice v. Peacock (1875), 39 J. P. 581; Whittaker v. Rhodes (1881), 46 J. P. 182; Openshaw v. Pickering (1913), 77 J. P. 27. But in such cases it is for the justices to determine whether or not the place is a street (R. v. Young (1882), 52 L. J. M. C. 55; 47 J. P. 519; Leicester Sanitary Authority v. Holland, ante, p. 2234). As to projections causing inconvenience to passengers, see the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847, s. 69, ante, p. 2204; and compare the cases of Wyatt v. Gems, [1893] 2 Q. B. 225; 57 J. P. 665; and Winsborrow v. London Joint Stock Bank (1903), 67 J. P. 289; 88 L. T. 803. As to what are extenuating circumstances which will justify the dismissal of the summons, see Dunning v. Trainer (1909), 73 J. P. 400; 101 L. T. 421.

(r) As applied to costermongers there must be a real and substantial annoyance in fact in order to justify a conviction (R. v. Francis (1899), 68 L. J. Q. B. 609; 63 J. P. 469); and as to the meaning of the word costermonger, see Baker v. Bradley (1911), 33 M. C. C. 6.

(s) As to the right of the occupier of premises to have free access to the highway for his goods, even though in taking these across the footway he injures it, see St. Mary, Newington, Vestry v. Jacobs (1871), L. R. 7 Q. B. 47; 36 J. P. 119. See also Le Neve v. Mile End Old Town, ante, p. 20; Rowley v. Tottenham U. D. C., [1914] A. C. 95; 78 J. P. 97; and Curtis v. Geeves (1930), 28 L. G. R. 103. Sometimes, however, a local Act forbids certain acts which interrupt the use of a footway, e.g., unloading coal during certain hours. See Fletcher v. Fields, [1891] 1 Q. B. 790; 55 J. P. 502.

(t) An iron pole and a canvas flag hanging therefrom do not constitute a "sign" within the meaning of a local Act (Goldstraw v. Jones (1907), 71 J. P. 22; 96 L. T. 30).

Note to Section 28.

(u) A similar clause in a Scotch Act was held not to apply to the case of a prostitute accosting men from the window of a house (Ford v. Linton (1879), 6 Ct. of Sess. Cas. (4th ser.) (J. C.) 49). As to the meaning of the expressions "prostitute" and "prostitution," see R. v. De Munck, [1918] 1 K. B. 635; 82 J. P. 160.

(x) Note that the offence here described must be committed in a street. But the offence may be the subject of indictment, though not committed in a public place (R. v. Wellard (1884), 14 Q. B. D. 63; 49 J. P. 296).

(y) Compare the provisions of the Vagrancy Act, 1824, ss. 3, 4. The 20 & 21 Vict. c. 83, contains other provisions to prevent the sale of obscene books, pictures, prints, and other articles. See R. v. Hicklin (1868), L. R. 3 Q. B. 360; S. C. sub nom. R. v. Wolverhampton Recorder, 18 L. T. 395; Steele v. Brannan (1872), L. R. 7 C. P. 264; 36 J. P. 676; Scott v. Wolverhampton (1868), 32 J. P. 533, as to what are obscene books, etc. See also the Indecent Advertisements Act, 1889.

A byelaw made under s. 46 of the Tramways Act, 1870, post, that no person shall swear or use obscene or offensive language whilst in or upon any carriage was held not ultra vires although this section was in force also in the same city (Gentel v. Rapps, [1902] 1 K. B. 160; 66 J. P. 117). A byelaw forbidding the use of indecent language in any street or public place to the annoyance of passengers cannot be held to apply to such language used in a public house and heard only by persons present therein (Russon v. Dutton (No. 2) (1911), 75 J. P. 209; 104 L. T. 601).

(z) This is practically abrogated as to fireworks by 38 & 39 Vict. c. 17, s. 80. See as to blasting in a quarry (Murray v. Keith (1895), 22 Ct. of Sess. Cas. (4th ser.) (J. C.) 17). A person may also be indicted at common law or under 2 Edw. 3, c. 3, for going about armed (R. v. Meade (1903), 19 T. L. R. 540). For a case in which it was alleged that there had been an offence under s. 72 of the Highway Act, 1835, by a member of a shooting party, see Lees v. Stone (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 1159; 83 J. P. 163.

(aa) The mere fact of a man being instructed to deliver papers at a house is no answer to a complaint under this clause if the ringing, etc., is violent and at an unreasonable hour of the night (Clarke v. Hoggins (1862), 11 C. B. (n.s.) 545). By s. 1 of the Chimney Sweepers Act, 1894, any person who shall for the purpose of soliciting employment as a chimney sweeper knock at the houses from door to door, or ring a bell, or use any noisy instrument, or to the annoyance of any inhabitant thereof ring the door bell of any house, or cause anyone to do any of the acts aforesaid, shall be liable on summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding ten shillings for the first offence, and to a penalty not exceeding twenty shillings for any subsequent offence.

(bb) A claim of right does not necessarily oust jurisdiction under this section, for the court has to decide as a fact whether the place is a street (R. v. Young, ante, p. 2235).

(cc) See the cases collected in note (b) to s. 69, T. I. C. Act, 1847, ante, p. 2204.

(dd) This must be within the urban district. See Flight v. Clarke (1844), 13 M. & W. 155. "Litter" includes handbills scattered about the street (Hills v. Davies (1903), 67 J. P. 198; 88 L. T. 464). As to laying rubble on a highway contrary to the Highway Act, 1835, s. 72, see Smith v. Perry, [1906] 1 K. B. 262; 70 J. P. 93.

(ee) See also the P. H. A., 1875, ss. 44, 47, ante, pp. 120, 123.

Penalty on drunken persons, etc. guilty of riotous or indecent behaviour.

29. Every person drunk in any street, and guilty of any riotous or indecent (a) behaviour therein, and also every person guilty of any violent or indecent behaviour in any police office or any police-station house, within the limits of the special Act, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for every such offence, or, in the discretion of the justice before whom he is convicted, to imprisonment for a period not exceeding seven days (b).

(a) See note (u) to s. 28, supra.

(b) Where a charge is made under this clause, and the justices do not find that the defendant has been guilty of riotous conduct in a street, they cannot convict of simple drunkenness (Martin v. Pridgeon (1859), 1 El. & El. 778; 28 L. J. M. C. 179). See also the Licensing Act, 1872, s. 12, and the Licensing Act, 1902, ss. 1—3.

Fires.

And with respect to fires, be it enacted as follows:

Penalty for wilfully setting chimneys on fire.

30. Every person who wilfully sets or causes to be set on fire any chimney within the limits of the special Act, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds: Provided always, that nothing herein contained shall exempt the person so setting or causing to be set on fire any chimney from liability to be indicted for felony.

Penalty for accidentally

31. If any chimney accidentally catch or be on fire within the said limits, the person occupying or using the premises in which such chimney is situated shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten shillings: Provided always, that such forfeiture shall not be incurred if such person prove to the satisfaction of the justice before whom the case is heard that such fire was in nowise owing to omission, neglect, or carelessness of himself or servant (a).

allowing chimneys to catch fire.

(a) The occupier has not, as in London under s. 30 of the L. C. C. (General Powers) Act, 1900 (63 & 64 Vict. c. cclxviii), any remedy over against the servant or other person by whose wilful neglect or default the chimney caught fire. See, generally, as to chimneys on fire, 61 J. P. 179.

Commissioners may provide fire engines and firemen.

32. The commissioners may purchase or provide such engines for extinguishing fire, and such water buckets, pipes, and other appurtenances for such engines, and such fire escapes and other implements for safety or use in case of fire, and may purchase, keep, or hire such horses for drawing such engines, as they think fit, and may build, provide, or hire places for keeping such engines with their appurtenances, and may employ a proper number of persons to act as firemen, and may make such rules for their regulation as they think proper and give such firemen and other persons such salaries and such rewards for their exertions in case of fire, as they think fit (a).

(a) As to building a fire engine station in alleged disregard of restrictive conditions of sale on neighbouring unsold plots, see Holford v. Acton U. D. C., [1898] 2 Ch. 240. A fire brigade established by an urban authority under this section and s. 171 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 411, may exclude from the premises on fire and their immediate neighbourhood all persons whose presence would interfere with their operations (Carter v. Thomas, [1893] 1 Q. B. 673; 57 J. P. 438). A boy was invited by the defendants' firemen to assist in pulling a fire engine, and in so assisting was injured. It was held that the doctrine of common employment applied, and judgment was entered for the defendants (Bass v. Hendon U. D. C. (1911), 76 J. P. 13; 28 T. L. R. 317). In places where Part VIII. of the P. H. A., 1907, ante, p. 1156, is in force s. 87 empowers constables to break open premises in case of fire; s. 88 empowers the police to control street traffic; and s. 89 gives the captain of the fire brigade the control of the operations for extinguishing the fire. The superintendent of an urban district fire brigade established under this section has implied authority to call in the assistance of the brigade of an adjoining district in case of necessity, and he will thereby render the council of his own district liable to pay for the services of the brigade so called in (James v. Staines U. D. C. (1900), 83 L. T. 426; 17 T. L. R. 2), but in places where Part VIII. of the P. H. A., 1907, is in force local authorities may, under s. 90 of that Act, make agreements for the common use of fire appliances. As to the erection of fire alarms in streets and public places, see P. H. A., 1925, s. 15, ante, p. 1555, and as to false alarms of fire, see 58 & 59 Vict. c. 28.

As to the delegation of its powers under this and the following section by a borough council to a watch committee, see the Police Act, 1893, s. 2, post, p. 2551.

An urban district council may borrow for the provision of fire engines, fire stations, etc., under ss. 233, 234 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, pp. 519, 526. Any application to the M. of H. for sanction to a loan should be made by resolution of the council, of which a copy should be forwarded by the clerk, with a statement showing how the amount proposed to be borrowed is made up, plans of any buildings, a specification of the articles to be purchased, and financial particulars of the district (in a form supplied). It is well also to forward a certificate that any buildings proposed will comply with the byelaws in force, and to explain what arrangements have been made for a site. Local inquiries are not usually directed for this purpose alone.

The terms for repayment allowed by the M. of H. are: For buildings, thirty years; for fire engines and appliances, ten years. The Minister does not allow money to be borrowed for firemen's uniforms. He is also unwilling to sanction loans for the purchase of manual fire engines unless the district is a small one.

Fire alarms and telephonic apparatus may be provided, but in some cases the M. of H. require the urban district council to ascertain whether any licence from the Postmaster-General is required to the scheme proposed.

An urban district council was desirous of providing cottages for their firemen, which, being some distance from the fire station, would be fitted with fire alarms or telephones, and applied to the L. G. B. (predecessors of the M. of H.) for sanction to a loan for the purpose of erecting these cottages. The Board stated that they were advised that it was not within the powers of the council to provide such cottages apart from the fire station, and they were therefore unable to accede to the application. If, however, it can be shown that cottages which a council propose to purchase or build are in such close connection with a fire brigade station that the accommodation can be considered to be part of a place for keeping an engine with the appurtenances within the meaning of s. 32 of the Act of 1847, the scheme may be practicable.

Urban district councils may combine for the provision of fire engines under s. 285 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 620, and if necessary appoint a joint committee of management under s. 57 of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 1022.

Note to Section 32.

Agreements may also be made by which a fire engine provided by one district council is made available for another district. See s. 90 of the P. H. A., 1907, and notes thereto, ante, p. 1157.

As to pensions for professional firemen, see Fire Brigade Pensions Acts, 1925 and 1929, post, pp. 2886, 3033.

In a case in which the advice of the Board was sought as to the liability of a district council to the members of a so-called volunteer fire brigade under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, the Board stated that they considered that there was some evidence of a contract of service between the council and brigade, but that they could not undertake to define the council's legal position under the Act.

A district council cannot pay the premiums for insurance against accidents of the members of the fire brigade unless such members are engaged by the council.

An urban district council proposed to discontinue the payment of premiums on fire insurance policies and to form a sinking fund for the purpose of insuring the buildings of the council against fire. The L. G. B., whose opinion was sought in the matter, expressed the view that any such change of practice as that contemplated by the council would be very inexpedient. The Board observed that it appeared to them that the council are in the position of trustees of public property, and that they should not neglect the usual and proper precaution of insuring against damage or destruction by fire. Moreover, the Board were not aware of any statutory authority empowering the council to create and administer an insurance fund of the kind referred to, and they thought it very doubtful whether the council had power to adopt the course suggested.

The powers of an urban district council with respect to fires may be conferred upon a rural district council by Order of the M. of H. under s. 276 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 613. A council desiring such an Order should apply by resolution, of which a copy should be forwarded by the clerk, with full information as to the arrangements contemplated. In view of the fact that action may be taken parochially for the provision of fire-extinguishing plant), the Minister does not confer the powers in respect of whole rural districts or aggregations of rural parishes without inquiring whether action has been taken under the enactments authorising such action (see note (a) to s. 53, post, p. 2239. It is of course undesirable that there should be two fire authorities at the same time in the same parish. The condition of each parish as to water supply must also be stated.

It is not essential that a rural district council should propose to purchase fire engines and equip a fire brigade. They may arrange for the use of the engine belonging to a neighbouring urban district council, but the Minister would not declare the provisions of ss. 30—33 of the Act of 1847 to be in force in the rural district unless a binding arrangement was entered into entitling the rural area to the use of the fire engine and the services of the brigade whenever required. It is important to remember that in such a case the urban district council cannot make a charge under s. 33, infra. The fire engine, when in the rural area, must be regarded as provided by the rural district council. A provision is usually inserted in such Orders that the expenses incurred shall be chargeable as special expenses.

No excise licence duty is payable under s. 13 of the Finance Act, 1920, in respect of any motor fire engine, or any motor car used by any local authority for fire brigade purposes (ibid., s. 13 (4)).

As to personal injuries sustained by a pedestrian by being knocked down by a fire engine, see Scudder v. London C. C. (1909), 31 M. C. C. 365; Times, July 15th, 1909.

Commissioners may send engines and firemen beyond the limits of the special Act.

33. The commissioners may send such engines, with their appurtenances, and the said firemen, beyond the limits of the special Act, for extinguishing fire in the neighbourhood of the said limits; and the owner (a) of the lands or buildings where such fire shall have happened shall in such case defray the actual expense which may be thereby incurred, and shall also pay to the commissioners a reasonable charge for the use of such engines with their appurtenances, and for the attendance of such firemen (b); and in case of any difference between the commissioners and the owner of the said lands or buildings, the amount of the said expenses and charge, as well as the propriety of sending the said engines and firemen as aforesaid for extinguishing such fire, (if the propriety thereof be disputed,) shall be determined by two justices, whose decision shall be final; and the amount of the said expenses and charge shall be recovered by the commissioners as damages.

(a) The owner of a stack of hay standing on ground which he occupied was held to be within these words (Lewis v. Arnold (1875), L. R. 10 Q. B. 245; 39 J. P. 294, 519). But the decision has been overruled, and it has been held that the "owner" means the owner as defined by s. 4 of the P. H. A., 1875 (Sale v. Phillips, [1894] 1 Q. B. 349; 58 J. P. 460).

This section is an enabling and not a restricting provision; where, therefore, a fire brigade is summoned by a person in circumstances from which a contract by the person summoning may be inferred, the authority may recover under the contract by action in the courts. Accordingly, the tenant of premises may be liable under such circumstances (Daventry Corporation v. Newbury, [1926] 1 K. B. 383; 90 J. P. 59). The section is intended to deal with cases where the brigade is sent by the authority on their own initiative or in response to a summons under circumstances from which no contract by the person summoning can be implied (ibid.).

By the Parish Fire Engines Act, 1898, s. 1 (1), the power of a parish council under s. 29 of the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1867, or s. 44 of the Lighting and Watching Act, 1833, as respectively amended by ss. 6 and 7 of the L. G. A., 1894, to provide a fire engine for their parish shall include power to agree with the council of any neighbouring borough or district that any fire engines with their appurtenances and firemen provided by the council of that borough or district shall be used for extinguishing fires in the parish. And by s. 1 (2), where a fire engine is sent beyond the limits of a borough or district in pursuance of any such agreement, the owner of the lands or buildings where the fire occurred shall not by reason thereof be liable for any expense or charge under s. 33 of the Town Police Clauses Act, 1847. In the case of a combination of district councils for the provision of a fire engine, a charge for use can only be made outside the districts in respect of which the combination is made. See also s. 90 of the P. H. A., 1907, referred to in the note to s. 32, ante, p. 2238. As to the liability of the council within whose district the fire takes place, when firemen are sent from outside, see R. v. Part (1906), 70 J. P. 398.

(b) This provision impliedly negatives the right to charge for engines and apparatus when employed within the district (Bridlington L. B. v. Bower (1874), 38 J. P. 73; 22 W. R. 165). The right of a ratepayer to the gratuitous services of the local authority's fire brigade under this and the preceding section is not limited to a case in which fire has actually broken out on the premises, but exists wherever there is a reasonable apprehension of fire breaking out of such dimensions that he would be incapable of dealing with it himself. If, on the other hand, the apprehended fire is likely to be only of such small dimensions that he could easily extinguish it himself, so that it would be unreasonable to summon the fire brigade, he must, in the event of his doing so, pay for their services himself. His liability in the latter case being a common law liability to pay for services rendered at his request, and not arising under the statute, payment is recoverable by action in the ordinary courts, and not summarily under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 251, ante, p. 549 (Grays U. D. C. v. Grays Chemical Works, Ltd., [1918] 2 K. B. 461; 82 J. P. 207).

Places of public resort.

And with respect to places of public resort, be it enacted as follows (a):

(a) Reference may be made to the provisions of the Refreshment Houses Act, 1860, as to refreshment houses, and of the Licensing Acts as to the prevention of offences against public order by drunkenness in the highways and disorderly conduct in licensed houses; also to the Gaming Act, 1845, and the Licensing Act, 1872, s. 75, as to public billiard rooms; the Gaming Act, 1845, and the Betting Act, 1853, as to gaming and betting houses. The following is a list of cases decided under the various statutes containing similar provisions, and also those decided under byelaws made pursuant to the Municipal Corporations Acts and other statutes dealing with good rule and government: Hall v. MacWilliam (lottery advertised in newspaper) (1901), 65 J. P. 742; 85 L. T. 239, decided under the Lotteries Act, 1823; Bows v. Fenwick (1874), L. R. 9 C. P. 339; 38 J. P. 440; Galloway v. Maries (1882), 8 Q. B. D. 275; 46 J. Penalty on victuallers, etc. harbouring constables while on duty.

34. Every victualler or keeper of any public-house, or person licensed to sell wine, spirits, beer, cider, or other fermented or distilled liquors, by retail, to be drunk or consumed on the premises, within the limits of the special Act, who knowingly harbours or entertains or suffers to remain in his public-house or place wherein he carries on his business any constable during any part of the time appointed for his being on duty, unless for the purpose of quelling any disturbance or restoring order, shall, for every such offence, be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty shillings (a).

Penalty on coffee-shop keepers, etc. harbouring disorderly persons.

35. Every person keeping any house, shop, room, or other place of public resort, within the limits of the special Act, for the sale or consumption of refreshments of any kind, who knowingly suffers common prostitutes or reputed thieves to assemble at and continue in his premises shall, for every such offence, be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds (a).

(a) See s. 76 of the Licensing (Consolidation) Act, 1910, and s. 10 of the Prevention of Crimes Act, 1871. The keeper of a licensed alehouse is not exempt from the operation of this clause (Cole v. Coulton (1860), 24 J. P. 596; 2 El. & El. 695). It is not unlawful to supply prostitutes, etc., with refreshments, nor does the mere doing so amount to permitting them to assemble. See Greig v. Bendeno (1858), El. B. & E. 133; 27 L. J. M. C. 294; Purkis v. Huxtable (1859), 1 El. & El. 780; 28 L. J. M. C. 221; Whitfield v. Bainbridge (1866), 30 J. P. 644; Parker v. Green (1862), 26 J. P. 247; 2 B. & S. 299; Belasco v. Hannant (1862), 26 J. P. 823; 2 B. & S. 13; Wilson v. Stuart (1863), 27 J. P. 661; 3 B. & S. 913; Cole v. Coulton, supra; Allen v. Whitehead (1929), 27 L. G. R. 652. A meeting to get up a subscription for a convicted thief's family, several thieves being in the company, is an assembly of thieves such as is forbidden by the Prevention of Crimes Act, 1871, s. 10, and presumably by this section (Marshall v. Fox (1871), L. R. 6 Q. B. 370; 35 J. P. 631).

Penalty on persons keeping places for bear-baiting, cock fighting, etc.

36. Every person who within the limits of the special Act keeps or uses or acts in the management of any house, room, pit, or other place, for the purpose of fighting, baiting, or worrying any animal shall be liable to a penalty of not more than five pounds, or, in the discretion of the justices before whom he is convicted, to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for a time not exceeding one month; and the commissioners may, by order in writing, authorise the superintendent constable, with such constables as he thinks necessary, to enter any premises kept or used for any of the purposes aforesaid, and take into custody all persons found therein without lawful excuse, and every person so found shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five shillings, and a conviction for this offence shall not exempt the owner, keeper, or manager of any such house, room, pit, or place from any penal consequence to which he is liable for the nuisance thereby occasioned (a).

(a) See generally as to cruelty to animals, the Protection of Animals Act, 1911, as amended by the Protection of Animals (Amendment) Act, 1927; and as to "baiting," see Pitts v. Millar (1874), L. R. 9 Q. B. 380; 38 J. P. 615.

Hackney carriages.

And with respect to hackney carriages, be it enacted as follows (a):

(a) See also as to tramcars and their drivers, conductors, etc., 33 & 34 Vict. c. 78, s. 48, post, p. 2306. The provisions of this part of the Act, as contained in ss. 37, 40—52, 54, 58, 60—67, are now applied to omnibuses by 52 & 53 Vict. c. 14, s. 4, post, p. 2525; and by the P. H. A., 1925, s. 76, ante, p. 1622, they apply also to hackney carriages standing or plying for hire at a railway station or on railway premises, other than carriages belonging to or used by railway companies for conveying passengers or their luggage.

See also as to hackney carriages, s. 11 of the Roads Act, 1920, ante, p. 1300.

Commissioners may license hackney carriages.

37. The commissioners may from time to time license (a) to ply for hire within the prescribed distance (b), or if no distance is prescribed, within five miles from the general post office of the city, town, or place to which the special Act refers, (which in that case shall be deemed the prescribed distance,) such number of hackney coaches or carriages of any kind or description (c) adapted to the carriage of persons as they think fit.

(a) The possession of a revenue licence to let horses and carriages under 2 & 3 Will. 4, c. 120, was held not to supersede the necessity of the proprietor of a hackney carriage having a licence under this Act (Buckle v. Wrightson (1865), 29 J. P. 326; 5 B. & S. 854). The commissioners may require an applicant for a licence to attend in person (Banton v. Davies (1892), 56 J. P. 294; 65 L. T. 192) The commissioners have a discretion to refuse the licence (see Ex parte Mitcham (1865), 5 B. & S. 585; 33 L. J. Q. B. 325), but mandamus will issue if their discretion is not exercised judicially (R. v. Barry U. D. C. (1900), 16 T. L. R. 565; R. v. Brighton Corporation, Ex parte Thos. Tilling, Ltd. (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1552; 80 J. P. 219), or the rates of fares to be charged are taken into consideration (R. v. Farnborough U. D. C., Ex parte Aldershot District Traction Co., Ltd., [1920] 1 K. B. 234; 83 J. P. 290. Since the decision in the last case, however, the Roads Act, 1920, came into operation, and by s. 14 (3) of that Act, ante, p. 1302, an appeal is given from the refusal of an authority to grant a licence or against conditions attached to the grant of a licence to the Minister of Transport. The Minister was held entitled upon such an appeal to take the question of fares into consideration (R. v. Minister of Transport, Ex parte H. C. Motor Works, Ltd., [1927] 2 K. B. 401; 91 J. P. 83). In that case TALBOT, J., expressed the view that the decision in the Farnborough case, supra, only decided that an authority cannot in dealing with licences do that indirectly which it cannot do directly, viz., fix the fares to be charged by omnibuses. In R. v. Bradford Corporation, Ex parte Minister of Transport, [1926] 90 J. P. 140; 135 L. T. 227, it was held that conditions might be attached to the grant of a license under this section. But as to the metropolis, see R. v. Metropolitan

Note to Section 37.

Police Commissioner, Ex parte Holloway, [1911] 2 K. B. 1131; 75 J. P. 490, a decision which overrules R. v. Metropolitan Police Commissioner, Ex parte Pearce (1911), 80 L. J. K. B. 223; 75 J. P. 85. In the case of R. v. Metropolitan Police Commissioner, Ex parte Randall (1911), 75 J. P. 486; 27 T. L. R. 505, the court followed R. v. Metropolitan Police Commissioner, Ex parte Pearce, supra, which had not at that time been overruled. As to omnibuses within the London Traffic Area, see the London Traffic Act, 1924, post, p. 2850. As to the discretion of the licensing authority where they have themselves a competing tramway, see R. v. Blackpool Corporation (1899), 63 J. P. 787; 21 M. C. C. 572. Where a licensing authority granted a licence to a taxi which exceeded the dimensions allowed by the byelaws, it was held that the authority had exceeded their jurisdiction (R. (Ex parte Sloan) v. Belfast Corporation (1923), 57 I. L. T. 71).

(b) That is, within the urban district. See s. 171 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 411.

(c) As to tramcars, see 33 & 34 Vict. c. 78, s. 48, post, p. 2306, and Blackpool and Fleetwood Tramroad Co. v. Bailey, [1920] 1 K. B. 380; 84 J. P. 1; and as to omnibuses, see 52 & 53 Vict. c. 14, s. 4 (1), post, p. 2525. A carriage similar to a tramcar and used to carry passengers at separate fares over a light railway by virtue of Provisional Orders made under the Light Railways Act, 1896, is not a hackney carriage within the meaning of the Town Police Clauses Act, 1847 (Yorkshire (Woollen District) Electric Tramways, Ltd. v. Ellis, [1905] 1 K. B. 396; 69 J. P. 67).

What vehicles to be deemed hackney carriages.

38. Every wheeled carriage, whatever may be its form or construction, used in standing or plying for hire in any street within the prescribed distance (a), and every carriage standing upon any street within the prescribed distance, having thereon any numbered plate required by this or the special Act to be fixed upon a hackney carriage, or having thereon any plate resembling or intended to resemble any such plate as aforesaid, shall be deemed to be a hackney carriage within the meaning of this Act (b); and in all proceedings at law or otherwise the term "hackney carriage" shall be sufficient to describe any such carriage: Provided always, that no stage coach (c) used for the purpose of standing or plying for passengers to be carried for hire at separate fares, and duly licensed for that purpose, and having thereon the proper numbered plates required by law to be placed on such stage coaches, shall be deemed to be a hackney carriage within the meaning of this Act (d).

Proviso as to stage coaches.

(a) A hackney carriage while on the premises of a railway company, by their leave for the accommodation of passengers by their trains, is not plying for hire in a street; the stations are private property (Case v. Storey (1868), L. R. 4 Ex. 319; 33 J. P. 470; and see Hole v. Digby (1879), 27 W. R. 884). But the dictum of KELLY, C.B., in that case, that they were not then plying for hire in that they were not at the disposal of the public, was not followed in Clarke v. Stanford (1871), L. R. 6 Q. B. 357; 35 J. P. 662; and in Allen v. Tunbridge (1871), L. R. 6 C. P. 481; 35 J. P. 695, it was held that a brougham, the owner of which, by agreement with a railway company, attended at their station to await the arrival of trains for the conveyance of any passenger who chose to use it, and whose driver solicited passengers, was a hackney carriage plying for hire. And see Foinett v. Clark (1877), 41 J. P. 359. These conflicting decisions are now resolved by the P. H. A., 1925, s. 76, ante, p. 1622, referred to in note (a), ante, p. 2241. Where the owner of omnibuses being refused a licence ran them regularly over the route for the use of the public free of charge, but with a box in each omnibus for voluntary contributions, the conductor being ready to give change if asked, it was held that the omnibuses were plying for hire (Cocks v. Mayner (1894), 58 J. P. 104; 70 L. T. 403). Plying for hire in an open unenclosed piece of private ground to which the public have access, but over which there is no public right of way, is not plying for hire in a street (Skinner v. Usher (1872), L. R. 7 Q. B. 423). A piece of ground adjoining a railway station, and belonging to the company, metalled and separated from the street only by a gutter, was used as an approach to the station. Private carriages were allowed to stand there, but no hackney carriages, except those of the appellant, who had, by agreement with the company, the sole right of standing carriages there:—Held, that the plying for hire there was not plying for hire in a street (Curtis v. Embery (1872), L. R. 7 Ex. 369). In the city of E. was a square in front of a hotel, unenclosed, and where the public could pass freely, except when the hotel keeper's carriages stood there. The square was let with the hotel, and was used for the hotel cabs when plying for hire:—Held, that the square was part of the street (Marks v. Ford (1881), 45 J. P. 157). The words "used in standing or plying for hire" indicate the period of time during which a carriage is to be deemed a hackney carriage, and are not limited to the period during which it is actually standing or plying for hire in a street. Therefore, in executing a booked order, even if the number plate is covered up, the carriage does not cease to be a hackney carriage within the meaning of the Act, and the byelaws under s. 68 are still applicable to it (Hawkins v. Edwards, [1901] 2 K. B. 169; 65 J. P. 423). In a case under the Metropolitan Public Carriage Act, 1869, it was held that a charabanc which picked up in public streets only passengers who had previously booked seats and paid for tickets at a booking-office was not plying for hire in a particular street in which passengers were waiting (Sales v. Lake, [1922] 1 K. B. 553 ; 86 J. P. 80). Where, however, a charabanc picked up passengers who booked seats at a stopping place after the charabanc had left its starting point but before its arrival at the stopping place, it was held to be plying for hire (Greyhound Motors v. Lambert, [1928] 1 K. B. 322 ; 91 J. P. 198).

Where return tickets were issued outside the prescribed distance which entitled the holders to return on any bus belonging to a member of an association of omnibus proprietors from within the prescribed distance, an omnibus picking up the holders of such tickets within the prescribed distance was held to be plying for hire (Armstrong v. Ogle, [1926] 2 K. B. 438 ; 90 J. P. 146). Where, however, the return ticket was available only on any bus belonging to the company by whom the ticket was issued, the case was held to fall within Sales v. Lake, supra, and the bus was held not to be plying for hire (Leonard v. Western Services, [1927] 1 K. B. 702 ; 91 J. P. 18). All these cases were considered and explained in Griffin v. Grey Coaches, Ltd., [1928] 93 J. P. 61 ; 27 L. G. R. 39. In that case it was held that a charabanc was plying for hire where tickets were purchased at a booking office prior to the arrival of the vehicle, but at the time of such booking the proprietors had a vehicle available and by means of advertisements at the booking office solicited persons to ride in the vehicle. See also Att.-Gen. v. Sharp (1929), 45 T. L. R. 628.

(b) As to what is a hackney carriage apart from any statutory definition, see Bateson v. Oddy (1874), 43 L. J. M. C. 131; 38 J. P. 598. By s. 1 (1) (b) of 59 & 60 Vict. c. 36, a light locomotive may be a hackney carriage if in other respects it would come within this section. See ante, p. 817.

(c) As to what is a stage coach, see R. v. Ruscoe (1838), 8 Ad. & E. 386 ; Craik v. Wood (1920), 58 Sc. L. R. 142. Reference may also be made to Dennis v. Miles, [1924] 2 K. B. 399 ; Smith v. Mackintosh, [1926] S. C. (J.) 15 ; Kirkby v. Minty, [1929] 2 K. B. 165 ; and M'Kee v. Weir, [1929] S. C. (J.) 14.

(d) The proviso was held to apply to an omnibus (Cousins v. Stockbridge (1866), 30 J. P. 166). The licence here referred to was an excise licence, now abolished by 32 & 33 Vict. c. 14. But though no licence can now be obtained the law officers of the Crown had advised that the exemption remained. But see now the provisions of the Town Police Clauses Act, 1889, post, p. 2524. An ordinary omnibus running along a fixed route was held to be a hackney carriage within the meaning of 51 Vict. c. 8, s. 4 (Hickman v. Birch (1889), 24 Q. B. D. 172 ; 54 J. P. 406).

Fee to be paid for licence.

39. For every such licence there shall be paid to the clerk of the commissioners, or other person appointed by them to receive the same, such sum as the commissioners direct, not exceeding five shillings (a).

(a) No fee is now payable in respect of the licensing of any vehicle (other than a tramcar) to any county council, local or police authority (s. 14 (1), Roads Act, 1920, ante, p. 1302). As to the excise duty payable for hackney carriage licences, see 47 & 48 Vict. c. 25, s. 3.

Persons applying for licence to sign a requisition.

40. Before any such licence is granted a requisition for the same, in such form as the commissioners from time to time provide for that purpose, shall be made and signed by the proprietor or one of the proprietors of the hackney carriage (a) in respect of which such licence is applied for ; and in every such requisition shall be truly stated the name and surname and place of abode of the person applying for such licence, and of every proprietor or part proprietor of such carriage, or person concerned, either solely or in partnership with any other person, in the keeping, employing, or letting to hire of such carriage ; and any person who, on applying for such licence, states in such requisition the name of any person who is not a proprietor or part proprietor of such carriage, or who is not concerned as aforesaid in the keeping, employing, or letting to hire of such carriage, and also any person who wilfully omits to specify truly in such requisition as aforesaid the name of any person who is a proprietor or part proprietor of such carriage, or who is concerned as aforesaid in the keeping, employing, or letting to hire of such carriage, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds.

Penalty for omissions, etc. in requisition.

What shall be specified in the licences.

41. In every such licence shall be specified the name and surname and place of abode of every person who is a proprietor or part proprietor of the hackney carriage in respect of which such licence is granted, or who is concerned, either solely or in partnership with any other person, in the keeping, employing, or letting to hire of any such carriage, and also the number of such licence which shall correspond with the number to be painted or marked on the plates to be fixed on such carriage, together with such other particulars as the commissioners think fit.

Licences to be registered.

42. Every licence shall be made out by the clerk of the commissioners, and duly entered in a book to be provided by him for that purpose; and in such book shall be contained columns or places for entries to be made of every offence committed by any proprietor or driver or person attending such carriage; and any person may at any reasonable time inspect such book, without fee or reward.

Licence to be in force for one year only.

43. Every licence so to be granted shall be under the common seal of the commissioners, if incorporated, or, if not incorporated, shall be signed by two or more of the commissioners, and shall not include more than one carriage so licensed, and shall be in force for one year only from the day of the date of such licence, or until the next general licensing meeting, in case any general licensing day be appointed by the commissioners (a).

(a) The licence may be for less than a year (52 & 53 Vict. c. 14, s. 5, post, p. 2525).

Notice to be given by proprietors of hackney carriages of any change of abode.

44. So often as any person named in any such licence as the proprietor or one of the proprietors, or as being concerned, either solely or in partnership with any person, in the keeping (a), employing, or letting to hire of any such carriage, changes his place of abode, he shall, within seven days next after such change, give notice thereof in writing, signed by him, to the commissioners, specifying in such notice his new place of abode; and he shall at the same time produce such licence at the office of the commissioners, who shall by their clerk or some other officer, endorse thereon and sign a memorandum specifying the particulars of such change; and any person named in any such licence as aforesaid as the proprietor, or one of the proprietors, of any hackney carriage, or as being concerned as aforesaid, who changes his place of abode and neglects or wilfully omits to give notice of such change, or to produce such licence in order that such memorandum as aforesaid may be endorsed thereon, within the time and in the manner limited and directed by this or the special Act, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

(a) For the meaning of this word as used in the Customs and Inland Revenue Act, 1869, s. 27, see London C. C. v. Fairbank, [1911] 2 K. B. 32; 75 J. P. 356.

Penalty for plying for hire without a licence.

45. If the proprietor or part proprietor of any carriage, or any person so concerned as aforesaid, permits the same to be used as a hackney carriage plying for hire within the prescribed distance without having obtained a licence as aforesaid for such carriage, or during the time that such licence is suspended as hereinafter provided, or if any person be found driving, standing, or plying for hire with any carriage within the prescribed distance for which such licence as aforesaid has not been previously obtained, or without having the number of such carriage corresponding with the number of the licence openly displayed on such carriage, every such person so offending shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings (a).

(a) Proceedings for a penalty under this section must be instituted in accordance with s. 251 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 549. The director of a rival omnibus company is not a "person aggrieved" within that section so as to be able to institute proceedings for a penalty under the section in the text in relation to the bus of another company (Sheffield Corporation v. Kitson (1929), 93 J. P. 135). A person plying for hire with a licensed carriage cannot be convicted if in the course of such plying for hire he obtains a private contract for the hire of an unlicensed carriage (Cavill v. Amos (1900), 64 J. P. 309).

Note to Section 45.

A railway company provided a cab-stand upon a piece of ground which was their private property subject to a public right of footway alongside it which was metalled and paved like an ordinary street, and formed the side approach to one of their stations:—Held (1) that the piece of ground was not a "street" within the meaning of s. 3 of this Act; and (2) that the driver of a carriage for which a licence had not been obtained by standing for hire upon the cab-stand, which was within the district, committed no offence against the latter part of s. 45 (Jones v. Short (1900), 69 L. J. Q. B. 473; 64 J. P. 247). See now, however, s. 76 of the P. H. A., 1925, ante, p. 1622, referred to in note (a), ante, p. 2241.

It was provided in a local Act that if the driver of any hackney carriage "shall be found standing or plying for hire" within the limits of the Act without a licence he should be liable to a penalty. There was no definition of "hackney carriage" in the Act. It was held that the words "hackney carriage" must be taken to mean a carriage exposed for hire to the public, whether standing in the public street or in a private yard (Bateson v. Oddy (1874), 43 L. J. M. C. 131; 30 L. T. 712). This case was cited in Jones v. Short, supra.

Under the Town Police Clauses Act, 1889, an omnibus becomes a hackney carriage for any of the purposes of this Act, and an omnibus plying for hire within the prescribed limits without a licence is within this section, although it does not stand or ply for hire in a street (Birmingham and Midland Motor Omnibus Co. v. Thompson, [1918] 2 K. B. 105; 82 J. P. 213; Crack v. Holt (1927), 91 J. P. 36; 25 L. G. R. 114). See also Sales v. Lake and other cases cited in note (a) to s. 38, ante, p. 2243.

A carriage similar to a tramcar and used to carry passengers at separate fares over a light railway by virtue of Provisional Orders made under the Light Railways Act, 1896, is not a hackney carriage within the meaning of this section (Yorkshire (Woollen District) Electric Tramways, Ltd. v. Ellis, [1905] 1 K. B. 396; 69 J. P. 67). See also the Town Police Clauses Act, 1889, s. 3, post, p. 2524).

Drivers not to act without first obtaining a licence.

46. No person shall act as driver (a) of any hackney carriage licensed in pursuance of this or the special Act to ply for hire within the prescribed distance without first obtaining a licence from the commissioners, which licence shall be registered by the clerk to the commissioners, and a fee of one shilling shall be paid for the same; and every such licence shall be in force until the same is revoked, except during the time that the same may be suspended as after mentioned (b).

(a) This includes the conductor of a tramcar (33 & 34 Vict. c. 78, s. 48, post, p. 2306), and of an omnibus (52 & 53 Vict. c. 14, s. 4 (2), post, p. 2525).

(b) The licence of the driver is only to be in force for one year. See P. H. A., 1875, s. 171, ante, p. 411. The commissioners have a discretion as to granting a licence which must be properly exercised (R. v. Barry U. D. C. (1900), 16 T. L. R. 565). And they may require applicants to attend in person (Banton v. Davies, ante, p. 2241).

Penalty on drivers acting without licence, or proprietors employing unlicensed drivers.

47. If any person acts as such driver (a) as aforesaid without having obtained such licence, or during the time that his licence is suspended, or if he lend or part with his licence, except to the proprietor of the hackney carriage, or if the proprietor of any such hackney carriage employ any person as the driver thereof who has not obtained such licence, or during the time that his licence is suspended, as hereinafter provided, every such driver and every such proprietor shall for every such offence respectively be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty shillings.

Proprietor to retain licences of drivers, and to produce the same before justices on complaint.

48. In every case in which the proprietor of any such hackney carriage permits or employs any licensed person to act as the driver thereof, such proprietor shall cause to be delivered to him, and shall retain in his possession, the licence of such driver, while such driver remains in his employ; and in all cases of complaint, where the proprietor of a hackney carriage is summoned to attend before a justice, or to produce the driver, the proprietor so summoned shall also produce the licence of such driver, if he be then in his employ; and if any driver complained of be adjudged guilty of the offence alleged against him, such justice shall make an endorsement upon the licence of such driver, stating the nature of the offence and the amount of the penalty inflicted; and if any such proprietor neglect to have delivered to him and to retain in his possession the licence of any driver while such driver remains in his employ, or if he refuse or neglect to produce such licence as aforesaid, such proprietor shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings (a).

(a) In a case under the Metropolitan Public Carriage Act, 1869, it was held that the entry of a person's name as "proprietor" on the register of licences was not conclusive evidence that such person was the owner of a taxicab (Kemp v. Elisha, [1918] 1 K. B. 228; 82 J. P. 81). As to the liability of the registered proprietor for the negligence of a driver, see Bygraves v. Dicker, [1923] 2 K. B. 585; 129 L. T. 688.

Proprietor to return licence to drivers except in case of misconduct.

49. When any driver (a) leaves the service of the proprietor by whom he is employed without having been guilty of any misconduct, such proprietor shall forthwith return to such driver the licence belonging to him (b); but if such driver have been guilty of any misconduct, the proprietor shall not return his licence, but shall give him notice of the complaint which he intends to prefer against him, and shall forthwith summon such driver to appear before any justice to answer the said complaint; and such justice, having the necessary parties before him, shall inquire into and determine the matter of complaint, and if upon inquiry it appear that the licence of such driver has been improperly withheld, such justice shall direct the immediate re-delivery of such licence, and award such sum of money as he thinks proper to be paid by such proprietor to such driver by way of compensation.

(a) See note (a) to s. 46, ante, p. 2245.
(b) As to marking the licence, see Hurrell v. Ellis (1845), 2 C. B. 265; 15 L. J. C. P. 18; Rogers v. Macnamara (1853), 14 C. B. 27; 23 L. J. C. P. 1; Norris v. Birch, [1895] 1 Q. B. 639.

Revocation of licences of proprietors or drivers.

50. The commissioners may, upon the conviction for the second time of the proprietor or driver (a) of any such hackney carriage for any offence under the provisions of this or the special Act, with respect to hackney carriages, or any byelaw made in pursuance thereof, suspend or revoke, as they deem right, the licence of any such proprietor or driver.

(a) This includes the conductor of a tramcar (33 & 34 Vict. c. 78, s. 48, post, p. 2306), and of an omnibus (52 & 53 Vict. c. 14, s. 4 (2), post, p. 2525).

Number of persons to be carried in a hackney carriage to be painted thereon.

51. No hackney carriage (a) shall be used or employed or let to hire, or shall stand or ply for hire, within the prescribed distance, unless the number of persons to be carried by such hackney carriage, in words at length, and in form following, (that is to say,) "To carry   persons," be painted on a plate placed on some conspicuous place on the outside of such carriage, and in legible letters, so as to be clearly distinguishable from the colour of the ground whereon the same are painted, one inch in length, and of a proportionate breadth; and the driver (b) of any such hackney carriage shall not be required to carry in or by such hackney carriage a greater number of persons than the number painted thereon.

(a) See note (a) to s. 40, ante, p. 2243, and Black v. Neilson, cited in the note to s. 34 of the Tramways Act, 1870, post, p. 2296.
(b) See note (a) to s. 50, supra.

Penalty for neglect to exhibit the number, or for refusal to carry the prescribed number.

52. If the proprietor of any hackney carriage permit the same to be used, employed, or let to hire, or if any person stand or ply for hire with such carriage, without having the number of persons to be carried thereby painted and exhibited in manner aforesaid, or if the driver (a) of any such hackney carriage refuse, when required by the hirer thereof, to carry in or by such hackney carriage the number of persons painted thereon, or any less number, every proprietor or driver so offending shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

(a) See note (a) to s. 50, ante, p. 2246.

Penalty on driver for refusing to drive.

53. A driver of a hackney carriage standing at any of the stands for hackney carriages appointed by the commissioners, or in any street, who refuses or neglects, without reasonable excuse (a), to drive such carriage to any place (b) within the prescribed distance, or the distance to be appointed by any byelaw of the commissioners, not exceeding the prescribed distance, to which he is directed to drive by the person hiring or wishing to hire such carriage (c), shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

(a) The driver may refuse to carry persons suffering from infectious disease. See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 127, ante, p. 248; and in places where Part IV. of the P. H. A., 1907, is in force, ss. 63 and 64 of that Act, ante, p. 1142, contain additional provisions on the subject. See also 53 & 54 Vict. c. 34, s. 11, ante, p. 861, as to the disinfection of public conveyances after carrying corpses.

(b) Place here means any place to which the driver can get admittance, although it is private property (Ex parte Kippins, [1897] 1 Q. B. 1; 60 J. P. 791).

(c) These words were held to include a chauffeur in the employ of a motor-car proprietor who requested the driver of a hackney carriage to execute an order which had been given to him but which he could not fulfil (Shepherd v. Hack (1917), 81 J. P. 210).

Penalty for demanding more than the sum agreed for.

54. If the proprietor or driver of any such hackney carriage (a), or if any other person on his behalf, agree beforehand with any person hiring such hackney carriage to take for any job a sum less than the fare (b) allowed by this or the special Act, or any byelaw made thereunder, such proprietor or driver shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings if he exact or demand for such job more than the fare so agreed upon.

(a) As to omnibuses and conductors of omnibuses, see 52 & 53 Vict. c. 14, s. 4 (1), (2), post, p. 2525.

(b) As to omnibus fares, see 52 & 53 Vict. c. 14, s. 4 (3), post, p. 2525.

Agreement to pay more than the legal fare

55. No agreement whatever made with the driver, or with any person having or pretending to have the care of any such hackney carriage, for the payment of more than the fare allowed by any byelaw made under this or the special Act, shall be binding on the person making the same; and any such person may, notwithstanding such agreement, refuse, on discharging such hackney carriage, to pay any sum beyond the fare allowed as aforesaid: and if any person actually pay to the driver of any such hackney carriage, whether in pursuance of any such agreement or otherwise, any sum exceeding the fare to which such driver was entitled, the person paying the same shall be entitled, on complaint made against such driver before any justice of the peace, to recover back the sum paid beyond the proper fare, and moreover such driver shall be liable to a penalty for such exaction not exceeding the sum of forty shillings; and in default of the repayment by such driver of such excess of fare, or of payment of the said penalty, such justice shall forthwith commit such driver to prison, there to remain for any time not exceeding one month, unless the said excess of fare and the said penalty be sooner paid.

Agreements to carry passengers a discretionary distance for a fixed sum.

56. If the proprietor or driver of any such hackney carriage, or if any other person on his behalf, agree with any person to carry in or by such hackney carriage persons not exceeding in number the number so painted on such carriage as aforesaid, for a distance to be in the discretion of such proprietor or driver, and for a sum agreed upon, such proprietor or driver shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings if the distance which he carries such persons be under that to which they were entitled to be carried for the sum so agreed upon, according to the fare allowed by this or the special Act, or any byelaw made in pursuance thereof.

Deposit to be made for carriages required to wait.

57. When any hackney carriage is hired and taken to any place, and the driver thereof is required by the hirer there to wait with such hackney carriage, such driver may demand and receive from such hirer his fare for driving to such place, and also a sum equal to the fare of such carriage for the period, as a deposit over and above such fare, during which he is required to wait as aforesaid, or if no fare for time be fixed by the byelaws, then the sum of one shilling and sixpence for every half hour during which he is so required to wait, which deposit shall be accounted for by such driver when such hackney carriage is finally discharged by such hirer; and if any such driver who has received any such deposit as aforesaid refuses to wait as aforesaid, or goes away, or permits such hackney carriage to be driven or taken away without the consent of such hirer, before the expiration of the time for which such deposit was made, or if such driver on the final discharge of such hackney carriage refuse duly to account for such deposit, every such driver so offending shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings (a).

(a) There is no summary remedy outside the metropolis similar to the London Cab Act, 1896, for what is called "bilking" a cabman.

Penalty on proprietors, etc., convicted of overcharging.

58. Every proprietor or driver of any such hackney carriage (a) who is convicted of taking as a fare (b) a greater sum than is authorised by any byelaw (c) made under this or the special Act shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings, and such penalty may be recovered before one justice; and in the conviction of such proprietor or driver an order may be included for payment of the sum so overcharged, over and above the penalty and costs; and such overcharge shall be returned to the party aggrieved, . . . (d).

(a) See note (a) to s. 54, ante, p. 2247.

(b) See note (b) to s. 54, ante, p. 2247.

(c) A byelaw made under a local Act prescribed fares chargeable by drivers of hackney carriages and distinguished between carriages drawn by one and two horses respectively. Special regulations were subsequently made which applied the byelaws and Acts of Parliament respecting hackney carriages to motor cabs, and prescribed a scale of charges for motor cabs. A driver of a motor cab demanded and was paid the sum registered by his taximeter, which was in accordance with the scale of charges under the regulations, but in excess of that under the byelaw. On an appeal by the driver from a conviction for breach of the byelaw it was held that the byelaw did not apply to motor cabs and the conviction was quashed (Gibson v. Brown (1909), 31 M. C. C. 3). As to the right to charge a fare in excess of that authorised by the byelaw where the journey takes the driver outside the limits of the special Act, see Ely v. Godfrey (1922), 86 J. P. 82; 20 L. G. R. 268. An infant in arms is not a person in respect of whom an extra payment for an additional person can be demanded under byelaws (Kemp v. Lubbock, [1920] 1 K. B. 253; 83 J. P. 270).

(d) The remainder of this section permitting the party aggrieved to give evidence in proof of the offence was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894, as no longer necessary.

Penalty for permitting persons to ride without consent of hirer.

59. Any proprietor or driver of any such hackney carriage which is hired who permits or suffers any person to be carried in or upon or about such hackney carriage during such hire, without the express consent of the person hiring the same, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty shillings.

No unauthorised person to act as driver.

60. No person authorised by the proprietor of any hackney carriage to act as driver of such carriage shall suffer any other person to act as driver of such carriage without the consent of the proprietor thereof; and no person, whether licensed or not, shall act as driver of any such carriage without the consent of the proprietor; and any person so suffering another person to act as driver, and any person so acting as driver without such consent as aforesaid, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for every such offence.

Section 61.

Penalty on drivers for drunkenness, furious driving, etc.

61. If the driver or any other person having or pretending to have the care of any such hackney carriage be intoxicated while driving, or if any such driver or other person by wanton and furious driving, or by any other wilful misconduct, injure or endanger any person in his life, limbs, or property, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds; and in default of payment thereof the justices before whom he is convicted of such offence may commit him to prison, there to remain for any time not exceeding two months (a).

(a) See note (a) to s. 54, ante, p. 2247. Persons convicted under s. 61 of being intoxicated while driving a hackney carriage may either in addition to or in substitution for any other penalty be ordered to enter into a recognisance with or without sureties to be of good behaviour under s. 3 of the Licensing Act, 1902.

Penalty in case of carriages being unattended at places of public resort.

62. If the driver of any such hackney carriage (a) leave it in any street or at any place of public resort or entertainment, whether it be hired or not, without some one proper to take care of it, any constable may drive away such hackney carriage and deposit it, and the horse or horses harnessed thereto, at some neighbouring livery stable or other place of safe custody; and such driver shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty shillings for such offence; and in default of payment of the said penalty upon conviction, and of the expenses of taking and keeping the said hackney carriage and horse or horses, the same, together with the harness belonging thereto, or any of them, shall be sold by order of the justice before whom such conviction is made, and after deducting from the produce of such sale the amount of the said penalty, and of all costs and expenses, as well of the proceedings before such justice as of the taking, keeping, and sale of the said hackney carriage, and of the said horse or horses and harness, the surplus (if any) of the said produce shall be paid to the proprietor of such hackney carriage.

(a) See note (a) to s. 54, ante, p. 2247.

Compensation for damage done by driver.

(a) See note (a) to s. 54, ante, p. 2247.

(b) Compensation accepted under this section is a bar to a subsequent action for the same damage. See Wright v. London General Omnibus Co. (1877), 2 Q. B. D. 271; 41 J. P. 486. Apart from this provision the proprietor of a cab may be responsible for damages caused by the negligence of the driver, the relationship between them being generally that of master and servant. See Venables v. Smith (1876), 2 Q. B. D. 279; 41 J. P. 551; Rayner v. Mitchell (1876), 2 C. P. D. 357; 25 W. R. 633; King v. Spurr (1882), 8 Q. B. D. 104; Playle v. Kew (1886), 2 T. L. R. 859; King v. London Improved Cab Co. (1889), 23 Q. B. D. 281; 53 J. P. 788; Keen v. Henry, [1894] 1 Q. B. 292; 58 J. P. 262; Gates v. Bill, [1902] 2 K. B. 38; Bygraves v. Dicker, [1923] 2 K. B. 585. As to the master's responsibility for the negligence of a volunteer called in to drive in case of emergency, see Gwilliam v. Twist, [1895] 2 Q. B. 84; 59 J. P. 484, or for that of a servant not acting within the scope of his authority, e.g., a conductor driving an omnibus to its starting place, see Beard v. London General Omnibus Co., [1900] 2 Q. B. 530; Ricketts v. Thomas Tilling, Ltd. (1913), 30 T. L. R. 132.

Penalty on drivers obstructing other drivers.

64. Any driver of any hackney carriage (a) who suffers the same to stand for hire across any street or alongside of any other hackney carriage, or who refuses to give way, if he conveniently can, to any other carriage, or who obstructs or hinders the driver of any other carriage in taking up or setting down any person into or from such other carriage, or who wrongfully in a forcible manner prevents or endeavours to prevent the driver of any other hackney carriage from being hired, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty shillings.

(a) See note (a) to s. 61, ante, p. 2249.

Compensation to drivers attending to answer complaints not substantiated.

65. If the driver of any such hackney carriage (a) be summoned or brougth before any justice to answer any complaint or information touching or concerning any offence alleged to have been committed by such driver against the provisions of this or the special Act, or any byelaw made thereunder, and such complaint or information be afterwards withdrawn or quashed or dismissed, or if such driver be acquitted of the offence charged against him, the said justice, if he think fit, may order the complainant or informant to pay to the said driver such compensation for his loss of time in attending the said justice touching or concerning such complaint or information as to the said justice seems reasonable; and in default of payment of such compensation the said justice may commit such complainant or informant to prison for any time not exceeding one month, unless the same shall be sooner paid.

(a) See note (a) to s. 61, ante, p. 2249.

Fare unpaid may be recovered as a penalty.

66. If any person refuse to pay on demand to any proprietor or driver of any hackney carriage the fare (a) allowed by this or the special Act, or any byelaw made thereunder, such fare may, together with costs, be recovered before one justice as a penalty (b).

(a) See notes (a) and (b) to s. 54, ante, p. 2247.
(b) The amount of the fare is recoverable only as a civil debt under ss. 6 and 35 of the S. J. A., 1879 (R. v. Kerswill or Torquay JJ., [1895] 1 Q. B. 1; 59 J. P. 342).

Penalty and compensation for damaging carriage.

67. Any person using any hackney carriage (a) plying under a licence granted by virtue of this or the special Act, who wilfully injures the same, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, and shall also pay to the proprietor of such hackney carriage reasonable satisfaction for the damage sustained by the same; and such satisfaction shall be ascertained by the justices before whom the conviction takes place, and shall be recovered by the same means as the penalty.

(a) See note (a) to s. 54, ante, p. 2247.

Byelaws for regulating hackney carriages.

68. The commissioners may from time to time (subject to the restrictions of this and the special Act) make byelaws for all or any of the purposes following; (that is to say,) (a)

For regulating the conduct of the proprietors and drivers (b) of hackney carriages plying within the prescribed distance in their several employments (c), and determining whether such drivers shall wear any and what badges, and for regulating the hours within which they may exercise their calling:

For regulating the manner in which the number of each carriage, corresponding with the number of its licence, shall be displayed:

For regulating the number of persons to be carried by such hackney carriages, and in what manner such number is to be shown on such carriage, and what number of horses or other animals is to draw the same, and the placing of check strings to the carriages, and the holding of the same by the driver, and how such hackney carriages are to be furnished or provided (d):

For fixing the stands (e) of such hackney carriages, and the distance to which they may be compelled to take passengers, not exceeding the prescribed distance:

For fixing the rates or fares, as well for time as distance, to be paid for such hackney carriages within the prescribed distance, and for securing the due publication of such fares (f):

For securing the safe custody and re-delivery of any property accidentally left in hackney carriages, and fixing the charges to be made in respect thereof.

(a) Model byelaws have been issued by the Ministry of Health under this section. As to the confirmation of these byelaws, see 47 & 48 Vict. c. 12, ante, p. 762.

(b) A corporation made the following byelaw under a local Act (not requiring confirmation by the Ministry of Health): "The owner of every motor hackney carriage shall have fitted on such carriage an efficient lamp solely for the purpose of illuminating the dial of the taximeter, whenever it is necessary, in such a manner that the amount of fare recorded can be clearly seen from the inside of the carriage at all times, and every driver shall see that the lamp is properly lighted and adjusted and so kept." On a summons against a driver for breach of this byelaw, he was discharged upon the ground that the byelaw was invalid for uncertainty and unreasonableness, since it imposed two duties, one on the owner and one on the driver: that although the duty on the owner was to fit an efficient lamp for illuminating the dial "whenever it was necessary," these words did not appear in the part of the byelaw relating to the driver, and further that the byelaw did not contain adequate information as to the driver's duties. The Divisional Court held that the words "whenever it was necessary" applied both to the owner and the driver; that it required the lamp to be fitted by the owner and kept alight by the driver; that it was not unreasonable that the light should be solely for the purpose of lighting the dial, and therefore that the byelaw was valid (Dunning v. Maher (1912), 76 J. P. 255; 106 L. T. 846).

(c) A byelaw prohibiting the plying for hire in any street or place within the district (except on one of the stands fixed by the local board) was held to be valid though the actual locality of the stand was not set out in it. A driver on the sea beach passed a stand, and then got off his carriage and took up a fare:—Held, that he had been properly convicted of a breach of the byelaw (Blackpool L. B. v. Bennett (1859), 4 H. & N. 127; 28 L. J. M. C. 203). For some years, however, the Local Government Board and Ministry of Health have declined to confirm byelaws as to stands and stopping places under this power which did not "fix" the actual situations, holding that, under modern conditions of traffic, the owners of vehicles and of adjoining property are alike entitled to the opportunity given by s. 184 of the P. H. Act, 1875, ante, p. 462, of considering the stands, etc., before they are made operative—a view supported by the careful provision made by Parliament for antecedent publicity when a parking place is fixed under s. 68 of the P. H. Act, 1925, ante, p. 1611. A byelaw provided that "a person shall not in any public thoroughfare in the district tout for a hackney carriage." The respondent stood on a triangular piece of land at a street corner touting for hackney carriages, having received permission from the freeholders of the land to stand on it for the purpose of his business. The land was always open for the public to pass over, and the street (including the piece of land) had been declared a public highway. It was held that the fact that the piece of land in question belonged to private persons did not prevent his act from being an offence against the byelaw (Derham v. Strickland (1911), 75 J. P. 300; 104 L. T. 820). As to loitering, see Fairfoul v. Somerville (1895), 23 Ct. of Sess. Cas. (4th ser.) (J. C.) 6; Murphy v. Neilson (1901), 3 F. (Just. Cas.) 77. The following byelaw was held not to be ultra vires under similar words in the Edinburgh Municipal and Police Act, 1879, viz., "the driver of a hackney carriage shall not stand with the same longer than is necessary for taking up or setting down passengers on any part of the public streets not allowed as a hackney carriage stand except at the dismissal of theatres, assemblies, public meetings, and the like." And it was held that a driver was properly convicted under it, who waited outside an hotel for about an hour in pursuance of an arrangement between his employers and the hotel manager, but without being hired by anyone wishing to take the cab (Mackenzie v. Somerville (1901), 3 F. (Just. Cas.) 4).

(d) Byelaws made under this section prior to the introduction of motor vehicles provided in one part of a byelaw that no greater number of passengers should be conveyed in "any omnibus" than was there indicated, the subsequent part of the byelaw and other byelaws contained references to horse omnibuses, but it was held that the provision relating to "any omnibus" applied to motor omnibuses (Neal v. Guy, [1928] 2 K. B. 451; 92 J. P. 119). See also as to proceedings under the Railway Passenger Duty Act, 1842, for the overcrowding of motor omnibuses as stage carriages (Dennis v. Miles, [1924] 2 K. B. 399; Kirkby v. Minty, [1929] 2 K. B. 165; and M'Kee v. Weir, [1929] S. C. (J.) 14).

(e) Although the provisions of this Act now apply to hackney carriages standing at railway stations, a local authority cannot fix the site of a stand in any railway station or railway premises or in any yard belonging to a railway company except with the consent of that company (s. 76, P. H. A., 1925, ante, p. 1622. In R. v. Rawlinson (1836), 6 B. & C.

Note to Section 68.

23; 5 L. J. M. C. 16, it was held that the commissioners may remove a stand altogether if it be an obstruction, but this decision turned on a local Act empowering them to "direct and regulate" stands. Under the general law, they can remove a stand by "fixing," by byelaws, other stands (or repealing a byelaw which has fixed the first-named stand) irrespective of obstruction.

(f) See note (c) to s. 58, ante, p. 2248. Ely v. Godfrey (1922), 86 J. P. 82; 20 L. G. R. 268; and Kemp v. Lubbock, [1920] 1 K. B. 253; 83 J. P. 270. Tramway fares cannot be regulated by the refusal of licences until the tramway company adopt fares satisfactory to the local authority (R. v. Farnborough U. D. C., Ex parte Aldershot District Traction Co., Ltd., [1920] 1 K. B. 234; 83 J. P. 290). See this case commented on in R. v. Minister of Transport, Ex parte H. C. Motors, Ltd., [1927] 2 K. B. 401; 91 J. P. 83.

Bathing.

And with respect to public bathing, be it enacted as follows:—

Byelaws for regulating public bathing-places.

69. Where any part of the sea-shore or strand of any river used as a public bathing-place is within the limits of the special Act, the commissioners may make byelaws for the following purposes (a); (that is to say,)

For fixing the stands of bathing machines on the sea-shore or strand, and the limits within which persons of each sex shall be set down for bathing, and within which persons shall bathe:

For preventing any indecent exposure of the persons of the bathers (b):

For regulating the manner in which the bathing machines shall be used, and the charges (b) to be made for the same:

For regulating the distance at which boats and vessels let to hire for the purpose of sailing or rowing for pleasure shall be kept from persons bathing within the prescribed limits.

(a) Model byelaws have been issued under this section. As to the confirmation of these byelaws, see 47 & 48 Vict. c. 12, ante, p. 762. The licence of an urban district council to use a bathing machine gives no authority to place the machine on the seashore, the ownership of which belongs to a private person, without his consent (Mace v. Philcox (1864), 28 J. P. 297; 15 C. B. (N.S.) 600). As to revocation of licences, see Pelham v. Littlehampton U. D. C. (1899), 63 J. P. 88. As to indecent bathing on the seashore, see R. v. Crunden (1809), 2 Camp. 89; R. v. Reed (1871), 12 Cox, C. C. 1, and generally as to the origin of this section, and the supposed general right to bathe, see Blundell v. Catterall (1833), 5 B. & A. 268; Brinckman v. Matley, [1904] 2 Ch. 313; 68 J. P. 534. Special powers for regulating the use of the seashore by byelaws are also given by s. 82 of the P. H. A., 1907, ante, p. 1152. And see also s. 92 of that Act, ante, p. 1159, which when adopted enables a local authority to make byelaws as to public bathing.

THE BURIAL ACT, 1857.

(20 & 21 VICT. c. 81) (a).

An Act to amend the Burial Acts. [25th August, 1857.]

(a) The short title of this Act is as enacted by the Short Titles Act, 1896. The following sections are such as concern the appointment and duties of local authorities as burial boards. It is of course impossible to include in the Appendix all the provisions of the Burial Acts, for which reference should be made to Brooke Little's Law of Burials, 3rd edition. See also 23 & 24 Vict. c. 64, post, p. 2258, and 25 & 26 Vict. c. 100, post, p. 2261. See also the P. H. A., 1875, ss. 310, 343, and Sched. V., Part 3, ante, pp. 653, 671, 702.

* * * * * *

Local board of health or improvement commissioners may, by order in council, be constituted a burial board.

4. In case it appear to her Majesty in Council, upon the petition of the local board of health of any district established under the Public Health Act, or upon the petition of any commissioners elected by the ratepayers and acting under or by virtue of the powers of any local Act of Parliament for the improvement of any town, parish, or borough, stating that the district of such local board of health or of such commissioners is co-extensive with a district for which it is proposed to provide a burial ground, and that no burial board has been appointed for such district, and that an Order in Council has been made for closing all or any of the burial grounds within the said district, it shall be lawful for her Majesty, with the advice of her Privy Council, in case her Majesty see fit so to do, to order that such local board shall be a burial board for the district of such local board, or that such commissioners shall be a burial board for the district of such commissioners; and thereupon such local board or such commissioners, as the case may be, shall be a burial board for such district accordingly; and the powers and provisions of the Acts hereinbefore mentioned (except the provisions relating to the constitution or appointment and resignation of members of burial boards), and the provisions herein contained, shall extend to the district of such board, and to such board, or to the district of such commissioners, and to such commissioners, and to any burial ground and places for the reception of the bodies of the dead previously to interment which may be provided by such board or by such commissioners, in like manner as to any parish or parishes and the burial board thereof, and any burial ground and any such places as aforesaid provided by such last-mentioned board, save that no approval, sanction, or authorisation of any vestry shall be requisite: Provided always, that notice of such petition, and of the time when it shall please her Majesty to order the same to be taken into consideration by the Privy Council, shall be published in the London Gazette, and in one of the newspapers usually circulating in the district of such local board or of such commissioners, one month at least before such petition is so considered: Provided also, that this enactment shall not apply to any such district as aforesaid exclusively consisting of the whole or part of one corporate borough within the meaning of the Public Health Act, 1848 (a). 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63.

Burial board may be established for a district not maintaining its own poor, and which has had no separate burial ground.

5. The vestry, or meeting in the nature of a vestry, of any parish, new parish, township, or other district not separately maintaining its own poor, and which has had no separate burial ground, may appoint a burial board; and such vestry or meeting, and the burial board appointed by it, shall exercise and have all the powers which they might have exercised and had under the said Acts and this Act if such parish, new parish, township, or district had had a separate burial ground before the passing of the said Act of the eighteenth and nineteenth years of her Majesty: Provided always, that all the powers of any other vestry or meeting and burial board, if any, shall then cease and determine, so far as relates to such parish, new parish, township, or district as aforesaid; and until a burial ground shall be so provided as aforesaid and consecrated (a) for any new parish or district created or to be created pursuant to the provisions of the New Parishes Act, 1843, the New Parishes Act, 1844, and the New Parishes Act, 1856, or any or either of them, and to which the said Acts, or any or either of them, may apply, the incumbent of such new parish or district, (if any burial ground has been or shall be provided under the herein recited Acts for the burial of the dead, or any or either of them, for any parish or parishes out of rates to which such new parish or district, or any part thereof, shall have contributed or contribute or be liable,) shall, with respect to the burial in such last-mentioned burial ground of the remains of the parishioners or inhabitants of such new parish or district, or of such part thereof as shall have contributed or contribute as aforesaid, as the case may be, perform the same duties, and have the same rights, privileges, and authorities, and be entitled to the same fees (a), and also the clerk and sexton of such new parish or district shall, when necessary, respectively perform the same duties, and be entitled to the same fees (a), in respect of such burials, as if the said burial ground were exclusively the Resolutions, etc. of vestries not to be void by reason of irregularity of notices, etc.

27. No resolution or proceeding of any vestry, or meeting in the nature of a vestry, for the purposes of the said recited Acts and this Act, or any of them, shall be void or voidable by reason of any defect or irregularity of or in notice of such vestry or meeting, or any other error in form in the calling of such vestry or meeting, or in the proceedings thereat, unless notice in writing of such defect or irregularity or error shall have been given at such vestry or meeting, or within seven days after the day of the holding thereof, to the churchwardens or other persons to whom it belongs to call meetings of such vestry, or such meeting in the nature of a vestry, who shall thereupon call another meeting for the purpose of considering the previous resolution or proceeding or the matter thereof; and no such resolution and proceeding made or taken at any such vestry, or meeting in the nature of a vestry, before the passing of this Act, which shall not have been objected to by notice in writing to such churchwardens or persons as aforesaid, shall be deemed invalid by reason of any such defect, irregularity or error.

Meaning of "burial board."

28. In the construction of this Act the expression "burial board" shall mean a burial board constituted under the hereinbefore recited Acts (a) or any of them, or under this Act.

(a) These are the Burial Act, 1852; the Burial Act, 1853; the Burial Act, 1854; the Burial Act, 1855.

Recited Acts and this as one.

30. The hereinbefore recited Acts and this Act shall be construed together as one Act.

THE PUBLIC HEALTH ACT, 1858.

(21 & 22 VICT. C. 97) (a).

An Act for vesting in the Privy Council certain Powers for the Protection of the Public Health. [2nd August, 1858.]

1. [Powers of General Board of Health under 18 & 19 Vict. c. 116, added to those of the Privy Council] (b).

(a) This Act was made perpetual by 22 & 23 Vict. c. 3.
(b) Sections 1, 3, 5, and 6 are repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1893 (No. 1), the powers and duties of the Privy Council under those sections having been transferred to the L. G. B. by 34 & 35 Vict. c. 70, and now to the Minister of Health by 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 21, s. 3, post.

2. [Certain powers in relation to Public Vaccination vested in the Privy Council] (a).

(a) Repealed by 30 & 31 Vict. c. 84, s.1.

3. [Privy Council may direct inquiries] (a).

(a) See note (b) to s. 1, supra.

Section 4.

Privy Council to appoint medical officer, etc.

4. The powers of appointing and removing a medical officer, vested in the General Board of Health under the General Board of Health Continuance Act, 1855, shall, upon the discontinuance of that board, be vested in the Privy Council (a); . . . and the Privy Council may also from time to time employ such other persons as they deem necessary for the purposes of this Act; and there shall be paid to the medical officer such salary not exceeding fifteen hundred pounds per annum, and to such other persons such remuneration and allowances, as the Treasury may direct; and such salary, remuneration, and allowances shall be paid out of such moneys as shall be provided by Parliament (b).

(a) The next clause of this section as it originally stood was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1878.

(b) Section 4 is repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1875, in so far as it relates to the salary of the medical officer. As to the salary of this officer, see the P. H. A., 1875, Sched. V., Part 3, ante, p. 705. The medical officer of the Privy Council was attached to the L. G. B. by 34 & 35 Vict. c. 70, s. 6 (see 35 & 36 Vict. c. 79, s. 38), and was transferred to the Minister of Health by 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 21, s. 6.

5. [Medical officer to report annually as to the execution of this Act] (a).

(a) See note (b) to s. 1, ante, p. 2254.

6. [Reports to be laid before Parliament] (a).

(a) See note (b) to s. 1, ante, p. 2254.

Exercise of powers vested in the Privy Council, etc.

7. All powers vested in the Privy Council by this Act may be exercised by any three or more of the lords and others of the Privy Council, . . . (a) and all orders, regulations, directions, and acts of the Privy Council under this Act shall be sufficiently made and signified by a written or printed document, signed by one of the clerks of the Privy Council, or such officer as may be appointed by the Privy Council in this behalf; and all orders, regulations, directions, and acts made or signified by any written or printed document purporting to be so signed shall be deemed to have been duly made, issued, and done by the Privy Council; and every such document shall be received in evidence in all courts and before all justices and others without proof of the authority or signature of such clerk or other officer, or other proof whatsoever, until it be shown that such document was not duly signed by the authority of the Privy Council (b).

(b) See also the Documentary Evidence Acts, 1868 and 1882, and Tyrrell v. Cole (1919), 83 J. P. 53.

8. [Proceedings for penalties under Vaccination Acts] (a).

(a) Repealed by 22 & 23 Vict. c. 3.

Short title.

9. This Act may be cited as "The Public Health Act, 1858" . . .

THE PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS ACT, 1860.

(23 & 24 VICT. c. 30.)

An Act to enable a Majority of Two Thirds of the Ratepayers of any Parish or District, duly assembled, to rate their District in aid of Public Improvements for general benefit within their District (a).

[3rd July, 1860.]

Ratepayers may hold land, etc. for purpose of

1. It shall be lawful for the ratepayers of any parish (b) maintaining its own poor, the population of which, according to the last account from time to time forming public walks, etc. and levy rates for maintaining the same, etc.

taken thereof by the authority of Parliament, exceeds five hundred persons, to purchase or lease lands, and to accept gifts and grants of land, for the purpose of forming any public walk, exercise or play ground, and to levy rates for maintaining the same, and for removal of any nuisances or obstruction to the free use and enjoyment thereof, and for improving any open walk or footpath, or placing convenient seats, or shelters from rain, and for other purposes of a similar nature.

(a) This Act does not affect sanitary authorities other than those of boroughs, and it is in fact practically superseded by later enactments. It may, however, be adopted by any rural parish. See s. 7 of the L. G. A., 1894.

It will be observed from s. 164 of the P. H. A., 1875, and s. 8 of the L. G. A., 1894, that district and parish councils may provide recreation grounds under those provisions. There may be some value in the distinct provision as to seats in open walks.

(b) See the definition of "parish" in R. and V. A., 1925, s. 68 (4), ante, p. 1752.

Adoption of Act.

9 & 10 Vict. c. 74.

2. This Act may be adopted for any borough, or for any parish having a population of five hundred or upwards (according to the last account for the time taken by authority of Parliament), in the same manner as the Baths and Washhouses Act, 1846, may be adopted in such borough or parish (a).

(a) The 9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, may be adopted in manner provided by ss. 1, 5 of that Act, ante, pp. 2143, 2144.

Application of certain provisions of 9 & 10 Vict. c. 74.

3. Where the Act is adopted in a borough or in such a parish, the provisions of the Baths and Washhouses Act, 1846, for the purposes below specified, applicable in the like cases where that Act is adopted, shall take effect for the purposes of this Act, viz.: All the provisions concerning—

1. The authority by which and the manner in which the Act is to be carried into execution (a);
2. The mode of providing the expenses of carrying the Act into execution (excluding the provisions for borrowing money for such expenses) (b);
3. The appointment (in the case of a parish) of commissioners, the tenure of office and procedure, and the audit of their accounts (c);
4. The powers of the councils and commissioners for the purposes of the Act (except the powers of borrowing money) (d).

(a) 9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, s. 7, ante, p. 2145.
(b) 9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, s. 16, ante, p. 2146, and s. 21, ante, p. 2147.
(c) 9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, ss. 6—15, ante, pp. 2145, 2146.
(d) 9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, ss. 24—40, ante, pp. 2148–2153.

Ratepayers, after notice given, to rate parishes.

4. After the adoption of this Act it shall be lawful for the ratepayers in meeting assembled to rate such parish to a separate rate, to be called the "Parish Improvement Rate"; provided, that such rate be agreed to by a majority of at least two-thirds (a) . . . of the ratepayers assembled at such meeting (b).

(a) The words "in value", here following were repealed by s. 89 of the L. G. A., 1894.
(b) The rate will now be raised as an additional item of the general rate under s. 2 (5), R. and V. Act, 1925, ante, p. 1641.

Corporate bodies may attend and vote.

5. Corporate bodies shall be allowed to attend meetings to be held as aforesaid and to vote thereat by some person to be deputed by them for that purpose under their corporate seal.

One half of the estimated cost to be raised by private subscription.

6. Provided always, that previous to any such rate being imposed a sum in amount not less than at least one half of the estimated cost of such proposed improvement shall have been raised, given, or collected by private subscription or donation.

Limit of rate.

7. Such rate shall not exceed sixpence in the pound (a).

(a) The maximum limit of the rate is increased to 8*d*. by s. 75 of the L. G. A., 1929, ante, p. 1940, subject to the provisions of that section.

THE LOCAL TAXATION RETURNS ACT, 1860.

(23 & 24 VICT. c. 51) (a).

An Act to provide for an Annual Return of Rates, Taxes, Tolls, and Dues levied for Local Purposes in England. [23rd July, 1860.]

Clerks of bodies empowered to levy rates, etc. to make annual returns to Secretary of State.

1. The clerk to any corporation, justices, commissioners, district or other board, vestry, inspectors, trustees, or other body or persons authorised to levy or to order to be levied any of the rates (b), taxes, tolls, or dues mentioned in the Schedule to this Act, or any other compulsory rates, taxes, tolls, or dues in England, (other than such as are levied for the public revenue of the United Kingdom,) shall make a return of the sums levied or received by or in respect of such rates, taxes, tolls, and dues, and of the expenditure thereof to one of her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State . . . in every year (c) ; . . .

(a) This Act is repealed as to boroughs within the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, Sched. I., Part II. As to returns to be made in such boroughs, see. s. 28 of that Act. This Act was amended by 40 & 41 Vict. c. 66, post, p. 2400, and was extended to highway accounts by 42 & 43 Vict. c. 39, and 45 & 46 Vict. c. 67. The provisions of this Act are modified by the Local Government (Emergency Provisions) Act, 1916, 6 & 7 Geo. 5, c. 12, s. 13 (1), ante, p. 1232 (made permanent by 15 & 16 Geo. 5, c. 76, s. 1, and Sched. I., Pt. I.), which provides that a summary of the local taxation returns may be laid before Parliament instead of the abstract required by s. 6, post, p. 2258.

(b) As to the consolidation of local rates in the general rate, see the R. and V. Act, 1925, ante, p. 1633.

(c) The annual return must be made for the year ending March 25th, and must be sent to the Ministry of Health; but no return need now be made, unless specially called for, where the accounts are audited by a district auditor (40 & 41 Vict. c. 66, s. 1 ; 42 & 43 Vict. c. 6, s. 3, post, pp. 2401, 2405).

Contents of returns.

2. Such returns . . . shall show the amounts levied and expended respectively, with such other particulars and in such form as shall from time to time be ordered by such Secretary of State (a).

(a) See note (c) to s. 1, supra.

Who are to make returns in certain cases.

3. . . . where any such rates, taxes, tolls, or dues are levied and expended or to be accounted for by churchwardens, chapelwardens, or any officers or persons not authorised to act as a board, such returns as hereinbefore mentioned in respect of such rates, taxes, tolls, or dues, and the expenditure thereof, shall be made by such churchwardens, chapelwardens, or other officers or persons; and they shall be severally liable in respect of any neglect to make the same (a).

(a) See 40 & 41 Vict. c. 66, s. 2, post, p. 2401.

Penalty for default.

4. Any . . . churchwarden, officer, or other person required as aforesaid to make such return, who neglects so to do in the month of June in any year, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds for every such offence, to be recoverable on summary conviction thereof before two justices (a).

(a) See also 40 & 41 Vict. c. 66, s. 2, post, p. 2401. The words "clerk, treasurer" omitted from this section after the word "any," and before the word "churchwarden," were repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1892.

Saving for cases where returns are already required.

5. Where any annual return is now by law required to be made to the Secretary of State, or to any public department, under any Act of Parliament, this Act shall not render necessary any further or other return in respect of the same matters: Provided always, that the said Secretary of State may, by his order published in the London Gazette, direct that all or any of such

Section 5. returns now required as aforesaid shall in future be made under this Act, and shall be subject to the provisions and penalties thereof.

Abstracts of returns to be laid before Parliament

6. The said Secretary of State shall every year cause the returns transmitted to him under this Act to be abstracted, and the abstract thereof to be laid before both Houses of Parliament (a).

(a) See the amending provision in 6 & 7 Geo. 5, c. 12, s. 13 (1), referred to in note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2257.

Poor rate returns to be made to Poor Law Board as heretofore.

7. This Act shall not extend to the rates levied for the relief of the poor (a), or the expenditure thereof; but the returns thereof shall continue to be made to the Poor Law Board (b), as by the orders of such Board shall from time to time be directed.

(a) The poor rate now forms part of the general rate, see R. & V. Act, 1925, ante, p. 1633.
(b) Now the Ministry of Health, who have succeeded to the powers and duties of the L. G. B., who succeeded the Secretary of State under 34 & 35 Vict. c. 70.

Saving for companies and private rights of toll, etc.

8. This Act shall not extend to any tolls or dues taken by any railway, canal, or joint stock company as profits of their undertaking, or to any tolls or dues taken by prescription or otherwise as private property.

SCHEDULE.

Church rates and chapel rates; whether made by the common law or under the Church Building Acts, or under any other Act of Parliament.

Sewers rates and "general sewers tax," and all rates, scots, and taxes levied by courts or commissioners of sewers; whether levied under the Acts of the 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 22, and 4 & 5 Vict. c. 45, or under any other Act of Parliament, or by charter usage, or custom (a).

Rates under the Act for the lighting and watching of parishes, 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 90.

Rates levied by improvement commissioners or other commissioners, or by any trustees or corporation acting under any local Act for the paving, draining, cleansing, or watching, improvement or regulation of any town or district.

Rates levied by or under the order of any vestry or district board, under the Act 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, for the better local management of the metropolis (b).

Tolls and dues levied under the authority of Parliament in respect of markets, bridges, or harbours (c).

(a) As to returns by sanitary authorities, see 40 & 41 Vict. c. 66, ss. 2, 3, post, p. 2401.
(b) Now superseded by the London Government Act, 1899.
(c) As to the extinction of customary tolls by tolls under Act of Parliament, see New Windsor Corporation v. Taylor, [1899] A. C. 41; 63 J. P. 164.

THE BURIAL ACT, 1860.

(23 & 24 VICT. c. 64) (a).

An Act to make further provision for the Expenses of Local Boards of Health and Improvement Commissioners acting as Burial Boards.

[6th August, 1860.]

Expenses of local board constituted a burial board may be paid out of general district rate, or by a separate rate

1. Any money required by any local board constituted a burial board for defraying the expense of carrying into execution the powers and provisions of the Burial Acts and of this Act in the district for which they may have been so constituted a burial board, or for paying any moneys borrowed or annuities granted under the authority of the said Acts, or any interest on moneys borrowed, or for providing a sinking fund for the repayment of such moneys, may, if the local board so think fit, be paid out of the general district tithes leviable within such district; and such local board may levy as part of are general district rate, or by a separate rate, under the name and designation of a burial rate, to be assessed and recovered in like manner as a general district rate within the district for which they act as a burial board, such sums of money as shall be from time to time necessary for the purposes aforesaid, or any of them (b).

(a) See 20 & 21 Vict. c. 81, ante, p. 2252, and 25 & 26 Vict. c. 100, post, p. 2261.
(b) See 21 & 22 Vict. c. 98, s. 49, ante, p. 703. The general rate now supersedes the general district rate and all other rates which the rating authority have power to make within their district.

Expenses of improvement commissioners, when acting as a burial board, may be paid out of improvement rate, or by a separate rate.

2. Any money required by any such commissioners as aforesaid who shall have been constituted a burial board for defraying the expense of carrying into execution the powers and provisions of the Burial Acts in the district for which they may have been so constituted a burial board, or for paying any moneys borrowed or annuities granted under the authority of the said Acts, or any interest on moneys borrowed, or for providing a sinking fund for the repayment of such moneys, may, if the commissioners so think fit, be paid out of the improvement rate leviable within such district; and the commissioners as such burial board may levy as part of the improvement rate, or by a separate rate, under the name and designation of a burial rate, to be assessed and recovered in like manner as an improvement rate, such sums of money as shall be from time to time necessary for the purposes aforesaid, or any of them (a).

(a) See 25 & 26 Vict. c. 100, s. 1, post, p. 2261. Improvement Commissioners became urban district councils under s. 21 of the L. G. A., 1894.

Separate accounts to be kept, etc.

3. The local board and the commissioners respectively who may have been constituted a burial board shall keep distinct accounts of their receipts and expenditure in the exercise of their functions as such burial board; and where their expenses are defrayed by moneys raised under the provisions of this Act, such accounts shall be audited in the same manner as other accounts of the receipts and expenditure of such local board and commissioners respectively; and any surplus of the moneys raised by any rate made under this Act, and of the income of any burial ground provided by means of moneys raised or paid under the provisions of this Act, which may remain after payment of the expenses and moneys which should be defrayed or paid under the Burial Acts, shall be applied in aid of the general district rate or improvement rate, as the case may be, levied within the district, which shall have been or might have been charged with a separate rate under this Act (a).

(a) As to the form of financial statement, see the Financial Statements Order, 1921, in App. II., post, p. 3036. Income tax is payable on the surplus (Paddington Burial Board v. Commissioners of Inland Revenue (1884), 13 Q. B. D. 9; 48 J. P. 311). See also the R. and V. Act, 1925, ante, p. 1633.

Consent of Secretary of State to appointment of burial board in certain cases.

4. Where any parish or place has been divided into two or more parts or districts for all or any ecclesiastical purposes, and any one of such parts has a separate burial ground, it shall not be lawful for the vestry or meeting in the nature of a vestry for such entire parish or place to appoint a burial board without the approval of one of her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State (a).

(a) See R. v. Walcot St. Swithin Overseers (1862), 2 B. & S. 571; 31 L. J. M. C. 221. By s. 4 of the Burial Act, 1900, post, p. 2613, the powers and duties of the Secretary of State under this section were transferred to the L. G. B. and are now vested in the Minister of Health under 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 21, s. 3. For the mode of obtaining approval of the appointment of a burial board, see s. 1 of the Burial Act, 1871.

THE LANDS CLAUSES CONSOLIDATION ACTS AMENDMENT ACT, 1860.

(23 & 24 VICT. c. 106)(a).

An Act to amend the Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts, 1845, in regard to Sales and Compensation for land by way of a Rentcharge, Annual Feu Duty or Ground Annual, and to enable her Majesty's principal Secretary of State for the War Department to avail himself of the Powers and Provisions contained in the same Acts. [20th August, 1860.]

Part of section 10 of recited Act repealed.

1. So much of the tenth section of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, as provides that, save in the case of lands of which any person is seised in fee or entitled to dispose absolutely for their own benefit, the consideration to be paid for any lands, or for any damage done thereto, shall be in a gross sum, is hereby repealed (b).

(a) See 8 & 9 Vict. c. 18, ante, p. 2088; and 46 & 47 Vict. c. 15, post, p. 2460. The collective title of the Acts is now the Lands Clauses Acts.

(b) This section was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1875, but it is retained here to explain the repeal effected by it. See 8 & 9 Vict. c. 18, s. 10, ante, p. 2092.

Powers in 8 & 9 Vict. c. 18, ss. 10, 11, to sell lands for a rentcharge, and to recover rentcharge, extended to all sales, etc. where parties are under disability.

2. The power to sell and convey lands in consideration of an annual rentcharge provided by the tenth section of the said Act, and the power to recover such rentcharge provided by the eleventh section of the said Act, are hereby extended to all cases of sale and purchase or compensation under the said Act where the parties interested in such sale, or entitled to such compensation, are under any disability or incapacity, and have no power to sell or convey such lands, or to receive such compensation, except under the provisions of the said Act (a).

(a) See these sections, ante, p. 2092; s. 3 relates to Scotland only. As to the removal of certain disabilities by the Property Acts of 1925, see note (a) to s. 7 of the 1845 Act at p. 2091, ante.

* * * * * *

Amount of rentcharge to be settled in manner directed in 8 & 9 Vict. c. 18, s. 9, etc. (a).

4. In every case of such sale or compensation by any parties other than parties seised in fee or entitled to dispose absolutely of the lands so sold or damaged, the amount of such rentcharge, . . . hereinbefore mentioned, shall be settled in the manner directed in the ninth section of each of the said Acts respectively: Provided, that the amount of such annual rentcharge, . . . shall in no case be less than one-fourth part greater than the net annual rent received by the parties beneficially interested in such lands, upon an average of the last seven years; and that a charge of five per cent. on the gross sum estimated or fixed as aforesaid by way of compensation for any damage that may be done to the said lands shall in all such cases be added to and shall form a part of the said rentcharge, . . . and that no fine, . . . premium, or other consideration in the nature thereof, shall be paid or taken in respect of the lands so sold or damaged, other than the annual rentcharge . . . made payable for such lands: Provided also, that such rentcharge shall be and remain upon and for the same uses, trusts, and purposes as those upon which the rents and profits of the land so conveyed stood settled or assured at or immediately before the conveyance thereof, and shall be a first charge on the tolls and rates, if any, payable under the special Act.

(a) See the section, ante, p. 2092. Words relating to Scotland only are omitted from this and the following section.

The Law of Property Act, 1922, 12 & 13 Geo. 5, c. 16, s. 39, provided that the power conferred by 8 & 9 Vict. c. 18, s. 10 (ante, p. 2092), to sell and convey land in consideration of an annual rentcharge shall extend to a tenant for life in like manner in all respects as if he had been entitled to dispose of the settled land absolutely, and accordingly s. 4 of the above Act shall not apply to such a sale. That section is, however, repealed by the Settled Land Act, 1925 (15 Geo. 5, c. 18), which does not contain an identical provision though the same effect results from the combined operation of ss. 38 and 39, ibid., and s. 9 and Sched. IX. of the Law of Property (Amendment) Act, 1924 (15 Geo. 5, c. 5). Note to Section 4.

5. In case the promoters of the undertaking shall be empowered, by any Act or Acts relating thereto, to be passed after the passing of this Act, to borrow money to an amount not exceeding a prescribed sum, then in the event of the promoters of the undertaking agreeing at any time after the passing of this Act with any person, under the powers of this Act and of either of the Acts hereinbefore mentioned, or of either of the said Acts only, for the purchase of any lands in consideration of the payment of a rentcharge . . . the powers of the promoters of the undertaking for borrowing money shall be reduced by an amount equal to twenty years purchase of any rentcharge, . . . so for the time being payable. If lands are purchased by way of rent-charge, the borrowing powers of the promoters shall be reduced proportionally.

6. [Purchase of lands by municipal corporations] (a).

(a) The whole of this section is repealed, except as to Ireland, by the S. L. R. A., 1892, having been superseded as to England by certain provisions of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, Part V.

* * * * * *

8. This Act shall be read and construed as part of the said Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, . . . in all matters in which it relates to the said Act . . . and in citing this Act in other Acts of Parliament, and in legal instruments, it shall be sufficient to use the expression of "The Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts Amendment Act, 1860." This Act and 8 & 9 Vict. c. 18 to be construed together. Short title.

THE BURIAL ACT, 1862.

(25 & 26 VICT. c. 100) (a).

An Act to authorise Improvement Commissioners acting as Burial Boards to mortgage certain Rates for the purposes of the Burial Acts.

[7th August, 1862.]

1. Any commissioners elected by the ratepayers, and acting under or by virtue of the powers of any local Act of Parliament for the improvement of any town, parish, or borough, who shall have been constituted a burial board for any district, may, with the approval of the Treasury, from time to time borrow at interest on mortgage of the improvement rate and burial rate, or either of them, leviable within the district, such sums of money as may be required by the burial board for the purposes of the Burial Act within the district (b). Commissioners, with consent of Treasury, may mortgage improvement rate and burial rate or either.

(b) This is an amendment of 23 & 24 Vict. c. 64, s. 2, ante, p. 2259.

2. The clauses and provisions of the Commissioners Clauses Act, 1847, with respect to the mortgages to be executed by the commissioners (a), shall be incorporated with this Act, and shall be applicable to all mortgages created under the provisions thereof. 10 & 11 Vict. c. 16, to apply to mortgages under this Act.

(a) See 10 & 11 Vict. c. 16, ss. 75—88; Brooke Little's Law of Burials, 3rd ed., p. 674.

THE TOWN GARDENS PROTECTION ACT, 1863.

(26 & 27 VICT. c. 13) (a).

An Act for the Protection of certain Garden or Ornamental Grounds in Cities and Boroughs. [4th May, 1863.]

Gardens in squares, etc. may be taken charge of by the Metropolitan Board of Works or other corporate authority, etc.

1. Where in any city or borough any enclosed garden or ornamental ground has been set apart otherwise than by the revocable permission of the owner thereof in any public square, crescent, circus, street, or other public place, for the use or enjoyment of the inhabitants thereof, and where the trustees, commissioners, or other body appointed for the care of the same have neglected to keep it in proper order, or where such garden or ground has not been vested in or placed under the management of any trustees, commissioners, or other body for the care of the same, and from the want of such care, or from any other cause, has been neglected, the Metropolitan Board of Works (b), where the same is in any place under their jurisdiction, except the city of London (where the provisions of this Act shall be carried into effect by the corporation of the said city), and the corporate authorities in any other city or borough, shall take charge of the same, putting up a notice or notices to that effect in such garden or ornamental ground, and, if after due inquiry the person entitled to any estate of freehold in the same cannot be found, or if it shall be vested in any person by whom it is held, subject to any condition or reservation for keeping the same as and for a garden or pleasure ground, or that the same shall not be built upon, but not otherwise, shall cause any buildings or other encroachment made thereinwithin the period of twenty years before the passing of this Act to be removed, and (if requested by a majority of two-thirds of the owners and of the occupiers of the houses surrounding the same) shall vest such garden or ornamental ground in a committee consisting of not more than nine nor fewer than three of the rated inhabitants of such houses to be chosen annually by such inhabitants, in order that the same may be kept as a garden or ornamental ground for the use of such inhabitants; and the vestry or board of any and every parish or district within which the same or any part thereof is situate shall from time to time cause to be raised the sums required by such committee for defraying the expenses of the maintenance and management of such enclosed garden or ornamental ground, or of such part thereof as is situate within their parish or district, by an addition to the general rate to be assessed on the occupiers of such houses; or if the said owners and occupiers shall not agree as aforesaid to undertake the charge of such garden or ornamental ground, the Metropolitan Board of Works or corporate authority aforesaid shall, within six months after the notice hereinbefore mentioned shall have been put up within the same, or within such further time as the said board or authority may think it expedient to allow for such agreement to be come to, vest the same in such vestries or boards, who shall thenceforth take charge of and maintain the same as an open place or street in such manner as shall appear to them most advantageous to the public, subject to the approval of the Metropolitan Board of Works or corporate authority, as the case may require; saving and always reserving to every person and persons, his and their heirs, executors, administrators, and assigns, all such estate, right, title, and interest, as he, she, or they would or ought to have had and enjoyed of, in, to, from, or out of the gardens and grounds aforesaid in case this Act had not passed.

(a) The short title of this Act is as enacted by the Short Titles Act, 1896. It is not absolutely incorporated by any of the P. H. A., but is referred to in the notes to s. 164 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 390; and see Tulk v. Metropolitan Board of Works, there cited. The preamble and clause of enactment of this Act were repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1893 (No. 1). Note to Section 1.

(b) Now the London C. C., see L. G. A., 1888, s. 40 (8).

Protection from encroachment.

2 . . . (a). Where any right to require that any garden or ornamental ground as aforesaid be kept and maintained as such, or that the same shall not be built upon, shall belong to any person in right of any house or other property, and he shall by notice in writing signed by him addressed to the Metropolitan Board of Works where the same is in any place under their jurisdiction, except the city of London, where the same shall be addressed to the corporation of the said city, or to the corporate authorities in any other city or borough, requesting the said Metropolitan Board of Works or corporate authority to protect the right before mentioned, the said Metropolitan Board of Works or corporate authority, after due inquiry, may, if they shall think fit, accede to such request; and then and thereupon the right of such person to require that such garden or ornamental ground to be maintained as such, or that the same shall not be built upon, shall thenceforth be vested in such Metropolitan Board of Works or corporate authority, who shall be fully empowered, for and in their own name, to exercise all the rights, powers, and privileges in relation thereto, and take such legal proceedings for asserting, defending, and protecting the same, as the said person might have exercised or taken.

(a) The preamble to this section reciting that it is expedient that the same should be protected from undue encroachment, is repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1893 (No. 1).

Expenses, how to be defrayed.

18 & 19 Vict. c. 120.

5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 76.

3. Any charge incurred by the Metropolitan Board of Works in the execution of this Act shall be deemed to be expenses of the said board for payment whereof provision is made by the Metropolis Management Act, 1855; and the expenses incurred by any corporate authority shall be deemed to be expenses necessarily incurred by them in carrying into execution within and for their city or borough the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, and any other Act amending the same (a).

(a) See now the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882.

Byelaws for management of garden, etc.

4. Where any such garden or ground is managed by any committee of the inhabitants of any square, crescent, circus, street, or place, such committee may make, and from time to time revoke and alter, byelaws for the management of the same, and for the preservation of the trees, shrubs, plants, flowers, rails, fences, seats, summer-houses, and other things therein, which byelaws shall be entered in a book kept for that purpose by the committee, signed by the chairman of the meeting at which the same shall be passed, and which book shall and may be produced and read, and taken as evidence of such byelaws, in all courts whatever; and any inhabitant or servant, or other person admitted to such garden by any inhabitant, offending against the same, after they shall have been duly allowed as hereinafter provided, upon proof thereof before a magistrate acting for the district in which such garden is situate, shall be liable for each offence to a penalty not exceeding five pounds: Provided always, that such byelaws shall not come into operation until the same shall have been allowed by some judge of one of the superior courts, or by the justices in quarter sessions; and it shall be incumbent on such judge or justices, on the request of such committee, to inquire into any byelaws tendered to them for that purpose, and to allow or disallow the same as they think meet (a).

(a) The power of making byelaws conferred by this section is extended to the trustees or other persons having the care and management of any open space within the meaning of the Open Spaces Act, 1906, who in pursuance of that Act admit to the enjoyment of the open space any persons not owning, occupying, or residing in any house fronting thereon. See s. 15 (3) of that Act, post, p. 2683.

Section 5.

Penalty for injuring garden.

5. Any police constable who shall see any person throwing any rubbish into any such garden, or trespassing therein, or getting over the railings or fence, or stealing or damaging the flowers or plants, or committing any nuisance therein, may apprehend such person, under the authority hereby given to him; and any person convicted before any magistrate acting for the district shall be liable for each and every offence aforesaid to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings, or to imprisonment for any period not exceeding fourteen days; and in case it shall be necessary to state in any proceedings the ownership of the property of such garden, flowers, or plants, it shall be sufficient to describe the same as the property of the committee by the name of A. B. and others.

Certain provisions of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, to be incorporated with this Act, and to apply to penalties within metropolitan district.

11 & 12 Vict. c. 43, to apply to penalties elsewhere.

6. The provisions contained in the two hundred and twenty-fifth, two hundred and twenty-sixth, two hundred and twenty-seventh, and two hundred and twenty-eighth sections of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, shall be incorporated in this Act, and shall apply to any penalty or forfeiture imposed by this Act, or any byelaw made in pursuance thereof, in and for every matter or thing done or omitted to be done within the metropolitan district; and the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1848, shall apply to every penalty or forfeiture imposed by this Act, or any byelaw made in pursuance thereof, or any matter or thing done or omitted to be done within any other part of England and Wales.

Act not to extend to property of the Crown, etc.

14 & 15 Vict. c. 95.

7. Nothing in this Act shall extend to or include any garden, ornamental ground, or other land belonging to her Majesty in right of her Crown or of her Duchy of Lancaster, or any garden, ornamental ground, or other land for the time being under the management of the Commissioners of Works, or of the commissioners for the time being acting under the Crown Estate Paving Act, 1851, or to any garden, ornamental or other ground, for which special provision is made for the due care and protection thereof by any public or private Act of Parliament.

Extent of Act.

8. Nothing in this Act shall extend to Scotland or Ireland.

THE WATERWORKS CLAUSES ACT, 1863.

(26 & 27 Vict. c. 93) (a).

An Act for consolidating in one Act certain Provisions frequently inserted in Acts relating to Waterworks. [28th July, 1863.]

10 & 11 Vict. c. 17.

Whereas the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, was passed in order to comprise in one Act sundry provisions which were at the time of the passing of that Act usually introduced into Acts of Parliament authorising the construction of certain waterworks:

And whereas sundry provisions of the like nature, but not comprised in the said Act, are now frequently introduced into Acts of Parliament relating to waterworks, and it is expedient to comprise such last-mentioned provisions also in one Act, and that as well for the purpose of avoiding the necessity of repeating such provisions in special Acts relating to waterworks, as for ensuring greater uniformity in the provisions themselves (b).

PRELIMINARY.

1. This Act may be cited as the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1863; and the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, and this Act may be cited together as the Waterworks Clauses Acts, 1847 and 1863. Short title. 10 & 11 Vict. c. 17.

2. This Act shall apply to any waterworks to which any special Act (a) hereafter passed and incorporating this Act relates; and every such special Act is hereinafter referred to as "the special Act." Application of Act and interpretation of terms.

Terms used in this Act have the same meanings as the same terms have when used in the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847. 10 & 11 Vict. c. 17.

The provisions respecting the recovery of penalties contained in the last-mentioned Act shall be incorporated with this Act (b).

(a) See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 316, ante, p. 655.

(b) 10 & 11 Vict. c. 17, s. 85. The procedure for recovery of penalties is that provided by 8 & 9 Vict. c. 20, ss. 140 et seq., ante, p. 2139.

SECURITY OF RESERVOIRS.

And with respect to the security of the reservoirs constructed by the undertakers, be it enacted as follows:

3. Whenever any person interested complains to two justices that any reservoir constructed by the undertakers is in a dangerous state, such justices shall forthwith make inquiry into the truth of the complaint; or two justices, on their own view, and without complaint by any person, may proceed under the present provisions as if a complaint had been so made to them. Power for justices to inquire as to danger of reservoir.

4. If, on any such inquiry, the justices are satisfied that the complaint is well founded, and that the reservoir is in a dangerous state, and that the danger is so imminent as not to admit of delay in removing the cause of complaint, they shall order such person as they think fit to enter on the property of the undertakers, and to lower the water in the reservoir, and to execute and do all such works and things as the justices think requisite and proper for removing the cause of complaint. Order of justices for immediate repair.

5. If, on any such inquiry, the justices are satisfied that there is good cause of complaint, but are not satisfied that the reservoir is in such an imminently dangerous state as not to admit of delay in removing the cause of complaint, they shall issue their summons to the undertakers to answer the complaint; and upon hearing the parties, the justices may, or upon default of appearance of the undertakers, then in their absence, the justices shall, order the undertakers, within such period as the justices think reasonable and specify in the order, to lower the water in the reservoir, and to execute and do all such works and things as the justices think requisite and proper for removing the cause of complaint. Order of justices on undertakers to repair reservoir.

If the undertakers fail to execute or do within that period any such work or thing, the justices who made the order, or any other two justices, on being satisfied of such failure, may either order such persons as the justices think fit to enter on the property of the undertakers, and to lower the water in the reservoir, and to execute and do all such works and things as the justices think requisite and proper for removing the cause of complaint; or may, if they think fit, by order impose on the undertakers a penalty, not exceeding ten pounds, for every day during which such failure continues after the making of the order imposing the penalty. Order of justices on failure of undertakers to repair.

6. Any order of justices made in any of the cases aforesaid shall be in writing under their hands, and may be in the form set forth in the Schedule to this Act, with such variations as circumstances require. Form of order.

Section 7.

Persons acting under order not trespassers, etc.

7. Any person acting under and in pursuance of any such order shall not be deemed a trespasser; and if any person wilfully obstructs any person lawfully acting in obedience to any such order, or wilfully does, or instigates, or suffers to be done, anything in contravention thereof, he shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds.

Order for payment of costs and expenses.

8. The justices may order all, or such part as they think fit, of the costs of and incident to the applying for and obtaining of any such order to be paid by the undertakers, and also all, or such part as the justices think fit, of the expenses of the works and things executed and done in pursuance of any such order by any person other than the undertakers, to be paid by the undertakers to such person as the justices appoint.

If the justices before whom the complaint is made think that there is no sufficient ground for the complaint, they may, if they think fit, order the complainant to pay to the undertakers the whole or any part of their costs of or incident to the complaint.

Appeal by undertakers.

8 & 9 Vict. c. 20.

9. If the undertakers consider themselves aggrieved by any order or determination of justices under the present provisions, they may in like manner and subject to the like conditions as by the Railways Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (a), are provided in the case of appeals in respect of penalties, appeal to the court of general or quarter sessions for the county or place where the cause of appeal arises; and that court may, on the hearing of the appeal, either affirm or quash the order or determination, or make such other order in the premises as may seem fit, and may make such order as to the costs, both of the original proceedings and of the appeal, as may seem fit; but the order or determination appealed against shall, pending the appeal, continue in force.

(a) 8 & 9 Vict. c. 20, s. 157, ante, p. 2142.

Undertakers not to be responsible for consequences of order.

10. Notwithstanding anything in the special Act contained, the undertakers shall not be liable to pay any damages, penalties, costs, charges, or expenses for or in respect of, or be answerable or accountable for, any diminution or cessation of the supply of water, or any other breach or non-performance of their or any of their duties, liabilities, or obligations under the special Act, that may be occasioned by or result from the execution of any such order.

Application of Act, etc.

11. The present provisions with respect to the security of reservoirs shall apply to England . . . (a).

(a) The rest of s. 11 relates to Scotland and Ireland only.

SUPPLY OF WATER.

And with respect to the supply of water to be furnished by the undertakers, be it enacted as follows:

Supply for other than domestic purposes.

12. A supply of water for domestic purposes (a) shall not include a supply of water for cattle, or for horses, or for washing carriages, where such horses or carriages are kept for sale or hire or by a common carrier, or a supply for any trade, manufacture, or business, or for watering gardens, or for fountains, or for any ornamental purpose.

(a) See 10 & 11 Vict. c. 17, s. 53, ante, p. 2190, and the notes thereto, and compare Smith v. Muller, [1894] 1 Q. B. 192; 58 J. P. 167.

Want of supply for other than domestic pur-

13. Where the undertakers are authorised by the special Act to supply water for other than domestic purposes, they shall not be liable, in the absence poses, when excused.

of express stipulation, under any agreement for the supply of water for other than domestic purposes, to any penalty or damages for not supplying such water, if the want of such supply arises from frost, unusual drought, or other unavoidable cause or accident (a).

(a) This section exempts the undertakers from penalties or damages for not supplying water under any agreement to supply it for other than domestic purposes, if the want of such supply arises from frost, unusual drought or other unavoidable cause or accident. But this section is expressly limited to the case of water supplied under an agreement, and does not apply to water supplied compulsorily. Per CAVE, J., in Sheffield Waterworks Co. v. Carter (1882), 8 Q. B. D., at p. 644.

Power to let meters, etc. for hire.

14. Where the undertakers are authorised by the special Act (a) to supply water by measure, they may let for hire to any consumer of water so supplied any meter or instrument for measuring the quantity of water supplied and consumed, and any pipes and apparatus for the conveyance, reception, or storage of the water, for such remuneration in money as may be agreed upon between them and the consumer, which shall be recoverable in the same manner as rates due to the undertakers for water; and the meters, instruments, pipes, and apparatus shall not be subject to distress . . . . for rent of the premises where the same are used, or be attached or taken in execution under any process of any court of law or equity, or under or in pursuance of any adjudication or order in bankruptcy, or other legal proceeding, against or affecting the consumer of the water or the occupier of the premises, or other the person in whose possession the meters, instruments, pipes, and apparatus may be (b).

(a) Section 58 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 142, authorises a supply by meter where the local authority are the undertakers.

(b) Words relating to Scotland only are omitted from this and the following section. An obligation on the part of a consumer to provide a meter cannot be implied from this section (Sheffield Waterworks Co. v. Carter (1882), 8 Q. B. D. 632; 46 J. P. 548). As to the duty of a consumer to provide some means of measuring the water, see Sheffield Waterworks Co. v. Bingham (1884), 52 L. J. Ch. 624; 48 L. T. 604. See these cases more fully set out, ante, p. 142.

See further as to the right to demand a supply by meter, Cooke v. New River Co., ante, p. 2188.

Power of entry for ascertaining quantity consumed by meter and for removing meters, &c.

15. The officers of the undertakers may enter any house, building, or lands, to, through, or into which water is supplied by them by measure, in order to inspect the meters, instruments, pipes, and apparatus for the measuring, conveyance, reception, or storage of water, or for the purpose of ascertaining the quantity of water supplied or consumed, and may from time to time enter any house, building, or lands, for the purpose of removing any meter, instrument, pipe, or apparatus the property of the undertakers; and if any person hinders any such officer from entering or making such inspection, or effecting such removal, he shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds; but, except with the consent of a justice . . . this power of entry shall be exercised only between the hours of ten in the forenoon and four in the afternoon (a).

(a) See also the P. H. A., 1875, s. 58, ante, p. 142.

PROTECTION OF WATER.

And with respect to the waste or misuse of the water supplied by or belonging to the undertakers, be it enacted as follows:

Power to cut off water in certain cases.

16. If any person supplied with water by the undertakers wrongfully does or causes or permits to be done anything in contravention of any of the provisions of the special Act, or wrongfully fails to do anything which,

Section 16.

under any of those provisions, ought to be done for the prevention of the waste, misuse, undue consumption, or contamination of the water of the undertakers, they may (without prejudice to any remedy against him in respect thereof) cut off any of the pipes by or through which water is supplied by them to him, or for his use, and may cease to supply him with water, so long as the cause of injury remains or is not remedied (a).

(a) For a case where a covenant to give a free supply to a farm house was held to be determined by its conversion into a mansion with a garage for motor cars, see Hadham R. D. C. v. Crallan, [1914] 2 Ch. 138; 78 J. P. 361.

Penalty for waste, etc. of water by non-repair of pipes, etc.

17. If any person supplied with water by the undertakers wilfully or negligently causes or suffers any pipe, valve, cock, cistern, bath, soil-pan, watercloset, or other apparatus or receptacle to be out of repair (a), or to be so used or contrived as that the water supplied to him by the undertakers is or is likely to be wasted, misused, unduly consumed, or contaminated, or so as to occasion or allow the return of foul air, or other noisome or impure matter, into any pipe belonging to or connected with the pipes of the undertakers, he shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

(a) As to who is the "person supplied with water" in cases where the landlord pays the water rate, under s. 72 of the 1847 Act (see Brock v. Harrison, [1899] 1 Q. B. 958), or voluntarily by agreement (see Deeley v. Caink (a case at quarter sessions) (1923), 87 J. P. N. 765). It has been held that where a stop-tap is affixed to a service pipe by the owner of the service pipe, he has committed an offence against the section, although the affixing could not lead to any waste or misuse of the water (Williams v. Llandudno U. D. C. (1897), 14 T. L. R. 18; 42 Sol. J. 34). See the judgments of DARLING and PHILLIMORE, JJ., in Colne Valley Water Co. v. Hall (1907), 71 J. P. 173; 96 L. T. 395, as to the liability to repair a communication pipe, not the property of the consumer, under a public highway. The Court of Appeal in affirming the decision refrained from giving their approval to the reasoning of the Divisional Court; see 72 J. P. 25; 98 L. T. 398; and cf. Parnell v. Portsmouth Waterworks Co. (1911), 75 J. P. 99; 8 L. G. R. 1029.

Penalty for unauthorised application of water.

18. If any person—

First, not having from the undertakers a supply of water for other than domestic purposes (a), uses, for other than domestic purposes (b), any water supplied to him by the undertakers; or

Secondly, having from the undertakers a supply of water for any other than domestic purposes, uses, for any purposes other than those for which he is entitled to use the same, any water supplied to him by the undertakers,— he shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings, without prejudice to the right of the undertakers to recover from him the value of the water misused (c).

(a) As to the meaning of this phrase, see ante, p. 2191.

(b) The use of water for washing a cart used in business is a use for "other than domestic purposes," and for washing a yard used for a trade and made dirty by such trade is a use for a trade purpose (Cambridge University and Town Waterworks Co. v. Hancock (1910), 74 J. P. 477; 103 L. T. 562).

(c) Where a rural district council agreed with a water company for a supply of water for street watering, and other specified purposes, and one of the ratepayers in the district took water from the stand-pipe from which the council received such supply, and then used it for his own trade purposes, it was held that the ratepayer was liable to be convicted under this section (Andrews v. Witt (1899), 65 J. P. 281; 84 L. T. 124). Where a railway company had obtained a supply of water by meter to a railway station, it was held that they were not authorised to use part of the supply to another railway station (Great Northern Ry. Co. v. Bradford Corporation (1919), 88 L. J. Ch. 101; 83 J. P. 33).

Penalty for unauthorised extension or alteration of pipes.

19. It shall not be lawful for the owner or occupier of any premises supplied with water by the undertakers, or any consumer of the water of the undertakers, or any other person, to affix or cause or permit to be affixed any pipe or apparatus to a pipe belonging to the undertakers, or to a communication or service pipe belonging to or used by such owner, occupier, consumer, or other person, or to make any alteration in any such communication or service pipe, or in any apparatus connected therewith, without the consent in every such case of the undertakers; and if any person acts in any respect in contravention of the provisions of the present section, he shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, without prejudice to the right of the undertakers to recover damages from him in respect of any injury done to their property, and without prejudice to their right to recover from him the value of any water wasted, misused, or unduly consumed (a).

(a) The addition of a stop-tap on the service pipe requires the consent of the undertakers under this section (Williams v. Llandudno U. D. C. (1897), 14 T. L. R. 18; 42 Sol. J. 34). As to the affixing of a temporary hose-pipe to a communication pipe, see Cambridge University and Town Waterworks Co. v. Hancock (1910), 74 J. P. 477; 103 L. T. 562. See also Kyffin v. Metropolitan Water Board (1908), 72 J. P. 517; 99 L. T. 809.

Penalty for wrongful taking of water.

20. If any person, not being supplied with water by the undertakers, wrongfully takes or uses any water from any reservoir, watercourse, conduit, or pipe belonging to the undertakers, or from any pipe leading to or from any such reservoir, watercourse, conduit, or pipe, or from any cistern or other like place containing water belonging to the undertakers, or supplied by them for the use of any consumer of the water of the undertakers, he shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds (a).

(a) See also 10 & 11 Vict. c. 17, s. 59, ante, p. 2193.

RECOVERY OF RATES.

And with respect to the recovery of water rates and other money, be it enacted as follows:

Recovery of rates by action.

21. If any person refuses or neglects to pay to the undertakers any rate or sum due to them under the special Act, they may recover the same, with costs, in any court of competent jurisdiction; and their remedy under the present section shall be in addition to their other remedies for the recovery thereof (a).

(a) See 10 & 11 Vict. c. 17, s. 74, ante, p. 2200, and Metropolitan Water Board v. Bunn, cited in the notes to that section.

Section 1.

THE AGRICULTURAL GANGS ACT, 1867.

(30 & 31 VICT. c. 130)(a).

An Act for the Regulation of Agricultural Gangs. [20th August, 1867.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as "The Agricultural Gangs Act, 1867."

* * * * * *

Interpertation.

3. The following words and expressions shall in this Act have the meanings hereby assigned to them unless there is something in the context inconsistent with such meanings; that is to say,

"Child" shall mean a child under the age of thirteen years:

"Young person" shall mean a person of the age of thirteen years and under the age of eighteen years:

"Woman" shall mean a female of the age of eighteen years or upwards:

"Gangmaster" shall mean any person, whether male or female, who hires children, young persons, or women with a view to their being employed in agricultural labour on lands not in his own occupation; and, until the contrary is proved, any children, young persons, or women employed in agricultural labour on lands not in the occupation of the person who hired them shall be deemed to have been hired with the aforesaid view:

"Agricultural gang" shall mean a body of children, young persons, and women, or any of them, under the control of a gangmaster.

Regulations as to employment of children, young persons, and women by gangmasters.

4. The following regulations shall be observed by every gangmaster with respect to the employment of children, young persons, and women:

(1) . . . (a):

(2) No females shall be employed in the same agricultural gang with males:

(3) No female shall be employed in any gang under any male gangmaster unless a female licensed to act as a gangmaster is also present with that gang:

And any gangmaster employing any child, young person, or woman in contravention of this section, and any occupier of land on which such employment takes place, unless he proves that it took place without his knowledge, shall respectively be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty shillings for each child, young person, or woman so employed.

(a) This sub-section, enacting that no child under the age of eight years should be employed in any agricultural gang, was repealed by s. 16 of the Agricultural Children Act, 1873, which substituted an enactment raising the age to ten. But that Act is now itself repealed by the Education Act, 1921, which by s. 92 (1) prohibits the employment of children under the age of twelve and imposes restrictions on the employment of children between the ages of twelve and fourteen. Powers are also given to local education authorities by s. 90 of the same Act to regulate or prohibit by means of byelaws the employment of children under the age of fourteen.

Gangmasters to be licensed.

5. No person shall act as a gangmaster unless he has obtained a licence to act as such under this Act.

Any person acting as a gangmaster without a licence under this Act shall incur a penalty not exceeding twenty shillings for every day during which he so acts.

6. No licence shall be granted to any person who is licensed to sell beer, spirits, or any other exciseable liquor.

Licences not to be granted to keepers of public-houses.

Licences to gangmasters to be granted by justices.

7. Licences to gangmasters shall be granted by two or more justices in divisional petty sessions (a), on due proof to the satisfaction of such justices that the applicant for a licence is of good character, and a fit person to be entrusted with the management of an agricultural gang.

The justices (a) shall annex to their licence a condition limiting, in such manner as they think expedient, the distances within which the children employed by such gangmaster are to be allowed to travel on foot to their work; and any gangmaster violating the condition so annexed to his licence shall for each offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten shillings.

Any person aggrieved by the refusal of the justices (a) to grant him a licence to act as gangmaster may appeal to the next practicable court of general or quarter sessions; and it shall be lawful for such court, if they see cause, to grant a licence to the applicant, which shall be of the same validity as if it had been granted by the justices in petty sessions.

(a) Licences are now granted by district councils and not by the justices. See the L. G. A., 1894, s. 27, ante, p. 991.

Duration and renewal of licences.

8. Licences under this Act shall be in force for six months only, and may be renewed on similar proof to that on which an original licence is granted.

Fees in respect of licences and renewals.

9. There shall be charged in respect of each grant or renewal of licence a fee of one shilling, and such fee shall be accounted for and applied in manner in which the fees ordinarily received by the authority granting the licence are applicable.

Licence, how affected by first and other convictions of gangmaster.

10. On any conviction of a gangmaster of any offence against this Act the justices who convict him shall endorse on his licence the fact of such conviction; and on any conviction of such gangmaster of a second offence against this Act the justices may, in addition to any other penalty, withhold his licence for a period not exceeding three months; and on any conviction of any gangmaster of a third offence against this Act the justices may, in addition to any other penalty, withhold his licence for a period not exceeding two years.

And after a fourth conviction for an offence against this Act the gangmaster shall be disqualified from holding or receiving a licence under this Act.

Recovery of penalties. 11 & 12 Vict. c. 43, etc.

11. All penalties under this Act may be recovered summarily before two or more justices in manner directed by the Summary Jurisdiction (England) Acts.

Extent of Act.

12. This Act shall not apply to Scotland or Ireland.

THE REGULATION OF RAILWAYS ACT, 1868.

(31 & 32 VICT. c. 119) (a).

An Act to amend the Law relating to Railways. [31st July, 1868.]

PRELIMINARY.

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as the Regulation of Railways Act, 1868.

(a) The sections of this Act here set out are those which relate to arbitration, and are incorporated by s. 63 of the L. G. A., 1888, ante, p. 815, and applied by s. 17 of the Town Planning Act, 1925, ante, p. 1507. The preamble was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1893 (No. 1).

VI.—ARBITRATIONS BY BOARD OF TRADE (a).

Appointment by Board of Trade of arbitrator to act for them.

30. Whenever the Board of Trade are required to make any award or to decide any difference in any case in which a company is one of the parties, they may appoint an arbitrator to act for them, and his award or decision shall be deemed to be the award or decision of the Board of Trade (b).

If the arbitrator dies, or in the judgment of the Board of Trade becomes incapable or unfit, the Board of Trade may appoint another arbitrator.

(a) For the Board of Trade it is necessary to read the Minister of Transport or Health, and for the company the county council, urban authority, or other party to the arbitration.

(b) Observe that the award is made by the arbitrator, and when made is to be deemed to have been made by the Minister. See In re Kent C. C. and Sandgate L. B., [1895] 2 Q. B. 43; 59 J. P. 456.

Remuneration of arbitrators or umpires appointed by Board of Trade.

31. The Board of Trade may fix the remuneration of any arbitrator or umpire appointed by them in pursuance of this or any other Act in any case where a company is one of the parties, and may, if they think fit, frame a scale of remuneration for arbitrators or umpires so appointed by them; and no arbitrator or umpire so appointed by them shall be entitled to any larger remuneration than the amount fixed by the Board of Trade.

Costs, etc. of arbitrations where one of the parties is not a railway company. 22 & 23 Vict. c. 59.

32. The provisions of section eighteen to twenty-nine, both inclusive, of the Railway Companies Arbitration Act, 1859 (a), shall so far as is consistent with the tenor thereof, apply to an arbitrator appointed by the Board of Trade, and to his arbitration and award, notwithstanding that one of the parties between whom he is appointed to arbitrate may not be a railway company; and in construing those sections for the purpose of this Act, the word "companies" shall be construed to mean the parties to the arbitration.

(a) 22 & 23 Vict. c. 59, s. 18, empowers the arbitrator to call for books and documents and administer oaths; s. 19 gives him discretion as to the manner of proceeding with the arbitration; s. 20 enables him to proceed in the absence of parties; s. 21 enables him to make several awards each on part of the matters referred; s. 22 makes the award conclusive; s. 23 gives the arbitrator power to extend the time for making an award; s. 24 prevents the setting aside of an award for irregularity; s. 25 provides that parties shall obey awards; s. 26, that all courts shall give effect to awards; s. 27, that costs shall be in the discretion of the arbitrator; s. 28, that in absence of order, costs are to be borne by parties equally; and s. 29, that submission may be made a rule of court.

THE GAS AND WATER WORKS FACILITIES ACT, 1870.

(33 & 34 VICT. c. 70) (a).

An Act to facilitate in certain cases the obtaining of Powers for the Construction of Gas and Water Works and for the Supply of Gas and Water.

[9th August, 1870.]

PRELIMINARY.

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as the Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870.

(a) Incorporated with the P. H. A., 1875, by s. 161, ante, p. 382, for the purpose of enabling a local authority to supply gas, and amended by 36 & 37 Vict. c. 89, post, p. 2339. Preamble repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1893 (No. 2). The provisions of this Act are, however, modified or superseded, so far as it relates to gas undertakings by the Gas Regulation Act, 1920, 10 & 11 Geo. 5, c. 28, post, p. 2807, and the Gas Undertakings Act, 1929, 19 & 20 Geo. 5, c. 24, post, p. 3025. The provisions of the Act as regards water undertakings may now be considered to apply to companies only. Local authorities derive full powers as to water supply from the Public Health Acts and incorporated enactments. The central department as regards all water undertakings is the Ministry of Health in pursuance of an Order in Council, dated November 9th, 1920, and as regards gas undertakings the Board of Trade in pursuance of another Order in Council of the same date.

Note to Section 1.

Interpretation of terms.

2. For the purposes of this Act the terms hereinafter mentioned shall have the meanings hereafter assigned to them; that is to say,

The term "local authority" shall mean the bodies of persons named in the table in Schedule (A.) to this Act annexed:

The term "road" shall mean any carriageway being a public highway, and any bridge forming part of the same:

The term "road authority" shall mean any local authority, board, town council, body corporate, commissioners, trustees, vestry, or other body or persons in whom a road as defined by this Act is vested, or who have the power to maintain or repair such road:

The term "district," in relation to a local authority, shall mean the area within the jurisdiction of such local authority:

The term "The Lands Clauses Acts" means, so far as the Provisional Order in which that term is used relates to England . . . the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845; . . . together with . . . the Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts Amendment Act, 1860 (a).

8 & 9 Vict. c. 18.
23 & 24 Vict. c. 106

(a) Words relating to Scotland and Ireland only are here omitted. See the statutes referred to, ante, pp. 2088, 2260.

DESCRIPTION OF CASES WITHIN THIS ACT.

Act to apply to certain cases.

3. This Act shall apply where powers are required for all or any of the purposes following:

(1) To construct or to maintain and continue gasworks and works connected therewith (a), or to manufacture and supply gas in any district within which there is not an existing company, corporation, body of commissioners, or persons empowered by Act of Parliament (b) to construct such works or to manufacture and supply gas:

(2) To construct or to maintain and continue waterworks and works connected therewith, or to supply water in any district within which there is not an existing company, corporation, body of commissioners, or persons empowered by Act of Parliament to construct such works and to supply water:

(3) To raise additional capital necessary for any of the purposes aforesaid:

(4) To enable two or more companies or persons duly authorised to supply gas or water in any district or in adjoining districts to enter into agreements jointly to furnish such supply, or to amalgamate their undertakings:

(5) To authorise two or more companies or persons supplying gas or water in any district or in adjoining districts to manufacture and supply gas or to supply water, and to enter into agreements jointly to furnish such supply and to amalgamate their undertakings:

and such purposes, or any one or more of them, as the case may be, shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be included in the term "gas undertaking" or "water undertaking," according as the same relate to the supply of gas or water; provided that any gas or water company empowered as aforesaid may apply for and avail themselves of the facilities of this Act within their own districts respectively.

(a) As to the right of a gas company to manufacture residuals, see Deuchar v. Gas Light & Coke Co., [1925] A. C. 691; 89 J. P. 177, and as to the purchase of residuals, see the Gas Undertakings Act, 1929, s. 4, post, p. 3026.

(b) This expression is construed as meaning special Act of Parliament.

PROVISIONAL ORDERS AUTHORISING GAS AND WATER UNDERTAKINGS (a).

By whom Provisional Orders authorising undertakings may be obtained.

4. Provisional Orders authorising any gas undertaking or water undertaking under the authority of this Act may be obtained in any district by any company, companies, or person; and in the construction of this Act the terms "the undertakers" (b) shall be deemed to include any such company, companies, or person.

Where the undertakers require powers for the purpose of constructing gasworks or waterworks, or works connected therewith within any district, the consent of the local authority (c) of such district shall be necessary before any Provisional Order can be obtained; and where in such district there is a road authority distinct from the local authority, the consent of such road authority shall also be necessary in any case where power is sought to break up any road of such road authority, before any Provisional Order can be obtained, unless the Board of Trade (d) in any case in which the consent of the local authority or road authority is refused are of opinion, after inquiry (e), that, having regard to all the circumstances of the case, such consent ought to be dispensed with, and in such case they shall make a special report, stating the grounds upon which they have dispensed with such consent.

(a) The Gas Regulation Act, 1920, 10 & 11 Geo. 5, c. 28, s. 10, post, p. 2814, provides that anything which under the Gas and Waterworks Facilities Act, 1870, or any Act amending the same may be effected by a provisional order confirmed by Parliament, may, so far as these enactments relate to gas, be effected by a special order made on the application of any local authority, company or person by the Board of Trade, under and in accordance with that section and for the purposes of the powers conferred by that section, the Act of 1870 shall have effect as if s. 15 thereof (post) were omitted therefrom. The Act of 1920 further provides for the inclusion in a special order of many matters, for which reference should be made to the Act itself, which is set out in extenso, post, p. 2807.

(b) See also note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2272. This word applies to a district council and in relation to gas only. See the P. H. A., 1875, ss. 161, 316, ante, pp. 382, 655, and notes thereto, from which it will be seen that as regards gas undertakings special orders under the Act of 1920 have now superseded provisional orders under the Act of 1870. As to revocation, extension, or amendment of the Order, see 36 & 37 Vict. c. 89, s. 12, post, p. 2339, and the Act of 1920.

(c) See Sched. A, post, p. 2278. It will be observed that the local authority in a rural parish is the successor of the vestry, viz. the Parish Council. Consequently the county council, who have now under the Local Government Act, 1929, become the highway authority in rural districts, will be "the road authority" distinct from the local authority. The county council will also occupy the same position as regards "unclaimed" county roads in urban districts.

(d) The L. G. B. were substituted for the Board of Trade in respect of any gasworks established by an urban authority. See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 161, ante, p. 382. Power to transfer the powers of the L. G. B. under this Act to county councils exists under s. 10 of the L. G. A., 1888, and the Local Government (Transfer of Powers) Act, 1903, but has never been exercised. The powers and duties of the L. G. B. were transferred to the Minister of Health by 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 21, s. 3, but by Order in Council of November 9th, 1920, the powers and duties of the Minister of Health as regards gas were transferred to the Board of Trade. Powers as to finance, however, vest in the Minister of Health.

(e) See 36 & 37 Vict. c. 89, s. 13, post, p. 2340.

Notices and deposit of documents by promoters as in schedule.

5. The undertakers intending to make an application for a Provisional Order in pursuance of this Act shall proceed as follows:

(1) On or before the first of November next before their application they shall give notice in writing of their intention to make the same to every company, corporation, or person (if any) supplying gas (if the proposed application relates to gasworks) or water (if the proposed application relates to waterworks) within the district to which the proposed application refers:

(2) In the months of October and November next before their application, or in one of those months, they shall publish notice of their intention to make such application by advertisement, according to the regulations contained in Part One of the Schedule (B.) to this Act; and where it is proposed to abstract water from any stream for any waterwork, they shall give notice in writing of their intention to make such application to the owners or reputed owners, lessees, or reputed lessees, and occupiers of all mills and manufactories or other works using the waters of such stream for a distance of twenty miles below the point at which such water is intended to be abstracted, such distance to be measured along the course of such stream, unless such waters shall within a less distance than twenty miles fall into or unite with any navigable stream, and then only to the owners or reputed owners, lessees or reputed lessees and occupiers of such mills and manufactories as aforesaid which shall be situate between the point at which such water is proposed to be abstracted and the point at which such water shall fall into or unite with such navigable stream; and such notice shall state the name (if any) by which the stream is known at the point at which such water shall be immediately abstracted, and also the parish in which such point is situate, and the time and place of deposit of the plans and sections required by this Act to be deposited:

(3) On or before the thirteenth day of the same month of November they shall deposit the documents described in Part Two of the same Schedule, according to the regulations therein contained:

(4) On or before the twenty-third day of December in the same year they shall deposit the documents prescribed in Part Three of the same Schedule, according to the regulations therein contained.

All maps, plans, and documents required by this Act to be deposited for the purposes of any Provisional Order may be deposited with the persons and in the manner directed by the Parliamentary Documents Deposit Act, 1837; and all the provisions of that Act shall apply accordingly.

7 Will. 4 & 1 Vict. c. 83.

Board of Trade to consider application and objection.

6. The Board of Trade shall consider the application, and also any objection thereto that may be lodged with them on or before such day as they from time to time appoint, and shall determine whether or not the undertakers may proceed with the application (a).

(a) See s. 14 of the Amending Act of 1873, and notes thereto, post, p. 2340, as to the rules which must now be observed.

Board of Trade to make Provisional Order.

7. Where it appears to the Board of Trade expedient and proper that the application should be granted, with or without addition on modification, or subject or not to any restriction or condition, and it has been proved to their satisfaction that all the requisitions of section five of this Act have been in all respects complied with, the Board of Trade may settle and make a Provisional Order (a) accordingly.

Every such Provisional Order (a) if it relates to gasworks shall expressly restrict the undertakers from manufacturing gas or any residual products arising in the manufacture of gas on any land except such as is specified in that behalf in the Order; and shall also expressly restrict them from storing gas on any land except such as is specified in that behalf in the Order within three hundred yards from any dwelling-house existing at the time when the undertakers propose to store gas on such land, without the consent in writing of the owner, lessee, and occupier of such dwelling-house.

Form and contents of Provisional Order.

Every such Provisional Order (a) shall contain such other provisions as, according to the nature of the application and the facts and circumstances of each case, the Board of Trade thinks fit to submit to Parliament for confirmation in manner provided by this Act (b); but so that any such Provisional Order shall not contain any provision for empowering the undertakers or any other person to acquire lands otherwise than by agreement, or to acquire any lands, even by agreement, except to an extent therein limited.

Section 7.

Costs of Order.

The costs of and connected with the preparation and making of each Provisional Order shall be paid by the undertakers, and the Board of Trade may require the undertakers to give security for such costs before they proceed with the Provisional Order.

(a) See note (a) to s. 4, ante, p. 2274.
(b) See s. 9, infra.

Publication of Provisional Order.

8. When a Provisional Order (a) has been made as aforesaid and delivered to the undertakers, the undertakers shall forthwith deposit and publish the same by advertisement according to the regulations contained in Part Four of the Schedule (B.) to this Act.

(a) See note (a) to s. 4, ante, p. 2274.

Confirmation of Provisional Order by Act of Parliament.

9. On proof to the satisfaction of the Board of Trade of the completion of such publication as aforesaid, the Board of Trade shall, as soon as they conveniently can after the expiration of seven days from the completion of such publication in relation to any Provisional Order (a) which shall have been published as aforesaid, not later than the twenty-fifth of April (b) in any year procure a Bill to be introduced into either House of Parliament for an Act to confirm the Provisional Order, which shall be set out at length in the Schedule to the Bill: but until confirmation by Act of Parliament a Provisional Order under this Act shall not have any operation.

If while any such Bill is pending in either House of Parliament a petition is presented against any Provisional Order (a) comprised therein, the Bill, so far as it relates to the Order petitioned against, may be referred to a select committee, and the petitioner shall be allowed to appear and oppose as in the case of a Bill for a special Act.

The Act of Parliament confirming any Provisional Order underthis Act shall be deemed a public general Act.

(a) See note (a) to s. 4, ante, p. 2274.
(b) It was formerly considered that this date applied to the publication of the Order, and not to the introduction of a Bill into Parliament. See, however, note (a) to s. 4, ante, p. 2274.

Incorporation of general Acts in Provisional Order.

10. The provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts shall be incorporated with every Provisional Order (a) under this Act, save where the same are expressly varied or excepted by any such Provisional Order (a), and except as to the following provisions, namely,—

(1) With respect to the purchase and taking of lands otherwise than by agreement:

(2) With respect to the entry upon lands by the promoters of the undertaking.

Where a Provisional Order (a) authorises a gas undertaking the provisions of the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847 (b), shall be incorporated with such Provisional Order (a), save where the same are thereby expressly varied or excepted.

10 & 11 Vict. c. 15.

Where a Provisional Order authorises a water undertaking the provisions of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, and of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1863 (c), shall be incorporated with such Provisional Order, save where the same are thereby expressly varied or excepted.

10 & 11 Vict. c. 17.
26 & 27 Vict. c. 93.

For the purposes of such incorporation a Provisional Order under this Act shall be deemed the special Act (d).

(a) See note (a) to s. 4, ante, p. 2274.
(b) 10 & 11 Vict. c. 15, ante, p. 2164. And see the Gas Regulation Act, 1920, post, p. 2807, referred to in note (a) to s. 4, ante, p. 2274.
(c) 10 & 11 Vict. c. 17, ante, p. 2178, and 26 & 27 Vict. c. 93, ante, p. 2264.
(d) See also the P. H. A., 1875, s. 316, ante, p. 655.

Note to Section 10.

---

11. If any undertakers empowered by any Provisional Order under this Act to make works do not, within three years from the date of such Provisional Order, or within any shorter period prescribed therein, complete the works; or,

Cesser of powers at expiration of prescribed time.

If within one year of the date of the Provisional Order, or within such shorter time as is prescribed in the Provisional Order, the works are not substantially commenced; or,

If the works are commenced, but whilst the powers to carry them on exist are suspended without a reason sufficient in the opinion of the Board of Trade to warrant such suspension;

the powers given by the Provisional Order to the undertakers for executing such works, or otherwise in relation thereto, shall cease to be exercised, except as to so much of the same as is then completed, unless the time be prolonged by the special direction of the Board of Trade.

A statement in writing by the Board of Trade to the effect that such works have not been completed, or that the works have not been substantially commenced, or that they have been suspended without sufficient reason, shall be conclusive evidence for the purposes of this section of such non-completion, non-commencement, or suspension.

12. The undertakers empowered by any Provisional Order under this Act may demand and take, in respect of gas or water supplied by them under the authority of such Provisional Order, rents and rates respectively not exceeding the sums specified in such Provisional Order, subject and according to the regulations therein specified.

Gas rents and water rates.

13. Nothing in any Provisional Order, or Act confirming the same, shall exempt the undertaking, or the company, corporation, or person to whom it belongs, from the provisions of any general Act of Parliament relating to gasworks or waterworks, passed after the passing of this Act (a), or from any revision or alteration under the authority of Parliament of the maximum rents and rates allowed to be taken under the Provisional Order.

Company not exempt from provisions of general Act.

(a) See 36 & 37 Vict. c. 89, post, p. 2339.

14. For the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this Act, it shall be lawful for her Majesty at any time after the passing of this Act, by Order in Council, to substitute for the Board of Trade any other department of her Majesty's Government, and from and after such time as may be specified for the purpose in any such order, or if no time be specified therein from and after the date of such order, all matters to be done in pursuance of this Act by or in connection with the Board of Trade shall be done by or in connection with such substituted department.

Queen in Council may substitute any department for Board of Trade for the purposes of this Act.

15. This Act shall not apply to any place within the metropolis, as the same is defined in the Metropolis Management Act, 1855 (a).

Act not to apply to metropolis. 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120.

(a) See, however, the Gas Regulation Act, 1920 (10 & 11 Geo. 5, c. 28), s. 10, post, p. 2807, which is referred to in note (a) to s. 4, ante, p. 2274.

Schedules.

SCHEDULE A (a).

Districts of Local Authorities.	Description of Local Authority of District set opposite its Name.
England and Wales.
Boroughs (1)	The mayor, aldermen, and burgesses acting by the council.
Any place other than a borough, and under the jurisdiction of commissioners, trustees, or other persons intrusted by any local Act with powers of improving, cleansing, or paving any town.	The commissioners, trustees, or other persons intrusted by the local Act with powers of improving, cleansing, or paving the town.

Any place or parish not within the above descriptions, and in which a rate is levied for the maintenance of the poor.	The vestry, select vestry, or other body of persons, acting by virtue of any Act of Parliament, prescription, custom, or otherwise, as or instead of a vestry or select vestry.
. . . . .	. . . . .

(1) "Borough" shall mean any place for the time being subject to the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835 (c).

(a) Parts of this Schedule relating only to Scotland or Ireland are here omitted.
(b) See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 313, ante, p. 655.
(c) Now the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882. See s. 242 (3) of that Act.

SCHEDULE B.

PROVISIONAL ORDERS (a).

PART I.

[S. 5 (2), ante.

Advertisement in October or November of intended Application.

(1) Every advertisement is to contain the following particulars:

1. The objects of the intended application.
2. A general description of the nature of the proposed new works, if any.
3. The names of the townlands, parishes, townships, and extra-parochial places in which the proposed new works, if any, will be made.
4. The times and places at which the deposit under Part II. of this Schedule will be made.
5. An office, either in London or at the place to which the intended application relates, at which printed copies of the draft Provisional Order, when deposited, and of the Provisional Order, when made, will be obtainable as hereinafter provided.

(2) The whole notice is to be included in one advertisement, which is to be headed with a short title descriptive of the undertaking.

(3) The advertisement is to be inserted once at least in each of two successive weeks in some one and the same newspaper published in the district affected by the proposed undertaking, where the proposed works (if any) will be made; or if there be no such newspaper, then in some one and the same newspaper published in the county in which every such district, or some part thereof, is situate; or if there be none, then in some one and the same newspaper published in some adjoining or neighbouring county.

(4) The advertisement is also, in every case, to be inserted once at least in the London . . . Gazette, accordingly as the district is situate in England . . .

(a) See now Gas Regulation Act, 1920, s. 10, post, p. 2814, as regards gas, and note (b) to s. 14 of the Act of 1873, post, p. 2341.

Schedule.

PART II.

Deposit on or before 30th November. [S. 5 (3), ante.]

(1) The undertakers are to deposit—

1. A copy of the advertisement published by them.
2. If the application relates to gas, a map showing the land proposed to be used for the manufacture of gas, or of residual products arising in the manufacture of gas.
3. A proper plan and section of the proposed new works, if any, such plan and section to be prepared according to such regulations as may from time to time be made by the Board of Trade in that behalf (a).

(2) The documents aforesaid are to be deposited for public inspection—

In England . . . in the office of the clerk of the peace for every county, riding, or division . . . which will be affected by the proposed undertaking, or in which any proposed new work will be made.

(3) The documents aforesaid are also to be deposited at the office of the Board of Trade.

(a) See note (a) to s. 6, ante, p. 2275.

PART III.

Deposit on or before 23rd December. [S. 5 (4), ante]

(1) The undertakers are to deposit at the office of the Board of Trade—

1. A memorial signed by the undertakers, headed with a short title descriptive of the undertaking (corresponding with that at the head of the advertisement), addressed to the Board of Trade, and praying for a Provisional Order.
2. A printed draft of the Provisional Order as proposed by the undertakers, with any schedule referred to therein.
3. An estimate of the expense of the proposed new works, if any, signed by the persons making the same.

(2) They are also to deposit a sufficient number of such printed copies at the office named in that behalf in the advertisement; such copies to be there furnished to all persons applying for them at the price of not more than one shilling each.

(3) The memorial of the undertakers (to be written on foolscap paper, bookwise, with quarter margin) is to be in the following form, with such variations as circumstances require :

[Short Title of Undertaking.]

To the Board of Trade.

The memorial of the undertakers of [short title of undertaking] :

Showeth as follows :

1. Your memorialists have published, in accordance with the requirements of the Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870, the following advertisement :

[Here advertisement to be set out verbatim.]

2. Your memorialists have also deposited, in accordance with the requirements of the said Act, copies of the said advertisement and [here state deposit of the several matters required by Act].

Your memorialists, therefore, pray that a Provisional Order may be made in the terms of the draft proposed by your memorialists, or in such other terms as may seem meet.

PART IV.

Deposit and Advertisement of Provisional Order when made. [S. 8, ante.]

(1) The undertakers are to deposit printed copies of the Provisional Order when settled and made, for public inspection in the offices of clerks of the peace . . . where the documents required to be deposited by them under Part II. of this Schedule were deposited.

Schedule. (2) They are also to deposit a sufficient number of such printed copies at the office named in that behalf in the advertisement, such copies to be there furnished to all persons applying for them at the price of each.

(3) They are also to publish the Provisional Order as an advertisement once in the local newspaper in which the original advertisement of the intended application was published.

THE TRAMWAYS ACT, 1870.

(33 & 34 VICT. c. 78)(a).

An Act to facilitate the Construction and to Regulate the Working of Tramways.

[9th August, 1870.]

PRELIMINARY.

Short title. 1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as "The Tramways Act, 1870."

(a) This Act gives to local authorities important powers with regard to tramways and tramway companies, and is, therefore, included in this Appendix. The preamble was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1893 (No. 2). The subject belongs rather to the law of highways than to that of public health, and the notes are, therefore, chiefly confined to references to decided cases. It may be convenient to mention here that by the Ministry of Transport Act, 1919 (9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 50), s. 2, post, there were transferred to the Ministry of Transport all the powers and duties of any Government department in relation to tramways as from a date or dates to be fixed by His Majesty in Council. By an Order in Council dated the 22nd Sept., 1919 (S. R. & O., 1919, No. 1440), the powers and duties of the Board of Trade in relation to tramways were transferred to the Minister of Transport as from the 23rd Sept., 1919. It is necessary, therefore, to read references in this Act to the Board of Trade as references to the Minister of Transport. Under s. 5 of that Act, post, p. 2761, the Minister was given power to require through runnings on adjoining tramways.

Limitation of Act. 2. This Act shall not extend to Ireland.

Interpretation of terms. 3. For the purposes of this Act the terms hereinafter mentioned shall have the meanings hereinafter assigned to them; that is to say,

The terms "local authority" and "local rate" shall mean respectively the bodies of persons and rate named in the table in Part I. of the Schedule A. to this Act annexed:

The term "road" shall mean any carriageway being a public highway, and the carriageway of any bridge forming part of or leading to the same:

The term "road authority" shall mean, in the districts specified in the table in Part II. of the Schedule A. to this Act annexed, the bodies of persons named in the same table, and elsewhere any local authority, board, town council, body corporate, commissioners, trustees, vestry, or other body or persons in whom a road as defined by this Act is vested, or who have the power to maintain or repair such road (a):

The term "district" in relation to a local authority or road authority, shall mean the area within the jurisdiction of such local authority or road authority:

The term "prescribed" shall mean prescribed by any rules made in pursuance of this Act:

8 & 9 Vict. c. 18. 23 & 24 Vict. c. 106. The term "the Land Clauses Acts" means, so far as the Provisional Order in which that term is used relates to England, the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845; . . . together with . . . the Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts Amendment Act, 1860 (b):

The term "two justices" shall, in addition to its ordinary signification, mean one stipendiary or police magistrate acting in any police court for the district.

(a) See Wolverhampton Tramways Co., Ltd. v. G. W. Rail. Co., cited in the note to s. 32, post, p. 2294.

Note to Section 3.

An agreement between a county council and a district council, whereby the latter agreed to maintain a main road under s. 11 of the L. G. A., 1888, was held not to affect the rights of the former as the road authority within the above definition (Stockport and Hyde Highway Board v. Cheshire C. C. (1891), 61 L. J. Q. B. 22; 55 J. P. 808). A delegation under s. 35 of the L. G. A., 1929, ante, p. 1897, will not, therefore, affect the position of a county council as the road authority in respect of all county roads (except those claimed under s. 32, ibid.) in urban districts and in respect of all roads in rural districts (s. 30, ibid.).

(b) Words in this clause relating to Scotland only are here omitted. See the statutes referred to, ante, pp. 2088, 2260.

PART I.

PROVISIONAL ORDERS AUTHORISING THE CONSTRUCTION OF TRAMWAYS.

By whom Provisional Orders authorising the construction of tramways may be obtained.

4. Provisional Orders (a) authorising the construction of tramways (b) in any district may be obtained by—

(1) The local authority of such district; or by—

(2) Any person, persons, corporation, or company, with the consent of the local authority of such district; or of the road authority of such district where such district is or forms part of a highway district formed under the provisions of the Highway Acts (c):

And any such local authority, person, persons, corporation, or company shall be deemed to be promoters of a tramway, and are in this Act referred to as the "promoters."

Application for a Provisional Order shall not be made by any local authority until such application shall be approved in the manner prescribed in Part III. of the Schedule A. to this Act annexed.

Where in any district there is a road authority distinct from the local authority (d), the consent of such road authority shall also be necessary in any case where power is sought to break up any road subject to the jurisdiction of such road authority, before any Provisional Order can be obtained.

(a) See the rules issued by the Board of Trade with respect to Provisional Orders under this Act. See s. 64, post, p. 2310, and notes thereto. The construction of a tramway without statutory authority may amount to a nuisance at common law (R. v. Train (1862), 2 B. & S. 640; 31 L. J. M. C. 169). The local authority may lawfully agree with a tramway company not to apply for powers to construct nor to give their consent to the construction by others of tramways on roads within their district without first calling on the particular tramway company with which the agreement is made to apply for powers themselves (Att.-Gen. v. Hastings Corporation (1902), 67 J. P. 165; 19 T. L. R. 9).

(b) As to income tax on tramways, see London C. C. v. Edwards (1909), 73 J. P. 213; 100 L. T. 444; Poole Corporation v. Bournemouth Corporation (1911), 75 J. P. 13; 103 L. T. 828.

(c) I.e., the Highway Acts, 1835, 1862, and 1864. See s. 1 of the last-mentioned Act.

(d) E.g., a county council, in rural districts or in relation to unclaimed county roads in urban districts.

The Board of Trade may in certain cases dispense with the consent of local or road authority.

5. Where it is proposed to lay down a tramway in two or more districts, and any local or road authority having jurisdiction in any of such districts does not consent thereto, the Board of Trade (a) may, nevertheless, make a Provisional Order authorising the construction of such tramway if they are satisfied, after inquiry (b), that two-thirds of the length of such tramway is proposed to be laid in a district or in districts the local and road authority or the local and road authorities of which district or districts do consent thereto; and in such case they shall make a special report stating the grounds upon which they have made such order.

(a) Now the Ministry of Transport. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2280.

(b) As to local inquiries, see s. 63, post, p. 2310. But the non-consenting local authority may be heard against the Bill for confirming the Provisional Order (Glasgow Corporation Tramways Bill (1878), 2 Cl. & R. 95).

Section 6.

Notices and deposit of documents by promoters as in schedule.

6. The promoters intending to make an application for a Provisional Order shall proceed as follows:

(1) In the months of October and November next before their application, or in one of those months, they shall publish notice of their intention to make such application by advertisement (a); and they shall, on or before the fifteenth day of the following month of December, serve notice of such intention, in accordance with the Standing Orders (if any) of both Houses of Parliament for the time being in force with respect to Bills for the construction of tramways:

(2) On or before the thirtieth day of the same month of November they shall deposit the documents described in Part II. of the same Schedule, according to the regulations therein contained:

(3) On or before the twenty-third day of December in the same year they shall deposit the documents described in Part III. of the same Schedule, according to the regulations therein contained:

7 Will. 4 & 1 Vict. c. 83.

All maps, plans, and documents required by this Act to be deposited for the purposes of any Provisional Order may be deposited with the persons and in the manner directed by the Parliamentary Documents Deposit Act, 1837; and all the provisions of that Act shall apply accordingly.

(a) See the form prescribed in Part I. of Schedule B., post, p. 2312, a reference to which is obviously omitted here by an oversight.

Consideration of application and objections.

7. The Board of Trade (a) shall consider the application, and may, if they think fit, direct an inquiry (b) in the district to which the same relates, or may otherwise inquire as to the propriety of proceeding upon such application, and they shall consider any objection thereto that may be lodged with them on or before such day as they from time to time appoint (c), and shall determine whether or not the promoters may proceed with the application.

(a) Now the Minister of Transport. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2280.
(b) As to local inquiries, see s. 63, post, p. 2310.
(c) See the regulations made under s. 64, post, p. 2310.

Power for Board of Trade to make Provisional Order.

8. Where it appears to the Board of Trade (a) expedient and proper that the application should be granted, with or without addition or modification, or subject or not to any restriction or condition, the Board of Trade (a) may settle and make a Provisional Order accordingly.

Form and contents of Provisional Order.

Every such Provisional Order shall empower the promoters therein specified to make the tramway upon the gauge and in manner therein described, and shall contain such provisions as (subject to the requirements of this Act) the Board of Trade (a) according to the nature of the application and the facts and circumstances of each case, think fit to submit to Parliament for confirmation in manner provided by this Act; but so that any such Provisional Order shall not contain any provision for empowering the promoters or any other person to acquire lands otherwise than by agreement, or to acquire any lands, even by agreement, except to an extent therein limited, or to construct a tramway elsewhere than along or across a road (b), or upon land taken by agreement (c).

(b) Defined by s. 3, ante, p. 2280.
(c) If compulsory powers of taking land are required, they must be obtained by private Bill. See also s. 15, post, p. 2284. A company had statutory power to lay a second line of tramway on obtaining certain consents, but without obtaining such consents they laid the rails:—Held, that they were liable for a trespass, and that as damages they were liable in any event for the cost of restoring the road (Bideford U. D. C. v. Bideford Rail. Co. (1904), 68 J. P. 123).

Regulations as to construction

9. Every tramway in a town (a) which is hereafter authorised by Provisional Order shall be constructed and maintained as nearly as may be in of tramways in towns.

the middle of the road; and no tramway shall be authorised by any Provisional Order to be so laid that for any distance of thirty feet or upwards a less space than nine feet and six inches shall intervene between the outside of the footpath on either side of the road and the nearest rail of the tramway if one-third of the owners or one-third of the occupiers of the houses, shops, or warehouses abutting upon the part of the road where such less space shall intervene as aforesaid shall in the prescribed manner and at the prescribed time express their dissent from the tramway being so laid (b).

(b) The Order will be good if it dispenses with the 9 ft. 6 in. limit in the absence of express dissent of the occupiers (Edinburgh Street Tramways v. Black (1873), L. R. 2 Sc. & Div. 336; 37 J. P. 692). See also Wilkinson v. Newcastle-on-Tyne Corporation (1902), 18 T. L. R. 332.

Nature of traffic on tramways and tolls to be specified in Provisional Order.

10. Every such Provisional Order shall specify the nature of the traffic for which such tramway is to be used, and the tolls and charges which may be demanded and taken by the promoters in respect of the same, and shall contain such regulations relating to such traffic and such tolls and charges as the Board of Trade (a) shall deem necessary and proper (b).

(a) Now the Minister of Transport. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2280.

(b) The working of omnibuses in connection with the tramways must be specially provided for if the local authority contemplate such an addition to the tramways (London C. C. v. Att.-Gen., [1902] A. C. 165; 66 J. P. 340). As to the construction of a statute empowering a local authority to run omnibuses in connection with their tramway undertaking, see Att.-Gen. v. Leeds Corporation (1929), 27 L. G. R. 351. The question is not whether a business can be conveniently or advantageously conducted with the tramway business, but whether it is by necessary implication incidental or necessary to it, see per Farwell, J., in Att.-Gen. v. Manchester Corporation, [1906] 1 Ch. 643, 656; 70 J. P. 201, where the corporation were restrained from carrying on a parcels delivery service in connection with their tramway undertaking. As to the conveyance of mails by tramways, see the Conveyance of Mails Act, 1893. In Clogher Tramway Co., Ltd. v. R. (1891), 30 L. R. Ir. 316, it was held that a steam tramway constructed by a company authorised thereto by Provisional Order, under the Tramways (Ireland) Act, 1860, confirmed by special Act, was not a railway within the meaning of the Post Office Parcels Act, 1882, and that the rights and liabilities of the company and the Postmaster-General respectively as regarded the conveyance of parcels thereon, were regulated solely by the special Act confirming the Provisional Order.

Costs of Order.

11. The costs of and connected with the preparation and making of each Provisional Order shall be paid by the promoters, and the Board of Trade may require the promoters to give security for such costs before they proceed with the Provisional Order (a).

(a) These costs are to be taxed on the Chancery, and not on the parliamentary scale (In re Morley (1875), L. R. 20 Eq. 17). And see In re Peterson, [1909] 2 Ch. 398.

As to the costs of a parliamentary agent employed by a promoter who is not mentioned in the Act and does not become a member of the company, see Re Skegness Tramways Co. (1889), 41 Ch. D. 215.

Promoters to deposit £4 per cent. on estimate in prescribed bank.

12. After a Provisional Order is ready, and before the same is delivered by the Board of Trade (a), the promoters, unless they are a local authority, shall within the prescribed time and in the prescribed manner, and subject to the prescribed conditions as to interest, repayment, or forfeiture, pay, as a deposit, into the prescribed bank, the sum of money prescribed, which shall not be less than four pounds per centum on the amount of the estimate by the promoters of the expense of the construction of the tramway, or deposit, in such bank any security of the prescribed nature the then value of which is not less than such sum of money (b).

(a) See note (a) to s. 10, supra.

(b) This section has no application to a local authority. See the Parliamentary Deposits and Bonds Act, 1892; Re Bradford Tramways Co. (1876), 4 Ch. D. 18; Re Lowestoft, Yarmouth and Southwold Tramways Co. (1877), 6 Ch. D. 484; Re Tynemouth

As to the claim of solicitors and parliamentary agents for their costs, see In re Manchester Tramways Co., [1893] 2 Ch. 638.

Publication of Provisional Order as in Schedule.

13. When a Provisional Order has been made as aforesaid and delivered to the promoters, the promoters shall forthwith publish the same by deposit and advertisement, according to the regulations contained in Part IV. of the Schedule B. to this Act.

Confirmation of Provisional Order by Act of Parliament.

14. On proof to the satisfaction of the Board of Trade (a) of the completion of such publication as aforesaid, the Board of Trade (a) shall, as soon as they conveniently can after the expiration of seven days from the completion of such publication, procure a Bill to be introduced into either House of Parliament in relation to any Provisional Order which shall have been published as aforesaid not later than the twenty-fifth of April (b) in any year, for an Act to confirm the Provisional Order, which shall be set out at length in the Schedule to the Bill; and until confirmation, with or without amendment, by Act of Parliament, a Provisional Order under this Act shall not have any operation.

If while any such Bill is pending in either House of Parliament a petition is presented against any Provisional Order comprised therein, the Bill, so far as it relates to the Order petitioned against, may be referred to a select committee, and the petitioner shall be allowed to appear and oppose as in the case of a Bill for a special Act.

The Act of Parliament confirming a Provisional Order under this Act shall be deemed a public general Act.

(a) Now the Minister of Transport. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2280.

(b) See note (b) to s. 9 of the Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870, ante, p. 2276.

Incorporation of general Acts in Provisional Order.

15. The provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts shall be incorporated with every Provisional Order under this Act, save where the same are expressly varied or excepted by any such Provisional Order, and except as to the following provisions, namely,—

(1) With respect to the purchase and taking (a) of lands otherwise than by agreement:

(2) With respect to the entry upon lands by the promoters of the undertaking.

For the purposes of such incorporation a Provisional Order under this Act shall be deemed the special Act.

(a) If compulsory powers are required they must be obtained by private Bill.

The erection, by a tramway company which was empowered by their special Act to erect on in over or under any street or road poles and posts, of a pillar on land belonging to the plaintiff forming part of the highway subject to being used by him for exposal of furniture for sale was held not to be a taking of land within the meaning of the Lands Clauses Acts, but only an exercise of their special statutory powers (Escott v. Newport Corporation, [1904] 2 K. B. 369; 68 J. P. 135). As to whether a local authority is entitled to use land vested in them as a public park for the purpose of road-widening to facilitate the construction of a tramway under a Provisional Order, see Att.-Gen. v. Folkestone Corporation, Times, April 29th, 1903.

Power of Board of Trade to revoke, amend, extend, or vary Provisional Order.

16. The Board of Trade (a) on the application of any promoters empowered by a Provisional Order may from time to time revoke, amend, extend, or vary such Provisional Order by a further Provisional Order.

Every application for such further Provisional Order shall be made in like manner and subject to the like conditions as the application for the former Provisional Order.

Section 16.

Every such further Provisional Order shall be made and confirmed in like manner in every respect as the former Provisional Order, and until such confirmation such further Provisional Order shall not have any operation.

(a) Now the Minister of Transport. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2280.

Power to authorise joint work.

17. Subject and according to the provisions of this Act, the Board of Trade (a) may, on a joint application, or on two or more separate applications, settle and make a Provisional Order empowering two or more local authorities, respectively, jointly to construct the whole, or separately to construct parts, of a tramway, and jointly or separately to own the whole or parts thereof; and all the provisions of this Act which relate to the construction of tramways shall extend and apply to the construction of the whole and separate parts of such tramway as last aforesaid; and the form of the Provisional Order may be adapted to the circumstances of the case.

(a) See note (a) to s. 16, supra.

Cesser of powers at expiration of prescribed time.

18. If the promoters empowered by any Provisional Order under this Act to make a tramway, do not, within two years from the date of the same, or within any shorter period prescribed therein, complete the tramway and open it for public traffic; or,

If within one year from the date of the Provisional Order, or within such shorter time as is prescribed in the same, the works are not substantially commenced; or,

If the works having been commenced are suspended without a reason sufficient in the opinion of the Board of Trade (a) to warrant such suspension;

the powers given by the Provisional Order to the promoters for constructing such tramway, executing such works, or otherwise in relation thereto, shall cease to be exercised, except as to so much of the same as is then completed, unless the time be prolonged by the special direction of the Board of Trade (a); and as to so much of the same as is then completed the Board of Trade (a) may allow the said powers to continue and to be exercised if they shall think fit, but failing such permission the same shall cease to be exercised, and where such permission is withheld then so much of the said tramway as is then completed shall be deemed to be a tramway to which all the provisions of this Act relating to the discontinuance of tramways after proof of such discontinuance shall apply, and may be dealt with accordingly.

A notice purporting to be published by the Board of Trade (a) in the London or Edinburgh Gazette, accordingly as the district to which it relates is situate in England or Scotland, to the effect that a tramway has not been completed and open for public traffic, or that the works have not been substantially commenced, or that they have been suspended without sufficient reason, shall be conclusive evidence for the purpose of this section of such non-completion, non-commencement, or suspension (b).

(b) See note (b) to s. 12, ante, p. 2283. The notice referred to in this section is not the exclusive or only evidence of the non-commencement of the works that the court can receive. The works mean the physical works, and therefore where nothing has been done but the entering into contracts for the supply of dynamos, plant, and cars, the works have not been substantially commenced within the meaning of this section (Att.-Gen. v. Bournemouth Corporation, [1902] 2 Ch. 714). The only remedy of a private person for compelling the carrying out of the statutory powers is by complaint to the Board of Trade. The giving of the powers is no longer regarded as a bargain between the promoters and the public (York and North Midland Rail. Co. v. R. (1853), 1 El. & Bl. 858; 22 L. J. Q. B. 225; R. v. G. W. Rail. Co. (1894), 62 L. J. Q. B. 572). But there may be special provision in the Act, see Devonport Corporation v. Plymouth, Devonport and District Tramway Co. (1884), 49 J. P. 405; 52 L. T. 161.

Local authority may lease or take tolls.

19. When a tramway has been completed under the authority of a Provisional Order by any local authority, or where any local authority has under the provisions of this Act (a) acquired possession of any tramway, such authority may, with the consent of the Board of Trade (b), and subject to the provisions of this Act, by lease, to be approved of by the Board of Trade (b), demise to any person, persons, corporation, or company the right of user by such person, persons, corporation, or company of the tramway, and of demanding and taking in respect of the same the tolls and charges authorised (c); or such authority may leave such tramway open to be used by the public, and may in respect of such user demand and take the tolls and charges authorised; but nothing in this Act contained shall authorise any local authority to place or run carriages upon such tramway, and to demand and take tolls and charges in respect of the use of such carriages (d).

Notice of the intention to make such lease shall be published by the local authority by advertisement, and a copy of such lease shall be deposited according to the regulations contained in Part I. of the Schedule C. to this Act annexed; and unless such notice is given, and such copy deposited, such lease shall not be approved of by the Board of Trade (b).

Every such lease shall be made for a term or for terms not exceeding in the whole twenty-one years.

On the determination of any lease made under this Act, the local authority may from time to time, with the consent of the Board of Trade (b), by lease, demise such rights for such further term or terms, not exceeding in any case twenty-one years, as the said Board may approve.

Every such lease shall imply a condition of re-entry if at any time after the making of the same the lessees discontinue the working of the tramway leased, or of any part thereof, for the space of three calendar months (such discontinuance not being occasioned by circumstances beyond the control of such lessees, for which purpose the want of sufficient funds shall not be considered a circumstance beyond their control).

The person, persons, corporation, or company to whom any such lease may be made are in this Act referred to as "lessees" (e).

(a) See s. 43, post, p. 2300.

(b) Now the Minister of Transport. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2280.

(c) See note (b) to s. 4 on p. 2281, ante. See also Salford Corporation v. Eccles Corporation, [1912] A. C. 465; 76 J. P. 249, where a licence granted without the consent of the Board of Trade was held to be ultra vires.

(d) This last restriction is frequently removed in Provisional Orders.

(e) Apart from the express provisions of this section undertakers cannot grant a lease of their statutory powers (see per Lord BLACKBURN, in Att-Gen. v. G. E. Rail. Co. (1880), 5 App. Cas. 473, at p. 484; Winch v. Birkenhead, etc. Rail Co. (1852), 5 De G. & S. 562). As to the stamp on the lease, see British Electric Traction Co. v. Commissioners of Inland Revenue, [1902] 1 K. B. 441; 66 J. P. 83. For forms of leases see the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. XVII., pp. 706, 731, 744. See also as to construction of clause in a lease for relieving the lessors from owners' assessments, Glasgow Corporation v. Glasgow Tramway and Omnibus Co., [1898] A. C. 631. Lessees cannot sub-assign (Omnibus Conveyance Co. v. Liverpool United Tramways and Omnibus Co. (1882), 26 Sol. J. 580).

How expenses to be defrayed.

20. (a) Where the local authority in any district are the promoters of any tramway, they shall pay all expenses incurred by them in applying for and obtaining a Provisional Order, and carrying into effect the purposes of such Provisional Order, out of the local rate, and any such expenses shall be deemed to be purposes for which such local rate may be made, and to which the same may be applied.

Where the local rate is limited by law to a certain amount and is by reason of such limitation insufficient for the payment of such expenses, the Board of Trade (b) may, by the Provisional Order, extend the limit of such local rate to such amount as they shall think fit, and prescribe for the payment of such expenses.

Such local authority may, for the purposes of such Provisional Order, borrow and take up at interest, on the credit of such local rate, any sums of money necessary for defraying any such expenses; and for the purpose of securing the repayment of any sums so borrowed, together with such interest as aforesaid, such local authority may mortgage to the persons by or on behalf of whom such sums are advanced such local rate; but the exercise of the above mentioned power shall be subject to the following regulations:

(1) The money so borrowed shall not exceed such sum as may be sanctioned by the Board of Trade (b):

(2) The money may be borrowed for such time, not exceeding thirty years, as such local authority, with the sanction of the Board of Trade (b), shall determine; and, subject as aforesaid to the repayment within thirty years, such local authority may either pay off the moneys so borrowed by equal annual instalments, or they may in every year set apart as a sinking fund, and accumulate in the way of compound interest by investing the same in the purchase of exchequer bills or other Government securities, such sum as will be sufficient to pay off the moneys so borrowed, or a part thereof, at such times as the local authority may determine.

The provisions of the Commissioners Clauses Act, 1847, with respect to the mortgages to be executed by the commissioners (c), shall apply to any mortgage executed under the foregoing provisions of this section, and for the purposes of such application the said provisions shall be incorporated with this Act. 10 & 11 Vict. c. 16.

For the purposes of such incorporation the terms "the special Act," and "the commissioners," shall be construed to mean respectively a Provisional Order under this Act, and the local authority.

Such local authority shall keep separate accounts of all moneys paid by them in applying for, obtaining, and carrying into effect any such Provisional Order, and in the repayment of moneys borrowed, and of all moneys received by them by way of rent or tolls in respect of the tramway authorised thereby.

When, after payment of all charges incurred under the authority of this Act, and necessary for giving effect to such Provisional Order, there shall be remaining in the hands of such local authority any of the moneys received by them by way of rent or tolls in respect of the tramways authorised by such Provisional Order, such moneys shall be applied by them to the purposes for which the local rate may be by them applied.

PART II.

CONSTRUCTION OF TRAMWAYS (a).

22. Part II. and Part III. of this Act shall apply to every tramway which is hereafter authorised by any Provisional Order or Act of Parliament, and shall be incorporated with such Provisional Order or Act, and all the said As to incorporation of Parts II. and III. of this Act with Provisional Order and special Acts.

Section 22.

provisions of this Act, save so far as they shall be expressly varied or excepted by any such Provisional Order or Act, shall apply to the undertaking authorised thereby, so far as the same shall be applicable to such undertaking, and shall, with the provisions of every other Act or part of any Act which shall be incorporated therewith, form part of the said Provisional Order or Act, and be construed therewith as forming one Provisional Order or Act, as the case may be.

(a) A tramway company authorised to construct and maintain tramways with all proper rails, plates, works, and conveniences connected therewith were, notwithstanding the powers contained in this Act, held liable for a nuisance created by smells arising from their stables (Rapier v. London Tramways Co., [1893] 2 Ch. 588). And where a tramway company after a heavy fall of snow cleared their track by means of a snow plough, and heaped up the snow on the sides of the streets, and then scattered salt upon the track, it was held that although they had obtained the consent of the local authority, and that authority took no steps to clear away the briny slush which was thereby caused, and rendered the street dangerous to other traffic, the tramway company were liable for the nuisance so created (Ogston v. Aberdeen District Tramways Co., [1897] A. C. 111; 61 J. P. 436). But where a corporation purporting to act in the exercise of their powers under their special Tramways Act, which incorporated this Act, and authorised the construction of an electric tramway, erected a pole and a fuse-box on the footpath close to the entrance of the plaintiffs' premises, it was held that their statutory powers authorised them to use the pavement for the purpose of doing that which was necessary for making their tramway an electrical tramway, and that the nuisance which they were authorised to commit could not be interfered with unless the plaintiffs could prove that the powers conferred on the corporation had been abused (Goldberg v. Liverpool Corporation (1900), 82 L. T. 362; 16 T. L. R. 320). And see Wandsworth Borough Council v. London United Tramways (1901), Ltd. (1905), 69 J. P. 340 ; 21 T. L. R. 529, as to breaking up streets for the purpose of connecting the tramway with the power station by means of an underground electric cable.

By an agreement between the corporation and a tramway company in the city, it was agreed that the company should, under instructions from the city, keep their track free from ice and snow:—Held, that the company were not bound to remove from the streets altogether the snow and ice cleared off the tramway track, and that the words "under instructions from the city," only applied to the extent of the work to be done, not to the particular method to be adopted for doing it. The city also granted to the company all licences, rights, and privileges necessary for the proper and efficient use by electric power to operate cars in the manner successfully in use elsewhere :—Held, that the city was not at liberty to prohibit the company from using electric sweepers which had been found successful in other cities (Montreal City v. Montreal Street Railway, [1903] A. C. 482).

"Special Act."

23. In Part II. and Part III. of this Act, the term "special Act" shall be construed to mean any Act of Parliament which shall be hereafter passed or any Provisional Order authorising the construction of a tramway, and with which the said Parts of this Act shall be incorporated as aforesaid.

"Promoters."

24. The term "the promoters" shall mean any person, persons, corporation, company, or local authority authorised by special Act to construct a tramway.

Mode of formation of tramways.

25. Every tramway which is hereafter authorised by special Act shall be constructed on such gauge as may be prescribed by such special Act, and if no gauge is thereby prescribed, on such gauge as will admit of the use upon such tramways of carriages constructed for use upon railways of a gauge of four feet eight inches and half an inch; and shall be laid and maintained in such manner that the uppermost surface of the rail shall be on a level with the surface of the road; and shall not be opened for public traffic until the same has been inspected and certified to be fit for such traffic, in the prescribed manner (a).

(a) If the tramway is opened without the required certificate, the Attorney-General may obtain an injunction against its working (Att.-Gen. v. Southall, Ealing, and Shepherd's Bush Tramways Co., Times, July 10th, 1874). When the special Act directs compliance with deposited plans and sections, they are regarded as embodied in the statute (Edinburgh Street Tramways Co. v. Black (1866), L. R. 2 Sc. & Div. 336; 37 J. P. 692). Necessary consents required by statue must also be obtained (Devonport Corporation v. Plymouth, Devonport, and District Tramway Co. (1884), 52 L. T. 161).

Note to Section 25.

Power to break up streets, etc.

26. The promoters from time to time, for the purpose of making, forming, laying down, maintaining, and renewing any tramway duly authorised, or any part or parts thereof respectively, may open and break up any road (a), subject to the following regulations:

1. They shall give to the road authority notice of their intention, specifying the time at which they will begin to do so, and the portion of road proposed to be opened or broken up, such notice to be given seven days at least before the commencement of the work:
2. They shall not open, or break up, or alter the level of any road, except under the superintendence and to the reasonable satisfaction of the road authority (b), unless that authority refuses or neglects to give such superintendence at the time specified in the notice, or discontinues the same during the work:
3. They shall pay all reasonable expenses to which the road authority is put on account of such superintendence (b):
4. They shall not, without the consent of the road authority, open or break up at any one time a greater length than one hundred yards of any road which does not exceed a quarter of a mile in length, and in the case of any road exceeding a quarter of a mile in length the promoters shall leave an interval of at least a quarter of a mile between any two places at which they may open or break up the road, and they shall not open or break up at any such place a greater length than one hundred yards.

Where the carriageway over any bridge forms part of or is a road within the jurisdiction of a road authority, but such bridge is vested in some person or persons, corporation, or company, distinct from such road authority, any work which the promoters may be empowered to construct, and which affects or in anywise interferes with the structural works of such bridge, shall be constructed under the superintendence (at the cost of the promoters) and to the reasonable satisfaction of such person, persons, corporation, or company, unless after notice to be given by the promoters seven days at least before the commencement of such work such superintendence is refused or withheld.

Where the carriageway in or upon which any tramway is proposed to be formed or laid down is crossed by any railway or tramway on the level, any work which the promoters may be empowered to construct, and which affects or in anywise interferes with such railway or tramway, or the traffic thereon, shall be constructed and maintained under the superintendence (at the cost of the promoters) and to the reasonable satisfaction of the person, corporation, or company owning such railway or tramway, unless after notice to be given by the promoters seven days at least before the commencement of such work such superintendence is refused or withheld.

(b) See the notes to s. 28, post, p. 2290.

Completion of works and reinstatement of road.

27. When the promoters have opened or broken up any portion of any road, they shall be under the following further obligations, namely,

1. They shall, with all convenient speed, and in all cases within four weeks at the most (unless the road authority otherwise consents in writing) complete the work on account of which they opened or broke up the same, and (subject to the formation, maintenance, or renewal of the tramway) fill in the ground and make good the surface, and, to the satisfaction of the road authority, restore the portion of the road to as good condition as that in which it was before it was opened or broken up, and clear away all surplus paving or metalling material or rubbish occasioned thereby:

2. They shall in the meantime cause the place where the road is opened or broken up to be fenced and watched, and to be properly lighted at night:
3. They shall bear or pay all reasonable expenses of the repair of the road for six months after the same is restored, as far as those expenses are increased by the opening or breaking up.

If the promoters aforesaid fail to comply in any respect with the provisions of the present section, they shall for every such offence (without prejudice to the enforcement of specific performance of the requirements of this Act or to any other remedy against them) be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds, and to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for each day during which any such failure continues after the first day on which such penalty is incurred.

Repair of part of road where tramway is laid.

28. The promoters shall, at their own expense, at all times maintain (a) and keep in good condition and repair (b), with such materials and in such manner as the road authority shall direct, and to their satisfaction (c), so much of any road whereon any tramway belonging to them is laid as lies between the rails of the tramway and (where two tramways are laid by the same promoters in any road at a distance of not more than four feet from each other) the portion of the road between the tramways, and in every case so much of the road as extends eighteen inches beyond the rails of and on each side of any such tramway (d). If the promoters abandon their undertaking, or any part of the same, and take up any tramway or any part of any tramway belonging to them, they shall with all convenient speed, and in all cases within six weeks at the most (unless the road authority otherwise consents in writing), fill in the ground and make good the surface, and, to the satisfaction of the road authority, restore the portion of the road upon which such tramway was laid to as good a condition as that in which it was before such tramway was laid thereon, and clear away all surplus paving or metalling material or rubbish occasioned by such work; and they shall in the meantime cause the place where the road is opened or broken up to be fenced and watched, and to be properly lighted at night: Provided always, that if the promoters fail to comply with the provisions of this section, the road authority, if they think fit, may themselves at any time, after seven days' notice to the promoters, open and break up the road, and do the works necessary for the repair and maintenance or restoration of the road, to the extent in this section above mentioned, and the expense incurred by the road authority in so doing shall be repaid to them by the promoters (e).

(a) The removal of snow from the portion of a road lying between the rails of a tramway is not "maintenance" within the meaning of the section unless the fall of snow is of such a depth as to render the road impassable (Acton U. D. C. v. London United Tramways, [1909] 1 K. B. 68; 73 J. P. 6). See also note (a) to s. 22, ante, p. 2288.

(b) For a case where a nuisance was caused by the use of creosoted wood blocks, see West v. Bristol Tramways Co., [1908] 2 K. B. 15; 72 J. P. 243.

(c) I.e., their reasonable satisfaction. The question as to whether the authority ought reasonably to be satisfied must go to arbitration under s. 33, post, p. 2295 (R. v. Garrett and Hammersmith Borough Council, Ex parte London United Tramways, Ltd. (1909), 73 J. P. 188; 100 L. T. 533). See also the cases cited in note (b) to s. 32, p. 2295, post.

(d) By the Norwich Electric Tramways Act, 1897, the defendant company were to maintain and keep in good condition "the junction of the paving laid and maintained by the company with the surface laid and maintained by the corporation":—Held, that the word "junction" could not only mean the mere point or place where the two surfaces met, but that the defendant company had to maintain an even contour of the road at the junction of the two surfaces (Norwich Corporation v. Norwich Electric Tramways Co. (1904), 91 L. T. 558). By the same Act the corporation were empowered to do the work necessary for the repair and maintenance of the road, and the company were required in such a case to repay to the corporation the expense reasonably incurred with the addition of 5 per cent. on such expense. The surface laid and maintained by the corporation became worn down below the level of the paving laid and maintained by the company, and the corporation executed certain work to obviate inconvenience to the public owing to the state of the road. It was held that such expenses were incurred in maintaining and keeping in good condition the junction of the pavement laid and maintained by the company with the surface laid and maintained by the corporation and therefore recoverable by the corporation (In re Norwich Corporation and Norwich Electric Tramways Co., Ltd. (1908), 72 J. P. 178; 99 L. T. 133). As to the meaning of the word "junctions" in relation to the construction of the tramway itself, see Wilkinson v. Newcastle-on-Tyne Corporation (1902), 18 T. L. R. 332. As to the liability of a tramway company in respect of the repair of a bridge widened by them, see Teddington U. D. C. v. L. & S. W. Rail. Co. (1910), 74 J. P. 121; 102 L. T. 328. A similar provision in a Colonial case was discussed in Toronto Suburban Ry. v. Toronto Corporation, [1915] A. C. 590.

(e) The raising of sleepers and rails to the level of the road, or the raising of the stone packing to the level of the rails, is maintaining and keeping the road in good condition under this section, and does not require the superintendence of the road authority under s. 26 (St. Luke's Vestry v. North Metropolitan Tramways Co. (1875), 1 Q. B. D. 760; 40 J. P. 806). In an unreported Irish case in the Court of Appeal (R. (Ex parte Dublin Corporation) v. Dublin United Tramways Co. (Feb. 26, 1889)), where the corporation had called upon the company to alter the level of their track to correspond with an alteration in the level of the road made by the corporation, so as to comply with s. 65 of the company's private Act (38 & 39 Vict. c. ccix.), which provided that "if . . . the road authority shall alter the level of any road along or across which any part of the tramway is laid, the company may and shall from time to time alter or as the case may be lay their rails so that the uppermost surface thereof shall be on a level with the surface of the road as altered," it was held that s. 8 of the local Act corresponding to s. 28 of the text when read in conjunction with s. 65 of the local Act did not impose a liability upon the company to alter anything but the level of the rails at their own expense. Where a company had statutory power to run tramcars by steam and had statutory running powers over the line of another company, it was held that this did not authorise them to run over that line when it was defective, and they were held liable in damages to a person who was injured through a car running off the line by reason of its being defective (Sadler v. South Staffordshire, etc. Tramways Co. (1889), 23 Q. B. D. 17; 53 J. P. 694). The obligation of a tramway company under this section involves the duty by temporary expedients or permanent work of providing against temporary or recurrent sources of danger to traffic, and failure to discharge this obligation will make the company liable in damages to any person injured by such neglect. Thus the company were held liable for an accident which occurred by reason of their having neglected to sand the road in slippery weather (Dublin United Tramways Co. v. Fitzgerald, [1903] A. C. 99; 67 J. P. 229).

As to injury to passengers owing to the negligence of a contractor, see City of Birmingham Tramways Co., Ltd. v. Law, [1910] 2 K. B. 965; 74 J. P. 355.

Road authority and promoters may contract for paving roads on which tramways are laid.

29. The road authority on the one hand and the promoters on the other hand may from time to time enter into and carry into effect, and from time to time alter, renew, or vary, contracts, agreements, or arrangements with respect to the paving and keeping in repair of the whole or any portion of the roadway of any road on which the promoters shall lay any tramway, and the proportion to be paid by either of them of the expense of such paving and keeping in repair (a).

(a) Where a tramway company entered into a contract with a road authority under this section for the repair of that portion of the road upon which the tramway was laid, it was held that the liability for damage occasioned by the non-repair of that part of the road which would, but for such contract, be cast by s. 28 upon the tramway company, was transferred to the road authority (Howitt v. Nottingham and District Tramways Co. (1883), 12 Q. B. D. 16). This decision seems to have been questioned in Steward v. North Metropolitan Tramways Co. (1885), 16 Q. B. D. 556; 50 J. P. 324; but it has since been followed in Alldred v. West Metropolitan Tramways Co., [1891] 2 Q. B. 398; 55 J. P. 824; and that case has been followed in Barnett v. Poplar Borough Council, [1901] 2 K. B. 319.

Provision as to gas and water companies.

30. For the purpose of making, forming, laying down, maintaining, repairing, or renewing any of their tramways, the promoters may from time to time, where and as far as it is necessary, or may appear expedient for the purpose of preventing frequent interruption of the traffic by repairs or works in connection with the same, alter the position of any mains or pipes for the

Section 30. supply of gas or water, or any tubes, wires (a), or apparatus for telegraphic or other purposes, subject to the provisions of this Act, and also subject to the following restrictions; (that is to say,)

1. Before laying down a tramway in a road in which any mains or pipes, tubes, wires, or apparatus may be laid, the promoters shall, whether they contemplate altering the position of any such mains or pipes, wires or apparatus, or not, give seven days' notice to the company, persons, or person to whom such mains or pipes, tubes, wires, or apparatus may belong or by whom they are controlled, of their intention to lay down or alter the tramway, and shall at the same time deliver a plan and section of the proposed work. If it should appear to any such company or person that the construction of the tramway as proposed would endanger any such main or pipe, tube, wire, or apparatus, or interfere with or impede the supply of water or gas or the telegraphic or other communication, such company or person (as the case may be) may give notice (b) to the promoters to lower or otherwise alter the position of the said mains or pipes, tubes, wires, or apparatus in such manner as may be considered necessary, and any difference as to the necessity of any such lowering or alteration shall be settled in manner provided by this Act for the settlement of differences between the promoters and other companies or persons, and all alterations to be made under this section shall be made with as little detriment and inconvenience to the company or person to whom such mains or pipes, tubes, wires, or apparatus may belong, or by whom the same are controlled, or to the inhabitants of the district, as the circumstances will admit, and under the superintendence of such company or person or of their surveyor or engineer if they or he think fit to attend, after receiving not less than forty-eight hours notice for that purpose, which notice the promoters are hereby required to give;
2. The promoters shall not remove or displace any of the mains or pipes, valves, syphons, plugs, tubes, wires, or apparatus, or other works belonging to or controlled by any such company or person, or do anything to impede the passage of water or gas or the telegraphic or other communication into or through such mains or pipes, without the consent of such company or person, or in any other manner than such company or person shall approve, until good and sufficient mains, pipes, valves, syphons, plugs, and other works necessary or proper for continuing the supply of water or gas or telegraphic or other communication, as sufficiently as the same was supplied by the mains or pipes, tubes, wires, or apparatus proposed to be removed or displaced, shall at the expense of the promoters have been first made and laid down in lieu thereof, and ready for use, and to the satisfaction of the surveyor or engineer of such water or gas or other company, or of such person, or, in case of disagreement between such surveyor or engineer and the promoters, as an engineer appointed by the Board of Trade shall direct:
3. The promoters shall not lay down any such pipes contrary to the regulations of any Act of Parliament relating to such water or gas or other company, or relating to telegraphs:
4. The promoters shall make good all damage done by them to property belonging to or controlled by any such company or person, and shall make full compensation to all parties for any loss or damage which they may sustain by reason of any interference with such property, or with the private service pipes of any person supplied by any such company or person with water or gas;

Section 30.

5. If by any such operations as aforesaid the promoters interrupt the supply of water or gas in or through any main or main pipe they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds for every day upon which the supply shall be so interrupted.

(a) The promoters may alter the position of the wires of a railway company, and for that purpose may enter upon the land belonging to the railway company (In re Rhondda U. D. C. and the Taff Vale Rail. Co. (1908), 72 J. P. 45; 97 L. T. 892). As to the provision of guard wires under the L. C. C. Tramways Regulations, see S. R. & O., 1914, No. 1098.

For a case under a local Act where postal telegraph lines were affected by the escape of electricity from the company's wires, see Postmaster-General v. Blackpool and Fleetwood Tramroad Co., [1921] 1 K. B. 114. See also Postmaster-General v. Liverpool Corporation, [1923] A. C. 587 ; 87 J. P. 157.

(b) This notice may be given at any time until the tramway is constructed (Hastings Tramways Co. v. Hastings and St. Leonards Gas Co., [1906] 2 Ch. 578; 70 J. P. 540).

For protection of sewers, etc.

31. Where in any district any tramway or any work connected therewith interferes with any sewer, drain, watercourse, subway, defence, or work in such district, or in any way affects the sewerage or drainage of such district, the promoters shall not commence any tramway or work until they shall have given to the proper authority fourteen days previous notice in writing of their intention to commence the same, by leaving such notice at the principal office of such authority with all necessary particulars relating thereto, nor until such authority shall have signified their approval of the same, unless such authority do not signify their approval, disapproval, or other directions within fourteen days after service of the said notice and particulars as aforesaid, and the promoters shall comply with and conform to all reasonable directions and regulations of the said authority in the execution of the said works, and shall provide by new, altered, or substituted works, in such manner as such authority shall reasonably require, for the proper protection of and for preventing injury or impediment to the sewers and works hereinbefore referred to, or by reason of the tramways, and shall save harmless the said authority against all and every the expense to be occasioned thereby; and all such works shall be done under the direction, superintendence, and control of the engineer or other officer or officers of the said authority, at the reasonable costs, charges, and expenses in all respects of the promoters; and when any new, altered, or substituted work as aforesaid, or any works or defence connected therewith, shall be completed by or at the costs, charges, or expenses of the promoters under the provisions of this Act, the same shall thereafter be as fully and completely under the direction, jurisdiction, and control of the said authority and be maintained by them as any sewers or works (a).

(a) As to the sufficiency of notices under this section, see Brentford U. D. C. v. London United Tramways Co., Times, March 30th, 1901.

Rights of authorities and companies, etc. to open roads.

32. Nothing in this Act shall take away or abridge any power to open or break up any road along or across which any tramway is laid, or any other power vested in any local authority or road authority (a) for any of the purposes for which such authority is respectively constituted, or in any company, body, or person for the purpose of laying down, repairing, altering, or removing any pipe for the supply of gas or water, or any tubes, wires, or apparatus for telegraphic or other purposes (b), but in the exercise of such power every such local authority, road authority, company, body, or person shall be subject to the following restrictions; (that is to say,)

1. They shall cause as little detriment or inconvenience to the promoters and lessees as circumstances admit:
2. Before they commence any work whereby the traffic on the tramway will be interrupted they shall (except in cases of urgency, in which cases no notice shall be necessary) give to the promoters and lessees, if there be any, notice of their intention to commence such work, specifying the time at which they will begin to do so, such notice to be given eighteen hours at least before the commencement of the work (c):

3. They shall not be liable to pay to the promoters or lessees any compensation for injury done to the tramway by the execution of such work, or for loss of traffic occasioned thereby, or for the reasonable exercise of the powers so vested in them as aforesaid:
4. Whenever for the purpose of enabling them to execute such work the local authority or the road authority shall so require, the promoters or lessees shall either stop traffic on the tramway to which the notice shall refer, where it would otherwise interfere with such work, or shore up and secure the same at their own risk and cost during the execution of the work there: Provided that such work shall always be completed by the local authority or the road authority, as the case may be, with all reasonable expedition:
5. Any company, body, or person shall not execute such work so far as it immediately affects the tramway except under the superintendence of the promoters, unless they refuse or neglect to give such superintendence at the time specified in the notice for the commencement of the work or discontinue the same during the progress of the work; and they shall execute such work at their own expense, and to the reasonable satisfaction of the promoters: Provided that any additional expense imposed upon them by reason of the existence of the tramway in any road or place where any such mains, pipes, tubes, wires, or apparatus shall have been laid before the construction of such tramway shall be borne by the promoters (c).

(a) A railway company who are liable to maintain and repair a bridge over their line, with the approaches and the road thereon, are in respect of such road a road authority within the meaning of this section. Where a railway company for the reconstruction of such a bridge had, after giving the notices specified by this section, removed the rails of a tramway running over the bridge, and temporarily stopped the traffic, it was held that they were not liable to the tramway company for injury to the tramway, loss of traffic, or cost of reinstating the rails, provided they had caused as little detriment or inconvenience as the circumstances admitted. It was held also that if they caused more than the least detriment and inconvenience which the circumstances admitted, they would be liable to the extent to which they had exceeded such least possible detriment and inconvenience (Wolverhampton Tramways Co., Ltd. v. G. W. Rail. Co. (1886), 56 L. J. Q. B. 191; 56 L. T. 892).

(b) A telephone company acting under a licence from the Postmaster-General pursuant to the Telegraph Acts, 1863, 1878, and 1892, need not obtain the previous consent of a tramway company before proceeding to break up a street or public road on which tramways are laid, for the purpose of laying telephone wires, even though the tramway company is liable under s. 28 for the repair of that street or road (Bristol Tramways and Carriage Co. v. National Telephone Co., [1899] 2 Ch. 382; 63 J. P. 583).

(c) A gas company executed work in roads along which a tramway ran, part of which work consisted in pipes so laid for the first time since the construction of the tramway, and connecting the same with the mains which had been laid down before the construction of the tramway. In one instance during the progress of the work, where there was a double tramline, the cars of one line were diverted to the other, such diversion being at the request of the gas company. In other instances cars were merely slowed down or stopped for a short time while the workmen got out of the trenches. By reason of the existence of the tramway additional expense was imposed upon the gas company in connecting the new pipes with their mains. It was held that the gas company were entitled to recover such additional expense from the tramway company under sub-s. 5, supra, inasmuch as there had been an interruption of the traffic on the tramway within the meaning of sub-s. 2, and the connection of a new service pipe with the main involved an alteration of the main; but that the proviso in sub-s. 5 does not apply in the case of work which is not such as to interrupt the traffic on the tramway (In re Bristol Gas Co. and Bristol Tramways and Carriage Co., Ltd., [1910] 1 K. B. 114; 74 J. P. 35).

Section 33.

Difference between promoters and road authority, etc.

33. If any difference arises between the promoters or lessees on the one hand and any local authority or road authority, or any gas or water company, or any company, body, or person to whom any sewer, drain, tube, wires, or apparatus for telegraphic or other purposes may belong, or any other company, on the other hand, with respect to any interference or control, exercised, or claimed to be exercised, by them or him, or on their or his behalf, or by the promoters or lessees by virtue of this Act, in relation to any tramway, or work, or in relation to any work or proceeding of the local authority, road authority, body, company, or person, or with respect to the propriety of or the mode of execution of any work relating to any tramway, or with respect to the amount of any compensation to be made by or to the promoters or lessees, or on the question whether any work is such as ought reasonably to satisfy the local authority, road authority, body, company, or person concerned, or with respect to any other subject or thing regulated by or comprised in this Act, the matter in difference shall (unless otherwise specially provided by this Act) be settled by an engineer or other fit person nominated as referee by the Board of Trade (a) on the application of either party, and the expenses of the reference shall be borne and paid as the referee directs (b).

(a) Now the Minister of Transport. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2280.

(b) By a local Tramway Act incorporating the above Act, the space between the rails and for a distance of eighteen inches beyond each external rail was to be paved by the company, to the satisfaction of the local authority, with wood or other paving to be approved of by the local authority. On an application by the local authority for a mandamus to the company to take up the paving so laid down, it was held that a difference had arisen within the meaning of the above section which ought to be determined by a referee appointed by the Board of Trade, and that the mandamus ought not to be granted (R. v. Croydon and Norwood Tramways Co. (1887), 18 Q. B. D. 39; 51 J. P. 420). And see R. v. Garrett and Hammersmith Borough Council, Ex parte London United Tramways, Ltd., ante, p. 2290; R. (Corporation of Dublin) v. Fitzgibbon, [1910] 2 I. R. 236. A municipal corporation, as being the road and the local authority, proposed to alter a road within their district on which a tramway had been constructed under this Act, by taking up the existing granite pavement and laying down a wood pavement over the whole of the roadway, including the space between the rails of the tramway and eighteen inches on each side thereof. The company objected to the alteration so far as it concerned the last-mentioned portion of the roadway and claimed to refer the matter under the above section:—Held, that the difference was not one within the section, inasmuch as it was not with respect to any interference or control claimed to be exercised by the road authority by virtue of the Act, or to any subject or thing regulated by or comprised in the Act; but with respect to the exercise of a power which belonged to the road authority independently of the Act and was preserved by s. 60 (Bristol Trams and Carriage Co. v. Bristol Corporation (1890), 25 Q. B. D. 427; 55 J. P. 53). An arbitrator appointed to determine a difference arising under this section has jurisdiction to order gas mains already laid down to be lowered so that any new service pipes might be carried horizontally underneath the concrete bed of the tramway; and he can further order such gas mains to be moved laterally to such a distance as to enable access to be obtained to them without interference with the concrete bed (Re Ilford Gas Co. and Ilford U. D. C. (1903), 67 J. P. 239; 88 L. T. 236). The provision for arbitration contained in this section ousts the jurisdiction of the High Court with regard to differences coming within the section, and the objection may be taken in the Court of Appeal, though not taken in the High Court. It was provided by the special Act of a tramway company, with which by s. 22 of the Tramways Act, 1870, Parts II. and III. of that Act were incorporated, that if the company failed to maintain and keep in good condition, to the satisfaction of the corporation, the junction of the paving laid and maintained by the company with the surface laid and maintained by the corporation, the corporation might if they thought fit themselves at any time after seven days' notice to the company do the work necessary for the repair and maintenance of the road, and that the expense reasonably incurred by the corporation in so doing should be repaid to them by the company with 5 per cent. added thereto. The corporation did work by way of repair to roads on which tramways belonging to the company were laid, alleging that such work came within the above provision, which the company denied. In an action by the corporation against the company to recover the expenses, and for a declaration of their rights:—Held, that the difference must be settled by arbitration under this section (Norwich Corporation v. Norwich Electric Tramways, [1906] 2 K. B. 119; 70 J. P. 401). A local Act incorporated ss. 28 and 33 of this Act and imposed a penalty (inter alia) for not keeping the rails in repair and so as not to be a danger or annoyance to the ordinary traffic. It was held that the magistrate had jurisdiction to deal with summonses for not keeping the rails in repair as in this instance no question had arisen in regard to the satisfaction of the road authority (R. v. Garrett and Hammersmith Borough Council, Ex parte London United Tramways, Ltd., ante, p. 2290). A private Act authorised a company to construct a tramway and other works. It provided (inter alia) that "unless otherwise agreed in writing" between the parties, the company should complete the tramway within two years and "carry out to the reasonable satisfaction of the council the widenings" authorised by the Act. No such written agreement was in fact entered into. It was held that until an agreement altering the scheme of works was made, there was an absolute statutory obligation on the company to do the works, and that a landowner whose property had been rendered less valuable by the abandonment of the undertaking was entitled to compensation out of the parliamentary deposit (In re West Yorkshire Tramways Act, 1906, [1913] 1 Ch. 170). As to reference of differences under a local Act incorporating this section, see Regent's Canal Dock Co. v. London C. C. (1907), 71 J. P. 201; Joseph Crosfield & Sons, Ltd. v. Manchester Ship Canal Co., [1905] A. C. 421; 69 J. P. 441.

Note to Section 33.

PART III.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

Carriages.

Power for promoters to use tramways with flange-wheeled carriages, etc.

34. The promoters of tramways authorised by special Act and their lessees may use on their tramways carriages with flange wheels or wheels suitable only to run on the rail prescribed by such Act; and, subject to the provisions of such special Act and of this Act, the promoters and their lessees shall have the exclusive use of their tramways for carriages with flange wheels or other wheels suitable only to run on the prescribed rail (a).

All carriages used on any tramway shall be moved by the power prescribed by the special Act, and where no such power is prescribed, by animal power only (b).

No carriage used on any tramway which is hereafter authorised by special Act shall extend beyond the outer edge of the wheels of such carriage more than eleven inches on each side.

(a) The promoters are consequently occupiers of the land which is de facto occupied by the tramway, and, therefore, they are rateable (Pimlico, Peckham, and Greenwich Street Tramways Co. v. Greenwich Union (1874), L. R. 9 Q. B. 9; 38 J. P. 117; Craig v. Edinburgh Street Tramways Co. (1874), 1 Ct. Sess. Cas. (4th ser.), 947; Melbourne Tramway and Omnibus Co. v. Fitzroy Corporation, [1901] A. C. 153; Blackpool and Fleetwood Tramroad Co. v. Thornton U. D. C., [1909] A. C. 264; 73 J. P. 299; London United Tramways (1901), Ltd. v. Brentford Union (1907), 71 J. P. 249: 5 L. G. R. 682). With regard to the use of cars for advertising purposes, see a case on the construction of an agreement (Griffiths and Millington v. Southampton Corporation (1906), 70 J. P. 179; 22 T. L. R. 301). In rating the undertaking receipts from advertisements must be taken into account (North Metropolitan Tramways Co. v. St. Mary, Islington (1874), Ryde's Met. Rat. App. 112). As to a contract for advertising on the trams of a company which subsequently becomes merged in a larger undertaking, see Abrahams v. Campbell, [1911] S. C. 353.

(b) A locomotive used upon a tramway under a special Act is not subject to the provisions of the Highway Act, 1878, ante, p. 733 (Bell v. Stockton and Darlington Steam Tramways Co. (1887), 51 J. P. 804; 3 T. L. R. 511). A tramcar drawn by horses was held to be a "coach" for the purposes of tolls under 7 Geo. 3, c. lxxiii. (Plymouth, Stonehouse, and Devonport Tramways Co. v. General Tolls Co. (1896), 75 L. T. 467); and a tramcar is a "stage carriage" for the purposes of the Railway Passenger Duty Act, 1842, s. 13, as to overcrowding (Brian v. Aylward (1902), 18 T. L. R. 371), and of an Act as to painting up the number of passengers to be carried (Black v. Neilson (1897), 25 Rettie, 98). A tramcar may not ply for hire without a licence from the local authority. See Blackpool and Fleetwood Tramroad Co. v. Bailey, ante, p. 2242.

Licences to use Tramways (a).

Licences to use the tramway may in certain events be

35. If at any time after any tramway or part of any tramway shall have been for three years opened for public traffic in any district it shall be represented in writing to the Board of Trade (b) by the local authority of such district or by twenty inhabitant ratepayers of such district, or by the road authority of any road in which such tramway or part of a tramway, is laid, that the public are deprived of the full benefit of the tramway, the Board of Trade (b) may (if they consider that, primâ facie, the case is one for inquiry) direct an inquiry by a referee under this Act into the truth of the representation, and if the referee report that the truth of the representation has been proved to his satisfaction, the Board (c) may from time to time grant licences to any company or person to use such tramway in addition to the promoters or their lessees, for such traffic as is authorised by the special Act, with carriages to be approved by the Board, subject to the following provisions, conditions, and restrictions; that is to say, granted to third parties by the Board of Trade.

Section 35.

1. The licence shall be for any period not less than one year nor more than three years from the date of the licence, but shall be renewable by the Board, if they upon inquiry think fit:
2. The licence shall be to use the whole of such tramway for the time being opened for public traffic, or such part or parts of such tramway as the Board, having reference to the cause for granting the licence, shall think right:
3. The licence shall direct the number of carriages which the licensee or licensees shall run upon such tramway, and the mode in which and times at which such carriages shall be run:
4. The licences shall specify the tolls to be paid to the promoters or to their lessees by the licensee or licensees for the use of the tramways:
5. The licensee or licensees, and their officers and servants, shall permit one person duly authorised for that purpose by the promoters, or by their lessees, to ride free of charge in or upon each carriage of the licensee or licensees run upon the tramways for the whole or any part of the journey:
6. The Board of Trade (b) may at any time after the granting of any licence revoke, alter, or modify the same for good cause shown to them.

(a) The following sections deal with licences by the Board of Trade (now Ministry of Transport), enabling persons other than the undertakers to use the tramways. For a case of a lease by a corporation to a tramway company pursuant to a local Act, see R. v. Devonport JJ., Ex parte Devonport Tramways Co. (1909), 73 J. P. 393; 101 L. T. 424.

(b) Now the Minister of Transport. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2280.

(c) For a licence granted by a corporation, pursuant to a local Act which required the consent of the Board of Trade being held to be ultra vires where such consent was not obtained, see Salford Corporation v. Eccles Corporation, [1912] A. C. 465; 76 J. P. 249.

36. If on demand any licensee fail to pay the tolls due in respect of any passengers carried in any carriage it shall be lawful for the promoters or their lessees, to whom the same are payable, to detain and sell such carriage, or if the same shall have been removed from the tramway or premises of such promoters or lessees, to detain and sell any other carriages on such tramway or premises belonging to such licensee, and out of the moneys arising from such sale to retain the tolls payable as aforesaid, and all charges and expenses of such detention and sale, rendering the overplus (if any) of such moneys and such of the carriages as shall remain unsold to the person entitled thereto.

In default of payment of tolls licensee's carriages may be detained and sold.

37. Every licensee shall on demand give to an officer or servant authorised in that behalf by the promoters or their lessees entitled to be paid tolls by such licensee, an exact account in writing signed by such licensee of the number of passengers conveyed by any and every carriage used by him on the tramways.

Licensees to give account of passengers carried by them.

38. If any such licensee fails to give such account to such officer or servant demanding the same as aforesaid, or if any such licensee with intent to avoid

Licensees not giving account of passengers carried liable to penalty.

the payment of any tolls gives a false account, he shall for every such offence forfeit to the promoters, or to their lessees entitled to be paid tolls by such licensee, a sum not exceeding five pounds, and such penalty shall be in addition to any tolls payable in respect of the passengers carried by any such carriage.

Disputes as to amount of toll to be settled by justice.

39. If any dispute arise concerning the amount of the tolls due to the promoters or to their lessees from any licensee, or concerning the charges occasioned by any detention or sale of any carriage under the provisions herein contained, the same shall be settled in England by two justices . . . and it shall be lawful for the promoters or their lessees in the meanwhile to detain the carriage, or (if the case so require) the proceeds of the sale thereof (a).

(a) Words relating to Scotland only are omitted from this section.

Owners of carriages liable for damage done by their servants.

40. Every licensee shall be answerable for any trespass or damage done by his carriages or horses, or by any of the servants or persons employed by him, to or upon the tramway, or to or upon the property of any other person, and without prejudice to the right of action against the licensee or any other person, every such servant or other person may lawfully be convicted of such trespass or damage in England before two justices . . . either by the confession of the party offending or by the oath of some credible witness; and upon such conviction every such licensee shall pay to the promoters, lessees, or persons injured, as the case may be, the damage, to be ascertained by such justices, so that the same do not exceed fifty pounds (a).

(a) Words relating to Scotland only are omitted from this section.

Discontinuance of Tramways.

Tramways to be removed in certain cases.

41 (a). If at any time after the opening of any tramway in any district for traffic the promoters discontinue the working of such tramway, or of any part thereof, for the space of three calendar months (such discontinuance not being occasioned by circumstances beyond the control of such promoters, for which purpose the want of sufficient funds shall not be considered a circumstance beyond their control), and such discontinuance is proved to the satisfaction of the Board of Trade (b), the said Board, if they think fit, may by Order declare that the powers of the promoters in respect of such tramway or the part thereof so discontinued shall, from the date of such Order, be at an end, and thereupon the said powers of the promoters shall cease and determine, unless the same are purchased by the local authority in manner by this Act provided. Where any such Order has been made, the road authority of such district may at any time after the expiration of two months from the date of such Order under the authority of a certificate to that effect by the Board of Trade (b), remove the tramway or part of the tramway so discontinued, and the promoters shall pay to the road authority the cost of such removal and of the making good of the road by the road authority, such cost to be certified by the clerk for the time being, or by some other authorised officer of the road authority, whose certificate shall be final and conclusive; and if the promoters fail to pay the amount so certified within one calendar month after delivery to them of such certificate or a copy thereof, the road authority may, without any previous notice to the promoters (but without prejudice to any other remedy which they may have for the recovery of the amount), sell and dispose of the materials of the tramway or part of tramway removed, either by public auction or private sale, and for such sum or sums, and to such person or persons, as the road authority may think fit, and may out of the proceeds of such sale pay and reimburse themselves the amount of the cost certified as aforesaid and of the cost of sale, and the balance (if any) of the proceeds of the sale shall be paid over by the road authority to the promoters.

(a) This section relates to the discontinuance of a tramway service. For cases of abandonment of the undertaking (before the work is commenced or completed), decided under the Parliamentary Deposits and Bonds Act, 1892, see In re Peckham, Dulwich and Crystal Palace Tramways Bill, [1910] 2 Ch. 1; 74 J. P. 266; In re Peckham and East Dulwich Tramways Co., [1911] W. N. 15; In re Southport and Lytham Tramroad Act, 1900; Ex parte Hesketh, [1911] 1 Ch. 120; In re West Yorkshire Tramways Act, 1906, [1913] 1 Ch. 170.

(b) Now the Minister of Transport. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2280.

Insolvency of Promoters (a).

Proceedings in case of insolvency of promoters.

42. If at any time after the opening of any tramway in any district for traffic, it appears to the local authority or the road authority of such district that the promoters of such tramway are insolvent, so that they are unable to maintain such tramway, or work the same with advantage to the public, and such road authority makes a representation to that effect to the Board of Trade, the Board of Trade (b) may direct an inquiry by a referee into the truth of the representation, and if the referee shall find that the promoters are so insolvent as aforesaid, the Board of Trade (b) may, by Order, declare that the powers of the promoters shall, at the expiration of six calendar months from the making of the Order, be at an end, and the powers of the promoters shall cease and determine at the expiration of the said period, unless the same are purchased by the local authority in manner by this Act provided; and thereupon such road authority may remove the tramway in like manner and subject to the same provisions as to the payment of the costs of such removal, and to the same remedy for recovery of such costs, in every respect as in cases of removal under the next preceding section.

(a) It was held that an unregistered tramway company, incorporated by a special Act, was not within the exception of "railway companies incorporated by Act of Parliament" in s. 199 of the Companies Act, 1862, and could, therefore, be wound up under that section (see now s. 337 of the Companies Act, 1929) (Re Brentford and Isleworth Tramways Co. (1884), 26 Ch. D. 527). And see Portsmouth, etc. Tramways Co., In re, [1892] 2 Ch. 362. A company being in liquidation, the Board of Trade, under this section, directed an inquiry to ascertain the solvency of the promoters:—Held: upon application by the official liquidator for an injunction to restrain the inquiry, that it was not a proceeding against the company, and could not be restrained under s. 87 of the Companies Act, 1862 (see now s. 177 of the Companies Act, 1929) (Re Pontypridd and Rhondda Valley Tramways Co. (1889), 58 L. J. Ch. 536; 37 W. R. 570).

Where a petition is presented for winding up a company, the court has power to restrain proceedings before magistrates for penalties against the company (Re Briton Medical, etc. Association (1886), 32 Ch. D. 503).

It was held that, although the company had not been ordered to be wound up, the court would appoint a receiver and manager in an action brought by a holder of overdue debentures of the company to realise his security (Bartlett v. West Metropolitan Tramways Co. (No. 1), [1893] 3 Ch. 437). And it was further held on a subsequent application by the receiver, that the court had power under this section and s. 44 to make an order for sale of the company's property as a going concern (Bartlett v. West Metropolitan Tramways Co. (No. 2), [1894] 2 Ch. 286). But this latter decision was overruled in Marshall v. South Staffordshire Tramways Co., [1895] 2 Ch. 36, where it was held that the holders of debentures issued by a tramway company governed by this Act (whether incorporated under the Companies Act, 1862, or under a special Act, by which debentures the undertaking of the company and all its property, present and future, including uncalled capital, are charged) are in the event of default by the company entitled only to the appointment of a receiver of the undertaking of the company and the net earnings thereof; and are not entitled to an order for the sale of the undertaking or to the appointment of a manager.

(b) Now the Minister of Transport. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2280.

Purchase of Tramways (a).

Future purchase of undertaking by local authority.

43. Where the promoters of a tramway in any district are not the local authority, the local authority, if, by resolution passed at a special meeting of the members constituting such local authority, they so decide, may within six months after the expiration of a period of twenty-one years from the time when such promoters were empowered to construct such tramway, and within six months after the expiration of every subsequent period of seven years or within three months after any Order made by the Board of Trade under either of the two next preceding sections, with the approval of the Board of Trade, by notice in writing (b) require such promoters to sell, and thereupon such promoters shall sell (c) to them their undertaking (d), or so much of the same as is within such district, upon terms of paying the then value (exclusive of any allowance for past or future profits of the undertaking, or any compensation for compulsory sale, or other consideration whatsoever) (e) of the tramway, and all lands, buildings, works, materials, and plant of the promoters suitable to and used by them for the purposes of their undertaking within such district (f), such value to be in case of difference determined by an engineer or other fit person nominated as referee (g) by the Board of Trade on the application of either party, and the expenses of the reference to be borne and paid as the referee directs. And when any such sale has been made, all the rights, powers, and authorities of such promoters in respect to the undertaking sold, or where any Order has been made by the Board of Trade under either of the next preceding sections, all the rights, powers, and authorities of such promoters previous to the making of such Order in respect of the undertaking sold, shall be transferred to, vested in, and may be exercised by the authority to whom the same has been sold, in like manner as if such tramway was constructed by such authority under the powers conferred upon them by a Provisional Order under this Act, and in reference to the same they shall be deemed to be the promoters (h).

No such resolution shall be valid unless a month's previous notice of the meeting, and of the purpose thereof, has been given in manner in which notices of meetings of such local authority are usually given, nor unless two-thirds of the members constituting such local authority are present and vote at the meeting, and a majority of those present and voting concur in the resolution . . . (i).

The local authority in any district may pay the purchase-money and all expenses incurred by them in the purchase of any undertaking under the authority of this section out of the like rate, and shall have the like powers to borrow on the security of the same as if such expenses were incurred in applying for, obtaining, and carrying into effect any Provisional Order obtained by them under this Act.

Where the local rate is limited by law to a certain amount, and is by reason of such limitation insufficient for the payment of such purchase-money and expenses, the Board of Trade (j) may by Provisional Order extend the limit of such local rate to such amount as they shall think fit and prescribe for the payment of such purchase-money and expenses.

Every such Provisional Order shall be confirmed in like manner as a Provisional Order under the authority of Part I. of this Act, and until such confirmation such Provisional Order shall not have any operation.

Subject and according to the preceding provisions of this section two or more local authorities may jointly purchase any undertaking or so much of the same as is within their districts.

(a) It has been the practice of Parliament and of the Board of Trade to vary the provisions of s. 43 as to compulsory purchase by extending the time at which purchase can take place and by providing for more reasonable terms of payment. The variations are numerous and depend entirely on the conditions which the company is willing to concede and the local authority to accept.

It is also usual in special Acts incorporating tramway companies to insert clauses to protect lenders of money to the company in the event of a compulsory sale to the local authority under s. 43 and to give them notice of the rights of the local authority.

(b) For form of notice, see the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. XVII., p. 778.

(d) This word is limited by reference to the tramway previously mentioned, viz., the particular tramway which the promoters are empowered to construct by any special Act or Provisional Order. Therefore, where a tramway company has constructed a number of lines under special Acts passed in different years, the local authority may (subject to the leave of the Board of Trade being obtained) purchase so much of any one line as is within its district at the expiration of twenty-one years from the time when the promoters were empowered to construct the line, together with the undertaking as far as it relates to that particular line, without purchasing the other lines constructed under different special Acts (North Metropolitan Tramways Co. v. London C. C. (1896), 60 J. P. 23; 12 T. L. R. 101; in C. A. affirming 72 L. T. 586; 43 W. R. 552).

The local authority is not entitled to take possession until the amount of the purchase money has been ascertained and paid (Manchester Tramways Co. v. Manchester Corporation (1902), 67 J. P. 17; 87 L. T. 678).

(e) The value of the tramway upon a compulsory sale to the local authority must be measured by what it would cost to construct it at the date of such sale, subject to a proper deduction in respect of depreciation (Edinburgh Street Tramways Co. v. Lord Provost of the City of Edinburgh and London Street Tramways Co. v. London C. C., [1894] A. C. 456, 489; London Street Tramways Co. v. London C. C., [1898] A. C. 375; 62 J. P. 675). See also Re Southampton Tramways Co. and Southampton Corporation (1899), 63 J. P. 788; 16 T. L. R. 38; in C. A. affirming 80 L. T. 236. The principles laid down by the House of Lords in the Edinburgh Case were applied by the Court of Appeal in Oldham, Ashton, and Hyde Electric Tramways, Ltd. v. Ashton Corporation, [1921] 3 K.B. 511; 85 J. P. 181. There the arbitrator had awarded the value of the undertaking at the time of the notice requiring the owner of the tramway to sell, including therein as part of the original cost of establishment the engineer's fees, subject to depreciation, the cost of raising the original capital of the undertaking, interest on capital during construction, and the cost of a temporary diversion of the tramway from a railway bridge in accordance with a provision inserted at the instance of the railway company in the order authorising the construction of the tramway. It was held by ROWLATT, J., and affirmed in Court of Appeal that the engineer's fees should be allowed subject to depreciation, that the cost of raising capital must be disallowed, that the interest on capital was subject to depreciation, and that the cost of the temporary diversion of the tramway must be disallowed. Notwithstanding the practice of Parliament in granting statutory powers to lay tramways in narrow streets, to impose upon the undertakers the obligation to contribute towards the cost of widening such streets, it was held that in assessing the value of the tramway and its appurtenances belonging to a company incorporated before such practice of Parliament came into existence, the amount which the tramway company would, if constructing its tramway at the date of the notice to purchase, have been required to contribute towards the costs of widening streets ought not to be taken into account (Re London, Deptford and Greenwich Tramways Co. and London C. C., [1905] 1 K. B. 316; 69 J. P. 93). And as to a local Act excluding the application of s. 43 of this Act, see Wallasey Tramways Co. v. Wallasey U. D. C., Times, November 17th, 1899; affirmed in C. A., 23 M. C. C. 56; and affirmed again in H. L., 17 T. L. R. 152. For a case as to determination of value under a Colonial Act, see Melbourne Tramway and Omnibus Co. v. Tramway Board, [1919] A. C. 667; 88 L. J. P. C. 102.

(f) The local authority purchasing a tramway within their district must pay for all lands, buildings, etc. which are suitable to and used for the purposes of the undertaking within the district, even though such lands, buildings, etc. be situate outside the district (Manchester Carriage and Tramways Co. v. Swinton and Pendlebury U. D. C., [1906] A. C. 277; 70 J. P. 81); so also they must pay for a depôt within the district if suitable to and used for the purpose of the undertaking within the district, although in previous proceedings it has been held suitable to and used for the purpose of the undertaking outside the district (Manchester Carriage and Tramways Co. v. Ashton-under-Lyne Corporation (1904), 68 J. P. 576). See also Manchester Carriage and Tramways Co. v. Manchester Corporation (1902), 67 J. P. 14; 18 T. L. R. 779; varied by consent in C. A., 19 T. L. R. 439. The fact that the authorised tramway penetrates into a car factory does not render the council liable to purchase either the factory or the land within the factory upon which the tramway is laid, if in fact the factory is not suitable to and used by the company for the purposes of the undertaking; but quære whether they are bound to purchase the permanent way of the tramway within the factory

Note to Section 43.

(North Metropolitan Tramways Co., Ltd. v. Leyton U. D. C. (1908), 72 J. P. 241; 98 L. T. 792).

(g) An Act provided for "the purchase of the gasworks and plant at a price to be determined by arbitration." It was held that the price should be the commercial value of the undertaking as a going concern, and not merely the structural value of the plant (Hamilton Gas Co., Ltd. v. Hamilton Corporation, [1910] A. C. 300; 74 J. P. 185). And see Perth Gas Co., Ltd. v. Perth Corporation, [1911] A. C. 506.

(h) On a purchase under this section the local authority also becomes liable to income tax as regards the tramway undertaking as successors of the tramway company for the purpose of r. 4 under Cases I. and II. of Sched. D. in s. 100 of the Income Tax Act, 1842 (Re Stockham (Surveyor of Taxes) and Wallasey U. D. C. (1907), 71 J. P. 244; 5 L. G. R. 200). The local authority are not, however, bound to keep the trams when purchased in their own hands and work them themselves. It is, therefore, no objection to their right to purchase that they may have agreed with a third party to find the purchase-money and work the trams when acquired, although the local authority may need further statutory powers to carry out such a bargain (Bombay Tramways Co. v. Bombay Corporation (1904), Times, June 6th).

(i) The remainder of this paragraph applies in Scotland only, and is therefore omitted.

(j) Now the Minister of Transport. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2280.

Power of sale.

44. Where any tramway in any district has been opened for traffic for a period of six months the promoters may, with the consent of the Board of Trade (a) sell (b) their undertaking to any person, persons, corporation, or company, or to the local authority of such district; and when any such sale has been made all the rights, powers, authorities, obligations, and liabilities of such promoters in respect to the undertaking sold shall be transferred to, vested in, and may be exercised by, and shall attach to the person, persons, corporation, company, or local authority to whom the same has been sold, in like manner as if such tramway was constructed by such person, persons, corporation, company, or local authority under the powers conferred upon them by special Act, and in reference to the same they shall be deemed to be the promoters (c).

Provided always, that a local authority shall not purchase any undertaking under the provisions of this section unless they shall decide to make such purchase by resolution passed at a special meeting of the members constituting such local authority, which resolution shall be made in the same manner and shall be subject to the same conditions as to validity as resolutions made in regard to the purchases by the next preceding section authorised.

Where any purchase is made by any local authority under the provisions of this section, such local authority may pay the purchase-money and all expenses incurred by them in making such purchase out of the like funds, and for such purposes shall have all and the like powers and be subject to all the like conditions as if such purchase were made under the authority of the next preceding section.

(a) Now the Minister of Transport. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2280.

(b) See Wolverhampton Corporation v. British Electric Traction Co. (1900), Times, Friday, November 30th; 22 M. C. C. 545, which was an action for specific performance of a statutory contract to purchase a tramway. The court dismissed a counterclaim for a declaration as to running powers.

A tramway company cannot assign its statutory powers and rights except as authorised by this Act (Baillie v. Binns (1903), Times, January 31st).

(c) A Provisional Order was obtained by certain promoters for the construction of tramways in a borough. The confirming Act provided that the corporation might purchase the undertaking after the lapse of fourteen years. Shortly afterwards the promoters entered into an agreement to sell the undertaking to an electric traction company and by a later agreement it was sold to the plaintiff company. The confirming Act required the consent of the Board of Trade to such agreements, but in fact no such consents were given. The construction of the tramway was commenced but never completed. After the lapse of fourteen years, as specified in the confirming Act, the corporation gave notice to the promoters and the plaintiff company or "other the promoters" requiring them to sell the undertaking, knowing, however, that the sale to the plaintiff company had not been approved by the Board of Trade. The value of the undertaking having been assessed by an arbitrator, the plaintiff company "and all others the promoters" brought an action to recover the sum fixed by him. It was held that the original promoters were the owners of the undertaking, and that as the corporation had exercised their option to purchase with notice that the transfer to the plaintiff company had not been approved by the Board of Trade, they could not now be heard to say that the promoters were not the legal owners; and further, the corporation were not affected by any equity there might be to compel the promoters to sell to the company (Hartlepool Electric Tramways Co., Ltd. v. Hartlepool Corporation (1911), 75 J. P. 507, 537; 9 L. G. R. 1098).

Tolls.

Tolls, etc.

45. The promoters or lessees of a tramway authorised by special Act may demand and take, in respect of such tramway, tolls and charges not exceeding the sums specified in such special Act, subject and according to the regulations therein specified. A list of all the tolls and charges authorised to be taken shall be exhibited in a conspicuous place inside and outside each of the carriages used upon the tramways (a).

(a) It is necessary here to refer to the Statutory Undertakings (Temporary Increase of Charges) Act, 1918, 8 & 9 Geo. 5, c. 34, which so far as it relates to tramways is to have effect until 31st December, 1931 (19 Geo. 5, c. 3), as amended by the Tramways (Temporary Increase of Charges) Act, 1920, 10 & 11 Geo. 5, c. 14. These Acts are set out in full, post, pp. 2749, 2804. A municipal corporation owned a tramway constructed under statutory powers. In accordance with a statutory requirement they exhibited in a conspicuous place in their cars a list of fares and appended a special notice stating, as the fact was, that the fares charged were less than the maximum authorised charges, and that in consideration thereof a passenger was only carried on the terms that the maximum amount recoverable from the corporation for injury suffered by a passenger and for which the corporation were legally liable was £25. It was held (by COZENS-HARDY, M.R., upon the construction of the statutes regulating the tramway; by FARWELL, L.J., upon the ground that the corporation were common carriers of passengers at common law in the sense that they were bound to carry according to their profession, and by KENNEDY, L.J., upon both these grounds) that, so long as the tramway was open for public traffic, the corporation were bound to carry any passenger not being an objectionable person who offered himself and was willing to pay the published fare, provided they had accommodation for him, and were not entitled to impose a condition limiting their liability for negligence without giving the passenger the option of travelling at a higher fare without any such condition. Semble, per COZENS-HARDY, M.R., and FARWELL, L.J. If the corporation published alternative lists of fares, one containing the maximum rates and another reduced rates, and gave an option to the passenger to pay either rate but with such a condition attached to the reduced rate, a passenger electing to pay the latter would be bound by the condition (Clarke v. West Ham Corporation, [1909] 2 K. B. 858; 73 J. P. 461). See also Baker v. Ellison, [1914] 2 K. B. 762. See as to the construction of a provision in a Tramway Act that "daily labourers" should be entitled to travel in the morning and evening at a reduced fare (McDonald v. Brown (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 1119; 34 T. L. R. 358). And Hutchins v. L. C. C. (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 1177; 80 J. P. 193.

Byelaws (a).

Byelaws by local authority.

46. Subject to the provisions of the special Act authorising any tramway and this Act,

The local authority of any district in which the same is laid down may, from time to time, make regulations as to the following matters:

The rate of speed to be observed in travelling upon the tramway:

The distances at which carriages using the tramway shall be allowed to follow one after the other (b).

The stopping of carriages using the tramway (c):

The traffic on the road in which the tramway is laid (d).

Promoters may make certain regulations.

The promoters of any tramway and their lessees may from time to time make regulations,—

For preventing the commission of any nuisance in or upon any carriage, or in or against any premises belonging to them:

For regulating the travelling in or upon any carriage belonging to them (e).

And for better enforcing the observance of all or any of such regulations, it

Section 46. shall be lawful for such local authority and promoters respectively to make byelaws for all or any of the aforesaid purposes, and from time to time repeal or alter such byelaws, and make new byelaws, provided that such byelaws be not repugnant to the laws of that part of the United Kingdom where the same are to have effect (f).

Notice of the making of any byelaw under the provisions of this Act shall be published by the local authority or the promoters making the same, by advertisement, according to the regulations contained in Part II. of the Sched. C. to this Act annexed; and unless such notice is published in manner aforesaid such byelaw shall be disallowed by the Board of Trade.

No such byelaw shall have any force or effect which shall be disallowed by the Board of Trade (g) within two calendar months after a true copy of such byelaw shall have been laid before the Board; and a true copy of every such proposed byelaw shall, not less than two calendar months before such byelaw shall come into operation, be sent to the Board of Trade (g), and shall be delivered to the promoters of such tramway if the same was made by the local authority, and to such local authority if made by the promoters.

(a) The court will refuse an application for a mandamus to make byelaws where the applicant has no greater interest than an ordinary member of the public. So held by CHANNELL and JELF, JJ., in National Carriage, etc. Union v. Manchester Corporation (1902), Times, July 9th. But where petitioners appear in opposition to a bill before Parliament, and with the object of protecting their own interests procure the insertion in the Bill of a clause imposing a particular duty upon the promoters or other persons, they will have a sufficient interest in the performance of that duty to support an application by them for a mandamus to enforce it, notwithstanding that they are not named in the clause and that the duty is one imposed for the benefit of the public at large. So held by Lord ALVERSTONE, C.J., and PICKFORD, J. (AVORY, J., dubitante), in R. v. Manchester Corporation, [1911] 1 K. B. 560; 75 J. P. 73.

(c) A byelaw required that a steam tramway should be stopped in cases of impending danger:—Held, that there was evidence of impending danger to go to the jury in a case where a steam tram was coming down a steep incline towards a pony chaise, the pony being restive, and the driver holding up her whip as a signal to stop the car (Downing v. Birmingham and Midland Trams (1888), 5 T. L. R. 40). A local Tramway Act empowered the Board of Trade to make byelaws, providing that engines should be brought to a stand at cross streets, and a penalty was imposed on any person offending:—Held, that the company might be convicted of an offence against the byelaw (St. Helens Tramway Co. v. Wood (No. 2) (1891), 56 J. P. 71).

(d) The Board of Trade under a power given to them by a special Act, made a byelaw that "no steam shall be emitted from the engines so as to constitute any reasonable ground of complaint to passengers or to the public." H., a driver, was resting his engine, which was not in good repair, and he could not help emitting steam. One person complained:—Held, that H. was rightly convicted (Hartley v. Wilkinson (1885), 49 J. P. 726). Under a similar byelaw forbidding the emission of "smoke or steam," a conviction for emitting "smoke and steam" was upheld (Davis v. Loach (1886), 50 J. P. 212). Where a byelaw provided that no smoke or steam should be emitted from the engines so as to constitute any reasonable ground of complaint to the passengers or the public, and the penalty was the same whichever class of persons had ground of complaint, and a conviction stated that the defendant permitted smoke to escape contrary to the byelaw, without stating in terms any reasonable grounds of complaint to the passengers or the public, or either of them, it was held that the statement was insufficient, and the conviction must be quashed (Cotterill v. Lempriere (1890), 24 Q. B. D. 634; 54 J. P. 583). A tramway company were authorised to use steam engines on their line, and the Board of Trade were authorised to make regulations, and also to make byelaws for regulating the use of bells, whistles, and other warning apparatus fixed to the engine. The Board of Trade made a regulation that every engine should carry a bright lamp during certain hours. One day, a servant allowed the lamp to remain unlighted for some part of the journey:—Held, that the regulation was valid as a regulation and need not be included in the byelaws, and that the company were liable for the neglect of the servant in not keeping the lamp alight (St. Helens Tramway Co. v. Wood (No. 1) (1891), 60 L. J. M. C. 141; 56 J. P. 70). This case was followed in Heiton & Co. v. M'Sweeney, [1905] 2 I. R. 47, in which it was held that a byelaw requiring the owner of every vehicle to cause a light to be attached thereto when in use between certain hours in public streets is not unreasonable or void as making a master liable for the quasi-criminal act of a servant. Byelaws made under the Metropolitan Public Carriages Act, 1869, requiring vehicles on highways to carry lights between sunset and sunrise are applicable to tramcars (Adamson v. Miller (1900), 16 T. L. R. 185; 44 Sol. J. 278). And see note (a) to s. 85 of the L. G. A., 1888, p. 817, ante.

Note to Section 46.

(e) A byelaw requiring payment of a fare when demanded, though before completion of journey, is valid (Egginton v. Pearl (1876), 40 J. P. 56; 33 L. T. 428), and though it does not make an intent to defraud or to avoid payment an ingredient of the offence (Tuffley v. Tate (1907), 71 J. P. 21; 5 L. G. R. 448). As to amount of fares, see Edinburgh Street Tramways Co. v. Torbain (1877), 3 App. Cas. 58. A passenger who had paid for and obtained a ticket which entitled him to travel to a certain destination, having alighted at a stopping place short of that destination, and walked some distance and then got on another car travelling to his original destination, but who refused to pay the legal fare, claiming to go on under his original ticket, was held liable to be convicted under a byelaw requiring payment of the legal fare when demanded (Bastable v. Metcalfe, [1906] 2 K. B. 288: 70 J. P. 343). A byelaw that a passenger shall deliver up his ticket when required, or pay the fare for the distance travelled over, is a reasonable byelaw. A passenger travelling under such circumstances, who shows his ticket, but refuses to give it up on the ground that his journey has not terminated, is liable to the penalty prescribed by the byelaw (Heap v. Day (1886), 51 J. P. 213; 34 W. R. 627). So also is a passenger who has lost his ticket and refuses to pay the fare again (Hanks v. Bridgman, [1896] 1 Q. B. 253; 60 J. P. 312), or a passenger who refuses to show his ticket (Lowe v. Volp, [1896] 1 Q. B. 256; 60 J. P. 232; Hunt v. Green (1907), 71 J. P. 18; 96 L. T. 23). But a passenger who paid his fare but declined to accept a ticket because it bore an indorsement purporting to limit the liability of the local authority in cases of accident or injury to passengers, and allowed it to fall on the floor of the car, and when the ticket inspector asked him for it pointed it out, but refused to touch or pick it up or to pay his fare a second time was held not liable under a similar byelaw (Wilson v. Fearnley (1905), 69 J. P. 165; 92 L. T. 647). And see M'Intyre v. M'Pherson, [1913] S. C. (S.) 21. The secretary of a tram company was summoned for allowing an excessive number of passengers in a car. At the hearing, it was objected that the secretary was not the proper defendant, whereupon the justices substituted the name of the company, and convicted them:—Held, that the conviction was bad (Oxford Tramway Co. v. Sankey (1890), 54 J. P. 52; 6 T. L. R. 151). Where a byelaw forbade the company to allow more persons to be carried in a carriage than a specified number, it was held that a passenger who was incommoded by an excessive number of passengers was entitled to prosecute the conductor (Badcock v. Sankey (1890), 54 J. P. 564; 6 T. L. R. 170). As to the right of a corporation as tramway authority to rely by way of defence to an action for negligence, on the byelaws made by them for the regulation of their tramways, see Hughes v. Leeds Corporation (1902), Times, August 4th; 24 M. C. C. 387; see also Pickering v. Belfast Corporation, [1911] 2 I. R. 224. A local Act provided that no conductor should carry in or on the carriage a greater number of passengers than that specified in the licence. A licence was granted in respect of a carriage to carry 32, 16 inside and 16 outside:—Held, that a conductor was guilty of an offence by carrying 19 seated and 8 standing inside, and 5 on the footboard, making altogether 32 (Stokell v. Baldwin (1892), 8 T. L. R. 346). In the case of a tramway car having upper and lower compartments, and having the upper compartment covered in, the expression "inside" in s. 13 of the Railway Passenger Duty Act, 1842, and in s. 27 of the L. C. C. (Tramways, etc.) Act, 1913, which sections regulate the number of passengers to be carried "inside" a London tramway car, normally and on special occasions, refers only to the lower compartment (Phesse v. Fisher, [1915] 1 K. B. 572; 31 T. L. R. 65). As to the liability of the promoters for an accident occurring through overcrowding allowed by their servant contrary to their express orders, see Byrne v. Londonderry Tramway Co., [1902] 2 I. R. 457. A byelaw of a corporation provided that passengers "should depart from or get off a car by the hindermost or conductor's platform and not otherwise." It was held that the expression "hindermost or conductor's platform" must in each case be construed in relation to the particular passenger and the journey on which he was engaged, and meant the platform which was or would be the hindermost during the journey which the passenger in question had taken or was about to take (Monkman v. Stickney, [1913] 2 K. B. 377; 77 J. P. 368). And see Baker v. Ellison, ante, p. 2303.

(f) A byelaw that no person shall swear or use obscene or offensive language whilst in or upon any carriage was held not ultra vires, although s. 28 of the Town Police Clauses Act, 1847, was in force in the same city and also a local Act imposing a penalty on every person who should use any profane, indecent or obscene language to the annoyance of the inhabitants or passengers (Gentel v. Rapps, [1902] 1 K. B. 160; 66 J. P. 117).

The local authority of a borough may make a byelaw under this section for regulating the number of passengers to be carried in and upon tramcars, and the extent of accommodation to be afforded to them. The assent of the lessees of the line under s. 46 is not necessary to the validity of such byelaw (Smith v. Butler (1886), 16 Q. B. D. 349; 50 J. P. 260).

(g) Now the Minister of Transport. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2280.

Penalties may be imposed in byelaws.

47. Any such byelaw may impose reasonable penalties for offences against the same, not exceeding forty shillings for each offence, with or without further penalties for continuing offences, not exceeding for any continuing offence ten shillings for every day during which the offence continues (a); but all byelaws shall be so framed as to allow in every case part only of the maximum penalty being ordered to be paid.

(a) Penalties cannot be imposed in advance (R. v. Struvé (1895), 59 J. P. 484).

Power to local authority to license drivers, conductors, etc.

48. The local authority shall have the like power of making and enforcing rules and regulations, and of granting licences with respect to all carriages using the tramways, and to all drivers, conductors, and other persons having charge or of using the same, and to the standings for the same, as they are for the time being entitled to make, enforce, and grant with respect to hackney carriages (a), and the drivers and other persons having the charge thereof, and to the standings for the same in the streets and district of or under the control of the local authority: Provided always, that in any district in which any of the powers aforesaid in relation to hackney carriages and the matters aforesaid in connection therewith are vested in any authority other than the local authority of such district, such authority shall have and may exercise the powers by this section conferred upon the local authority.

(a) See s. 171 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 411; ss. 37 et seq. and 68 of the Town Police Clauses Act, 1847, ante, p. 2241, and 52 & 53 Vict. c. 14, post, p. 2524. As to the confirmation of these regulations, see 47 & 48 Vict. c. 12, ante, p. 762, which abrogates the effect of the case of Wallasey Tramway Co. v. Wallasey L. B. (1883), 47 J. P. 821.

The effect of the provisions in the text appear to be that a tramway car must be licensed as a hackney carriage (Blackpool and Fleetwood Tramroad v. Bailey, [1920] 1 K. B. 380).

For a case which arose on the construction of a byelaw prohibiting wilful obstruction of an officer, see Baker v. Ellison, [1914] 2 K. B. 762.

Offences.

Penalty for obstruction of promoters in laying out tramway.

49. If any person wilfully obstructs any person acting under the authority of any promoters in the lawful exercise of their powers in setting out or making, forming, laying down, repairing, or renewing a tramway, or defaces or destroys any mark made for the purposes of setting out the line of tramway, or damages or destroys any property of any promoters, lessees, or licensees, he shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

Penalties for wilful injury or obstruction to tramways, etc.

50. If any person, without lawful excuse (the proof whereof shall lie on him), wilfully does any of the following things; (namely,)

Interferes with, removes, or alters any part of a tramway or of the works connected therewith;

Places or throws any stones, dirt, wood, refuse, or other material on any part of a tramway;

Does or causes to be done anything in such manner as to obstruct any carriage using a tramway, or to endanger the lives of persons therein or thereon (a);

Or knowingly aids or assists in the doing of any such thing;

he shall for every such offence be liable (in addition to any proceedings by way of indictment or otherwise to which he may be subject) to a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

(a) This provision does not affect the right of the public to the use of the street so long as there is no wilful obstruction. The mere presence of a cart upon a tramway line, whereby a tramcar has to proceed for some distance at a walking pace, is not necessarily a wilful obstruction (Hall v. Linton (1879), 7 Ct. of Sess. Cas. (4th ser.).

Note to Section 50.

(J. C.) 2). As to the duty of the conductor and the responsibility of the company in case of a drunken man trying to force his way on to a tramcar in motion and thereby endangering his own life, see Delaney v. Dublin Tramways Co. (1892), 30 L. R. Ir. 725. See also as to what amounts to wilful obstruction of a tramcar, Hartley v. Chadwick (1904), 68 J. P, 512.

Penalty on passengers practising frauds on the promoters.

51. If any person travelling or having travelled in any carriage on any tramway avoids or attempts to avoid payment of his fare, or if any person having paid his fare for a certain distance knowingly and wilfully proceeds in any such carriage beyond such distance, and does not pay the additional fare for the additional distance, or attempts to avoid payment thereof, or if any person knowingly and wilfully refuses or neglects on arriving at the point to which he has paid his fare to quit such carriage, every such person shall, for every such offence, be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings (a).

(a) Proceedings under this section are of a criminal character, and, therefore, the company are liable to an action for malicious prosecution at the suit of a person against whom a summons under this section has been dismissed (Rayson v. South London Tramways Co., [1893] 2 Q. B. 304; 58 J. P. 20). In order to obtain a conviction under this section it is necessary to show that the person acted with a fraudulent intention (Nimmo v. Lanarkshire Tramways Co., [1912] S. C. (J.) 23).

Transient offenders.

52. It shall be lawful for any officer or servant of the promoters or lessees of any tramway, and all persons called by him to his assistance, to seize and detain any person discovered either in or after committing or attempting to commit any such offence as in the next preceding section is mentioned, and whose name and residence is unknown to such officer or servant until such person can be conveniently taken before a justice, or until he be otherwise discharged by due course of law (a).

(a) See Howitt v. Nottingham Tramways Co., ante, p. 2291. The plaintiff was a passenger in one of the defendants' tramcars, and tendered to the conductor in payment of a fare a half-sovereign, which the conductor supposed to be counterfeit, and he therefore gave the plaintiff in charge to the police:—Held, that as this section gave the conductor authority to detain a person attempting to defraud, the company were liable for his acts in an action for false imprisonment (Furlong v. South London Tramways Co. (1888), 1 C. & E. 316; 48 J. P. 329). See also Percy v. Glasgow Corporation, [1922] 2 A. C. 299; 86 J. P. 201. But where the conductor had printed instructions not to give passengers into custody under this section without the authority of an inspector or timekeeper except in cases of assault, but a conductor without such authority gave a passenger in charge for passing bad money it was held that the company were not liable (Charleston v. London Tramways Co. (1888), 36 W. R. 367; 4 T. L. R. 157; affirmed in C. A., 4 T. L. R. 629; 32 Sol. J. 557). As to the liability of the company for an assault by a conductor on a passenger delaying to pay his fare, see Smith v. North Metropolitan Tramways Co. (1891), 7 T. L. R. 459; 55 J. P. 630; and for an assault by a conductor acting under a misapprehension, Radley v. L. C. C. (1913), 109 L. T. 162; 29 T. L. R. 680. The remedy of the tramway authority is not limited to that given by the text. The authority may treat the offender as a trespasser and eject him. But if the conductor ejects a passenger wrongfully the authority are liable for his act (Whittaker v. L. C. C., [1915] 2 K. B. 677, approved in Hutchins v. L. C. C. (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 1177.)

Penalty for bringing dangerous goods on the tramway.

53. No person shall be entitled to carry or to require to be carried on any tramway any goods which may be of a dangerous nature: and if any person send by any tramway any such goods without distinctly marking their nature on the outside of the package containing the same, or otherwise giving notice in writing to the book-keeper or other servant with whom the same are left at the time of such sending, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds for every such offence; and it shall be lawful for such promoters or lessees to refuse to take any parcel that they may suspect to contain goods of a dangerous nature, or require the same to be opened to ascertain the fact (a).

(a) It seems that a person cannot be convicted of sending dangerous goods under this section unless guilty knowledge is proved (Hearne v. Garton (1859), 2 El. & El. 266; 28 L. J. M. C. 216). The undertakers are not liable in damages for injuries occasioned to passengers by dangerous goods brought into the car by another passenger, unless the plaintiff can prove that they were guilty of negligence in allowing such goods to be brought there (East Indian Rail. Co. v. Kalidas Mukerjee, [1901] A. C. 396).

Penalty for persons using tramways with carriages with flange wheels, etc.

54. If any person (except under a lease from or by agreement with the promoters, or under licence from the Board of Trade, as by this Act provided) uses a tramway or any part thereof with carriages having flange wheels or other wheels suitable only to run on the rail of such tramway, such person shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds (a).

(a) A contrivance whereby a small disc might be let down into the groove of the rail, and thus operate as a flange, was held to be within this section (Cottam v. Guest (1885), 6 Q. B. D. 70; 45 J. P. 95). See also Liverpool Tramways v. Liverpool Omnibus Co. (1870), W. N. 126; Manchester Corporation v. Andrews (1889), 5 T. L. R. 470.

Miscellaneous.

Promoters or lessees to be responsible for all damages.

55. The promoters or lessees, as the case may be, shall be answerable for all accidents, damages, and injuries happening through their act or default, or through the act or default of any person in their employment by reason or in consequence of any of their works or carriages, and shall save harmless all road and other authorities, companies, or bodies, collectively and individually, and their officers and servants, from all damages and costs in respect of such accidents, damages, and injuries (a).

(a) This section only applies to a wrongful act or default and does not make the promoters or lessees answerable for mere accident caused without negligence by their use of tramcars (Brocklehurst v. Manchester, Bury, Rochdale and Oldham Steam Tramways Co. (1887), 17 Q. B. D. 118; 51 J. P. 55; Breslin v. Dublin United Tramway Co. (1911), 45 Ir. L. T. 220). But it is otherwise if negligence be proved. See Sadler v. South Staffordshire, etc. Tramways Co., ante, p. 1345; Pickering v. Belfast Corporation, [1911] 2 I. R. 224. As to injury caused by the snapping of an overhead electric wire, see Neale v. East Ham Corporation (1905), Times, February 22nd. For a case where a nuisance was caused by the use of creosoted wood blocks, see West v. Bristol Tramways Co., [1908] 2 K. B. 15; 72 J. P. 243. As to what is sufficient evidence of negligence, see Leaver v. Pontypridd U. D. C. (1912), 76 J. P. 31; 56 Sol. J. 32. For a case in which a "trolley arm" fell and caused injury to a passenger, see Newberry v. Bristol Tramway and Carriage Co., Ltd. (1913), 29 T. L. R. 177; and a stay projecting from beneath the car and causing a plaintiff to fall, Gibb v. Edinburgh and District Tramway Co., Ltd., [1912] S. C. 580. A cab had stopped to take up a passenger in a steep and narrow street; one of its wheels rested upon a tramway rail. The driver of a tramway car proceeding down the incline saw the obstruction fifty yards away and whistled. He was going slowly, but he did not stop his car, because he expected up to the last moment that the cab would be drawn out of his way, and then, from the steepness and greasiness of the street, was unable to do so. The car caught the cab, and damaged both it and its horse. In an action for damages against the company, it was held that the driver was in fault in not stopping his car when he first saw the cab, and that the cabman was not guilty of any contributory negligence (McDermaid v. Edinburgh Street Tramways Co. (1884), 12 Ct. of Sess. Cas. (4th ser.) 15; and see Rattee v. Norwich Electric Tramway Co. (1902), 18 T. L. R. 562). The promoters are not liable for injuries arising from the acts of their servants outside the scope of their employment and in direct defiance of their orders. See Byrne v. Londonderry Tramway Co., [1902] 2 I. R. 457. A tramway company acting under Provisional Order and using the best known system of electrical traction were held not to be liable for electrical disturbance in the wires of a telephone company under licence from the Postmaster-General (National Telephone Co. v. Baker, [1893] 2 Ch. 186; 57 J. P. 373). As to the responsibility of an electric tram company for a leakage of electricity causing disturbance in adjacent telegraphic apparatus belonging to a private company, see Eastern and South African Telegraph Co. v. Capetown Tramways, [1902] A. C. 381. And see Postmaster-General v. Blackpool and Fleetwood Tramroad Co., and Postmaster-General v. Liverpool Corporation, ante, p. 2293. A tramway company have no right to clear their lines after a snowstorm by scattering salt so as to render the road dangerous for other traffic (Ogston v. Aberdeen Tramways Co., [1897] A. C. 111; 61 J. P. 436). But they may use the water system of cleaning the rails from dirt so long as they do not cause a nuisance thereby (Middlesbrough Corporation v. Imperial Tramways Co. (1901), Times, May 11th). A tramway was held to be a railroad, and therefore an engineering work within the meaning of the now repealed Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (Fletcher v. London United Tramways Co., [1902] 2 K. B. 269 ; 66 J. P. 596). Where a local authority acquire and work a tramway under statutory powers, negligence on the part of their servants in driving the tramcars is a neglect or default in the execution of a public duty or authority within the meaning of s. 1 (a) of the Public Authorities Protection Act, 1893, and consequently an action against the local authority in respect of such negligence must be commenced within six months after the occurrence of the negligence (Parker v. London C. C., [1904] 2 K. B. 501: 68 J. P. 239). And see Clarke v. West Ham Corporation, the facts of which are set out at p. 2303, ante; Martin v. Dublin United Tramways Co., Ltd., [1909] 2 I. R. 13; Cass v. Edinburgh and District Tramways Co., post, p. 2311. On the subject of the extent of the liability imposed by this section reference may be made to McSherry v. Glasgow Corporation, [1917] S. C. 156 (contributory negligence by riding on step); Taylor v. Dumbarton Tramways Co., [1918] S. C. 96 (contributory negligence of children allowed to play round car); Craig v. Glasgow Corporation, 35 T. L. R. 214 (evidence of negligence); Tynam v. Dublin United Tramways Co., [1919] 2 I. R. 445 (joint negligence): Ross v. Glasgow Corporation, [1919] S. C. 174 (remoteness of damage); Watt v. Glasgow Corporation, [1919] S. C. 300 (negligence of conductors); Buchanan v. Glasgow Corporation, [1921] S. C. 658 (passenger riding on platform); Milliken v. Glasgow Corporation, [1918] S. C. 857 (negligence of driver of overtaken vehicle).

Recovery of tolls, penalties, etc.
11 & 12 Vict. c. 43, etc.

56. All tolls, penalties, and charges under this Act, or under any byelaw made in pursuance of this Act, may be recovered and enforced as follows: in England before two justices of the peace in manner directed by the Summary Jurisdiction (England) Acts . . . (a).

(a) The remainder of this section relates only to Scotland. As to restraining proceedings against a company in liquidation, see Re Briton Medical, etc. Association, ante, p. 2299.

The principle of Gardner v. L. C. & D. Rail. Co. (1867), L. R. 2 Ch. 201, does not prevent the levying by distress of penalties imposed on a tramway company for non-repair of their rails (Pegge v. Neath District Tramways Co., [1895] 2 Ch. 508). An appeal from this decision was compromised, [1896] 1 Ch. 684.

Right of user only

57. Notwithstanding anything in this Act contained the promoters of any tramway shall not acquire or be deemed to acquire any right other than that of user of any road along or across which they lay any tramway . . . (a).

(a) The remainder of this section (as to turnpike roads) and the whole of the following section (as to arrangements between turnpike trustees and the promoters) were repealed as obsolete by S. L. R. A., 1893 (No. 2).

* * * * * *

Reservation of rights of owners, etc. of mines.

59. Nothing in this Act shall limit or interfere with the rights of any owner, lessee, or occupier of any mines or minerals lying under or adjacent to any road along or across which any tramway shall be laid to work such mines and minerals; nor shall any such owner, lessee or occupier be liable to make good or pay compensation for any damage which may be occasioned to such tramway by the working in the usual and ordinary course of their mines or minerals.

Reserving powers of street authorities to widen, etc. roads.

60. Nothing in this Act shall take away or affect any power which any road authority, or the owners, commissioners, undertakers, or lessees of any railway, tramway, or inland navigation, may have by law to widen, alter, divert, or improve any road, railway, tramway, or inland navigation (a).

(a) See Bristol Trams and Carriage Co. v. Bristol Corporation, ante, p. 2295.

Power for local or police authorities to regulate traffic in roads.

61. Nothing in this Act shall limit the powers of the local authority or police in any district to regulate the passage of any traffic along or across any road along or across which any tramways are laid down, and such authority or police may exercise their authority as well on as off the tramway, and with respect as well to the traffic of the promoters or of lessees as to the traffic of other persons.

Reservation of rights of public to use roads.

62. Nothing in this Act or in any byelaw made under this Act shall take away or abridge the right of the public to pass along or across every or any part of any road along or across which any tramway is laid, whether on or off the tramway, with carriages not having flange wheels or wheels suitable only to run on the rail of the tramway (a).

(a) This section reserves to the public the right of using every part of the road including the rail so long as they do not use wheels with flanges, or wheels suitable only to the rails (Manchester Corporation v. Andrews (1889), 5 T. L. R. 470).

Regulating inquiries before referee appointed by the Board of Trade.

63. Every inquiry which by this Act the Board of Trade (a) are empowered to make or direct shall be made in accordance with the following provisions:

1. The inquiry shall be held in public before an officer to be appointed in that behalf by the Board hereinafter called the referee, and whose appointment shall be by writing, which shall specify all the matters referred to him:
2. Ten days notice at the least shall be given by the referee to the parties upon whose representation the Board of Trade (a) shall have directed the inquiry, of the time and place at which the inquiry is to be commenced:
3. The inquiry shall be commenced at the time and place so appointed, and the referee may adjourn the inquiry from time to time as may be necessary to such time and place as he may think fit:
4. The referee by summons shall, on the application of any party interested in the inquiry, require the attendance before himself, at a place and time to be mentioned in the summons, of any person to be examined as a witness before him, and every person summoned shall attend the referee, and answer all questions touching the matter to be inquired into, and any person who wilfully disobeys any such summons or refuses to answer any question put to him by such referee for the purposes of the said inquiry shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds: Provided always, that no person shall be required to attend in obedience to any such summons unless the reasonable charges of his attendance shall have been paid or tendered to him, and no person shall be required in any case in obedience to any such summons to travel more than ten miles from his place of abode:
5. The referee may and shall administer an oath, or an affirmation where an affirmation in lieu of an oath would be admitted in a court of justice, to any person tendered or summoned as a witness on the inquiry:
6. Any person who upon oath or affirmation wilfully gives false evidence before the referee shall be deemed guilty of perjury:
7. The referee shall make his report to the Board of Trade (a) in writing, and shall deliver copies of the report upon request to all or any of the parties to the inquiry.

(a) Now the Minister of Transport. See note (a) to s. 1, p. 2280, ante.

Rules for carrying Act into effect.

64. The Board of Trade (a) may from time to time make, and, when made, may rescind, annul, or add to, rules with respect to the following matters (b):

1. The proceedings to be had before the Board under this Act:
2. The payment of money or lodgment of securities by way of deposits, the repayment and forfeiture of the same, the investment of the same, the amount and payment of interest or dividends from time to time accruing due on such deposits:
3. The plans and sections of any works to be deposited by promoters under this Act:
4. As to any other matter or thing in respect of which it may be expedient to make rules for the purpose of carrying this Act into execution.

Any rules made in pursuance of this section shall be deemed to be within the powers conferred by this Act, and shall be of the same force as if enacted in this Act, and shall be judicially noticed.

Section 64.

Any rules made in pursuance of this section shall be laid before Parliament within three weeks after they are made, if Parliament be then sitting, and if Parliament be not then sitting, within three weeks after the beginning of the then next session of Parliament.

(a) Now the Minister of Transport. See note (a) to s. 1, p. 2280, ante.

(b) Rules have been made under this section, those now in force being dated January, 1892 (see App. II., post, p. 3900). As to the construction of such rules, see In re Bradford Tramways Co.; In re Lowestoft, Yarmouth and Southwold Tramways Co.; In re Tynemouth Borough Tramways Co.; In re Colchester Tramways Co., ante, pp. 2283, 2284; Cass v. Edinburgh and District Tramways Co., Ltd., [1909] S. C. 1068.

[Sect. 4.]

PART III.

Approval of Application by Local Authority for a Provisional Order.

The approval of any intended application for a Provisional Order by a local authority shall be in the manner following; that is to say,

A resolution approving of the intention to make such application shall be passed at a special meeting of the members constituting such local authority.

Such special meeting shall not be held unless a month's previous notice of the same, and of the purpose thereof, has been given in manner in which notices of meetings of such local authority are usually given.

Such resolution shall not be passed unless two thirds of the members constituting such local authority are present and vote at such special meeting and a majority of those present and voting concur in the resolution . . . Where any such resolution relating to the metropolis as the same is defined in Part I. of this Schedule . . . has been passed in manner aforesaid, the intended application to which such resolution relates shall be deemed to be approved (a).

(a) Words relating to Scotland only are here omitted.

SCHEDULE B.

PROVISIONAL ORDERS.

[Sect. 6.]

PART I.

Advertisement in October or November of intended Application.

(1) Every advertisement is to contain the following particulars:

1. The objects of the intended application.
2. A general description of the nature of the proposed works, if any.
3. The names of the townlands, parishes, townships, and extra-parochial places in which the proposed works, if any, will be made.
4. The times and places at which the deposit under Part II. of this Schedule will be made.
5. An office, either in London or at the place to which the intended application relates, at which printed copies of the draft Provisional Order, when deposited, and of the Provisional Order, when made, will be obtainable as hereinafter provided.

(2) The whole notice is to be included in one advertisement, which is to be headed with a short title descriptive of the undertaking.

Schedule B.

(3) The advertisement is to be inserted once at least in each of two successive weeks in some one and the same newspaper published in the district affected by the proposed undertaking, where the proposed works (if any) will be made; or if there be no such newspaper, then in some one and the same newspaper published in the county in which every such district, or some part thereof, is situate; or if there be none, then in some one and the same newspaper published in some adjoining or neighbouring county.

(4) The advertisement is also, in every case, to be inserted once at least in the London . . . Gazette, accordingly as the district is situate in England . . . (a).

(a) Words relating to Scotland only are here omitted.

PART II.

[Sect. 6.]

Deposit on or before 30th November.

(1) The promoters are to deposit—

1. A copy of the advertisement published by them:
2. A proper plan and section of the proposed works, if any, such plan and section to be prepared according to such regulations as may from time to time be made by the Board of Trade (a) in that behalf.

(2) The documents aforesaid are to be deposited for public inspection—

In England, in the office of the clerk of the peace for every county, riding, or division, and of the parish clerk of every parish and the office of the local authority of every district in or through which any such undertaking is proposed to be made . . . (b).

(3) The documents aforesaid are also to be deposited at the office of the Board of Trade (a).

(a) Now the Minister of Transport. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2280.
(b) Words relating to Scotland only are here omitted.

PART III.

[Sect. 6.]

Deposit on or before 23rd December.

(1) The promoters are to deposit at the office of the Board of Trade (a)—

1. A memorial signed by the promoters, headed with a short title descriptive of the undertaking (corresponding with that at the head of the advertisement), addressed to the Board of Trade (a), and praying for a Provisional Order.
2. A printed draft of the Provisional Order as proposed by the promoters, with any Schedule referred to therein.
3. An estimate of the expense of the proposed works, if any, signed by the persons making the same.

(2) They are also to deposit a sufficient number of such printed copies at the office named in that behalf in the advertisement; such copies to be there furnished to all persons applying for them at the price of not more than one shilling each.

(3) The memorial of the promoters (to be written on foolscap paper, bookwise, with quarter margin) is to be in the following form, with such variations as circumstances require:

[Short Title of Undertaking.]

To the Board of Trade (a),

The memorial of the promoters of [short title of undertaking]:

Showeth as follows:

1. Your memorialists have published, in accordance with the requirements of the Tramways Act, 1870, the following advertisement:

[Here advertisement to be set out verbatim.]

2. Your memorialists have also deposited, in accordance with the requirements of the said Act, copies of the said advertisement and [here state deposit of the several matters required by Act].

Your memorialists, therefore, pray that a Provisional Order may be made in the terms of the draft proposed by your memorialists, or in such other terms as may seem meet.

A. B.,
C. D.,
Promoters.

(a) Now the Minister of Transport. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2280.

Schedule B.

[Sect. 13.]

PART IV.

Deposit and Advertisement of Provisional Order when made.

(1) The promoters are to deposit printed copies of the Provisional Order, when settled and made, for public inspection in the offices of clerks of the peace (a) . . . where the documents required to be deposited by them under Part II. of this Schedule were deposited.

(2) They are also to deposit a sufficient number of such printed copies at the office named in that behalf in the advertisement, such copies to be there furnished to all persons applying for them at the price of not more than each.

(3) They are also to publish the Provisional Order as an advertisement once in the local newspaper in which the original advertisement of the intended application was published, or in case the same shall no longer be published, in some other newspaper published in the district.

(a) Words relating to Scotland only are here omitted.

SCHEDULE C.

[Sect. 19.]

PART I.

Notice and Deposit of Lease by Local Authority.

One month before any lease is submitted to the Board of Trade (a), notice of the intention to make such lease shall be given by advertisement.

(1) Every advertisement is to contain—

1. The term of the lease.
2. The rent reserved.
3. A general description of the covenants and conditions contained therein.
4. The place where the same is deposited for public inspection.

(2) The advertisement is to be inserted once at least in each of two successive weeks in some one and the same newspaper published in the district affected by the proposed lease; or if there be no such newspaper, then in some one and the same newspaper published in the county in which such district, or some part thereof, is situate; or if there be none, then in some one and the same newspaper published in some adjoining or neighbouring county.

(3) The advertisement is also, in every case, to be inserted once at least in the London . . . Gazette, accordingly as the district to which it relates is situate in England . . . (b).

Deposit.

A copy of such lease shall be deposited for public inspection during office hours at the office of the local authority or at some other convenient place within the district to which such lease relates.

(a) Now the Minister of Transport. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2280.
(b) Words relating to Scotland only are here omitted.

[Sect. 46.]

PART II.

Notice of Byelaws.

Within one month after the making of any byelaw notice of the making of the same, and a copy of such byelaw, shall be published by advertisement in manner following:

(1) The advertisement is to be inserted once at least in each of two successive weeks in some one and the same newspaper published in the district affected by such byelaws; or if there be no such newspaper, then in some one and the same newspaper published in the county in which such district, or some part thereof, is situate; or if there be none, then in some one and the same newspaper published in some adjoining or neighbouring county.

(2) The advertisement is also, in every case, to be inserted once at least in the London . . . Gazette, accordingly as the district to which it relates is situate in England . . . (a).

(a) Words relating to Scotland only are here omitted.

THE FAIRS ACT, 1871.

(34 & 35 VICT. c. 12)(a).

An Act to further amend the law relating to Fairs in England and Wales. [25th May, 1871.]

1. This Act may be cited as "The Fairs Act, 1871." Short title.

2. In this Act the term "owner" means any person or persons, or body of commissioners, or body corporate, entitled to hold any fair, whether in respect of the ownership of any lands or tenements, or under any charter, letters patent, or Act of Parliament, or otherwise howsoever. Interpretation.

3. In case it shall appear to the Secretary of State for the Home Department, upon representation duly made to him by the magistrates of any petty sessional district (a), within which any fair is held, or by the owner of any fair in England or Wales, that it would be for the convenience and advantage of the public that any such fair should be abolished, it shall be lawful for the said Secretary of State for the Home Department, with the previous consent in writing of the owner for the time being of such fair, or of the tolls or dues payable in respect thereof, to order that such fair shall be abolished accordingly: Provided always, that notice of such representation, and of the time when it shall please the Secretary of State for the Home Department to take the same into consideration, shall be published once in the London Gazette, and in three successive weeks in some one and the same newspaper published in the county, city, or borough in which such fair is held, or if there be no newspaper published therein, then in the newspaper of some county adjoining or near thereto, before such representation is so considered. Order for abolition of air.

4. When and so soon as any such order as aforesaid shall have been made by the Secretary of State for the Home Department, notice of the same shall be published in the London Gazette, and in some one newspaper of the county, city, or borough in which such fair is usually held, or if there be no newspaper published therein, then in the newspaper of some county adjoining or near thereto, and thereupon such fair shall be abolished. Publication of order.

(a) This representation will now come from the district council.

THE GASWORKS CLAUSES ACT, 1871.

(34 & 35 VICT. c. 41)(a).

An Act to amend the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847. [13th July, 1871.]

1. The Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, and this Act, shall be construed together as one Act, and the provisions of this Act shall be held to repeal and supersede such of the provisions of that Act as are inconsistent with this Act. Construction. 10 & 11 Vict. c. 15.

2. This Act may be cited as "The Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871." Short title.

(a) See 10 & 11 Vict. c. 15, ante, p. 2164, and note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2165. The preamble to this Act is repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1893 (No. 2).

Section 3.

Application of Act.

33 & 34 Vict. c. 70.

3. The provisions of this Act shall apply to every gas undertaking authorised by any special Act hereafter passed, or by any Provisional Order (a) made under the authority of the Gas and Water Facilities Act, 1870, save where the said provisions are expressly varied or excepted by any such special Act or Provisional Order; and every such special Act and Provisional Order is in this Act included in the term "the special Act" (b).

(a) Under the Gas Regulation Act, 1920, post, p. 2807, special orders may be made in lieu of provisional orders.

(b) The effect of ss. 1, 3 is that this Act is incorporated with special Acts passed before 1871 which incorporate the Act of 1847 (Commercial Gas Co. v. Scott (1876), L. R. 10 Q. B. 400; 40 J. P. 214; Dudley Gaslight Co. v. Warmington (1881), 50 L. J. M. C. 69; 45 J. P. 649; South Metropolitan Gas Co. v. Noakes (1889), 61 L. T. 556; 5 T. L. R. 448). See also Leamington Priors Gas Co. v. Davis, cited in the note to s. 35, post, p. 2323.

Interpretation. 10 & 11 Vict. c. 15. 33 & 34 Vict. c. 70.

4. Terms used in this Act have the same meanings respectively as the same terms have when used in the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, and in the Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870.

The term "prescribed" in this Act shall mean prescribed by the special Act:

The term "premises" in this Act shall include house and building:

And the expression "superior courts" or "court of competent jurisdiction" in this Act or in any Act wholly or partially incorporated herewith, shall be read and have effect as if the debt or demand in respect of which the expression is used were an ordinary simple contract debt and not a debt or demand created by statute.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

Prohibition against erecting gasworks elsewhere than on lands specified in special Acts.

5. The undertakers shall not manufacture gas, or any residual products, (a) except upon lands described in the special Act, and they shall not store gas, except upon those lands, without the previous consent in writing of the owner, lessee, and occupier of every dwelling-house situate within three hundred yards of the limits of the site where such gas is intended to be stored.

(a) As to the right of a gas company to manufacture residuals, see Deuchar v. Gas Light and Coke Co., [1925] A. C. 691; 89 J. P. 177.

Sale of superfluous lands.

8 & 9 Vict. c. 18.

6. The undertakers may sell and dispose of any lands which are vested in them, or which they are authorised to purchase, or which they may hereafter acquire, and which shall not be required for the purposes of the undertaking, and the provisions of the Lands Clauses Consoldidation Act, 1845, ss. 128 to 132 (both sections inclusive), shall apply to any such sale (a); and the undertakers may also from time to time sell and dispose of any works, buildings, or erections on any lands belonging to them which shall not be required for the purposes of the undertaking.

(a) See the sections, ante, pp. 2133–2135.

Receipts of guardians, etc. to be sufficient discharge.

7. If any money be payable to a shareholder in a gas undertaking, being a minor, idiot, or lunatic, the receipt of his or her respective guardian or committee shall be a sufficient discharge to the undertakers for the same.

For appointment of receiver.

8. The mortgagees of the undertakers may enforce payment of arrears of interest or principal, or principal and interest, due on their mortgages, in England . . . by the appointment of a receiver . . .; and in order to authorise the appointment of a receiver . . . in respect of principal, or principal and interest, the amount owing to the mortgagees by whom the application for a receiver is made shall not be less than in the whole one thousand pounds, or such sum as shall be specified in the special Act (a). Section 8.

(a) Words relating to Scotland and Ireland only are omitted from this section.

9. Nothing in this or the special Act shall exonerate the undertakers from any indictment, action, or other proceeding for nuisance in the event of any nuisance being caused by them (a). Undertakers not exempted from indictment.

(a) See 10 & 11 Vict. c. 15, s. 29, and note thereto, ante, p. 2173. See also Giblin v. District Committee of Lanarkshire C. C., [1927] S. L. T. 563 (nuisance from defective mains).

10. Persons empowered by the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, to sell and convey or release lands, may, if they think fit, subject to the provisions of that Act, and of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts Amendment Act, 1860, grant to the undertakers any easement, right, or privilege, not being an easement of water, required for the purposes of the special Act, in, over, or affecting any such lands; and the provisions of the last-mentioned Acts with respect to lands and rent-charges, as far as the same are applicable in this behalf, shall extend and apply to such grants, or to such easement, rights, or privileges as aforesaid (a). Power to take easements, etc. by agreement. 23 & 24 Vict. c. 106.

(a) See 8 & 9 Vict. c. 18, s. 7, ante, p. 2091, and notes thereto.

SUPPLY OF GAS TO OWNERS AND OCCUPIERS OF PREMISES.

11. The undertakers shall (a), upon being required so to do by the owner or occupier of any premises situate within twenty-five yards from any main of the undertakers, or such other distance as may be prescribed (b), give and continue to give a supply of gas for such premises, under such pressure in the main as may be prescribed, and they shall furnish and lay any pipe that may be necessary for such purpose, subject to the conditions following; (that is to say), Undertakers to furnish sufficient supply of gas to owners and occupiers within the limits of the special Act.

The cost of so much of any pipe for the supply of gas to any owner or occupier as may be laid upon the property of such owner or in the possession of such occupier, and of so much of any such pipe as may be laid for a greater distance than thirty feet from any pipe of the undertakers, although not on such property, shall be defrayed by such owner or occupier.

Every owner or occupier of premises requiring a supply of gas shall—

Serve a notice upon the undertakers at their office, specifying the premises in respect of which such supply is required, and the day (not being an earlier day than a reasonable time (c) after the date of the service of such notice) upon which such supply is required to commence;

Enter into a written contract with the undertakers (if required by them so to do) to continue to receive and pay for a supply of gas for a period of at least two years, of such an amount that the rent payable for the same shall not be less than twenty pounds per centum per annum on the outlay incurred by the undertakers in providing any pipe to be provided by them for the purpose of such supply; and

Give to the undertakers (if required by them so to do) security (d) for the payment to them of all monies which may become due to them by such owner or occupier in respect of any pipe to be furnished by the undertakers and in respect of gas to be supplied by them.

Provided always, that the undertakers may, after they have given a supply of gas for any premises, by notice in writing, require the owner or occupier of such premises, within seven days after the date of the service of such notice, to give to them security for the payment of all moneys which

Section 11. may from time to time become due to them in respect of such supply, in case such owner or occupier has not already given such security, or in case any security given has become invalid, or is insufficient, and in case any such owner or occupier fails to comply with the terms of such notice, the undertakers may, if they please, discontinue to supply gas for such premises so long as such failure continues (e).

(a) The Board of Trade have power under s. 29 of 45 & 46 Vict. c. 56, post, p. 2453, to relieve gas undertakers from their obligation to supply gas in cases where there is a sufficient supply of electric light and the supply of gas has consequently ceased to be remunerative.

(b) Upon the true construction of s. 6 of the Metropolis Gas Act, 1860, a gas company is prohibited from furnishing to a customer a supply of gas for the purpose of consumption by him within a district assigned to another company, notwithstanding that the part of the customer's property through which the supply passes is within the district assigned to the company desirous of furnishing the supply (Gas Light and Coke Co. v. South Metropolitan Gas Co. (1889), 62 L. J. Ch. 123; 54 J P. 373). And see Att.-Gen. v. West Gloucestershire Water Co., ante, p. 2165. As to furnishing supplies to premises outside the limits of supply, see the Gas Undertakings Act, 1929, s. 5, post, p. 3026.

(e) If the owner of premises be adjudicated a bankrupt, the official receiver is not entitled to call on the company to continue the supply of gas, and where he has paid arrears of gas rates under protest in order to avoid the cutting off of the supply, the trustee in bankruptcy cannot recover back the arrears so paid from the gas company (Ex parte Mason, In re Smith, [1893] 1 Q. B. 323; 57 J. P. 72). Receivers and managers on behalf of debenture holders, whether appointed under a deed or by the court, are not on entering into possession entitled to demand a supply of gas without paying the arrears of gas rent due from the company that issued the debentures (Paterson v. Gas Light and Coke Co., [1896] 2 Ch. 476; 60 J. P. 532). And see Husey v. Gas Light and Coke Co. (1902), 18 T. L. R. 299.

Quality of gas.

12. (a) The quality of the gas supplied by the undertakers shall, with respect to its illuminating power, be such as to produce at the testing place provided in conformity with this Act a light equal in intensity to that produced by the prescribed number of sperm candles of six in the pound, and such gas shall as to its purity not exhibit any trace of sulphuretted hydrogen when tested in accordance with the rules prescribed in that behalf in Part II. of the Schedule A. to this Act annexed.

(a) See hereon the provisions of the Gas Regulation Act, 1920, post, p. 2807.

Undertakers may require consumers to use meters.

22 & 23 Vict. c. 66.

13. Every consumer of gas supplied by the undertakers shall, if required to do so by them, consume such gas by a meter duly stamped under the authority of the Sale of Gas Act, 1859, and being a legal meter within the meaning of the said Act, or by a meter supplied or approved by the undertakers: Provided always, that where the provisions of the said Act are in force no meter shall be used unless the same shall be a legal meter within the meaning of the said Act, and that elsewhere the undertakers shall not refuse to approve of any meter which when duly tested according to the rules contained in the said Act for regulating measures used in sales of gas is found to be correct within the meaning of the said Act.

Undertakers to supply meters.

14. The undertakers shall supply to any owner or occupier of premises within the limits of the special Act requiring the same a meter for registering gas supplied by them: Provided always, that such owner or occupier shall, if required, previous to receiving such meter, give to the undertakers security for payment to them of the price of such meter if he desires to purchase the same, or of the rent of such meter if he desires to hire the same (a).

(a) This section imposes upon undertakers an obligation to affix meters (Clayton v. Pontypridd U. D. C. (1918), 82 J. P. 246).

Section 15.

Meters not to be connected or disconnected without notice.

15. No consumer shall connect any meter with any pipe through which gas is supplied by the undertakers to such meter, or disconnect any meter from any such pipe, unless he shall have given to the undertakers not less than twenty-four hours notice in writing of his intention so to do, and if any person acts in contravention of this section he shall be liable for each offence to a penalty not exceeding forty shilling (a).

(a) As to the recovery of this penalty, see s. 44, post, p. 2325. The giving of notice under this section does not affect the liability of a person to be convicted of an offence against s. 18 of the Act of 1847 (10 & 11 Vict. c. 15), ante, p. 2170, for substituting a larger pipe to increase the supply of gas (Morrison Wood & Co v. West Ham Gas Co. (1885), 49 J. P. 662; 52 L. T. 817). Where a gas company cut off the supply of gas, and the owner of the meter proceeded to remove it, it was held that he was a consumer within this section, and damages were awarded for injuries caused by an explosion consequent on the disconnected pipe, which was still charged from the main, being broken in the removal of the meter (Paterson v. Blackburn Corporation (1893), 9 T. L. R. 55).

Nature and amount of security.

16. Where any owner or occupier is required by the special Act to give security to the undertakers, such security may be by way of deposit or otherwise, and of such amount as he and the undertakers agree on, or as, in default of agreement, may be determined, on the application of either party, by two justices, who may also order by which of the parties the costs of the proceedings before them shall be paid, and the decision of the justices shall be final and binding on all parties.

Consumer to keep his meter in proper order.

17. Every consumer of gas supplied by the undertakers shall at all times, at his own expense, keep all meters belonging to him whereby any gas of the undertakers is registered in proper order for correctly registering such gas, and in default of his so doing the undertakers may cease to supply gas through such meter. The undertakers shall have access to and be at liberty to take off, remove, test, inspect, and replace any such meter at all reasonable times, such taking off, removal, testing, inspecting, and replacing to be done at the expense of the undertakers if the meter be found in proper order, but otherwise at the expense of the consumer (a).

(a) Where gas is supplied by a penny-in-the-slot meter, and the customer is not negligent in the custody of the meter, he is not liable to pay over again for gas supplied should the pennies be abstracted from the meter by robbery (Edmundson v. Longton Corporation (1902), 19 T. L. R. 15). See also the cases collected in Michael and Will on Gas and Water, 6th ed., at p. 233.

Power to undertakers to let meters.

18. The undertakers may let for hire any meter for ascertaining the quantity of gas consumed or supplied, and any fittings thereto, for such remuneration in money, and on such terms with respect to the repair of such meter and fittings, and for securing the safety and return to the undertakers of such meter, as may be agreed upon between the hirer and the undertakers, and such remuneration shall be recoverable in the same manner as the rents or sums due to the undertakers for gas (a), and such meters and fittings shall not be subject to distress, or to the landlord's remedy for rent of the premises where the same may be used, nor to be taken in execution under any process of a court of law or equity, or any proceedings in bankruptcy against the persons in whose possession the same may be.

(a) See s. 23, post, p. 2320; see also ss. 39, 41, post, pp. 2324, 2325.

Undertakers to keep meter let for hire in repair.

19. The undertakers shall at all times, at their own expense, keep all meters let for hire by them to any consumer in proper order for correctly registering gas, and in default of their so doing the consumer shall not be liable to pay rent for the same during such time as such default continues. The undertakers shall, for the purposes aforesaid, have access to and be at liberty to remove, test, inspect, and replace any such meter at all reasonable times.

Section 20.

Register of gas meters to be primâ facie evidence.

20. The register of the meter shall be primâ facie evidence of the quantity of gas consumed, and in respect of which any rent is charged and sought to be recovered by the undertakers: Provided always, that if the undertakers and the consumer differ as to the quantity consumed, such difference may be determined, upon the application of either party, by two justices, who may also order by which of the parties the costs of the proceedings before them shall be paid, and the decision of the justices shall be final and binding on all parties (a).

Power to enter buildings for ascertaining quantities of gas consumed.

21. Any officer appointed by the undertakers may at all reasonable times enter any building or land lighted with gas supplied by the undertakers in order to inspect the meters, fittings, and works for the supply of gas, and for the purpose of ascertaining the quantity of gas consumed or supplied; and if any person hinder such officer as aforesaid from entering and making such inspection as aforesaid at any reasonable time, he shall for every such offence forfeit to the undertakers a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Power to remove meter and fittings.

22. In all cases in which a consumer of gas supplied by the undertakers ceases to require a supply of such gas, and in all cases in which the undertakers are authorised to take away and cut off the supply of gas from any premises, it shall be lawful for the undertakers, their agents, or workmen, after twenty-four hours notice in writing, under the hand of the secretary or other properly authorised officer of the undertakers, to the occupier, or if unoccupied, then to the owner or lessee, or to the agent or the owner or lessee, of any premises in which any pipes, meters, fittings, or apparatus belonging to the undertakers are laid or fixed, and through or in which the supply of gas is from any such cause discontinued, to enter such premises between the hours of nine in the morning and four in the evening, for the purpose of removing and to remove such pipes, meters, fittings, or apparatus, repairing all damage caused by such entry or removal.

Recovery of charges for gas.

23. In case any person who shall have been supplied with gas by the undertakers shall neglect or refuse to pay the amount due in respect of such supply, any justice may issue his summons to such person, requiring him to appear at a time and place named therein, and then and there to show cause why the sum so demanded should not be paid; and if on the appearance of such person, or in default of appearance after proof of the service of the summons, either personally or at the last known place of abode or of business of such person, no sufficient cause can be shown to the contrary, any justice may issue his warrant of distress for the seizure and sale of the goods and chattels of such person, for the recovery of the amount which may be proved before such justice to be due from such person, together with such costs, including the cost of cutting off the gas, if the same shall have been cut off by the undertakers, as to such justice shall seem just and reasonable (a).

(a) It seems to be doubtful whether the sum due will now be recoverable as a civil debt under the S. J. A., 1879, ss. 6, 35, 47. See 52 J. P. 316. As to the effect of liquidation or bankruptcy on the right to distrain, see Ex parte Hill, In re Roberts (1877), 6 Ch. D. 63, and Ex parte Harrison, In re Peake, post, p. 2325.

SUPPLY OF GAS TO LOCAL AUTHORITIES.

Supply and price of gas to public lamps.

24. The undertakers shall supply gas to any public lamps within the distance of fifty yards from any of the mains of the undertakers in such quantities as the local authority of each district or the trustees of any turnpike road or any highway board within the limits of the special Act may from time to time require to be supplied, and the price to be charged by the undertakers and to be paid to them for all gas so supplied shall be settled by agreement between the local authorities and the undertakers, and in case of difference by arbitration, regard being had to the circumstances of the case and the prices charged to private consumers in the district (a).

(a) See, however, s. 29 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, post, p. 2453, under which the Board of Trade have power in certain cases to relieve gas undertakers from obligations to supply gas. In a case which turned upon the construction of a special Act a company were held entitled to the full price for gas supplied to public lamps though by reason of exceptional frosts they had been unable to afford the full supply (In re Richmond Gas Co. and the Richmond Corporation, [1893] 1 Q. B. 56; 56 J. P. 776). A Bill promoted by a gas company to raise the price of gas to private consumers does not affect the rights, privileges or duties of the local authority, being a large consumer for public lighting in the district, so as to enable the local authority to pay the costs of opposing the Bill out of public funds under their control, either under the Borough Funds Act, 1872, or independently of it (Att.-Gen. v. Swansea Corporation, [1898] 1 Ch. 602; 62 J. P. 408). The undertakers have no right to lay a connection pipe to a public lamp through private property (Bellamy v. Liverpool United Gas Light Co. (1904), 68 J. P. 540; 2 L. G. R. 1182). Where an agreement for the supply of gas for public lighting was indefinite in point of time and contained no provision for determination by either party, it was held on the construction of the agreement that it might be determined by notice (Crediton Gas Co. v. Crediton U. D. C., [1928] Ch. 447; 92 J. P. 76).

As to consumption of gas supplied to the public lamps.

25. The gas supplied to the public lamps within the limits of the special Act shall be consumed by meter, at the option either of the local authority of the district or the undertakers, and in case of its being consumed by meter the meter shall be provided and fixed by the undertakers, and be paid for by the party requiring it.

If the gas is supplied to the public lamps in any district by average meter indication, the undertakers shall, for securing uniformity of consumption between metered and unmetered lamps, from time to time provide the public lamps in such district with proper self-acting pressure regulators and burners to the satisfaction of the local authority of such district; and the average amount of the indications of all the metres attached to the public lamps within such district under the control of the local authority shall, except as hereinafter mentioned, be deemed to be the amount consumed by each such lamp in such district.

Governors for street lamps.

26. In case gas is supplied to the public lamps in any district by the undertakers, they or the local authority of such district may, at their own expense, cause to be affixed to each lamp the instrument known as a street lamp governor, and the undertakers or such local authority (as the case requires) shall be entitled to have access thereto for the purpose of examining the same.

Settlement of differences by arbitration.

27. Any difference which may arise between the undertakers and any local authority in relation to the supply or consumption of gas to or by such local authority shall be from time to time settled by arbitration in manner provided by the Companies Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, with respect to the settlement of disputes by arbitration.

8 & 9 Vict. c. 16.

TESTING OF GAS (a).

Testing place.

28. The undertakers shall cause to be provided, at the place prescribed and within the prescribed time, a testing place, with apparatus therein, for the purposes following, or such of them as may be prescribed by the special Act, that is to say,—

1. For testing the illuminating power of the gas supplied:
2. For testing the presence of sulphuretted hydrogen in the gas supplied.

Section 28.

The said apparatus shall be in accordance with the regulations (b) prescribed in Part I. of the Sched. A. to this Act annexed, or according to such rules as may from time to time be substituted in lieu thereof by any special Act, and shall be so situated and arranged as to be used for the purpose of testing the illuminating power and purity of the gas supplied by the undertakers, and the undertakers shall at all times thereafter keep and maintain such testing place and apparatus in good repair and working order.

(a) See, hereon, s. 5 (3) and s. 19 of the Gas Regulation Act, 1920, post, pp. 2811, 2817.

(b) As to subsequent improvements in such apparatus, see Brentford Gas Co. v. Chiswick U. D. C. (1908), 72 J. P. 378; 6 L. G. R. 725.

Appointment and powers of gas examiners.

29. The local authority of any district within the limits of the special Act, where the gas is not supplied by such local authority, may after the passing of the special Act from time to time appoint, or may appoint and keep appointed, a competent and impartial person to be a gas examiner to test the gas at the testing place provided in conformity with the provisions of this Act; and such gas examiner may there test the illuminating power and purity of the gas supplied by the undertakers, on any or every day between the hours of five o'clock and ten o'clock in the afternoon from the first day of October to the thirty-first day of March, both inclusive, and on any or every day between the hours of eight o'clock and eleven o'clock in the afternoon from the first day of April to the thirtieth day of September, both inclusive (a).

(a) The provisions of this section have been superseded by s. 4 (3) and s. 19 of the Gas Regulation Act, 1920, post, pp. 2810, 2817. It was held under the superseded section that testing might be carried on on Sundays (London C. C. v. South Metropolitan Gas Co., [1904] 1 Ch. 76; 68 J. P. 5), and that an action would lie at the instance of the local authority to enforce the right of the gas examiners to test accordingly (ibid.). See now s. 5 of the Gas Regulation Act, 1920, post, p. 2811.

The L. G. B. informed a rural district council that it did not appear to them that the council had any power under the section to appoint a gas examiner to test the gas supplied in the parishes forming the rural district. They were of opinion that the parish councils in the district within the limits of the gas company were the local authority for the purposes of the Act.

Two justices may appoint gas examiners.

30. Where no such gas examiner is appointed, or where the testing of the gas is imperfectly attended to by the local authority, two justices, on the application of consumers of the gas of the undertakers, not being less than five, by order in writing may appoint some competent and impartial person to be gas examiner, and such person may at any time within the hours aforesaid, on producing the said order, enter on the premises of the undertakers, and there test the illuminating power and purity of the gas supplied by them (a).

(a) The provisions of this section have been superseded by s. 4 (4) and s. 19 of the Gas Regulation Act, 1920, post, pp. 2810, 2817.

Representation of undertakers.

31. The undertakers may, if they think fit, on each occasion of the testing of the gas by the gas examiner, be represented by some officer, but such officer shall not interfere in the testing.

Mode of testing.

32. (a) Any tests taken in pursuance of this Act shall be taken in accordance with the rules prescribed in Part II. of the Sched. A. to this Act annexed.

(a) See hereon s. 5 of the Gas Regulation Act, 1920, post, p. 2811.

Report of gas examiner.

33. The gas examiner shall, on the day immediately following that on which the testing of the illuminating power or purity of the gas has been conducted, make and deliver a report of the results of his testing to the local authority or justices by whom he was appointed, and to the undertakers, and such report shall be receivable in evidence.

Access to testing place.

34. The undertakers shall give to the gas examiner and to his assistants, and to every local authority within the limits of the special Act, and their agents, access to the testing place, and shall afford all facilities for the proper execution of this Act; and in case the undertakers make default in complying with any of the provisions of this section they shall for every such default be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds to the local authority or to the persons making the application (a).

(a) See hereon s. 5 (3) and s. 19 of the Gas Regulation Act, 1920, post, pp. 2811, 2817.

ACCOUNTS.

Accounts, etc.

35. The undertakers shall fill up and forward to the local authority of every district within the limits of the special Act, on or before the twenty-fifth day of March in each year, an annual statement of accounts, made up to the thirty-first day of December then next preceding, as near as may be in the form and containing the particulars specified in the Schedule B. to this Act annexed.

The undertakers shall keep copies of such annual statement at their office, and sell the same to any applicant at a price not exceeding one shilling for each such copy.

The Board of Trade, with the consent of the undertakers, may alter the aid forms for the purpose of adapting them to the circumstances of the undertaking, or of better carrying into effect the objects of this section.

In case the undertakers make default in complying with the provisions of this section they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for each day during which such default continues (a).

(a) This section is now superseded by s. 15 of the Gas Regulation Act, 1920, post, p. 2816. A local Act which incorporated the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, except so far as it might be varied by the special Act, prescribed by s. 32 a special form in accordance with which the annual accounts of the company were to be made up, in lieu of the provisions contained in s. 38 of the Act of 1847. By s. 49 of the Act of 1847 undertakers are not to be exempted from any general Act relating to gasworks which may be passed in any future session. The appellants made out their annual statement of accounts in the form prescribed by s. 32 of their special Act, and did not furnish to the respondent, on application, a copy of an annual statement in the form prescribed by the text:—Held, distinguishing Dudley Gaslight Co. v. Warmington, ante, p. 2316, that as the appellants' special Act prescribed the form in which the annual statement of accounts was to be made up, the provisions in the text relating to the form of accounts did not apply (Leamington Priors Gas Co. v. Davis (1887), 18 Q. B. D. 107; 51 J. P. 360).

PENALTIES.

Penalty for failure to supply gas.

36. Whenever the undertakers neglect or refuse to give a supply of gas to any owner or occupier of premises within the limits of the special Act entitled to the same, under such pressure as is prescribed, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for each day during which such default continues (a).

Whenever the undertakers neglect or refuse to supply gas as by this Act required to all or any of the public lamps in accordance with the provisions of this Act, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for each default (b).

If it shall be proved to the satisfaction of any two justices, not being shareholders in the undertaking, after hearing the parties, that on any day the gas supplied by the undertakers is under less pressure, of less illuminating power, or of less purity than it ought to be according to the provisions of this or the special Act, the undertakers shall in every such case forfeit and pay to the local authority or other persons making application for testing the gas such sum not exceeding twenty pounds as the justices shall determine.

Penalties not cumulative.

Penalties imposed on the undertakers for one and the same offence by several Acts of Parliament shall not be cumulative, and for such purpose the special Act and the Acts incorporated therewith shall be deemed several Acts.

(a) A company who improperly cut off a supply of gas are liable under this section (Commercial Gas Co. v. Scott (1876), L. R. 10 Q. B. 400; 40 J. P. 214). The remedy under this section or by indictment are the only remedies for the supply of insufficient or impure gas. No action will lie against the undertakers (Clegg, Parkinson & Co. v. Earby Gas Co., [1896] 1 Q. B. 592). Judgment in the High Court on a case stated by justices on an information under this section is a judgment in a criminal cause or matter, and no appeal lies to the Court of Appeal (Southport Corporation v. Birkdale U. D. C. (1897), 76 L. T. 318; 18 Cox, C. C. 537).

(b) As to the liability of the company when the supply to public lamps has been prevented by exceptional frosts, see In re Richmond Gas Co. and Richmond Corporation, ante, p. 2321. In view of s. 7 of the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, ante, p. 2167, the undertakers are not liable to penalties under this section for neglect or refusal to supply gas to a lamp in a private passage where the owner objects to their laying the pipe (Bellamy v. Liverpool United Gas Co. (1904), 68 J. P. 540; 2 L. G. R. 1182).

Cost of experiment to be paid according to event.

37. Where the gas examiner is appointed by the justices as aforesaid, the costs of and attending such experiment, including the remuneration to be paid to the person making the same, and the costs of the proceedings before the justices, shall be ascertained by such justices, and in the event of any penalty being imposed on the undertakers shall be paid, together with such penalty, by the undertakers, but in the event of no penalty being imposed the costs shall be in the discretion of the justices (a).

(a) See as to appointment of gas examiners, s. 4 (4) of the Gas Regulation Act, 1920, post, p. 2810.

Penalty for injuring meters.

38. Every person who wilfully, fraudulently, or by culpable negligence injures or suffers to be injured any pipes, meter, or fittings belonging to the undertakers, or alters the index to any meter, or prevents any meter from duly registering the quantity of gas supplied, or fraudulently abstracts, consumes, or uses gas of the undertakers, shall (without prejudice to any other right or remedy for the protection of the undertakers or the punishment of the offender) for every such offence forfeit and pay to the undertakers a sum not exceeding five pounds, and the undertakers may in addition thereto recover the amount of any damage by them sustained; and in any case in which any person has wilfully or fraudulently injured or suffered to beinjured any pipes, meter, or fittings belonging to the undertakers, or altered the index to any meter, or prevented any meter from duly registering the quantity of gas supplied, the undertakers may also, until the matter complained of has been remedied, but no longer, discontinue the supply of gas to the person so offending (notwithstanding any contract previously existing); and the existence of artificial means for causing such alteration or prevention, or for abstracting, consuming, or using gas of undertakers, when such meter is under the custody or control of the consumer, shall be primâ facie evidence that such alteration, prevention, abstraction, or consumption, as the case may be, has been fraudulently, knowingly, and wilfully caused by the consumer using such meter.

RECOVERY OF GAS RENTS.

Incoming tenants not liable to pay arrears of gas rents, etc.

39. In case any consumer of gas supplied by the undertakers leaves the premises where such gas has been supplied to him without paying the gas rent or meter rent due from him, the undertakers shall not be entitled to require from the next tenant of such premises the payment of the arrears left unpaid by the former tenant, unless such incoming tenant has undertaken with the former tenant to pay or exonerate him from the payment of such arrears (a). Section 39.

(a) See Gaslight and Coke Co. v. Meade (1876), 45 L. J. M. C. 71; 40 J. P. 662; Cannon Brewery Co. v. Gaslight and Coke Co., [1904] A. C. 331; 68 J. P. 461; Ex parte Mason, In re Smith, and Paterson v. Gas Light and Coke Co., ante, p. 2318.

40. If any person supplied with gas or with any gas meter or fittings by the undertakers neglect to pay to the undertakers the rent due for such gas or the rent (a) or money due to the undertakers for the hire or fixing of such meter, or any expenses lawfully incurred by the undertakers in cutting off the gas from the premises of such person, the undertakers may recover the sum so due in like manner as a penalty under this Act. Recovery of rents, etc.

(a) This is not a rent within the meaning of the Bankruptcy Act, 1869, s. 34. See Ex parte Harrison, In re Peake (1883), 13 Q. B. D. 753.

41. Whenever any person neglects to pay any rent or sum due and payable by him to the undertakers, the undertakers may recover the same with full costs of suit, in any court of competent jurisdiction, and the remedy of the undertakers under this enactment shall be in addition to their other remedies for the recovery of such rent or sum. Recovery of sums due to undertakers.

LEGAL PROCEEDINGS.

42. Any summons or warrant issued for any of the purposes of this Act may contain, in the body thereof or in a schedule thereto, several names and several sums. Contents of summons or warrant.

43. Any justice who issues a warrant of distress in pursuance of the provisions of this Act may order that the costs of the proceedings for the recovery of the money to be levied shall be paid by the person liable to pay such money, and such costs shall be ascertained by the justice, and shall be included in the warrant of distress for the recovery of such money. Warrant of distress shall include costs.

44. All offences and penalties under this Act, and all money forfeited, and all money and costs by this Act directed to be recovered as penalties, may be prosecuted and recovered in manner directed by the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, with respect to the recovery of penalties (a). Summary proceedings. 10 & 11 Vict. c. 15.

(a) See 10 & 11 Vict. c. 15, s. 40, ante, p. 2176, incorporating 8 & 9 Vict. c. 20, ss. 140 et seq., ante, p. 2139.

45. Every notice which the undertakers are by this Act required to serve upon any person shall be served by being delivered to the person for whom it is intended, or by being left at his usual or last known place of abode, or sent by post addressed to such persons, or if such person or his address be not known to the undertakers, and cannot after due inquiry be found or ascertained, then by being affixed for three days to some conspicuous part of the premises to which such notice relates. Service of notices by undertakers.

46. No justice or judge or any county court or quarter sessions shall be disqualified from acting in the execution of this Act by reason of his being liable to the payment of any gas rent or other charge under this Act. Liability to gas rent not to disqualify justices from acting.

SCHEDULES.

SCHEDULE A.

[Sect. 28.]

PART I.

Regulations in respect of Testing Apparatus.

1. The apparatus for testing the illuminating power of the gas shall consist of the improved form of Bunsen's photometer, known as Letheby's open 60-inch photometer, or Evans' inclosed 100-inch photometer, together with a proper meter, minute clock, governor, pressure gauge, and balance.

The burner to be used for testing the gas shall be such as shall be prescribed.

The candles used for testing the gas shall be sperm candles of six to the pound, and two candles shall be used together.

2. The apparatus—

(a) For testing the presence in the gas of sulphuretted hydrogen.—A glass vessel containing a strip of bibulous paper moistened with a solution of acetate of lead, containing sixty grains of crystallized acetate of lead dissolved in one fluid ounce of water.

[Sects. 12, 32.]

PART II.

Rules as to mode of Testing Gas.

I.—Mode of Testing for Illuminating Power.

The gas in the photometer is to be lighted at least fifteen minutes before the testings begin, and it is to be kept continuously burning from the beginning to the end of the tests.

Each testing shall include ten observations of the photometer made at intervals of a minute.

The consumption of the gas is to be carefully adjusted to five cubic feet per hour.

The candles are to be lighted at least ten minutes before beginning each testing, so as to arrive at their normal rate of burning, which is shown when the wick is slightly bent and the tip glowing. The standard rate of consumption for the candles shall be 120 grains each per hour. Before and after making each set of ten observations of the photometer the gas examiner shall weigh the candles, and if the combustion shall have been more or less per candle than 120 grains per hour, he shall make and record the calculations requisite to neutralise the effects of this difference.

The average of each set of ten observations is to be taken as representing the illuminating power of that testing.

II.—Mode of Testing.

(a) For sulphuretted hydrogen.—The gas shall be passed through the glass vessel containing the strip of bibulous paper moistened with the solution of acetate of lead for a period of three minutes, or such longer period as may be prescribed; and if any discoloration of the test paper is found to have taken place, this is to be held conclusive as to the presence of sulphuretted hydrogen in the gas.

SCHEDULE B (a).

(a) This Schedule is omitted because of the provision of s. 15 of the Gas Regulation Act, 1920, post, p. 2816.

THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT BOARD ACT, 1871.

(34 & 35 VICT. c. 70) (a).

An Act for constituting a Local Government Board, and vesting therein certain functions of the Secretary of State and Privy Council concerning the Public Health and Local Government, together with the powers and duties of the Poor Law Board. [14th August, 1871.]

PRELIMINARY.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Local Government Board Act, 1871." Short title.

(a) See 21 & 22 Vict. c. 97, ante, p. 2254.

ESTABLISHMENT OF LOCAL GOVERNMENT BOARD (a).

2. A Board shall be established, to be called the Local Government Board, and all powers and duties vested in or imposed on the Poor Law Board by the several Acts of Parliament relating to the relief of the poor and any other Acts, or vested in or imposed on one of her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State, by the enactments in that behalf mentioned in the first part of the Schedule annexed hereto, so far as such powers and duties relate to England (b), or vested in or imposed on her Majesty's most honourable Privy Council by the enactments in that behalf specified in the second part of the said Schedule, shall be transferred to and imposed on the said Local Government Board, and except as otherwise provided by this Act, shall be exercised and performed by such Board in like manner and form, and subject to the same conditions, liabilities, and incidents respectively as such powers and duties might before the passing of this Act have been exercised and performed by the authorities in whom the same were then vested respectively, or as near thereto as circumstances admit. Establishment of Local Government Board.

(a) A Minister of Health was created by the Ministry of Health Act, 1919, and by s. 3 (1) of that Act and an Order in Council made thereunder, which came into operation on 1st July, 1919, all the powers and duties of the L. G. B. were transferred to the Ministry of Health. Many other powers and duties theretofore vested in or imposed on other Government departments were by the same Act and Orders in Council made thereunder transferred to the Minister. See the Act and the Orders in Council, post, p. 2751.

(b) See the additional powers transferred to the Board by 35 & 36 Vict. c. 79, ss. 34—36, and preserved by 38 & 39 Vict. c. 55, Sched. V., Part III., ante, p. 704.

3. [Constitution of Local Government Board] (a).

(a) These sections were repealed by s. 11 (2) and the Second Schedule to the Ministry of Health Act, 1919, post, pp. 2755, 2756.

4. [President and one of the secretaries may sit in Parliament] (a).

(a) See note (a) to s. 3, supra.

5. [Seal, style, and acts of Board] (a).

(a) See note (a) to s. 3, supra.

6. [Distribution of business] (a).

(a) See note (a) to s. 3, supra.

7. In the construction of and for the purposes of any Act of Parliament, contract, or other document passed, entered into, or made before the establishment of the Local Government Board, but so far only as may be necessary for exercising the powers and discharging the duties by this Act transferred to and imposed on the Local Government Board, the name of such Board shall, according to circumstances, be deemed to be substituted for the Poor Construction of Acts and documents and power of Local Government Board.

Section 7. Law Board, one of her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State (a), or her Majesty's most honourable Privy Council, as the case may require; and any Act or thing which might, if this Act had not passed, have been done by the Poor Law Board, or by one of her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State, or by her Majesty's most honourable Privy Council, so far as relates to the powers and duties hereby transferred, may be done by the Local Government Board.

(a) See further, 35 & 36 Vict. c. 79, s. 34, re-enacted, ante, p. 704, whereby the consent of the L. G. B. was substituted for that of other departments in the cases there stated.

Duplicate returns to be sent to Local Government Board.

8. Where under an Act, whether passed before or after the passing of this Act, any return relative to any rate, toll, tax, or due raised in England (other than such as is raised for the public revenue of the United Kingdom) is required to be sent to one of her Majesty's Secretaries of State or any other department of the Government, a duplicate of such return shall in like manner be sent to the Local Government Board, and any person failing to send the same shall be subject to the like penalties as a person neglecting to send any return under the Local Taxation Returns Act, 1860 (a).

23 & 24 Vict. c. 51.

(a) See the Local Taxation Returns Act, 1860, ante, p. 2257, and 1877, post, p. 2400; also the District Auditors Act, 1879, s. 3, post, p. 2405. By reason of the provisions of the Ministry of Health Act, 1919, these returns must now be sent to the Ministry of Health.

SCHEDULE REFERRED TO IN THE FOREGOING ACT (a).

Sect. 2.

PART I.

Powers and Duties of Secretary of State.

Subject.	Act.
Registration of Births, Deaths, and Marriages	6 & 7 Will. 4, c. 86. 7 Will. 4 & 1 Vict. c. 22.
Baths and Washhouses	9 & 10 Vict. c. 74. 10 & 11 Vict. c. 61.
Public Improvement	23 & 24 Vict. c. 30.
Towns Improvement	10 & 11 Vict. c. 34.
Returns. Local Taxation	23 & 24 Vict. c. 51. And any Acts amending the said Acts, and conferring powers on the said Secretary of State.

(a) Several of the Acts originally contained in this Schedule are consolidated in the P. H. A., 1875, and have been entirely repealed and are, therefore, here omitted; the others are printed in this Appendix in so far as they concern local authorities.

PART II.

Powers and Duties of Privy Council.

Subject.	Act.
Vaccination	30 & 31 Vict. c. 84. And any Acts amending the said Acts, and conferring powers on the said Privy Council.

THE STEAM WHISTLES ACT, 1872.

(35 & 36 VICT. c. 61.)

An Act to Regulate the Use of Steam Whistles in certain Manufactories (a).
[6th August, 1872.]

1. The Act shall not apply to Scotland. Extent.

(a) The short title to this Act is as enacted by the Short Titles Act, 1896. The clause of enactment to this Act was repealed by the S. L. R. (No. 2) A., 1893.

2. No person shall use or employ in any manufactory, or any other place, any steam whistle (a) or steam trumpet for the purpose of summoning or dismissing workmen or persons employed without the sanction of the sanitary authority, and every person offending against this section shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, and to a further penalty not exceeding forty shillings for every day during which such offence continues: Provided always, that the sanitary authority, in case they have sanctioned the use of any such instrument as aforesaid, may at any time revoke such sanction on giving one month's notice to the person using the same: Provided also, that it shall be lawful for the Local Government Board (b), on representation made to them by any person that he is prejudicially affected (c) by such sanction, to revoke the same, and such revocation shall have the same force and effect as if it had been made by the sanitary authority. Use of steam whistles and trumpets.

(a) L. formerly used a whistle directly connected with an engine boiler, but disconnected it, and used thereafter a gas engine to compress air and store it in a reservoir in his factory, and the same pipe connected therewith produced the same noise:—Held, that this was a "steam whistle," and required the consent of the sanitary authority pursuant to the above section (Herbert v. Leigh Mills Co. (1889), 53 J. P. 679; 5 T. L. R. 449).

(b) Now the M. of H. See Ministry of Health Act, 1919, post, p. 2751.

(c) Probably the sanitary authority would be guided by general and public considerations only in granting and revoking licences. The appeal to the M. of H. may, however, be of a personal character, and may be on the ground of annoyance, though this would doubtless have to be shown to be serious in order to succeed. The M. of H., it is believed, are guided by an opinion expressed by the Law Officers of the Crown as to the precise meaning to be attached to the words "prejudicially affected."

3. "Sanitary authority" means the authority at the time being empowered to execute the Nuisance Removal Acts, as defined and extended by the Sanitary Act, 1866 (a). Definition. 29 & 30 Vict. c. 90.

(a) Now the P. H. A., 1875. See s. 313 of that Act, ante, p. 655.

4. All offences and penalties under this Act may be prosecuted and recovered in England in manner directed by the Summary Jurisdiction (England) Acts . . . Legal procedure. 11 & 12 Vict. c. 43, etc.

THE METALLIFEROUS MINES REGULATION ACT, 1872.

(35 & 36 VICT. c. 77.)

An Act to Consolidate and Amend the Law relating to Metalliferous Mines (a).
[10th August, 1872.]

* * * * * *

13. Where any mine to which this Act applies (b) is abandoned or the working thereof discontinued, at whatever time such abandonment or discontinuance occurred (c), the owner thereof, and every other person interested in the minerals of the mine (d), shall cause the top of the shaft Fencing of abandoned mine.

Section 13.

and any side entrance from the surface to be and to be kept securely fenced for the prevention of accidents (e).

Provided that—

(1) Subject to any contract to the contrary, the owner of the mine shall, as between him and any other person interested in the minerals of the mine, be liable to carry into effect this section, and to pay any costs incurred by any other person interested in the minerals of the mine in carrying this section into effect:

(2) Where such abandonment or discontinuance has occurred in the case of a mine before the passing of this Act, this section shall apply only to such shaft or side entrance of the mine as is situate within fifty yards of any highway, road, footpath, or place of public resort, or in open or unenclosed land, or not being situate as aforesaid, is required by an inspector in writing to be fenced, on the ground that it is specially dangerous:

(3) Nothing in this section shall exempt any person from any liability under any other Act, or otherwise.

If any person fail to act in conformity with this section he shall be guilty of an offence against this Act (f).

Any shaft or side entrance which is not fenced as required by this section, and is within fifty yards of any highway, road, footpath, or place of public resort, or is in open or unenclosed land, or is required by an inspector as aforesaid to be fenced, shall be deemed to be a nuisance within the meaning of section eight of the Nuisances Removal Act for England, 1855, as amended and extended by the Sanitary Act, 1866 (g).

18 & 19 Vict. c. 121.
29 & 30 Vict. c. 90.

(a) The preamble and clause of enactment of this Act have been repealed by the S. L. R. (No. 2) A., 1893.

The Coal Mines Regulation Act, 1872, referred to in the preamble, is now represented by the Coal Mines Act, 1911, which contains (see s. 26, p. 2711, post) a provision on the same point. See also the Quarry Fencing Act, 1887, post, p. 2488.

(b) By s. 3 (construed in accordance with s. 83 of the Coal Mines Regulation Act, 1887, and s. 38 (1) of the Interpretation Act, 1889), this Act applies to every mine of whatever description other than a mine to which the Coal Mines Act, 1911, applies: as to which see s. 1 of that Act, post, p. 2710. By s. 39, if any question arises whether a mine is one to which this Act or that Act applies, such question shall be referred to a Secretary of State, whose decision thereon shall be final. See Sims v. Evans (1875), 23 W. R. 730.

(c) This applies to mines abandoned before this Act (Stott v. Dickinson (1876), 34 L. T. 291). Notice must be given to the inspector of mines when a shaft is abandoned or working thereof discontinued (s. 12).

(d) By s. 41, the term "owner," when used in relation to any mine, means any person or body corporate who is the immediate proprietor, or lessee, or occupier of any mine, or of any part thereof, and does not include a person or body corporate who merely receives a royalty rent or fine from a mine, or is merely the proprietor of a mine subject to any lease, grant, or licence for the working thereof, or is merely the owner of the soil and not interested in the minerals of the mines. Where a mine was abandoned the owner, who had let it on lease for a term of years subject to a rent or royalties, was held to be a person interested in the minerals within this section, though the lease was still in force and undetermined (Evans v. Mostyn (1877), 2 C. P. D. 547; 41 J. P. 775). Where a person had a lease of a mine from the Duchy of Cornwall on the terms that he was to pay as rent all he might receive in respect of the mine, and 5*s*. yearly in addition, it was held that he was not the owner nor interested within this section (Arkwright v. Evans (1880), 49 L. J. M. C. 82). Where a lease had expired, the lessee was held not liable, though by his covenant he had agreed to fence abandoned shafts (Stott v. Dickinson, supra). Harbour trustees having a licence to take flints and chalk from a quarry at a certain price, were held not to be owners nor interested in the minerals so as to be obliged to fence it (Foster v. Newhaven Harbour Trustees (1897), 61 J. P. 629; 13 T. L. R. 292). But a lord of the manor entitled to dues of lot, cope, and the third meer under the Derbyshire Mining Act, 1852, was held interested in the minerals and bound to fence (Devonshire (Duke) v. Stokes (1897), 61 J. P. 406; 76 L. T. 424). So also was the owner of the soil of an abandoned lead mine being owner of the calc-spar and calk (barytes) it contained (Stokes v. Arkwright (1897), 66 L. J. Q. B. 845; 61 J. P. 775).

Note to Section 13.

A local authority in whom is vested by statute a public well formed by an accumulation of water in the disused shaft of a mine, is not liable under this section to keep the shaft fenced for the prevention of accidents (Knuckey v. Redruth R. D. C., [1904] 1 K. B. 382; 68 J. P. 172).

(e) A wall round an enclosure ten acres in extent, in which there is a side entrance to a mine, is not a sufficient fence round the side entrance within the meaning of this section (Foster v. Owen (1893), 62 L. J. M. C. 7; 57 J. P. 87).

(f) As to penalties, see s. 31. By s. 35, "No prosecution shall be instituted against the owner or agent of a mine to which this Act applies for any offence under this Act which can be prosecuted before a court of summary jurisdiction, except by an inspector or with the consent in writing of a Secretary of State." But where the inspector has determined on a prosecution, the information may be laid in his name by an agent employed by him (Foster v. Fyfe, [1896] 2 Q. B. 104; 60 J. P. 423).

(g) See now the P. H. A., 1875, ss. 91, 313, pp. 174, 655, ante, and cf. notes to Quarry Fencing Act, 1887, post, p. 2488.

THE BOROUGH FUNDS ACT, 1872.

(35 & 36 VICT. c. 91) (a).

An Act to authorise the application of Funds of Municipal Corporations and other Governing Bodies in certain cases. [10th August, 1872.]

Interpretation of terms.

1. The term "governing body" in this Act shall mean the council of any municipal borough, the board of health, local board, commissioners, trustees, or other body acting under any general or local Act of Parliament for the management, improvement, cleansing, paving, lighting, and otherwise governing places or districts, and the term "district" shall mean the borough, place, township, or district within which the governing body may for the time being have jurisdiction (b): Provided, however, that in the borough of Cambridge, in any matters affecting the constitution, power, or functions of the Board of Cambridge Improvement Commissioners, as defined in the several Acts of Parliament relating thereto, the term "governing body" shall mean such board of improvement commissioners, and not the council of the borough of Cambridge (c).

(a) By the Short Titles Act, 1896, this Act, sometimes called Leeman's Act, may be cited as the Borough Funds Act, 1872, without prejudice to any other mode of citation. It has been amended by the Borough Funds Act, 1903, post, p. 2658, which has in turn been amended by s. 3 of the L. G. (County Boroughs and Adjustments) Act, 1926, ante, p. 1794. The preamble and clause of enactment of this Act were repealed by the S. L. R. (No. 2) A., 1893. The preamble recited 20 & 21 Vict. c. 50, and 5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 76, s. 92, both repealed by 45 & 46 Vict. c. 50. Also it referred to the powers of improving, cleansing, paving, etc. conferred on boards of health under 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, and 21 & 22 Vict. c. 98, repealed by the P. H. A., 1875, s. 343, ante, p. 641; but see s. 313 of that Act, ante, p. 655.

(b) This definition was formerly considered not to include rural district councils, but by s. 55 of the L. G. A., 1929, ante, p. 1919, the Borough Funds Acts (with the exception of s. 1, etc. of the 1903 Act as to meetings and polls of electors) are expressly applied to such councils, and the definition of "governing body" in this section is to include a rural district council.

An outbreak of fever having occurred in the defendants' district, the L. G. B. required the defendants to provide a proper water supply. The defendants applied for a Provisional Order, but as they proposed to interfere with certain water rights, the L. G. B. pointed out that, having regard to s. 327 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 660, the procedure must be by Bill, and the defendants thereupon introduced a Bill, which was opposed and eventually thrown out. The plaintiff had acted as the defendants' solicitor, and he claimed payment of the costs in connection with the Bill from the defendants. It was argued that the provisions of the Act applied to a rural sanitary authority, and that the defendants had not complied with these provisions. The court gave no decision on this point, but held that, although the defendants were bound to provide a proper supply of water, they had no duty to apply to Parliament for statutory powers, and consequently that the costs could not be recovered from the defendants (Cleverton v. St. Germans R. S. A. (1886), 56 L. J. Q. B. 83; 3 T. L. R. 43).

Note to Section 1.

(c) The Cambridge Improvement Commissioners were abolished and their powers, etc. transferred to the corporation of the borough by the L. G. B.'s Provisional Orders Confirmation (No. 15) Act, 1889.

Costs of promoting or opposing Parliamentary and other proceedings for benefit of inhabitants to be charged on borough and local funds, except in certain cases.

2. When in the judgment of a governing body (a) in any district it is expedient for such governing body to promote or oppose any local and personal (b) Bill or Bills in Parliament, or to prosecute or defend any legal proceedings (c) necessary for the promotion or protection of the interests of the inhabitants of the district, it shall be lawful for such governing body to apply the borough fund, borough rate, or other the public funds or rates under the control of such governing body to the payment of the costs and expenses attending the same; and when there are several funds or rates under the control of the governing body, such governing body shall determine out of which fund or funds, rate or rates, such expense shall be payable, and in what proportions: Provided that nothing in this Act contained shall authorise any governing body to promote any Bill in Parliament for the establishment of any gas or water works to compete with any existing gas or water company established under any Act of Parliament (d): Provided that no powers contained in this clause shall apply in any case where the promotion of or opposition to a Bill by a governing body has been decided by a committee of either House of Parliament to be unreasonable or vexatious.

(a) See the definition in s. 1, ante, p. 2331, and notes thereto.

In Att.-Gen. v. Lambeth Vestry (1888), 4 T. L. R. 257, NORTH, J., restrained the defendants from promoting a Bill at the expense of the rates on the ground that they were a statutory body, and could not apply the rates for purposes outside those for which they were constituted. And in Att.-Gen. v. Camberwell Vestry (1895), 71 L. T. 478, NORTH, J., restrained the defendants from contributing out of the rates to the costs of legal proceedings for obtaining a declaration that a water company were not entitled to charge for supply to fixed baths.

As to opposing Bills to confirm Provisional Orders under the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1888, s. 24, see the Railway and Canal Traffic (Provisional Orders) Amendment Act, 1891, and s. 7 (2) of the Borough Funds Act, 1903, post, pp. 2528, 2660.

This Act applies, with modifications, to county councils. See the L. G. A., 1888, s. 15, and the County Councils (Bills in Parliament) Act, 1903.

Where a county surveyor attends the House of Commons by direction of and on behalf of his county council to give assistance as an expert witness in opposing a Bill before Parliament, such attendance is not within his ordinary duties and he is entitled to a special fee therefor in addition to his ordinary salary (R. v. Newell, [1911] 2 I. R. 535).

(b) This does not include Provisional Order Bills under the P. H. Acts, because, by s. 297 (8) of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 631, every Act confirming a Provisional Order shall be deemed to be a public general Act. Hence the approval of the M. of H. is not required for opposing any such Bill. Section 298 of the Public Health Act, 1875, ante, p. 633, may be referred to. Where a county borough council promote a private Bill for the extension of the area of the county borough either of their own motion, or in consequence of the Minister declining to entertain a representation under 16 & 17 Geo. 5, c. 38, s. 2, ante, p. 1794, this Act and the 1903 Act as amended by s. 3 of the 1926 Act shall apply to such Bill notwithstanding that the object may be obtainable by Provisional Order, and so excluded from the Acts by s. 10, post, p. 2334 (16 & 17 Geo. 5, c. 38, s. 3 (2), ante, p. 1794).

The Standing Orders of the House of Commons provide for local authorities having a locus standi to oppose lighting and water Bills affecting their own town or district.

(c) See Att.-Gen. v. Tynemouth Corporation, [1899] A. C. 293; 63 J. P. 404.

(d) This proviso is singularly expressed, but it is understood as preventing the application of this Act to any competing Bill. It may be stated that since the passing of this Act all private Bills to which it applies have contained a detailed statement in the preamble of these requirements, and the committees to which they are referred have to ascertain that due proof is given of this part of the preamble. It is also to be noticed that the Standing Orders of the House of Lords require that where it is proposed in any Bill that any local authority shall be authorised to borrow money for sanitary purposes without the sanction of the M. of H., estimates showing the proposed application for permanent work shall be recited therein and proved before the committee.

Section 3.

No payment to member of governing body to be so charged.

3. No payment to any member of a governing body for acting as counsel or agent in promoting or opposing any such Bill shall be charged as aforesaid (a).

(a) See also s. 12 of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, and s. 46 of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 1002.

The section, it will be seen, does not prevent councillors from being summoned and paid as witnesses.

Costs of promoting or opposing Bills to require sanction of special meetings.

4. No expense in relation to promoting or opposing (a) any Bill or Bills in Parliament shall be charged as aforesaid unless incurred in pursuance of a resolution of an absolute majority of the whole number of the governing body at a meeting of the governing body, after ten clear days notice by public advertisement of such meeting and of the purpose thereof in some local newspaper published or circulating in the district, such notice to be in addition to the ordinary notices required for summoning such meeting, nor unless such resolution shall have been published twice in some newspaper or newspapers circulating in the district, and shall have received, in respect of matters within the jurisdiction of the Local Government Board (b), the approval of such Board, and in respect of other matters, the approval of one of her Majesty's Secretaries of State (c), and in case of the promotion of a Bill in Parliament no further expense shall be incurred or charged as aforesaid after the deposit of the Bill, unless the propriety of such promotion shall be confirmed by such absolute majority at a further special meeting to be held in pursuance of a similar notice not less than fourteen days after the deposit of the Bill in Parliament . . . (d).

(a) By s. 7 (1) of the Borough Funds Act, 1903, the provisions contained in this section that no expense in opposing a Bill in Parliament shall be charged unless the opposition has had the consent of the owners of the district shall cease to apply.

(b) For L. G. B. must now be read Minister of Health. As to the jurisdiction of the latter, see the Ministry of Health Act, 1919, post, p. 2751, and the various Orders in Council issued thereunder.

Memoranda of the Minister of Health as to the making of applications for the approval of the Minister will be found in App. II., post, p. 3076.

(c) Now the Minister of Health. See s. 8 of the Borough Funds Act, 1903, post, p. 2660, but see the note thereto.

(d) The proviso in this section is repealed by s. 10 and the Schedule to the Borough Funds Act, 1903. It required the consent of owners and ratepayers to be obtained in manner provided by the L. G. A., 1858. The amending Act now requires the consent of the parochial electors obtained in manner thereby prescribed in the case of the authorities mentioned in s. 1 of that Act, post, p. 2658, except in the case of the Bills mentioned in s. 3 of the 1926 Act, ante, p. 1794.

It is to be observed that this section does not take away the right under the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, or under the general law applicable to trustees, which a municipal corporation has to defray out of the borough fund the expenses of any attack made by a Bill in Parliament, whether against their existence as a corporation or against their property, or only against their rights, powers, or privileges (Att.-Gen. v. Brecon Corporation (1879), 10 Ch. D. 204). But in Leith Council v. Leith Harbour Commissioners, [1899] A. C. 508, it was held that a municipal corporation is not entitled to charge otherwise than upon the Borough Fund, the costs incurred in opposition to a private Bill although such opposition is successful and the Bill would, if passed, have put an end to the separate existence of the corporation; and in Att.-Gen. v. Swansea Corporation, [1898] 1 Ch. 602; 62 J. P. 408, it was held that an alteration in the price of gas in the district of a municipal corporation, which were large consumers, for public lighting, did not affect its rights, privileges, and duties within the principle of Att.-Gen. v. Brecon Corporation, supra, and the corporation not having complied with the requirements of s. 4 of this Act, were restrained at the instance of the gas company from applying any part of the borough fund of which there was no surplus in paying the costs of opposing a Bill promoted by the gas company for raising the price of gas. And see the cases cited in the notes to s. 2, ante, p. 2332, and R. v. Norfolk Commissioners of Sewers (1850), 15 Q. B. 549; Att.-Gen. v. Wigan Corporation (1854), 23 L. J. Ch. 429; 5 De G. M. & G. 52; R. v. Marris (1857), 5 W. R. 254; R. v. Sheffield Corporation (1871), L. R. 6 Q. B. 652; S. C. sub nom. Roberts v. Sheffield Corporation, 24 L. T. 659; 19 W. R. 1159; Bower v. Sligo Commissioners (1869), 4 Ir. C. L. R. 489; Att.-Gen. v. Rickmansworth U. D. C. (1902), 66 J. P. 410; 86 L. T. 521.

Note to Section 4.

The court will not grant a mandamus to the mayor of a borough to hold a fresh meeting under this Act after a prior meeting has been held at which a poll was refused in order that at the fresh meeting a poll of the ratepayers might be taken, if the ratepayer applying for the mandamus is also one of the promoters of the Bill (R. v. Peterborough Corporation (1875), 44 L. J. Q. B. 85; 23 W. R. 343).

All the preliminary consents, including the necessary resolutions of the electors, must be obtained before the M. of H. will give their approval, and they must be supplied with a statutory declaration by a competent person showing that all the statutory notices had been given and the requisite consents obtained.

Proviso as to approval of Local Government Board, to any such resolution.

5. The approval of the Local Government Board (a) . . . shall not be given to any such resolution as aforesaid, until the expiration of seven days after the second publication thereof, as provided by this Act, and in the meantime any ratepayer within the district of the governing body may give notice in writing to the Local Government Board (a) . . . objecting to such approval.

(a) Now the M. of H. See note (b) to s. 4, p. 2333, ante.

Costs to be examined.

6. All costs, charges, and expenses incurred under the provisions of this Act shall before the same become chargeable, be examined and allowed by some person to be authorised . . . by the Local Government Board (a), as the case may be.

(a) Now the M. of H. See note (b) to s. 4, p. 2333, ante.

Power to direct local inquiry.

7. The Local Government Board (a) . . . shall have power to direct a local inquiry to be held upon any application under this Act, by any person or persons whom they may respectively nominate for the purpose, and to charge the costs and expenses of such local inquiry upon the governing body or the person by whom such application shall be made (b).

(a) Now the M. of H. See note (b) to s. 4, p. 2333, ante.

(b) The section does not require that the person appointed to hold the inquiry should be an officer of the Ministry, and he cannot take evidence on oath. These inquiries are not governed by ss. 293—296 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, pp. 627—630, and they are extremely rare.

Saving clause.

8. Nothing in this Act shall extend or be construed to alter or affect any special provision which is or shall be contained in any other Act for the payment of the costs, charges, and expenses intended to be provided for by this Act, or to take away or diminish any rights or powers now possessed or enjoyed by any governing body, or which are or shall be vested in or exerciseable by the inhabitants of any district under any general or special Act (a).

(a) See also saving for special Acts in s. 4 of the Borough Funds Act, 1903, post, p. 2659. And see Brooks, Jenkins & Co. v. Torquay Corporation, [1902] 1 K. B. 601; 66 J. P. 293.

Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847, s. 142, repealed.

9. [The one hundred and forty-second section of the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847, is hereby repealed so far as the same is inconsistent with the provisions of this Act (a).]

(a) Section 9 is now repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1883.

Act not to extend to Bills if object attainable by Provisional Order.

10. The provisions of this Act shall not extend to applications for any Bill in Parliament for any object which would, for the time being, be attainable by Provisional Order (a).

(a) Other than Bills having for their object the extension of the area of a county borough (16 & 17 Geo. 5, c. 38, s. 3 (2), ante, p. 1794). The Minister of Health is required to report to Parliament on every local Bill relating to sanitary matters deposited in the offices prior to the meeting of Parliament, and hence he will generally adversely criticise any Bill which proposes to introduce into any local district provisions which can be obtained by a provisional order, or provisions which the law of the land already supplies.

Extent.

11. This Act shall not extend or apply to Ireland or the city of London . . . (a).

(a) This Act originally did not apply in the metropolis at all. It was, however, extended to the councils of metropolitan boroughs by s. 6 (6) of the London G. A., 1899.

THE PAWNBROKERS ACT, 1872.

(35 & 36 VICT. c. 93) (a).

An Act for consolidating, with amendments, the Acts relating to Pawnbrokers in Great Britain. [10th August, 1872.]

PRELIMINARY.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Pawnbrokers Act, 1872." Short title.

(a) This Act has been amended by the Pawnbrokers Act, 1922, which refers only to those provisions omitted as outside the scope of the present work. The amending Act has therefore not been included in this volume. The duties of justices with reference to pawnbrokers' certificates under this Act are now transferred to district councils by the L. G. A., 1894, ss. 27, 32, ante, pp. 992, 994.

* * * * * *

3. The Schedules to this Act, including the notes thereto, shall have effect as part of this Act (a). Effect of Schedules.

(a) The earlier part of this section was repealed by the S. L. R. (No. 2) A., 1893.

* * * * * *

DEFINITIONS; APPLICATION OF ACT.

5. In this Act— Interpretation.

"Pawnbroker" includes every person who carries on the business of taking goods and chattels in pawn:

"Pledge" means an article pawned with a pawnbroker:

"Pawner" means a person delivering an article for pawn to a pawnbroker:

"Shop" includes dwelling-house and warehouse, or other place of business, or place where business is transacted:

"Unfinished goods or materials" includes any goods of any manufacture or of any part or branch of any manufacture either mixed or separate, or any materials whatever plainly intended for the composing or manufacturing of any goods, after such goods or materials are put into a state or course of manufacture, or into a state for any process or operation to be performed thereupon or therewith, and before the same are completed or finished for the purpose of wear or consumption:

"Constable" includes any peace officer:

"Justice" means justice of the peace having jurisdiction in the county or place where the matter requiring the cognizance of a justice arises.

6. In order to prevent evasion of the provisions of this Act, the following persons shall be deemed to be persons carrying on the business of taking goods and chattels in pawn (that is to say), every person who keeps a shop for the purchase or sale of goods or chattels, or for taking in goods or chattels by way of security for money advanced thereon, and who purchases or receives or takes in goods or chattels, and pays or advances or lends thereon any sum of money not exceeding ten pounds with or under an agreement or understanding expressed or implied or to be from the nature and character of the dealing reasonably inferred, that those goods or chattels may be afterwards redeemed or repurchased on any terms; and every such transaction, article, payment, advance, and loan shall be deemed a pawning, pledge, and loan respectively within this Act. Extension of Act to keepers of certain shops.

Section 37.

INLAND REVENUE LICENCES.

Yearly licence and excise duty.

37. Every pawnbroker shall yearly take out from the Commissioners of Inland Revenue an excise licence for carrying on his business, on which licence there shall be charged and paid for the use of her Majesty (a), an excise duty of seven pounds ten shillings.

Every licence shall be dated on the day on which it was issued and shall determine on the thirty-first day of July.

A separate licence shall be taken out and paid for by a pawnbroker for each pawnbroker's shop kept by him.

If a person acts as a pawnbroker without having in force a proper licence he shall for every such offence be liable to an excise penalty not exceeding fifty pounds.

All the provisions contained in any Act relating to excise licences, duties or penalties, and in force at the commencement of this Act, shall, as far as the same are applicable, have full effect with respect to the licence and duty and penalty aforesaid.

Licences not to be granted without certificate.

39. (a) A pawnbroker's licence shall not be granted to any person except on the production and in pursuance of the authority of a certificate granted under this Act; save that it shall not be necessary for any person being at the commencement of this Act a licensed pawnbroker, or for his executors, administrators, assigns, or successors, to obtain such a certificate (b).

Any licence granted in contravention of this section shall be void.

(b) This exemption is not confined to the business actually carried on by a pawnbroker at the commencement of the Act. It extends to all pawnbrokers then licensed, their executors, assigns, or successors, who may open a new business on payment of the licence duty without any certificate (R. v. Inland Revenue Commissioners, [1891] 1 Q. B. 485; 55 J. P. 117). But the exemption only enables a successor to carry on without obtaining a certificate the actual business to which he succeeds, and does not enable him to open or carry on a new business merely upon payment of the licence duty (R. v. Inland Revenue Commissioners, Ex parte Silvester, [1907] 1 K. B. 108).

Certificates to be granted by justices.

40. Certificates under this Act shall be granted (as regards England) in the metropolitan police district by a magistrate sitting in any police court in the metropolis having jurisdiction in the district where the application is made, and in any place within the jurisdiction of a stipendiary magistrate by that magistrate, and in other places by the justices of the petty sessional division assembled at petty sessions specially convened for that purpose (a).

(a) Certificates are now granted by district councils; see note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2335.

Form and duration of certificate.

41. A certificate under this Act shall be in the form given in the Sixth Schedule to this Act, or to the like effect, and shall be in force for one year from this date.

Notice of first application.

42. A person intending to apply for the first time for a certificate under this Act shall proceed as follows:

(1) Twenty-one days at least before the application he shall give notice by registered letter sent by post of his intention to one of the overseers (a) of the poor of the parish or place in which he intends to carry on business, and to the superintendent of police of the district, and shall in the notice set forth his name and address:

Section 42.

(2) Within twenty-eight days before the application he shall cause a like notice to be affixed and maintained between ten o'clock in the morning and five o'clock in the afternoon of two consecutive Sundays, on the principal door or one of the doors of the church or chapel of the parish or place, or if there is none, then on some other public and conspicuous place in the parish or place.

(a) Overseers having been abolished by s. 62 of the R. & V. Act, 1925, ante, p. 1741, this notice should now be given to the clerk to rating authority in an urban district, and in a rural district to the chairman of the appropriate parish council or parish meeting (Art. 14, Overseers Order, 1927, in App. II., post, p. 3684).

Grounds of refusal of certificate.

43. An application for a certificate shall not be refused, except on the following grounds, or one of them:

(1) That the applicant has failed to produce satisfactory evidence of good character;

(2) That the shop in which he intends to carry on the business of a pawnbroker, or any adjacent house or place owned or occupied by him, is frequented by thieves or persons of bad character;

(3) That he has not complied with the last preceding section.

Forgery of certificate.

44. If any person forges a certificate, or tenders a certificate knowing it to be forged, he shall, on conviction thereof in a court of summary jurisdiction, be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds, or, in the discretion of the court, to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six months, with or without hard labour.

A licence granted in pursuance of a forged certificate shall be void; and if any person makes use of a forged certificate, knowing it to be forged, he shall be disqualified from obtaining at any time thereafter a pawnbroker's licence.

* * * * * *

Appeal to quarter sessions.

52. If any person thinks himself aggrieved by any conviction or order of a court of summary jurisdiction under this Act, or by the refusal of a certificate for a licence, he may appeal therefrom, subject to the conditions and regulations following:

(1) The appeal shall be made to some court of general or quarter sessions (a) for the county or place in which the cause of appeal has arisen, held not less than fifteen days and (unless adjourned by the court) not more than four months after the decision or refusal appealed from:

(2) The appellant shall within seven days after the cause of appeal has arisen give notice to the other party and to the court or authority appealed from of his intention to appeal and the ground thereof:

(3) The appellant shall immediately after such notice enter into a recognizance before a justice with two sufficient sureties conditioned personally to try such appeal, and to abide the judgment of the court thereon, and to pay such costs as may be awarded by the court, or give such other security by deposit of money or otherwise as the justice allows:

(4) . . .

(5) The court of appeal may adjourn the appeal; and, upon the hearing thereof, they may confirm, reverse, or modify the decision or refusal appealed from, or remit the matter with the opinion of the court of appeal thereon, or make such other order in the matter as the court thinks just, and may make such order as to costs to be paid by either party as the court thinks just.

Note to Section 52. (a) The remainder of this section, though repealed by the S. J. A., 1884, so far as it related to appeals from convictions or orders of a court of summary jurisdiction, remains in full force as regards appeals from the refusal of a certificate for a licence. Paragraph (4) relating to release out of custody is, however, inapplicable and therefore omitted.

SAVING.

Saving for local Acts.

57. Nothing in this Act shall repeal or in any manner interfere with the operation of any local or local and personal Act for the time being in force in any city, town, burgh, or other place.

THE FAIRS ACT, 1873.

(36 & 37 VICT. c. 37) (a).

An Act to amend the Law relating to Fairs in England and Wales.

[7th July, 1873.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Fairs Act, 1873."

(a) The powers and duties of justices under this Act are transferred to district councils by the L. G. A., 1894, ss. 27, 32, ante, pp. 992, 994. The sections and parts of sections repealed by the S. L. R. (No. 2) A., 1893, have been here omitted. See also 34 & 35 Vict. c. 12, ante, p. 2315.

Extent.

2. This Act shall not extend to Scotland or Ireland.

Definition of terms.

3. In this Act the term "owner" means any person or persons or body of commissioners or body corporate, entitled to hold any fair, whether in respect of the ownership of any lands or tenements, or under any charter, letters patent, or otherwise howsoever.

4. [Commencement of Act (repealed by the Statute Law Revision (No. 2) Act, 1893 (56 & 57 Vict. c. 54)).]

5. [The Fairs Act, 1868 (31 & 32 Vict. c. 51), repealed] (a).

(a) This section is in turn itself repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1883.

Power to Secretary of State to alter days of holding fairs.

6. In case it shall appear to a Secretary of State, upon representation duly made to him by the justices (a) acting in and for the petty sessional division within which any fair is held, or by the owner of any fair in England or Wales, that it would be for the convenience and advantage of the public that any such fair shall be held in each year on some day or days other than that or those on which such fair is used to be held or on the day or days on which such fair is used to be held and any preceding or subsequent day or days or on or during a less number of days than those on which such fair is used to be held, it shall be lawful for a Secretary of State to order that such fair shall be held on such other day or days, or on the same day or days and any preceding or subsequent day or days, or on or during any less number of days as he shall think fit: Provided always, that notice of such representation and of the time when it shall please a Secretary of State to take the same into consideration shall if such representation shall have been made by justices (a) be given to the owner of such fair, and shall if such representation shall have been made by the owner of such fair be given to the clerk to the justices (a) acting in and for the petty sessional division within which such fair is held, and shall also be published once in the London Gazette, and in three successive weeks in some one and the same newspaper published in the county, city, or borough in which such fair is held, or if there be no newspaper published therein, then in the newspaper of some county adjoining or near thereto, before such representation is so considered.

(a) See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2338.

Order of Secretary of State to be published in certain newspapers.

7. When and so soon as any such order as aforesaid shall have been made by a Secretary of State, notice of the making of the same shall be published in the London Gazette and in some one newspaper of the county, city, or borough in which such fair is usually held, or if there be no newspaper published therein, then in the newspaper of some county adjoining or near thereto, and thereupon such fair shall only be held on the day or days mentioned in such order; and it shall be lawful for the owner of such fair to take all such toll or tolls, and to do all such act or acts, and to enjoy all and the same rights, powers, and privileges in respect thereof, and enforce the same by all and the like remedies, as if the same were held on the day or days upon which it was used to be held previous to the making of such order.

All rights, etc. of owner to remain good.

THE GAS AND WATER WORKS FACILITIES ACT, 1870, AMENDMENT ACT, 1873.

(36 & 37 VICT. c. 89) (a).

An Act to extend and amend the provisions of the Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870. [5th August, 1873.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as "The Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870, Amendment Act, 1873" (b).

(a) See the Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870, ante, p. 2272. The clause of enactment of this Act has been repealed by the S. L. R. (No. 2) A., 1893.

(b) Sections 2—11 and the Schedule to this Act were repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1883.

* * * * * *

Power of Board of Trade to revoke, amend, extend, or vary Provisional Order.

12. Where under the Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870, or this Act, the Board of Trade (a) have made any Provisional Order, they may from time to time revoke, amend, extend, or vary such Provisional Order by a further Provisional Order.

33 & 34 Vict. c. 70.

Every application for such further Provisional Order shall be made in like manner and subject to the like conditions as the application for the former Provisional Order.

Section 12.

Every such further Provisional Order shall be made and confirmed in like manner in every respect as the former Provisional Order.

(a) The L. G. B. were substituted for the Board of Trade so far as regards Provisional Orders for the supply of gas by an urban authority. See s. 161 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 382. However, by Order in Council of November 9th, 1920, the powers and duties of the Minister of Health (who had succeeded to the powers and duties of the L. G. B.) in relation to gas undertakings were once more vested in the Board of Trade. See also the provisions of the Gas Regulation Act, 1920, and the Gas Undertakings Act, 1929, post, pp. 2807, 3025. Special Orders may now be made instead of Provisional Orders.

Inquiries by the Board of Trade for purposes of 33 & 34 Vict. c. 70, and this Act.

13. Where, in relation to any application for a Provisional Order under the Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870, or under this Act, it is in the opinion of the Board of Trade (a) expedient that an inquiry should be held, they may order and direct such inquiry to be held at such time and place as they may think proper, subject to the provisions following:

1. The inquiry shall be held in public before an officer or officers to be appointed in that behalf by the Board of Trade, hereinafter called the commissioner or commissioners:
2. Ten days notice at the least shall be given by the commissioner or commissioners of the time and place at which the inquiry is to be commenced:
3. The inquiry shall be commenced at the time and place so appointed, and the commissioner or commissioners may adjourn the inquiry from time to time as may be necessary to such time and place as he or they may think fit:
4. The commissioner or commissioners by summons shall, on the application of any party interested in the inquiry, require the attendance before him or them, at a place and time to be mentioned in the summons, of any person to be examined as a witness before him or them, and every person summoned shall attend the commissioner or commissioners, and answer all questions touching the matter to be inquired into, and any person who wilfully disobeys any such summons or refuses to answer any question put to him by the commissioner or one of the commissioners for the purposes of the said inquiry shall, on summary conviction before two justices . . . be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds: Provided always, that no person shall be required to attend in obedience to any such summons unless the reasonable charges of his attendance shall have been paid or tendered to him and no person shall be required in any case in obedience to any such summons to travel more than ten miles from his place of abode:
5. The commissioner or commissioners shall make a report to the Board of Trade in writing, and shall deliver copies of the report upon request to all or any of the parties to the inquiry(b).

(a) See note (a) to s. 12, supra.

(b) This is an unusual provision, as reports made to a Government Department by officers appointed to investigate applications are usually treated as confidential documents, cf. R. v. L. G. B., Ex parte Arlidge, [1915] A. C. 120; 79 J. P. 97, at p. 598, ante.

Rules for carrying Acts into effect.

14. The Board of Trade (a) may from time to time make, and, when made may rescind, annul, or add to, rules with respect to the following matters (b):

33 & 34 Vict. c. 70.

The proceedings to be had before the Board under the Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870, or this Act; and

As to any other matter or thing in respect of which it may be expedient to make rules for the purpose of carrying the said Act or this Act into execution.

Section 14.

Any rules made in pursuance of this section shall be deemed to be within the powers conferred by the said Act or this Act, and shall be of the same force as if enacted in the said Act or this Act, and shall be judicially noticed.

Any rules made in pursuance of this section shall be laid before Parliament within three weeks after they are made, if Parliament be then sitting, and if Parliament be not then sitting, within three weeks after the beginning of the then next session of Parliament.

(a) See note (a) to s. 12, ante, p. 2340.

(b) See the Rules of the Board of Trade, dated March 1st, 1922, as to special orders relating to gas under the Gas Regulation Act, 1920, which have superseded provisional orders under this Act; the rules of October 1st, 1926, issued by the Board of Trade and Minister of Health as to gas and water (combined purposes); and rules of October 1st, 1926, by the Minister of Health as to Water Orders. These Rules are set out in App. II., post, pp. 3334, 3341, 3908.

Act not to extend to Metropolis. 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120.

15. This Act shall not apply to any place within the metropolis as the same is defined in the Metropolis Management Act, 1855.

THE EXPLOSIVES ACT, 1875.

(38 & 39 VICT. c. 17.)

An Act to amend the Law with respect to manufacturing, keeping, selling, carrying, and importing Gunpowder, Nitro-glycerine, and other Explosive Substances. [14th June 1875.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Explosives Act, 1875."

* * * * * *

Byelaws as to conveyance by road or otherwise, or loading of gunpowder.

37. The Secretary of State may from time to time make, and when made rescind, alter, or add to byelaws (a) for regulating the conveyance, loading and unloading of gunpowder in any case in which byelaws made under any other provision of this Act do not apply, and in particular for declaring or regulating all or any of the following matters; that is to say,

1. Regulating the description and construction of carriages to be used in the conveyance of gunpowder as merchandise; and

2. Prohibiting or subjecting to conditions and restrictions the conveyance of gunpowder with any explosive, or with any articles or substances, or in passenger carriages; and

3. Fixing the places and times at which the gunpowder is to be loaded or unloaded, and the quantity to be loaded or unloaded or conveyed at one time or in one carriage; and

4. Determining the precautions to be observed in conveying gunpowder, and in loading and unloading the carriages used in such conveyance, and the time during which the gunpowder may be kept during such conveyance, loading, and unloading; and

5. Providing for the publication and supply of copies of the byelaws; and

6. Generally for protecting, whether by means similar to those abovementioned or not, persons or property from danger; and

7. Adapting on good cause being shown the byelaws in force under this section to the circumstances of any particular locality.

Section 37.

The penalties to be annexed to any breach, or attempt to commit any breach, of any such byelaws may be all or any of the following penalties, and may be imposed on such persons and graduated in such manner as may be deemed just, according to the gravity of the offence, and according as it may be a first, second, or other subsequent offence, that is to say, pecuniary penalties not exceeding twenty pounds for each offence, and ten pounds for each day during which the breach continues, and forfeiture of all or any part of the gunpowder in respect of which, or being in the carriage in respect of which, the breach of byelaw has taken place.

For the purpose of any mode of conveyance which is not a conveyance by land this section shall be construed as if ship and boat were included in the term " carriage."

(a) See the byelaws as to the deposit of explosives for conveyance as refuse made under this section, and contained in an Order dated September 20th, 1924, in App. II., at p. 3299, post.

* * * * * *

39. Subject to the provisions hereafter in this Part of this Act contained, Part I. of this Act relating to gunpowder shall apply to every other description of explosive, in like manner as if those provisions were herein re-enacted with the substitution of that description of explosive for gunpowder.

THE SALE OF FOOD AND DRUGS ACT, 1875.

(38 & 39 VICT. c. 63) (a).

An Act . . . to make better provision for the Sale of Food and Drugs in a pure state. [11th August, 1875.]

(a) This Act is repealed by and its provisions are consolidated in the Food and Drugs (Adulteration) Act, 1928, post, p. 2948, except ss. 30, 31 and 36, which continue in force.

SPECIAL PROVISION AS TO TEA.

Tea to be examined by the Customs on importation.

30. All tea imported as merchandise into and loaded at any port in Great Britain or Ireland shall be subject to examination by persons to be appointed by the Commissioners of Customs, subject to the approval of the Treasury, for the inspection and analysis thereof, for which purpose samples may, when deemed necessary by such inspectors, be taken and with all convenient speed be examined by the analysts to be so appointed ; and if upon such analysis the same shall be found to be mixed with other substances or exhausted tea, the same shall not be delivered unless with the sanction of the said commissioners, and on such terms and conditions as they shall see fit to direct, either for home consumption or for use as ships stores or for exportation ; but if on such inspection and analysis it shall appear that such tea is in the opinion of the analyst unfit for human food, the same shall be forfeited and destroyed or otherwise disposed of in such manner as the said commissioners may direct (a).

(a) Some words at the beginning of this section were repealed by the S. L. R. (No. 2) A., 1893. A person who represents tea to be good when it is in fact unfit to drink may be convicted of obtaining money by false pretences. See R. v. Foster (1876), 2 Q. B. D. 301 ; 41 J. P. 295. As to the sale of green tea in the same state as imported, see Roberts v. Egerton (1874), L. R. 9 Q. B. 494. As to the powers of the Commissioners of Customs in regard to articles other than tea, see the Food and Drugs (Adulteration) Act, 1928, ss. 12 and 20, post, pp. 2964, 2974.

31. Tea to which the term "exhausted" is applied in this Act shall mean and include any tea which has been deprived of its proper quality, strength, or virtue by steeping, infusion, decoction, or other means.

Section 31.

Definition of "exhausted tea."

THE LOCAL LOANS ACT, 1875.

(38 & 39 VICT. C. 83) (a).

An Act to amend the Law relating to Securities for Loans contracted by Local Authorities. [13th August, 1875.]

(1) PRELIMINARY.

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as "The Local Loans Act, 1875." Short title.

(a) This Act is amended by the Local Loans Sinking Funds Act, 1885, post, p. 2487. The preamble and clause of enactment and s. 3 of this Act were repealed by the S. L. R. (No. 2) A., 1893.

2. This Act shall not extend to Scotland or Ireland. Extent of Act.

3. [Commencement of Act.]

4. A local authority (a) shall be deemed to borrow, subject to the provisions of this Act, whenever it raises a loan by the issue of debentures or debenture stock (b) or annuity certificates, purporting to be created under its powers, or partly in one way, and partly in another; subject to this proviso, that where a loan is directed to be raised by debentures or debenture stock or annuity certificates under this Act, the prescribed mode only shall be adopted (c).

Definition of borrowing under Act.

(a) See the definition of local authority in s. 34, post, p. 2354. The term includes sanitary authorities. As to stamp duty on loan capital, see the Finance Act, 1899, s. 8, ante, p. 915, as amended by the Finance Act, 1907, s. 10, post, p. 2687.

(b) This Act itself does not give power to issue debenture stock. See s. 6, post, p. 2344. The L. G. B. stated that they had been advised by the law officers of the Crown that a local authority could not exercise a borrowing power by the issue of debenture stock under this Act unless they had power independently of the Act to raise the loan by the issue of debenture stock. The Board, however, thought that it was competent to a local authority to avail themselves of the Act for the exercise of borrowing powers under Acts passed subsequently to this Act so far as regards the issue of securities other than debenture stock.

(c) As to what is the prescribed mode, see s. 34, post, p. 2354.

(2) DEBENTURES (a).

5. A debenture under this Act shall be an instrument taking effect as a deed, and charging the local rate (b) or property in such debenture specified with payment, as in the debenture mentioned, of the principal sum and interest therein specified.

Regulations as to debenture stock.

Where a debenture under this Act charges property other than the local rate, and it is intended that in default of payment of the principal sum due on such debenture, or of the interest thereon, the property is to be sold, a statement to that effect shall be inserted in the debenture.

The principal sum may be made payable to the bearer of the debenture, or to a person to be named therein, his executors, administrators, or assigns.

A debenture in which the principal sum is made payable to the bearer shall be transferable by delivery.

Section 5.

A debenture in which the principal sum is made payable to a person named therein, his executors, administrators, or assigns, is in this Act referred to as a nominal debenture, and shall be transferable by writing in manner directed by the local authority.

There may be attached to a debenture under this Act, or be thereafter issued in respect thereof, or partly in one way and partly in the other, coupons making the interest as therein mentioned payable to the bearer of each coupon, or to the person named in each coupon or his order, or the interest on a debenture may be made payable to the owner for the time being of such debenture, or may be otherwise made payable in such manner as in the said debenture mentioned.

A coupon making the interest therein mentioned payable to the person named therein or his order is in this Act referred to as a coupon payable to order.

A debenture under this Act shall not be issued for a less sum than the prescribed sum, or, where no sum is prescribed, than twenty pounds.

(a) As to stamp duty, see Stamp Act, 1891, ss. 82 (1), 85 (1), (2), 122, and Schedule, title "Marketable Security." And as to composition for stamp duty, see s. 115 of the same Act.

(b) See the definition in s. 34, post, p. 2354.

(3) DEBENTURE STOCK (a).

Regulations as to debenture stock.

6. A debenture stock may be created and issued by a local authority having power to raise a loan or any part thereof by the issue of debenture stock (b). Such debenture stock shall be of a nominal amount, not exceeding the amount of money authorised to be raised by such stock, and shall, unless otherwise provided by the conditions of issue, be redeemable at par at the option of the local authority at such times and upon such conditions as the local authority may declare at the time of the issue thereof (c).

The title of any person to any share in debenture stock shall be evidenced by the entry in the register as in this Act mentioned of the name of such person as owner of such share.

Debenture stock shall bear such rate of interest, to be payable at such times as the local authority may declare at the time of issue of the stock.

Debenture stock and the interest thereon shall be a charge on the local rate or property specified at the time of issue thereof, in the same manner as if it were a principal sum and interest charged thereon by deed.

Where debenture stock and the interest thereon is a charge on property other than the local rate, and it is intended that in default of the payment of the interest thereon, or for the purpose of raising the money required for the redemption of the stock, the property is to be sold, a declaration to that effect shall be made by the local authority at the time of the issue of the stock, and shall be deemed to form one of the conditions of such issue.

Debenture stock shall have all the incidents of personal estate, and shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, be transferable by writing in manner directed by the local authority.

The interest on any share of debenture stock shall be recoverable by the owner of such share in the same manner in all respects as if such interest were an annuity of like amount secured to him by an annuity certificate under this Act.

The owner of any share in debenture stock shall not be entitled to require payment of the nominal amount of stock held by him, except at the time and upon the conditions declared by the local authority at the time of the issue of such stock.

The conditions of issue of debenture stock shall be declared by the local authority at the time of such issue, and a printed copy of such conditions shall be supplied to every owner of debenture stock requiring the same, and shall be entered in the register of such stock.

The local authority may, if it thinks fit, on the application of the owner of any share in debenture stock, grant to him a certificate of title to his share in such stock, or any part of such share, with coupons attached entitling the bearer of the coupons to the interest on the share or part of a share specified in such certificate.

A certificate of title to a share in debenture stock under this section (in this Act called a stock certificate to bearer) shall entitle the bearer to the stock therein described, and to the interest thereon, and shall be transferable by delivery.

Any share in stock in respect of which a stock certificate to bearer has been issued, shall, so long as such certificate is outstanding, cease to be dealt with through the medium of the register.

Debenture stock, in respect of which a stock certificate to bearer has not been issued, is in this Act referred to as nominal debenture stock.

(a) As to stamp duty, see the Stamp Act, 1891, ss. 108, 109, and Schedule, title "Share Warrants, etc." As to composition for stamp duty, see s. 115 of the same Act. As to corporation duty under the Customs and Inland Revenue Act, 1885, s. 11, payable on income of a sinking fund vested in trustees, see Att.-Gen. v. City of London Corporation, [1913] 2 K. B. 497.

(b) Therefore there must be power under a special Act to issue debenture stock. See note (b) to s. 4, ante, p. 2343. An urban authority can, by adopting Part V. of the P. H. A., 1890, ante, p. 914, acquire power to create stock. See also s. 1 (2) of the Public Authorities and Bodies (Loans) Act, 1916, ante, p. 1235 (made permanent by 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 99, s. 8), and s. 87 of the Housing Act, 1925, ante, p. 1453, which give to certain local authorities power to raise money by the issue of securities and bonds.

(c) A corporation were empowered by a local Act to create and issue corporation stock "to bear any rate of dividend which the corporation may fix, and all stock of such class shall be redeemable at the option of the corporation at one and the same period to be fixed by the corporation but not exceeding sixty years from the first issue of such stock." The corporation created and issued stock, the certificates for which stated that the holders were the proprietors of a certain amount of "Edinburgh 2½ per cent. stock subject to the Acts of Parliament relating thereto . . . redeemable at par after Whitsunday, 1927." It was held that the corporation had an option to redeem the stock at par after Whitsunday, 1927, but that they were not bound to do so (Edinburgh Corporation v. British Linen Bank, [1913] A. C. 133).

(4) ANNUITY CERTIFICATES.

Regulations as to annuity certificates.

7. An annuity certificate under this Act shall be an instrument taking effect as a deed, and charging the local rate or property in such certificate specified with payment, as in the certificate mentioned, of the annual sum therein specified.

Where an annuity certificate under this Act charges property other than the local rate, and it is intended that in default of payment of the annual sum secured by such annuity certificate, or of some part thereof, the property is to be sold, a statement to that effect shall be inserted in the annuity certificate.

The annual sum may be made payable to the bearer of the certificate or to a person to be named therein, his executors, administrators, or assigns.

An annuity certificate in which the annual sum is made payable to the bearer shall be transferable by delivery.

An annuity certificate in which the annual sum is made payable to a person named therein, his executors, administrators, or assigns, is in this Act

Section 7. referred to as a nominal annuity certificate, and shall be transferable by writing in manner directed by the local authority.

An annuity certificate under this Act shall not be issued for a less annual sum than the prescribed sum, or, where no sum is prescribed, than three pounds.

(5) PRIORITY OF LOANS.

Priority of loans.

8. All sums for the time being due or authorised to be raised on or in respect of any securities issued in respect of the same loan by a local authority under this Act shall be paid without any preference the one over the other by reason of the priority of date of any of such securities.

Where more than one loan has been raised under this Act by the same local authority, the sums for the time being due or authorised to be raised on or in respect of any securities issued in respect of each loan shall take priority according to the date of such loan.

Where any sum of money is authorised to be borrowed in manner provided by this Act, such sum may, unless it is otherwise prescribed, be raised under this Act as one loan or several loans, as may be deemed most convenient by the borrowing authority, so that the aggregate amount authorised to be borrowed be not exceeded.

The date of each loan shall, with a view to the priority of the loan and to the period within which such loan is to be discharged, and for the other purposes of this Act, so far as relates to that period, be fixed by the local authority, and may be so fixed irrespectively of the dates of the particular securities issued in respect of such loan, so that the period within which the loan is required to be discharged be not exceeded.

(6) NOTICE OF TRUSTS.

Notice of trust not receivable.

9. No notice of any trust, expressed implied or constructive, shall be received by the local authority, or by any registrar or officer of the local authority, in relation to any security issued by such authority under this Act (a).

(a) The object of this section is (a) to relieve the local authority from taking notice of equitable interests in securities, and (b) to preclude persons claiming under equitable titles from converting the local authority into a trustee for them.

Owners of securities not responsible for act of local authority.

10. A person advancing any money to a local authority and receiving in consideration of such advance any security under this Act, shall not be bound to inquire into the application of the money advanced, or be in any way responsible for the non-application or misapplication thereof.

(7) REMEDY FOR NON-PAYMENT.

Remedy by mandamus for non-payment of money.

11. The local authority shall pay or raise all sums for the time being due or authorised to be raised on or in respect of any security issued by them under this Act, and if default is made in payment of any sum so due, such sum shall be deemed to be a specialty debt due to the person entitled thereto from the local authority of such a nature that a mandamus will be granted to enforce the payment thereof; and an action may be brought accordingly, in which a mandamus may be claimed (a).

(a) See R. S. C., 1883, Order LIII.

Section 12.

Remedy by appointment of receiver for non-payment of money.

12. Where a local authority makes default for a period of twenty-one days in paying an amount of not less than five hundred pounds (whether in one sum or separate sums) for the time being due on or in respect of any security issued under this Act, the persons entitled to the said amount, or any of such persons, may, instead of or in addition to bringing an action or actions, apply to the county court for the appointment of a receiver (a); and any receiver so appointed (subject to any direction which may be given by the court) shall from time to time raise as hereinafter mentioned, by or out of the local rate or property charged, sufficient money to pay the amount the payment of which is so in default, and all sums due while he is receiver on or in respect of any such security, together with all costs, charges, and expenses incurred in or about the appointment of such receiver and the execution of his duties under this section, including a proper remuneration for his trouble, and shall render to the defaulting authority the balance, if any, remaining in his hands after making the said payments.

Where the amount so due or authorised to be raised is charged on the local rate, the receiver may raise the money he is authorised to raise under this section by means of the local rate, and for that purpose shall have the same power as the defaulting authority of levying the local rate, and the receiver shall have such access to and use of the documents of the defaulting authority relative to the local rate as he may require.

Where the amount so due or authorised to be raised is charged on any property, other than the local rate, the receiver may raise the sum which he is authorised to raise under this section by the receipt of the rents and profits of the property, and if the security involves a power of sale, as in this Act mentioned (b), by sale of the property in such manner and subject to such conditions of sale and otherwise as the court may direct.

A county court may appoint a receiver under this section with respect to any local rate levied, or any property situate wholly or partly within the jurisdiction of such court, and may remove such receiver and appoint another in his stead, and so from time to time; and may make such orders and give such directions as to the powers and duties of the receiver, and otherwise as to the disposal of the moneys received by him, as may be thought fit for carrying this section into effect.

(a) See County Court Rules, Order XLIII., rr. 1, 3.
(b) See ss. 5, 6, ante, pp. 2343, 2344.

(8) DISCHARGE OF LOAN.

Loan borrowed to be discharged within prescribed period.

13. Every loan borrowed in manner provided by this Act shall be discharged within the prescribed period (a) from the date thereof, and if no period is prescribed, within the period of twenty years from the date thereof, which period of twenty years shall for the purposes of this Act be included under the term "prescribed period," and such discharge shall be secured by one or more of the following methods; that is to say,

By the issue of annuity certificates limited to expire within the prescribed period; or

By the issue of debentures made payable in such a manner that in each year such number of debentures will become due and be paid off as will secure the repayment of the whole sum secured by such debentures by equal annual instalments, extending over the whole of the prescribed period, or over a less time than the prescribed period; or

By the annual appropriation, as in this Act mentioned, of a fixed sum to the discharge of a certain portion of such loan; or

Section 13.

Where a sinking fund is prescribed, but not otherwise (b), by the establishment of a sinking fund and the application thereof in manner in this Act mentioned.

(a) As to the prescribed period, see s. 34, post, p. 2354; cf. the P. H. A., 1875, s. 234 (4), (6), ante, pp. 526, 527.

(b) It is provided by the Local Loans Sinking Funds Act, 1885, post, p. 2487, that, notwithstanding anything contained in the above Act, every loan borrowed in manner provided by the above Act, may be discharged by the establishment of a sinking fund as therein mentioned, notwithstanding that a sinking fund may not have been prescribed by the special Act authorising the loan.

Discharge of loan by appropriation of annual sum.

14. Where a fixed annual sum is appropriated to the discharge of a loan, or part of a loan, the local authority shall raise in every year an equal sum of money of such amount as will, at or before the expiration of the prescribed period, pay off the whole of such loan or part of a loan, and the interest thereon. The local authority shall in each year pay out of such fixed sum the interest due on the loan or part of a loan during the current year, and appropriate the residue of such sum, in the case of money borrowed on debentures, to the payment off of a corresponding amount of the principal sum secured by such debentures, and in the case of money borrowed by the issue of debenture stock to the redemption of a corresponding amount of such stock.

The debentures or portion of debenture stock to be paid off in every year shall be ascertained in such manner as may have been fixed at the time of the issue of the debentures or debenture stock, or may thereafter have been arranged. Where the debentures or portion of debenture stock to be paid off are or is to be determined by lot, the lots shall be drawn in the presence of the local authority, and any owners of debenture (a) or debenture stock who choose to be present; the local authority shall cause not less than one month's previous notice of the time and place at which lots are to be drawn to be given by advertisement, published once at the least in each of four successive weeks in some newspaper circulating in the district within which the local authority has jurisdiction.

Any fractional sum remaining of such residue as aforesaid, after payment of the debentures or debenture stock, payable as aforesaid, shall be carried to the credit of the annual sum to be raised in the ensuing year. All expenses incurred by the local authority in respect of any drawings by lot or otherwise in respect of the discharge of a loan shall be paid out of the current revenue of the local authority.

(a) Sic in statute. It should read "debentures."

Discharge of loan by sinking fund.

15. Where a sinking fund is prescribed (a) for any loan or part of a loan, the local authority shall create a sinking fund as hereinafter mentioned; that is to say,

(1) Such equal yearly or half-yearly sums shall be paid into the sinking fund in each year as, being accumulated at compound interest at the prescribed rate, or if no rate is prescribed, at such rate as in the opinion of the local authority, (regard being had to the securities in which they are authorised to make investments), will at the expiration of some period not longer than the prescribed period, be sufficient, after payment of all expenses, to discharge such loan or part of a loan; and

(2) The first of such payments shall be made within one year from the date of the loan; and

(3) All sums paid into the sinking fund shall be, as soon as may be, invested by the local authority in the prescribed manner, and if no manner is prescribed, or if a manner having been prescribed, the Local Government Board (b) shall assent, in securities in which trustees are by law for the time being authorised to invest, or in debentures, debenture stock, or annuity certificates issued under this Act; and any such investments may be from time to time varied or transposed; and all dividends and other annual sums received in respect of such investments shall, as soon as may be after they are received, be paid into the sinking fund and invested by the local authority in like manner; and

(4) The local authority may from time to time apply the sinking fund, or any part thereof, in or towards the discharge of the loan or part of a loan for which it was created, and until such loan or part is wholly discharged shall not apply the same for any other purpose:

(5) The debentures or portion of debenture stock, to the payment of which such sinking fund is for the time being applicable, shall be ascertained in such manner as may have been fixed at the time of the issue of the debentures or debenture stock, or may thereafter have been arranged. Where the debentures or portion of debenture stock to be paid off are or is to be determined by lot, the lots shall be drawn and notice shall be given in manner hereinbefore in this Act mentioned:

(6) Any surplus of the sinking fund remaining after the discharge of the loan or part of a loan for the discharge of which it was created shall be paid into some other sinking fund under the control of the local authority; or if there is no such fund shall be applied to any purpose to which such loan is applicable, or otherwise, as the local authority may, with the assent of the Local Government Board (b), think expedient:

(7) Where any part of the sinking fund is invested in any securities of the local authority, or is applied in paying off any part of the loan before the prescribed period, the interest which would otherwise be payable on such securities or on such part of the loan shall be paid into the sinking fund and invested in manner provided by this Act:

(8) If the annual income of the sinking fund is not less than the annual interest payable on so much of the loan or part of the loan in respect of which it was created as remains undischarged, the equal annual sums required by this section to be paid into the sinking fund may cease to be so paid.

(a) See note (b) to s. 13, ante, p. 4348.
(b) The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Minister of Health.

Annual return as to sinking fund.

16. Where a sinking fund is created for the purpose of discharging any loan or part of a loan the local authority shall, until such loan or part of a loan is discharged, within twenty-one days after the expiration of each year, transmit to the Local Government Board (a) a return in such form and verified in such manner as the Board from time to time directs (b), showing the amount which has been invested or applied for the purpose of such sinking fund during the year next preceding the making of such return, and the description of the securities upon which any investment has been made, and the purposes to which any portion of the sinking fund has been applied during the same period, and the total amount (if any) remaining invested at the end of the year. If it appears to the Local Government Board (a), by such return or otherwise, that the local authority have failed to comply with the provisions of this Act with respect to the sinking fund, the Board (a) may, if they think fit and after hearing the local authority, if desirous to be heard, by order direct that the sum in respect of which default has been made is to be raised and invested or applied as part of the sinking fund, and any such order may be enforced by mandamus.

Section 16.

(a) The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Minister of Health.

(b) The L. G. B., by an Order dated November 14th, 1878, prescribed a form of return under this section. The Order will be found in Glen's Local Government Orders, p. 324. See also Circular, November 25th, 1878, ibid., p. 327.

SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS.

(1) AS TO COUPONS.

Temporary issue of coupons.

17. Coupons in respect of any debenture or stock certificate to bearer under this Act may be issued comprising the interest payable during the whole period of years for which the debenture or stock certificate is in force, or any less period, and at the expiration of any such less period fresh coupons may be issued in respect of the debenture or stock certificate, or such debenture or stock certificate may be exchanged for another debenture or stock certificate with coupons for a further period (a).

(a) For power of local authority to make rules as to issue of coupons, see s. 30, post, p. 2353.

Endorsement and crossing of coupons.

18. A coupon payable to order which when presented for payment purports to be endorsed by the person named therein, shall be a sufficient authority to the person paying the money to pay the amount due in respect of such coupon to the bearer thereof, and it shall not be incumbent on the person paying such coupon to prove that such endorsement or any subsequent endorsement was made by or under the direction or authority of the person who is named in the coupon, or to whom the coupon was made payable by any endorser.

Where the coupon bears across its face an addition in written, printed, or stamped letters of the name of any banker or the words of " and company " in full or abbreviated, between two transverse lines, such addition shall be deemed to be a material part of the coupon, and have the force of a direction to the person by whom such coupon is to be paid that the same is to be paid only to or through the banker named, or if none is so named, to or through some banker, and the same shall be payable only to or through the banker named, or some banker (a).

(a) As to crossed coupons, see s. 32, post, p. 2354. Also Bills of Exchange Act, 1882, ss. 76—82, and Revenue Act, 1883, s. 17.

Coupons issued exempt from stamp duty.

19. Any coupons issued in respect of any debenture or stock certificate to bearer under this Act shall for the purpose of the Acts relating to stamp duties be deemed to have been attached to and issued with such security.

(2) AS TO STOCK CERTIFICATES.

Conversion into nominal debenture stock of stock certificate to bearer.

20. The bearer of a stock certificate to bearer may, on delivery to the local authority of his certificate and of all unpaid coupons belonging thereto, require the local authority to enter him in the register of the local authority as an owner of the share of stock described in the stock certificate to bearer, and thereupon that stock shall become nominal debenture stock and the interest thereon shall be payable as if no stock certificate to bearer had been issued in respect of that share of stock.

21. [Trustee not to apply for stock certificate to bearer] (a).

(a) This section was repealed by s. 51 of the Trustee Act, 1893. See now s. 7 of the Trustee Act, 1925, post, p. 2874.

(3) AS TO EXECUTION AND SUPPLY OF SECURITIES.

22. Every debenture, stock certificate to bearer, and annuity certificate under this Act shall be deemed to be well executed if under the common seal of the local authority, where that authority is a body corporate, and if signed by two or more members of the local authority, where the local authority is not a body corporate, or if otherwise executed in such manner as the Local Government Board (a) may direct on the application of any local authority. whether corporate or unincorporate. Execution and supply of securities.

(a) Now the M. of H. (see 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 21).

The Commissioners of Inland Revenue may, when required by the local authority, and on payment of such sum as may, with the sanction of the Treasury, be agreed upon, supply such authority with debentures, stock certificates to bearer, coupons, and annuity certificates under this Act in such form and of such materials as the local authority may direct.

(4) AS TO REGISTER OF NOMINAL SECURITIES.

23. A local authority issuing nominal debentures, nominal debenture stock, or nominal annuity certificates under this Act, shall cause a register (a) of such securities to be kept in one or more book or books, and there shall be entered in such register— Register of nominal securities.

(1) The names and addresses and the descriptions of the owners for the time being of every such security, with a statement of the securities held by each person registered; and,

(2) The date at which the name of any person was entered in the register in respect of any such security.

The register under this section shall be evidence of any matters by this Act directed or authorised to be inserted therein.

(a) For power of local authority to make rules as to registry, see s. 30, post, p. 2353.

24. Any person may inspect the register at any reasonable time upon payment of such fee not exceeding one shilling as may be fixed by the local authority, and shall be entitled to obtain from the registrar, copies or extracts certified by him to be true copies or extracts of such register, upon payment of such fee not exceeding two shillings and sixpence, and twopence for every folio of seventy-two words, as the local authority may from time to time fix, and any copy or extract so certified shall be admissible in evidence. Inspection of register.

25. If the name of any person is without sufficient cause entered in or omitted from the register, or if default is made or unnecessary delay takes place in making any entry in such register, the person aggrieved or the local authority may apply to the court for an order that the register may be rectified. Rectification of register.

The court may either refuse the application with or without costs to be paid by the applicant, or may, if satisfied of the justice of the case, whether there has or has not been any default on the part of the registrar, make an order for the rectification of the register, and make such order as to the payment of the costs of the application or of damages to the person aggrieved as to the court may seem just.

The court may, in any proceeding under this section, decide any question relating to the title of any party to such proceeding to have his name entered in or omitted from the register, and generally any question which it may be necessary or expedient to decide for the rectification of the register.

The court for the purposes of this section means any of her Majesty's superior courts of law or equity, or any court to which the jurisdiction of such courts may be transferred; and where the value of any security or securities to which the application relates does not exceed fifty pounds shall include a county court (a); and the jurisdiction by this Act given to a superior court may be exercised in a summary manner by any judge or judges of such court sitting in chambers or otherwise.

(a) See County Court Rules, Order XLIII., rr. 2, 3.

(5) AS TO LOANS UNDER OFFICIAL SANCTION.

Permissive issue of securities under official sanction.

26. Any local authority about to raise a loan by the issue of any securities under this Act may apply to the Local Government Board (a) to authorise the issue of such securities under official sanction.

The Local Government Board, (a) before granting their official sanction to such issue, shall require the local authority to furnish in such form, and with such particulars, and supported by such evidence as the Local Government Board (a) may require, such returns of the financial condition of such authority and borrowing powers of such authority and of the indebtedness of such authority, whether incurred before or after the passing of this Act, and such other particulars as will enable the Local Government Board (a) to ascertain the facts required by this section to be stated in relation to such issue; and the Local Government Board (a) may make such examination or inquiries for ascertaining the said matters and the accuracy of such returns as they may think expedient; and they shall not give their sanction unless they are satisfied with the information given and the result of the inquiries made.

The issue of any securities under official sanction shall be authenticated by an official stamp on such securities or otherwise as the Local Government Board (a) may from time to time direct.

The sanction of the Local Government Board (a) given in respect of any securities shall be conclusive evidence that the local authority by whom such securities may be issued had power to issue the same, and that the same have been duly issued, and are as to form and otherwise in conformity with this Act.

The owner of any security issued under official sanction shall on request made by him to the Local Government Board (a) be furnished with a statement of the following particulars; that is to say,

Where a security is charged on a rate, of the rateable value, at the date of the issue of such security, of the property subject to the rate, and where the security is a charge on property, of the estimated value of such property; also of

The relative priority of the loan, in respect of which such security is issued, and of the other loans (if any) of the borrowing authority; and such statement shall be evidence of the particulars therein stated.

(a) The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Minister of Health.

(6) AS TO INVESTMENTS ON LOANS UNDER ACT.

27. [Power for trustees to invest in loans under Act] (a).

(a) This section was repealed by s. 51 of the Trustee Act, 1893. See now s. 5 (4) of the Trustee Act, 1925, enacting that a trustee having power to invest money in debentures or debenture stock, of any railway, or other company may invest in any nominal debentures or nominal debenture stock issued under the Local Loans Act, 1875. But if the power of investment in railway stock is limited by the express terms of the instrument, it would seem that the limitation applies also to investment in stock under this Act (Re Maberley (1887), 33 Ch. D. 455).

Note to Section 27.

The power given by the Act of 1893, s. 5 (3) (now s. 5 (4) of the 1925 Act), is limited to trustees having power by the express terms of the instrument creating the trust to invest in railway debentures or debenture stock. Trustees only having power under s. 1 (g) of the Act of 1893 (now s. 1 (1) (g) of the 1925 Act) to invest in railway debentures or debenture stock, have not the additional power conferred by s. 5 (3) of investing in local loans debentures or debenture stock (Re Tattersall, Topham v. Armitage, [1906] 2 Ch. 399; 70 J. P. 537).

See also s. 1 (1) (p) of the Trustee Act, 1925, post, p. 2873, as to mortgages of rates, etc., being trustee securities.

Power for Public Works Loan Commissioners to take securities under Act.

28. When the Public Works Loan Commissioners are authorised to grant any loan to a local authority under any Act, passed either before or after the passing of this Act, and are satisfied with the sufficiency of the rates or other property on which such loan is charged to defray the loan, they may, notwithstanding anything contained in any other Act of Parliament, take debentures, debenture stock, or annuity certificates under this Act as a security for such loan.

(7) AS TO GENERAL RULES.

Application of rules in Schedule.

29. The general rules in the Schedule to this Act with respect to the transfer and transmission of nominal securities shall have the same force as if they were enacted in the body of this Act.

Power to make general rules.

30. The local authority may from time to time, with the consent of the Local Government Board (a), make, and, when made, add to, rescind, or alter, such rules as they think fit with respect to the following matters:

(1) The issue of coupons, the registry of securities, the mode of transferring securities not transferable by delivery, the fees, if any, to be charged in respect of registry and otherwise in respect of any security issued by them under this Act; and

(2) With respect to any matter or thing required for the purposes of carrying into effect this Act, and not inconsistent therewith.

The local authority may also by such rules as aforesaid add to, rescind, or alter any of the rules in the Schedule hereto.

Any general rules made by the local authority in pursuance of this section shall, so far as they are consistent with this Act, have the same force as if they were enacted therein.

Provided, that any rules made, added to, rescinded, or altered in pursuance of this section shall not affect any securities issued in respect of any loan the date of which is prior to the date of such making, addition, rescission, or alteration.

(a) The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Minister of Health.

(8) AS TO BORROWING.

Borrowing and re-borrowing by local authorities.

31. Any local authority, notwithstanding any provision in any other Act of Parliament passed before the passing of this Act, may, if it thinks fit, borrow in manner provided by this Act any loan which it is authorised to borrow (a).

Any local authority may from time to time in like manner re-borrow money for the purpose of discharging any loan lawfully contracted by them either before or after the passing of this Act: Provided that the time for repayment of any money so borrowed shall not be extended beyond the unexpired

Section 31. portion of the term for which the original loan was contracted, unless with the sanction of the Local Government Board (b), and in no case shall be extended beyond the prescribed period.

(a) It is to be observed that this Act regulates the mode of borrowing and the securities to be given, but it does not itself authorise borrowing in any particular case or cases.

(b) The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Minister of Health.

(9) AS TO FORGERY AND LOSS OF SECURITIES.

Forgery of securities. 24 & 25 Vict. c. 98.

32. For the purposes of the Forgery Act, 1861, debenture stock under this Act shall be deemed to be capital stock of a body corporate, and any other security issued in pursuance of this Act shall be considered to be a writing obligatory, and any coupon bearing across its face an addition in written, printed, or stamped letters of the name of any banker, or of the words "and company" in full or abbreviated, between two transverse lines, shall be deemed to be a cheque or draft on a banker (a).

(a) As to crossed coupons, see note (a) to s. 18, ante, p. 2350. And see the Forged Transfers Acts, 1891 and 1892, post, pp. 2532, 2541.

Loss of securities.

33. If any security issued under this Act is lost mislaid or destroyed, the local authority shall, on such indemnity being given as they may require, and on payment of the expenses of the issue, issue a fresh security in the place of the security so lost mislaid or destroyed.

(10) DEFINITIONS.

Definitions.

34. For the purposes of this Act—

"Prescribed" means prescribed by any Act passed either before or after the passing of this Act authorising a local authority to borrow money:

"Local authority" means the justices of any county, liberty, riding, parts, or division of a county in general or quarter sessions assembled, the council of any municipal borough, also any authority whatsoever having power to levy a rate, as in this Act defined, also any prescribed authority:

5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 76.

"Municipal borough" means any borough for the time being subject to the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, and any Acts amending the same (a):

A "rate" means a rate the proceeds of which are applicable to public local purposes and leviable on the basis of an assessment in respect of property, and includes any sum which, though obtained in the first instance by a precept, certificate, or other document requiring payment from some authority or officer, is or can be ultimately raised out of a rate; and the levy of a rate includes the issue and enforcement of any such precept, certificate, or document as aforesaid; and expressions relating to the levy and the assessment and making of a rate shall be construed accordingly:

"Local rate" means any rate as before defined which a local authority have power to levy or charge by way of mortgage or otherwise:

"Security" means any debenture, debenture stock, annuity certificate, coupon, or stock certificate to bearer issued under this Act:

"Person" includes a body of persons corporate or unincorporate:

"Executors and administrators" includes successors.

(a) Now the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882. See s. 242 of that Act.

Section 35.

(11) REPEAL AND CONSEQUENTIAL ENACTMENT.

35. [Repeal of 36 & 37 Vict. c. 35] (a).

(a) Repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1883.

36. [Incorporation of justices] (a).

(a) This section is omitted as immaterial for the purposes of the present work. It related to the incorporation of the justices of a county for the purposes of this Act.

SCHEDULE.

GENERAL RULES.

Transfer of Nominal Securities.

[Sect. 29.]

(1) A number of persons, not exceeding such number as may from time to time be directed by the local authority, may be registered as joint owners of the same nominal security, with right of survivorship between them (a).

(2) Unless otherwise directed by a general rule of the local authority, the instrument of transfer of any nominal security issued by local authority shall be executed both by the transferor and transferee, and the transferor shall be deemed to remain owner of such security until the name of the transferee is entered in the register in respect thereof.

(3) The transfer books of nominal securities may be closed at such times, not exceeding twice in each year, and not exceeding fourteen days at each time of closing, as the local authority may direct.

Transmission of Nominal Securities.

(4) The executors or administrators of a deceased owner of a nominal security shall be the only persons recognised by the local authority as having any title to such security.

(5) Any person becoming entitled to a nominal security in consequence of the death or bankruptcy of any owner, or in consequence of the marriage of any female owner, may be registered as owner upon such evidence being produced as may from time to time be required by the local authority.

(6) Unless otherwise directed by a rule of the local authority, any person who has become entitled to a nominal security in consequence of the death or bankruptcy of any owner, or in consequence of the marriage of any female owner, may, instead of being registered himself, elect to have some person to be named by him registered as a transferee of such security.

(7) The person so becoming entitled shall testify such election by executing to his nominee an instrument of transfer of such security.

(8) The instrument of transfer shall be presented to the local authority, accompanied with such evidence as the local authority may require to prove the title of the transferor, and thereupon the local authority shall register the transferee as owner.

(9) In the construction of this schedule the term "nominal security" means any nominal debenture, nominal debenture stock, or nominal annuity certificate.

(a) See also the Law of Property Act, 1925, s. 111.

Section 1.

THE CONSPIRACY, AND PROTECTION OF PROPERTY ACT, 1875 (a).

(38 & 39 VICT. c. 86.)

An Act for amending the Law relating to Conspiracy, and to the Protection of Property, and for other purposes. [13th August, 1875.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Conspiracy, and Protection of Property Act, 1875."

(a) This Act is amended by the Trade Disputes and Trade Unions Act, 1927 (17 & 18 Geo. 5, c. 22). Section 6 of that Act which relates to local authorities is set out at p. 2944, post.

* * * * * *

Breach of contract by persons employed in supply of gas or water.

4. Where a person employed by a municipal authority or by any company or contractor upon whom is imposed by Act of Parliament the duty, or who have otherwise assumed the duty of supplying any city, borough, town, or place, or any part thereof, with gas or water, wilfully and maliciously (a) breaks a contract of service with that authority or company or contractor, knowing or having reasonable cause to believe that the probable consequences of his so doing, either alone or in combination with others, will be to deprive the inhabitants of that city, borough, town, place, or part, wholly or to a great extent of their supply of gas or water, he shall on conviction thereof by a court of summary jurisdiction or on indictment as herein-after mentioned, be liable either to pay a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds or to be imprisoned for a term not exceeding three months, with or without hard labour.

Every such municipal authority, company, or contractor as is mentioned in this section shall cause to be posted up, at the gasworks or waterworks as the case may be, belonging to such authority or company or contractor, a printed copy of this section in some conspicuous place where the same may be conveniently read by the persons employed, and as often as such copy becomes defaced, obliterated, or destroyed, shall cause it to be renewed with all reasonable despatch.

If any municipal authority or company or contractor make default in complying with the provisions of this section in relation to such notice as aforesaid, they or he shall incur on summary conviction a penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day during which such default continues, and every person who unlawfully injures, defaces, or covers up any notice so posted up as aforesaid in pursuance of this Act, shall be liable on summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings (b).

(a) As to the meaning of this word, see s. 15, post, p. 2357. As to the right to claim trial by jury, see R. v. Mitchell, [1913] 1 K. B. 561; 77 J. P. 148.

(b) This section has been extended to persons employed by a joint electricity authority or by any authorised undertakers, see s. 31 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, post, p. 2890.

* * * * * *

Definitions of "municipal authority" and "public company."

14. The expression "municipal authority" in this Act means any of the following authorities, that is to say, the Metropolitan Board of Works, the Common Council of the city of London, the Commissioners of Sewers of the city of London, the town council of any borough for the time being subject to the Act of the session of the fifth and sixth years of the reign of King William the Fourth, chapter seventy-six, intituled "An Act to provide for the Regulation of Municipal Corporations in England and Wales," and any Act amending the same, any commissioners, trustees, or other persons invested by any local Act of Parliament with powers of improving, cleansing, lighting, or paving any town, and any local board.

Section 14.

Any municipal authority or company or contractor who has obtained authority by or in pursuance of any general or local Act of Parliament to supply the streets of any city, borough, town, or place, or of any part thereof, with gas, or which is required by or in pursuance of any general or local Act of Parliament to supply water on demand to the inhabitants of any city, borough, town, or place, or any part thereof, shall for the purposes of this Act be deemed to be a municipal authority or company or contractor upon whom is imposed by Act of Parliament the duty of supplying such city, borough, town, or place, or part thereof, with gas or water.

"Maliciously" in this Act construed as in Malicious Injuries to Property Act.

15. The word "maliciously" used in reference to any offence under this Act shall be construed in the same manner as it is required by the fifty-eighth section of the Act relating to malicious injuries to property, that is to say, the Act of the session of the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter ninety-seven, to be construed in reference to any offence committed under such last-mentioned Act.

THE PUBLIC WORKS LOANS ACT, 1875.

(38 & 39 VICT. c. 89) (a).

An Act to consolidate with Amendments the Acts relating to Loans for Public Works. [13th August, 1875.]

PRELIMINARY.

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Public Works Loans Act, 1875."

(a) The clause of enactment and s. 2 of this Act are repealed by the S. L. R. (No. 2) A., 1893. See the P. H. A., 1875, ss. 233—244, ante, pp. 519—537. See also the amending Acts, 39 & 40 Vict. c. 31; 41 Vict. c. 18; 42 & 43 Vict. c. 77; 44 & 45 Vict. c. 38; 45 & 46 Vict. c. 62; 50 & 51 Vict. c. 37; 55 & 56 Vict. c. 61; 59 & 60 Vict. c. 42; 60 & 61 Vict. c. 51; 61 & 62 Vict. c. 54; 62 & 63 Vict. c. 31; 3 Edw. 7, c. 28; 1 & 2 Geo. 5, c. 17; 7 & 8 Geo. 5, c. 32; 8 & 9 Geo. 5, c. 27. The other Acts relating to Public Works Loans, 43 & 44 Vict. c. 1; 47 & 48 Vict. c. 49; 48 & 49 Vict. c. 65; 49 & 50 Vict. c. 45; 51 & 52 Vict. c. 39; 52 & 53 Vict. c. 71; 53 & 54 Vict. c. 50; 54 & 55 Vict. c. 59; 56 & 57 Vict. cc. 24, 40; 57 & 58 Vict. c. 11; 59 Vict. c. 2; 1 Edw. 7, c. 35; 2 Edw. 7, c. 22; 3 Edw. 7, c. 28; 4 Edw. 7, c. 36; 5 Edw. 7, c. 22; 6 Edw. 7, c. 29; 7 Edw. 7, c. 36; 2 & 3 Geo. 5, c. 11; 3 & 4 Geo. 5, c. 22; 4 & 5 Geo. 5, c. 33; 5 & 6 Geo. 5, c. 68; 6 & 7 Geo. 5, c. 28; 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 52; 10 & 11 Geo. 5, c. 61; 11 & 12 Geo. 5, c. 54; 12 & 13 Geo. 5, c. 33; 13 & 14 Geo. 5, c. 29; 14 & 15 Geo. 5, c. 26; 15 & 16 Geo. 5, c. 62; 16 & 17 Geo. 5, c. 2; 17 Geo. 5, c. 1; 17 & 18 Geo. 5, c. 28; 19 Geo. 5, c. 5; are not included in this Appendix, as they relate only to the appointment of Commissioners, or to the grant of money by Parliament for the purposes of loans, or to particular loans.

2. [Commencement of Act.]

Extent of Act.

3. This Act shall extend to the Isle of Man.

PUBLIC WORKS LOAN COMMISSIONERS.

Constitution, etc. of Public Works Loan Commissioners.

4. For the purpose of loans out of moneys issued in pursuance of this Act, and for the purpose of the execution of this Act and of any enactment passed or hereafter to be passed authorising or referring to such loans, there shall be a body of commissioners (in this Act referred to as the Loan Commissioners), who may be styled the Public Works Loan Commissioners.

Section 4.

Every person who may from time to time be appointed by Act of Parliament a Public Works Loan Commissioner shall, on signing the declaration in the Second Schedule to this Act, be deemed to be one of the Public Works Loan Commissioners under this Act (a).

The Public Works Loan Commissioners shall hold office during such period as may be authorised by any Act appointing them, and if no period is so authorised, during the period of five years after the passing of such Act, and, if at the expiration of such period successors have not been appointed, may continue to hold office until successors be appointed, subject to this qualification, that they shall not grant any new loan after the expiration of such period.

Whenever any vacancy among the Commissioners occurs by any Commissioner dying or declining to act, or declining further to act, the remaining Commissioners or a majority of them may by writing under their hands and seals, with the concurrence of the Treasury, appoint such person to fill the vacancy as seems fit, and the person so appointed shall, on signing the declaration in the Second Schedule to this Act, be deemed to be one of the Public Works Loan Commissioners under this Act, and shall hold office for the period during which the Commissioner in whose place he is appointed would have held office.

A Public Works Loan Commissioner shall not receive any salary, fee, or emolument in respect of his services as such Commissioner.

(a) The names of the present Commissioners will be found in 15 & 16 Geo. 5, c. 62.

Powers, etc. of Commissioners.

5. With respect to the Loan Commissioners the following provisions shall have effect:

(1) The Loan Commissioners may sue and be sued in the name of their secretary for the time being; and no action or suit in law or equity brought or commenced by or against the said Commissioners in the name of their secretary for the time being shall abate or be discontinued by the death or removal of such secretary, or by the act of such secretary without the consent of the said Commissioners; but the secretary to the said Commissioners for the time being shall always be deemed the plaintiff or defendant in such action or suit as the case may be; and

(2) The Commissioners may examine any persons willing to be examined on any matters connected with the execution of this Act, and may for that purpose, or otherwise for the purpose of the execution of this Act, administer an oath, and take any affidavits or declaration; and

3) The Loan Commissioners shall annually cause to be made out up to the end of every financial year a report of their transactions under this Act during the year, and such report shall contain or have annexed thereto the prescribed particulars respecting moneys issued to and loans granted by the Commissioners either before or after the passing of this Act, and the execution of the duties of the Loan Commissioners, and such other particulars as the Loan Commissioners may from time to time think fit:

Such particulars shall include a statement of any difference that may have arisen between the Loan Commissioners and any public department respecting the grant of any loan or the construction of any Act relating to loans by the Loan Commissioners:

Such report shall be transmitted to the Treasury within two (a) months after the date up to which it is required to be made, and shall be forthwith laid by the Treasury before both Houses of Parliament if Parliament be then sitting, or if not, within one month after the then next sitting of Parliament; and

Section 5.

(4) Any minute made of proceedings at meetings of the Commissioners, if signed by any person purporting to be the chairman, either of the meeting of the Commissioners at which such proceedings took place, or of the next ensuing meeting of the Commissioners, shall be receivable in evidence in all legal proceedings without further proof, and until the contrary is proved every meeting of the Commissioners, in respect of the proceedings of which minutes have been so made, shall be deemed to have been duly convened and held, and all the members thereof to have been duly qualified to act; and

(5) An act or proceeding of the Commissioners shall not be questioned on account of any vacancy or vacancies in their body.

(a) Three. See the Public Works Loans Act, 1899, s. 6.

Officers and their salaries and expenses.

6. The Loan Commissioners may from time to time appoint or employ a secretary, solicitor, civil engineer, surveyor, and such number of officers, clerks, messengers, and other persons as they may, with the consent of the Treasury, deem necessary, and may remove any person so appointed or employed.

The Loan Commissioners may from time to time assign to any person so appointed or employed by them such salary or remuneration as they may, with the sanction of the Treasury, think proper.

A person appointed or employed by the Loan Commissioners, in pursuance of this section, shall not receive any remuneration in respect of such appointment or employment or otherwise in respect of the execution of his duties under this Act, except such as may be assigned to him in pursuance of this section.

Every such salary or remuneration, and all expenses incurred by the Loan Commissioners in the execution of this Act, shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament.

Securities given to and property vested in secretary to vest in his successor.

7. Where under this or any other Act or any conveyance obligation, or security, any real or personal property, or any estate or interest therein, or any chose in action, has been or may be vested in, conveyed, made payable, or secured to the secretary of the Loan Commissioners for the time being as such secretary, and in respect of his office, all such real and personal property, estate and interest, and chose in action whatsoever, upon the death, removal, or resignation of any such secretary from time to time, and as often as the same happens and the appointment of a successor takes place, shall (subject to the same trusts, and equities, if any, as the same were before respectively subject to) vest in such succeeding secretary, by force of this Act and without any act or deed whatever to be done by the secretary dying, resigning or removed, or by the heirs, executors, or administrators of such secretary, or by any person or persons claiming under him, them, or any of them, and notwithstanding the same may have been expressed to be vested in, conveyed, made payable to or secured to such secretary, his heirs, executors, administrators, and assigns, or any of them; and shall be proceeded upon in the name of any succeeding secretary, by any action or suit in law or equity, or in any other manner as the same might have been proceeded upon by or in the name or names of such secretary dying, resigning, or removed.

Where the secretary of the Loan Commissioners is a party to any action, suit, or other legal proceeding, such secretary acting under the direction of the Commissioners shall be deemed to represent the Crown, so far as regards the interest of the Crown in any loan granted under this Act or any money due under a security for any such loan, and it shall not be necessary to make the Crown or any other person on behalf of the Crown, a party to such action, suit, or proceeding, in respect of such interest as aforesaid.

Section 7.

Execution of conveyances, leases, etc. by secretary on behalf of Commissioners.

8. All conveyances, leases, mortgages, releases, arrangements, and things which the Loan Commissioners are authorised by this Act to grant, execute, make, or concur in, and all powers, acts, and things which the Loan Commissioners are authorised by this Act to exercise, do, or concur in, in relation to any mortgaged property or rate, may be granted, executed, made, concurred in, exercised, and done by their secretary for the time being under their direction, and when so granted, executed, made, concurred in, exercised, and done by such secretary, shall be deemed to have been granted, executed, made, concurred in, exercised, and done by him under the direction of the Commissioners, unless the contrary is shown by some person interested in contesting the validity thereof.

Any property, chose in action, estate, interest, powers, authorities, and privileges vested in or exercisable by the secretary of the Commissioners in pursuance of this Act shall be dealt with and exercised by him under the direction of the Commissioners and not otherwise.

OBJECTS, TERMS, AND DURATION OF LOAN.

Loans for public works.

9. The Loan Commissioners may, if they think it expedient, from time to time, in manner mentioned in this Act, make loans for the purpose of any of the works mentioned in the First Schedule to this Act, to any person having power under an Act of Parliament or otherwise to borrow for such purpose (a).

The Loan Commissioners in considering the propriety of granting a loan shall have regard to the sufficiency of the security for its repayment, and, subject to the provisions of any special Act, shall determine whether the work for which the loan is asked would be such a benefit to the public as to justify a loan out of public money, having regard to the amount of money placed at their disposal by Parliament (b).

(a) The schedule includes all, or nearly all, the purposes for which a sanitary authority may borrow money. By the Public Works Loans Act, 1896, s. 2, post, p. 2565, there shall be added to the works for which the Commissioners may lend, any work for which the council of a county, borough, district, or parish are authorised to borrow. By the Small Dwellings Acquisition Act, 1899, s. 9 (7), ante, p. 1078, the Commissioners may lend money to a local authority for the purposes of that Act. Separate accounts must be kept by a local authority of all loans from the Commissioners on the security of the rates. See the Public Works Loans Act, 1882, s. 8, post, p. 2459. See also Housing Act, 1925, ss. 89 and 90, ante, p. 1454.

(b) See the notes to s. 243 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 536.

Interest on loan.

10. Every loan granted under this Act shall bear interest at a rate not less than the rate authorised by a special Act relating to such loan (a), or if no rate be so authorised, not less than five per cent. per annum: Provided that when the aggregate amount of principal moneys due by any harbour authority to the Commissioners under the Harbours and Passing Tolls, etc. Act, 1861, exceeds one hundred thousand pounds, the rate of interest on such excess shall be three-and-a-half per cent., or such higher rate, not exceeding five per cent., as may in the judgment of the Treasury be necessary to enable the loan to be made without loss to the Exchequer.

24 & 25 Vict. c. 47.

(a) See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 243, ante, p. 536, and the notes thereto. See also the Housing Act, 1925, s. 89 (2), ante, p. 1454, and s. 1 of the Public Works Loans Act, 1897, s. 1, and notes thereto, post, p. 2567. In the application of the above sections to loans granted after June 28th, 1892, 4 per cent. is to be read instead of 5 per cent. See the Public Works Loans Act, 1892, s. 2, post, p. 2551.

Term of years for repayment of loan.

11. Every loan granted under this Act shall be made repayable by instalments (in the form of an annuity or otherwise) within a period from the date of the actual advance of such loan, not exceeding the period authorised by a special Act relating to such loan, or if no period be so authorised not exceeding twenty (a) years.

Where a loan has been granted repayable within a period less than the full period allowed by the foregoing provisions of this section, the Loan Commissioners, if the repayment of the loan with interest is in their opinion sufficiently secured by such security as is required by this Act, and if they think fit, may extend the period for the repayment of such loan to a period not exceeding the said full period from the date of the advance of such loan.

Where no period is authorised by a special Act relating to the loan, the Treasury, on the recommendation of the Loan Commissioners, stating special circumstances, may either before or after the grant of the loan, extend the period within which the loan is to be repaid to such period as may be recommended by the Loan Commissioners (b).

The Loan Commissioners in considering whether the period for the repayment of a loan should or should not be the said full period, and the Loan Commissioners and the Treasury in considering whether the period should be extended as aforesaid, shall have regard to the durability of the work for the purpose of which the loan is granted, and to the expediency of the cost of the work being paid by the generation of persons who will immediately benefit by such work.

The first instalment for the repayment of every loan shall be made payable within a period not exceeding five years from the date of the advance of such loan.

(a) This maximum period is now fifty years: see Public Works Loans Act, 1911, s. 4, post, p. 2709; it had previously been raised to thirty by the Public Works Loans Act, 1898, s. 5.

(b) See note (a) to s. 10, ante, p. 2360.

Security for loans.

12. The Loan Commissioners before advancing any money on account of a loan shall take security for the repayment of the loan with the interest, consisting of the security authorised by the special Act relating to the loan, or if none is so authorised, of a mortgage of property or of a rate, or of both property and a rate, and (save as hereinafter mentioned) of personal security.

The Loan Commissioners may, if they think fit, dispense with personal security in any case in which in their opinion the mortgaged property or rate is sufficient security for the payment of the principal and interest of the loan within the stipulated period.

FUNDS FOR LOANS.

13. [Annual estimates of amounts required] (a).

(a) This section is repealed by the Public Works Loans Act, 1882—see note (b) to s. 8 of that Act, post, p. 2460.

14. [Treasury to issue sums required for loans] (a).

(a) This section and part of s. 15 were repealed by the National Debt and Local Loans Act, 1887, s. 21. By that Act the National Debt Commissioners were required to issue to the Public Works Loan Commissioners the amount authorised by Parliament for advances to be made by the Loan Commissioners, and these advances are in the Act included under the expression "local loans." For this purpose the Act further established the Local Loans Fund under the control of the National Debt Commissioners, and out of this fund all advances are now made for the purpose of local loans.

Borrowing for the purpose of raising money.

15. . . . The annuities created in pursuance of this section, and the principal moneys borrowed in pursuance of this section (otherwise than by the issue of Exchequer bonds) and all interest from time to time due thereon, or on Exchequer bonds issued under this section (not exceeding the rate of five per cent. per annum) shall be charged upon and be payable out of the Consolidated Fund, or out of the growing produce thereof, at such times in each year as may be fixed by the Treasury.

Section 15.

The principal of any Exchequer bonds issued under this section shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament.

. . . . . .

The said annuities shall, in manner directed by the warrant, be consolidated in the said books, if terminable, with annuities payable at the same date, and, if permanent, with annuities at the same rate of interest, and payable at the same date, and shall be transferable in the said books in like manner as the annuities with which they are consolidated, and shall be subject to the enactments relating to those annuities so far as is consistent with the tenor of those enactments.

16. [Money issued by Treasury to be issued to National Debt Commissioners] (a).

(a) Sections 16 and 17 were repealed by the National Debt and Local Loans Act, 1887, s. 21.

17. [Sums repaid to be paid into the Exchequer] (a).

(a) See note (a) to s. 16, supra.

RECOVERY OF LOANS.

Charge on property and priority of loan by the Commissioners.

18. Where a loan is granted by the Loan Commissioners on the security of a mortgage of any property (whether with or without any other security), the property from and after the date of the mortgage shall be charged with the payment to the use of her Majesty of the loan with interest as in the mortgage mentioned, in priority, save so far as otherwise specified in the mortgage, over every other debt, mortgage, or charge whatsoever affecting the property, except any loan due to any creditor not assenting to such priority which has been advanced in good faith before the loan advanced by the Commissioners and secured by a mortgage of the property executed to a person who is entitled as a bonâ fide creditor to the repayment thereof with interest.

Provided that if there is more than one such creditor and not less than four-fifths in value of such creditors consent in writing that the said charge shall have priority over the loans and mortgages of such creditors, in such case the loans and mortgages of all such creditors, as well those who have not agreed as those who have agreed, shall be postponed to the loan granted by the Commissioners and to the said charge thereof, and to the security for the same.

Nothing in any special Act (a), and no rule of law or custom, shall affect the priority given by this section, except so far as the special Act negative such priority in terms expressly referring to this Act.

(a) The special Act includes any Act relating to any person having power to borrow from the Commissioners. See the Public Works Loans (Money) Act, 1876, s. 7, post, p. 2374.

Charges on rate of loan and loan not to be repudiated by locality having had the benefit of it.

19. Where a loan is granted by the Loan Commissioners on the security of a mortgage of any rate (whether with or without any other security) such rate from and after the date of the mortgage shall be charged with the payment to the use of her Majesty of the loan with interest as in the mortgage mentioned.

Where the loan has been granted to any borrower who appeared to the Commissioners to have power to levy and mortgage such rate and has been expended upon the work in respect of which or in or for the benefit of the locality in which such rate or any part thereof is levied, the mortgage of the rate for securing the repayment of the loan with interest shall be valid, and may be enforced in pursuance of this Act, notwithstanding any defect in the power or title of the borrower by whom the mortgage purports to be granted; and in particular the Commissioners may, although such borrower was not legally constituted or is dissolved, or is otherwise incapable and always was incapable of making, levying, or mortgaging such rate, have the same power of making and levying and enforcing the making or levying the said rate for the purpose of repaying such loan and interest, and all other sums due under the mortgage, as if such borrower had been duly constituted, and was not dissolved, and had had full power to make, levy, and mortgage such rate.

Securities to be taken in name of secretary.

20. All securities for any loan granted by the Loan Commissioners in pursuance of this Act may be given to the secretary of the Commissioners on their behalf. Every such security is in this Act referred to as a security given to the Commissioners.

Taking possession by Commissioners of property on default of payment.

21. Where a mortgage of property has been given to secure any loan granted by the Loan Commissioners, and default is made in making payment according to the terms of such mortgage, then at any time after such default and without any consent on the part of any person interested in the equity of redemption of the mortgaged property, the Commissioners, without prejudice to any other remedy, shall have power to do all or any of the following things; namely,—

(1) Take possession of the mortgaged property, or any part thereof; and

(2) Grant any lease of the mortgaged property, or any part thereof, for such term and upon such reasonable conditions as they may think expedient, and that either for a premium or rent, or both; and

(3) Sell or mortgage the mortgaged property or any part thereof.

Powers of Commissioners when in possession.

22. The Loan Commissioners, when authorised to take possession of any mortgaged property, may take possession either by themselves or by any person appointed by them (whether such person is interested in the mortgaged property or not), and upon possession of any mortgaged property being so taken,—

(1) All the estate, right, interest, powers, authorities, and privileges, of what nature or kind soever, which were at the time of the making of the mortgage or may for the time being be vested in or exerciseable by the mortgagor or any person claiming through or under the mortgagor, either in relation to the property or necessary for carrying on and managing the same, shall become vested in the secretary of the Commissioners; and

(2) The Commissioners may by themselves or any person appointed as aforesaid manage and carry on the property, and receive the revenue arising therefrom, or in any way receivable in respect thereof, or otherwise, in pursuance of the mortgage, and exercise all or any of the powers and authorities vested in the secretary by this Act; and

(3) The Commissioners or their secretary or such person as aforesaid shall not be liable for the repairs or maintenance of the mortgaged property, but may apply any moneys received in respect thereof or raised from any rate towards such repairs or maintenance to such extent as the Commissioners may think expedient; and

(4) The Commissioners may, with the consent of the Treasury, advance out of moneys at their disposal under this Act sums for the completion, repair, improvement, or security of the mortgaged property, and every such sum shall be deemed and shall be a loan secured on the property and repayable with the like interest (a) from the time of the advance, and by the like person, and shall have the like priority and be recoverable in the like manner as if it were part of the original loan secured by the said mortgage ; and

(5) If the revenue received from or in respect of the property is insufficient to keep down the current expenses of working, maintaining, and repairing the same, together with the instalments of principal and the interest for the time being due on the mortgage, and no rate or no sufficient rate can be levied to meet the deficiency, the Commissioners may, with the consent of the Treasury, destroy or cause to be destroyed, or (if they sell the same) authorise the purchaser with the like consent to destroy the same, and sell or authorise the purchaser to sell the materials thereof and other the articles, goods, and effects belonging thereto, and neither the Commissioners, nor their secretary, nor the purchaser so authorised, nor his representatives, shall be liable in damages or otherwise to any person whomsoever for such destruction ; and the provisions of this Act with respect to the sale of any mortgaged property shall apply to any sale under this section ; and

(6) Possession under this Act may be relinquished at such time and in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as the Commissioners think fit, and upon such relinquishment all powers, authorities, and privileges which on the taking of possession become vested in the secretary of the Commissioners shall, so far as they are not reserved, revert to and become vested in the person in whom the same would have been vested if possession had not been taken, but the Commissioners may, if they think fit, on the relinquishment of possession, reserve any of the said powers, authorities, and privileges, with a view to the payment of any sum due to them :

(7) Every such relinquishment of possession of any mortgaged property shall be without prejudice to the power of again taking possession thereof under the provisions of this Act.

(a) Not less than 5 per cent. See the Public Works Loans Act, 1881, s. 7, post, p. 2409.

Powers in relation to rate where default made.

23. Where a loan made by the Commissioners is secured by the mortgage of a rate (whether with or without any other security), and the Commissioners might, if such loan were secured upon a mortgage of property, take possession of such property, the Commissioners may, without prejudice to any other remedy, by notice in writing served at the office or last known place of address of the mortgagor, or where from any cause the same cannot be so served by notice in writing published in the prescribed manner, declare their intention to exercise the powers conferred by this Act, and thereupon the Commissioners shall have and may exercise the same power as the mortgagor of making and levying the rate mortgaged, and for that purpose the Commissioners or their secretary with their concurrence may appoint an officer who, subject to the direction of the Commissioners, shall have and may exercise the same powers, authorities, and duties as if he had been appointed by the mortgagor.

The Commissioners, in making an estimate of the rate to be levied for the purpose of paying any sum due, may add such sum as they think sufficient for defraying and may defray thereout all costs, charges, and expenses, including remuneration to any officer or other person employed, incurred by the Commissioners in the execution of their powers under this section or otherwise by reason of the default in payment.

Any balance remaining in the hands of the Commissioners shall be paid by them to the mortgagor.

The Commissioners may, by a like notice, declare their intention to relinquish the powers conferred by this section, and that either absolutely or with reservations and conditions, and thereupon all such powers shall revest in the mortgagor, subject to the said reservations and conditions.

Liability of Commissioners after taking possession or in default of payment.

24. When the Loan Commissioners have taken possession of any property under this Act, or exercised the powers conferred by this Act in relation to any rate, neither they nor their secretary, nor any person appointed by them in that behalf, shall be liable to account to any person interested in the equity of redemption in such property or rate for any moneys which, but for their wilful neglect or default, they or he might have received when so in possession or exercising such powers, or for any moneys other than those which have actually come to their or his hands.

Sale and mortgage by Commissioners of mortgaged premises.

25. Where the Loan Commissioners have power to sell or mortgage, they shall have power to sell or mortgage either together or in parcels, by public auction or private contract, and subject to such conditions as to title or evidence of title or otherwise as the Commissioners may think proper.

They may also buy in at any auction and rescind any contract for sale or mortgage, and resell or remortgage, without being responsible for any loss occasioned thereby.

Where a sale cannot be made in the ordinary way for a sum equal to the amount remaining due under the mortgage, the Loan Commissioners may, if they think fit, sell in such manner and subject to such conditions, stipulations, and agreements as they may think expedient for the purpose of ensuring the completion or carrying on of the work comprised in such mortgage by the purchaser thereof, with a view to the public good or general benefit, or for any other purpose, notwithstanding such conditions, stipulations, and agreements may be prejudicial to the sale, or may not be beneficial to the persons interested in the equity of redemption in the property.

The Loan Commissioners may for the purpose of any sale or mortgage execute all such agreements, conveyances, and instruments as they may think fit.

Purchaser not liable to see to the validity of sale or application of money.

26. Every sale or mortgage made by the Commissioners or their secretary, and purporting to be made in pursuance of this Act, shall, so far as regards the interest of the purchaser and mortgagee, be deemed to be valid, and the purchaser or mortgagee shall not be bound to see or inquire whether the sale or mortgage is authorised, nor in the case of a mortgage whether the money raised is required to be raised, nor as to the necessity or expediency of or authority for making the conditions, stipulations, or agreements subject to which the sale or mortgage was made, nor otherwise as to the propriety or regularity of such sale or mortgage, nor be affected by express notice as to any matters into which he is not bound to see or inquire.

The receipt in writing of the Bank of England, or one of their cashiers or other proper officer for the purpose of the Bank of England, or other prescribed receipt, shall be a full discharge for the money paid on the sale or mortgage, and the person paying the same shall not be bound to see to the application of such money, or be liable or in any manner accountable for the misapplication or non-application thereof.

Terms of lease, sale, or mortgage.

27. Any lease, mortgage, conveyance (a), or other disposition made by the secretary of the Commissioners under this Act of any mortgaged property may be in the prescribed form, and shall convey to the person in whose favour such lease, mortgage, conveyance, or other disposition is made, and according to the terms thereof, all or any part of the estate, right, interest, powers, authorities, and privileges, which under the mortgage and this Act are vested in or capable of being exercised by the Loan Commissioners, or their secretary, either before or after possession taken, and the same shall thereupon be vested in and may be exercised and put in force by such person accordingly.

Nothing in this Act shall operate to invalidate or affect the rights of any person entitled bonâ fide to any debt, estate, or interest, having priority over or ranking pari passu with the loan granted by the Commissioners, or the security for such loan, or the rights of any lessee under any lease made either prior to such security or with the concurrence of the Commissioners.

(a) See the definition of a conveyance in s. 51, post, p. 2371.

Application of money arising on taking possession, sale, mortgage, etc. by Commissioners.

28. Any money arising from the taking possession, lease, sale, mortgage, or other disposition under this Act by or under the direction of the Loan Commissioners of any mortgaged property shall be applied first in discharge of all costs, charges, and expenses incurred by or under the direction of the Commissioners in respect thereof, or otherwise by reason of the default in payment, and secondly in discharge of the whole of the principal of the loan secured by the mortgage and for the time being unpaid (notwithstanding that the same or any instalment thereof may not have become actually due), and in discharge of all interest accrued due on such principal, and of all other sums (if any) due under the mortgage.

The surplus (if any) of such money either shall be paid to the mortgagor or other person or persons entitled thereto, or, if the Commissioners think fit, shall be paid by the secretary of the Commissioners into the Court of Chancery in England in like manner as if he were a trustee of such money for the persons entitled thereto, and the court may make such orders for the payment and distribution of such money to or among those persons as may from time to time seem to the court just.

Payment of loan before it is due, and transfer of security for all or part of loan.

29. The Loan Commissioners may, if they think fit, at any time accept payment of the whole or any part of the principal and interest of any loan or other moneys secured by any mortgage under this Act before the time when the same is due, and may release or convey the mortgaged property or rate to the person paying the same or as he may direct, upon such terms and conditions and in such manner and form as the Commissioners may think expedient.

The person in whose favour any conveyance of the mortgaged property or rate under this section is made shall, subject to any limitations inserted therein, be entitled to the like priorities, powers, and authorities as the Commissioners or their secretary were entitled to, either subject to or with priority over or concurrently with any priorities, powers, and authorities reserved to the Commissioners by the conveyance.

The Commissioners shall have full power to enter into and concur in all such arrangements as they may deem expedient for the purposes of carrying into effect a release or conveyance under this section.

Discharge of security and revesting of property on

30. Upon all money due under a mortgage under this Act being fully paid the Commissioners shall, when required, give in the prescribed manner to the person liable to the payment thereof a receipt in writing for the same, and such further sufficient discharge (if any) as may seem to the Commissioners to be necessary, and upon such receipt being given the mortgaged rate shall be released from the charge and the mortgaged property, or the part thereof not sold or disposed of under this Act, shall (unless the Commissioners, on the request and at the expense of the person paying the said money, make any other disposition thereof), revest in the person who would have been entitled thereto if the mortgage had not been made, subject nevertheless to any lease, mortgage, or other act previously made or done by or under the direction of the Commissioners.

Repayment of loan.

31. Where an individual liable to pay as principal or surety the principal or interest of any loan under this Act becomes bankrupt or insolvent, or enters into any composition or arrangement with his creditors, or has his affairs liquidated by arrangement, or takes the benefit of, or becomes subject to the provisions of any Act passed for the relief of persons in debt, or for enabling the property of such persons to be distributed among their creditors, or where any company liable to pay as principal or surety the principal or interest of any loan under this Act becomes bankrupt or is wound up, the whole of such loan shall become due immediately, notwithstanding that the date for the payment thereof or part thereof has not arrived, unless in the case of a surety the Commissioners think fit to accept some other surety.

Bankruptcy debtor.

32. Every security given under this Act may be in such form as may be prescribed (a), and the fact of the secretary of the Loan Commissioners being a party thereto shall be conclusive evidence that the same is in the prescribed form, and every such security shall be valid and effectual to pass all the estate, right, and interest purporting to be passed thereunder by the parties executing the same, subject to the provisions of this Act.

Form of mortgage.

(a) See the definition in s. 51, post, p. 2371.

33. Every sum payable under any security made in pursuance of this Act shall be made payable to the use of her Majesty, and may be recovered as a specialty debt due to the Crown, in like manner as if the security had been made in the form provided by the Act of the thirty-third year of the reign of Henry the Eighth, chapter thirty-nine; but no person shall be liable for any larger sum than that which he is expressed to be bound to pay.

Recovery of debt on personal security.

Every sum payable in respect of a loan granted by the Loan Commissioners (either before or after the passing of this Act) or under the security for such loan, shall be compounded for or released only under the authority of Parliament in each case (a).

The Loan Commissioners may issue a warrant to the proper officer forthwith to enforce payment of such debt to the Crown as aforesaid, and if necessary to enter satisfaction therefor, and shall have the control over any proceedings taken to enforce such debt, and such proceedings shall not be discontinued, quashed, or abated without the written authority of the Loan Commissioners.

The Court of Exchequer, or other competent court, or any judge thereof, may, upon the production of the said warrant, direct an immediate writ of extent, or of diem clausit extremum, to issue without any writ of scire facias or any affidavit or other proof of the cause of the proceeding.

Nothing in this Act shall render it the duty of the Loan Commissioners to issue such warrant or to register such writ or debt, unless they are of opinion that it is necessary for the purpose of securing the payment of the debt, or that otherwise under the particular circumstances it is expedient so to do.

Note to Section 33.

(a) The Commissioners may reduce the interest on any loan made before this Act to any rate not less than 4 per cent., but this provision is not to take away or abridge the power of the Commissioners to reduce the interest on any loan under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 243 (ante, p. 536). See the Public Works Loans (Money) Act, 1876, s. 6, post, p. 2374.

Recovery of loan after the expiration of term for repayment.

34. The expiration of the period within which a loan under this Act is made repayable (whether such period is the full period allowed by this or the special Act or a shorter period) shall not in any way affect any power of the Loan Commissioners of recovering or enforcing payment of any sum due in respect of such loan (a).

(a) This provision appears to meet a difficulty such as occurred in R. v. Wigan, ante, p. 528.

SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS AS TO LOANS AND SECURITIES.

Security for completion of works partly finished or not commenced.

35. Where the Commissioners grant a loan in aid of any work which is either partly completed or not commenced, they may, by a bond to her Majesty or otherwise, take such security for the application of the loan to the work, and for the due completion of the work (including the raising of sufficient funds for that purpose), as they may think sufficient for securing the interest to the public.

Examination as to proper application of moneys lent.

36. Where the Loan Commissioners advance any loan for any purpose on the security of a rate, it shall be the duty of the Local Government Board to satisfy themselves that the loan is applied to such purpose; they may from time to time make such examination as they may think necessary with a view to ascertain that such loan has been so applied.

The Local Government Board may appoint any officer to conduct on their behalf any examination under this section, and such officer shall have the same powers to require the attendance of persons and the production of accounts and other documents, so far as such attendance or production is required for the purpose of such examination, as an inspector of the Local Government Board has under the Acts relating to the relief of the poor (a).

(a) This section is amended by the Public Works Loans Act, 1878, s. 4 (giving power to the Commissioners to enforce the proper application of the loans by mandamus), post, p. 2404, and by the Public Works Loans Act, 1881, ss. 8, 9 (giving power to make and enforce orders as to expenses of inquiries into the application of loans and providing for the application of unapplied balances), post, p. 2409. For the powers of a poor law inspector, see the Poor Law Act, 1927, s. 223, and notes to s. 296 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 630.

Suspension of payment of principal and interest.

37. The Treasury may, on the recommendation of the Loan Commissioners, postpone for any time not exceeding five years the payment of the instalments of principal and interest, or either, due or to become due in respect of a loan granted by the Commissioners for the purpose of any work, and that upon such terms and conditions for the completion and improvement of such work, and the ultimate payment of such principal and interest, as the Treasury may on the said recommendation authorise.

Change of security.

38. The Loan Commissioners may, subject to the prescribed regulations if under the circumstances of the case they think fit, accept any security in lieu of any security previously given to them, or of any part of such security, and that subject to such terms and conditions as they direct; so, however, that the substituted security shall be of the character which the Commissioners might take if the loan were originally granted at the time of such substitution, and that no change of security under this section shall extend the period for the repayment of the loan.

Concurrence by Commissioners in leases, sales, etc. of mortgaged property.

39. The Loan Commissioners may concur in any lease, conveyance, release, or other disposition of any property mortgaged under this Act, or any part thereof, and in the arrangements relative thereto, upon such terms and conditions as they may think fit, and either with or without consideration, so that in their opinion the payment, with interest, of the loan charged on the mortgaged property is sufficiently secured or is not thereby made less secure.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS AS TO BORROWERS.

Power to various authorities to mortgage and levy rates.

40. The justices for any county, or any riding, division, parts, or liberty of a county, in general or quarter sessions assembled, may (if they resolve by a majority of not less than five justices so to do) borrow money from the Loan Commissioners for the purpose of building, rebuilding, enlarging, repairing, improving, and fitting up any police station and justices room, and offices connected therewith, or any of such purposes, and may levy a rate or any increase of a county rate for the purpose of paying the principal and interest of such loan, and may mortgage such rate or the county rate to the Loan Commissioners in accordance with this Act (a).

The council of any borough may borrow money from the Loan Commissioners for the purpose of building, rebuilding, enlarging, repairing, improving, and fitting up any police station and justices room, and offices connected therewith, or any of such purposes, and may levy a rate or an increase of the borough rate for the purpose of paying the principal and interest of such loan, and may mortgage such rate or the borough rate to the Loan Commissioners in accordance with this Act (b).

The said justices and council respectively (b) shall have power to give the mortgage in such manner and form as the Loan Commissioners may direct.

(a) County loans are now raised by the county council under s. 69 of the L. G. A., 1888, and securities for loans previously raised by the justices are to be discharged by the county council under s. 122 (1) of the same Act.

(b) This paragraph and the words "and council respectively," are repealed as to boroughs within the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882 (see Sched. I., Part 2, of that Act), because other provision is now made under s. 120 of that Act.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Regulations by Commissioners (a).

41. The Loan Commissioners may from time to time make regulations for carrying into effect this Act, and in particular with respect to the quorum and proceedings of the Commissioners and the authentication of documents made or issued or directions given or acts done by them, and with respect to loans under this Act and application therefor, and annual and quarterly statements of the amounts required to be borrowed, and the information to be given and conditions to be complied with by the applicants, and with respect to the forms to be used, including the forms of the securities, and with respect to any fees or sums to be paid by the applicants or by other persons dealing with such Commissioners, and with respect to the relations between such Commissioners and the National Debt Commissioners and the Bank of England.

Every such regulation shall be submitted for the approval of the Treasury, and as approved by them with such modifications and additions as they think fit, shall be published in the London Gazette, and when so published shall have effect as if it was enacted in this Act.

Every such regulation shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament as soon as may be after the making thereof if Parliament be then sitting, or if Parliament be not then sitting, within one month after the then next meeting of Parliament. Every regulation, purporting to be made in pursuance of this section, shall after the expiration of six months after its publication in the London Gazette be deemed to have been duly made and to have been within the powers of this Act.

Regulations made under this section may be from time to time rescinded, altered, and added to in like manner as the original regulations.

(a) Regulations have been made under this section, and will be found set out in App. II., post, p. 3452.

42. [Payment of fees and other sums into the Exchequer] (a).

(a) Repealed by S. L. R. A., 1883.

Accounts.

43. The Loan Commissioners shall keep at the Bank of England such account, and under such title as the Treasury may from time to time direct, and every such account shall be deemed to be a public account.

Such accounts as the Treasury may from time to time direct of all moneys issued from or payable to the Consolidated Fund in pursuance of this Act during every financial year, and of all transactions under this Act during that year, including all sums due for the time being from any person in respect of any loan granted by the Loan Commissioners either before or after the passing of this Act, shall be kept by the National Debt Commissioners and the Loan Commissioners respectively, and such other persons (if any), and be audited by the Comptroller and Auditor-General in such manner as the Treasury may from time to time direct.

Perjury.

44. Any person who, . . . (a) for the purpose of obtaining a loan under this Act, wilfully gives information to such Commissioners which is false in any material particular, shall be guilty of perjury.

(a) Some words here repealed by the Perjury Act, 1911.

Authority, and laying before Parliament Treasury warrants.

45. The warrant of the Treasury issued under the authority of this Act shall be a sufficient authority to the Bank of England for doing the things thereby directed to be done for the purposes of this Act, and copies of any such warrant relating to the borrowing of money shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament, within one month of the date thereof, if Parliament be then sitting, and if not within one month after the then next meeting of Parliament.

Receipt for money payable on account of loan, etc.

46. The receipt in writing of the Bank of England, or one of their cashiers or other the proper officer for the purpose of the Bank of England, and any other prescribed receipt for any money paid in discharge of the principal or interest of any loan granted under this Act, or of any sum due under any security made under this Act or otherwise payable to or by the direction of the Loan Commissioners or their secretary, shall be a complete discharge to the person paying the same.

Notices may be served by post.

47. Notices, directions, orders, and documents required by this Act, or by any regulation made under this Act, to be served or sent may, unless otherwise expressly provided, be served and sent by post, and, until the contrary is proved, shall be deemed to have been served and received respectively at the time when the letter containing the same would be delivered in the ordinary course of post; and in proving such service or sending it shall be sufficient to prove that the letter containing the notice, direction, order, or document was prepaid, and properly addressed, and put into the post.

Section 47.

---

48. Notices, and documents required by this Act, or by any regulation made under this Act, to be served on the Loan Commissioners, may be so served by serving the same on their secretary, or by sending the same addressed to or delivering the same at the office of the Commissioners.

Notices to and by Commissioners.

Notices and documents required for the purposes of this Act or of any regulation made thereunder, to be served by or on the Loan Commissioners, or to be made or issued by the Loan Commissioners, shall be in writing or in print, or partly in writing and partly in print.

49. The Schedules to this Act shall be construed and have effect as part of this Act.

Effect of schedules.

50. Except so far as a special Act, by express reference to some part of this Act, alters that part, every loan made by the Loan Commissioners shall, notwithstanding any provision in such special Act (a) and any rule of law or custom, be made in accordance with and under the powers of this Act, and be repayable in manner provided by this Act, and by the security for the same granted under this Act; and every such loan, together with the security for the same, shall have the priority and be subject to the powers, authorities, and remedies mentioned in this Act; and although made in pursuance of a special Act, shall be deemed for all purposes to be a loan under this Act.

Application of Act to loans under special Acts.

(a) As to the meaning of this term, see s. 18, note (a), ante, p. 2362.

51. In this Act, if not inconsistent with the context—

Definitions.

The expression "person" includes a body of persons, whether corporate or unincorporate (a):

. . . . . .

The expression "financial year" means the year ending the thirty-first day of March:

The expression "prescribed" means prescribed by the regulations made under this Act with the approval of the Treasury:

The expression "special Act" means any Act passed before the passing of this Act which authorises the Loan Commissioners to lend money for the purposes of any work mentioned in the First Schedule to this Act and any Act passed after the passing of this Act, which authorises the Loan Commissioners to lend money for any purpose (b):

The expression "security" includes a mortgage:

The expression "mortgage" includes a charge and any instrument in the nature of a mortgage or charge, and in Scotland any heritable security:

The expression "conveyance" includes any grant, assignment, transfer, or other disposition or assurance; and the expression "convey" shall be construed accordingly:

The expression "rate" means a rate, cess, or assessment the proceeds of which are applicable to public local purposes and leviable on the basis of a valuation of property, and includes any sum which, though obtained in the first instance by a precept, certificate, or other instrument requiring payment from some authority or officer, is or can be ultimately raised out of a rate, as before defined, and the making and levying of a rate includes the issue and enforcement of any such precept, certificate, or instrument as aforesaid, and expressions relating to the making and levy of a rate shall be construed accordingly:

Any toll, due, rent, imposition, and other sum not being a rate as above defined shall be deemed to be property for the purposes of this Act.

All references to a mortgagor or borrower shall, if need be, be deemed to include a reference to the successors heirs executors administrators and assigns of, or other persons claiming through or under such mortgagor or borrower.

(a) Definitions of "the Treasury," "National Debt Commissioners," and "Bank of England," are here repealed by the S. L. R. (No. 2) A., 1893, their places being now supplied by the definitions enacted by the Interpretation Act, 1889, s. 12.

(b) See note (a) to s. 18, ante, p. 2362.

Temporary Provisions and Repeal.

52. [First commissioners] (a).

(a) Repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1883.

53. [Existing officers of commissioners] (a).

(a) Repealed by the S. L. R. (No. 2) A., 1893.

54. [Sending of statements, etc., before commencement of Act] (a).

(a) Repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1883.

Reference in Act to repealed Acts.

55. A reference in any Act to any enactment hereby repealed, or to the commissioners for the execution of any Act hereby repealed, shall, so far as is consistent with the tenor thereof, be deemed to refer to the corresponding enactment in this Act and to the Public Works Loan Commissioners under this Act.

Saving for loans and transactions under repealed Acts.

56. Save as otherwise provided by this Act this Act shall apply only to loans granted and securities made after the commencement of this Act.

The Loan Commissioners shall have the same power of making further advances on any mortgages made before the commencement of this Act and intended to secure more than the sum which has actually been advanced thereon as they would have had under the Acts repealed by this Act if they had not been repealed, but such advances shall be made out of money issued under this Act.

The Loan Commissioners, on granting any new loan to persons by whom a loan granted before the commencement of this Act is still owing, may make it a condition of the grant of such new loan that the old loan shall be deemed to have been granted in pursuance of this Act, and on such condition being accepted the old loan shall be deemed to be a loan under this Act.

For the purpose of any loans granted and securities made before the commencement of this Act, the Loan Commissioners under this Act and their secretary and other officers for the time being shall be deemed to be the same commissioners, secretary, and officers as the commissioners, secretary, and officers under the Acts in pursuance of which such loan was granted and securities made; and all securities and documents relating to such commissioners, secretary and officers shall be construed accordingly.

Repeal of Acts.

57. (a) . . . so much of any . . . enactment as authorises any loan by the Public Works Loan Commissioners for the purpose of any work other than a work mentioned in the First Schedule to this Act, or as is otherwise inconsistent with this Act, is hereby repealed . . .

Provided that—

(1) The repeal of an enactment by this Act shall not affect—

. . . . . .

Section 57.

(b) Any power to make or levy rates, or any other power capable of being exercised for the purpose of enabling or compelling the repayment of any money due on account of any loan granted by the Public Works Loan Commissioners before the commencement of this Act, whether the same or any part thereof has been actually advanced before or after such commencement.

(a) This section is printed with the omission of parts repealed by the S. L. R. (No. 2) A., 1893, and the S. L. R. A., 1883.

* * * * * *

THE PUBLIC WORKS LOANS (MONEY) ACT, 1876.

(39 & 40 VICT. c. 31) (a).

An Act to grant Money for the purpose of Loans by the Public Works Loan Commissioners, and to amend the Public Works Loans Act, 1875.

[24th July, 1876.]

PRELIMINARY.

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as the Public Works Loans (Money) Act, 1876.

(a) The preamble to this Act was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894, and by s. 4 of that Act it was enacted that in any revised edition of the Statutes published by authority, the clause of enactment may be omitted. It is accordingly omitted here and in every subsequent Act in this Appendix.

As to the subject of this Act, see also the Acts mentioned in note (a) to the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, ante, p. 2357.

2. [Commencement of Act] (a).

(a) Sections 2, 4, 5, and parts of ss. 6 and 7, here omitted, were repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. In s. 6, certain words relating to Scotland only are also omitted.

3. [Issue of money for loans] (a).

(a) This section was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1883.

AMENDMENT TO PUBLIC WORKS LOANS ACT, 1875.

4. [Application of 38 & 39 Vict. c. 89, s. 56] (a).

(a) See note (a) to s. 2, supra.

5. [Removal of doubt as to 37 & 38 Vict. c. 24] (a).

(a) See note (a) to s. 2, supra.

Explanation of 38 & 39 Vict. c. 89, s. 33, as to reduction of interest on loans to sanitary authorities.

6 (a). . . . Nothing in the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, shall be deemed to take away or abridge the power of the Loan Commissioners under section two hundred and forty-three of the Public Health Act, 1875, . . . to reduce, if they think fit, any interest payable on any such loan to a local authority as is in those sections mentioned.

(a) See note (a) to s. 2, supra.

Explanation of ss. 18, 50 of 38 & 39 Vict. c 89.

7 (a). . . . Sections eighteen and fifty of the Public Works Loans Act, 1875 (b), shall be construed as if " special Act " in those sections included any Act relating to any person having power to borrow money from the Public Works Loan Commissioners.

(a) See note (a) to s. 2, supra.
(b) See the sections referred to, ante, pp. 2362, 2371.

8. [Issue for adjustment of accounts prior to 1*st April*, 1876] (a).

(a) This section was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1883.

THE COMMONS ACT, 1876.

(39 & 40 VICT. c. 56) (a).

An Act for facilitating the Regulation and Improvement of Commons, and for amending the Acts relating to the Inclosure of Commons.

[11th August, 1876.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as the Commons Act, 1876.

(a) The preamble to this Act reciting the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1868, was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. The powers and duties of the Inclosure Commissioners were by the Settled Land Act, 1882, s. 48, transferred to the Land Commissioners, and by the Board of Agriculture Act, 1889, s. 2, the powers and duties of the latter were transferred to the Board of Agriculture, now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries (see 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 91). Throughout this Act, therefore, it is necessary to substitute the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries for the Inclosure Commissioners.

This Act confers on urban sanitary authorities important powers and duties with respect to suburban commons, which are extended to rural district councils in certain cases under s. 26 (2) of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 989. See also the Commons Act, 1899, post, p. 2602, and reference should be made to the Law of Property Act, 1925, ss. 193 and 194, post, pp. 2880, 2981.

PART I.

LAW AS TO THE REGULATION AND INCLOSURE OF COMMONS.

Applications in relation to Commons.

Alternative Provisional Order for regulation or inclosure of commons.

2. The Inclosure Commissioners (a) may entertain an application made in manner in this Act mentioned for a Provisional Order—

(1) For the regulation of a common; or

(2) For the inclosure of a common or parts of a common.

Further, an application may be made as respects the same common for the regulation of part of such common, specifying the part to be regulated, and for the inclosure of the residue, and in such case the application shall be dealt with as respects such parts as if they were separate commons, with this exception, that the boundaries as proposed in the application of the part to be regulated and the part to be inclosed may be modified by the Provisional Order.

The Commissioners shall not proceed to carry any application under this Act into effect until it is made to appear to them that the persons making the application represent at least one-third in value (b) of such interests in the common as are proposed to be affected by the Provisional Order.

(a) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a) to s. 1, supra. The consent of the Minister is also necessary to an inclosure or approvement under the Statute of Merton and the Statute of Westminster the Second, or either of such statutes. See the Law of Commons Amendment Act, 1893, s. 1. Nothing in the Copyhold Act, 1894, authorises a lord to enclose any common or waste land (57 & 58 Vict. c. 46, s. 95).

A much less cumbrous and expensive method than that afforded by this Act of providing for the regulation of a common is now given by the Commons Act, 1899, post, p. 2602. See s. 194 of the Law of Property Act, 1925, post, p. 2881, for a restriction on the inclosure of commons.

(b) As to the method of arriving at the value, see Hunter on Open Spaces, 2nd ed., pp. 136—138.

"Regulation of common" includes adjustment of rights and improvement.

3. A Provisional Order for the regulation of a common may provide, generally or otherwise, for the adjustment of rights in respect of such common, and for the improvement of such common, or for either of such purposes, or for any of the things by this Act comprised under the expression "adjustment of rights" or "improvement of a common," or may state that all or any of such subjects are to be provided for in the proceedings subsequent to the confirmation of the Provisional Order by Parliament.

Section 4.

Explanation of adjustment of rights.

4. The adjustment of rights (a) in respect of a common comprises for the purposes of this Act all or any of the following things:

(1) As respects rights of common of pasture in a common, being waste land of a manor,—the determination of the persons by whom, the stock by which, and the times at which such common of pasture is to be exercised (b);

(2) As respects rights of common of turbary, or taking of estovers (a), or taking gravel, stone (c), or otherwise interfering with the soil of the common, being waste land of a manor,—the determination of the persons by whom, and the mode and place or places in which, and the times at which such rights are to be exercised, also on compensation made to any person aggrieved, either by grant of a right of equal value, or with his consent in writing, in money,—the restriction modification or abolition of all or any of such rights which may permanently injure the common (d);

(3) As respects rights of common in land which is not waste land of a manor,—the stinting or other determination of such rights, and the persons by whom, and the mode in which, and the times at which such rights are to be exercised, as also on compensation made to any person aggrieved, either by grant of a right of equal value, or with his consent in writing, in money,—the restriction modification or abolition of all or any of such rights which may be injurious to the general body of the commoners or to the proper cultivation of the land;

(4) As respects any common whether it is or is not waste land of a manor,—the determination of the rights and obligations of the lord of the manor, severalty owners or other person or persons entitled to the soil of such common, as also on compensation made to any person aggrieved, either by grant of a right of equal value, or with his consent in writing, in money,—the restriction modification or abolition of all or any of such rights, and in particular in the case of severalty owners of all or any of such rights which may be injurious to the general body of the severalty owners or to the proper cultivation of the land; and

(5) Generally as respects any common, whether it is or is not waste land of a manor,—the determination of any rights and settlement of any disputes relating to boundaries, rights in the soil or in the produce of the soil, or otherwise, whether arising between the commoners themselves, or between the commoners in relation to the lords of the manors, severalty owners, or other person or persons entitled to the soil of the common, which, settlement may be conducive to the interests of all or any class of persons interested in the common.

(a) The destruction of an ancient house to which rights of common were appurtenant does not necessarily operate as an abandonment of those rights (Att.-Gen. v. Reynolds, [1911] 2 K. B. 888).

(b) As to commonable animals straying from unenclosed common land into an adjacent close and the obligation to provide fences on the part of the owner of such close, see Coaker v. Willcocks, [1911] 2 K. B. 124. See also Holgate v. Bleazard (1916), 33 T. L. R. 116.

(c) See Malvern Hill Conservators v. Whitmore (1909), 73 J. P. 329; 100 L. T. 841.

(d) Where under an Inclosure Act (42 Geo. 3, c. xliii. s. 13), part of a waste was allotted to the lord in trust for the cottagers as a turf common, and subsequently a railway company took part of this turf common, it was held that the lord was entitled to so much of the fund in court as represented the value of the soil (Att.-Gen. v. Meyrick, [1893] A. C. 1; 75 J. P. 212).

5. The improvement of a common comprises for the purposes of this Act all or any of the following things; that is to say,

Section 5.

Explanation of improvement.

(1) The draining, manuring, or levelling the common; and

(2) The planting trees on parts of such common, or in any other way improving or adding to the beauty of the common; and

(3) The making or causing to be made byelaws (a) and regulations for the prevention of or protection from nuisances or for keeping order on the common; and

(4) The general management of such common;

(5) The appointment from time to time of conservators of the common for the purposes aforesaid.

(a) See ss. 16, 17, post, p. 2386.

Meaning of Provisional Order for inclosure.

6. A Provisional Order for the inclosure of a common means a Provisional Order for inclosing the common, as provided by the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1868, as amended by this Act.

Provisions for the benefit of a neighbourhood

7. In any Provisional Order in relation to a common, the Inclosure Commissioners (a) shall, in considering the expediency of the application, take into consideration (b) the question whether such application will be for the benefit of the neighbourhood (c), and shall, with a view to such benefit, insert in any such Order such of the following terms and conditions (in this Act referred to as statutory provisions for the benefit of the neighbourhood (d)) as are applicable to the case; that is to say.

(1) That free access is to be secured to any particular points of view; and

(2) That particular trees or objects of historical interest are to be preserved; and

(3) That there is to be reserved, where a recreation ground is not set out, a privilege of playing games or of enjoying other species of recreation at such times in such manner and on such parts of the common as may be thought suitable, care being taken to cause the least possible injury to the persons interested in the common (e); and

(4) That carriage roads, bridle paths, and footpaths over such common are to be set out in such directions as may appear most commodious; and

(5) That any other specified thing is to be done which may be thought equitable and expedient, regard being had to the benefit of the neighbourhood.

(a) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2375.

(b) The Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries is required to have regard to the same considerations in giving his consent to an inclosure or approvement under the Statute of Merton and the Statute of Westminster the Second, or either of those statutes (The Law of Commons Amendment Act, 1893, s. 3).

(c) This expression by the preamble to the Act was explained to include "the health, comfort, and convenience of the inhabitants of any cities, towns, villages, or populous places in or near any parish in which the land proposed to be inclosed or any part thereof might be situate." See s. 193 of the Law of Property Act, 1925, post, p. 2880, for rights which are available to the public over waste lands and commons.

(d) Any of these statutory provisions for the benefit of the neighbourhood may be included in a scheme made by an urban or rural district council under the Commons Act, 1899, s. 1, post, p. 2602.

(e) See Mitcham Common Conservators v. Cox, [1911] 2 K. B. 855; 75 J. P. 471, and Harris v. Harrison (1914), 30 T. L. R. 532.

Suburban Commons (a).

Sanitary authorities to be represented in the case of commons in the neighbourhood of towns.

8. Notice of any application under this Act in relation to a common which is situate either wholly or partly in any town or towns, or within six miles (b) of any town or towns (which common so situate is in this Act referred to as a suburban common) shall be served as soon as may be on the urban sanitary authority or authorities having jurisdiction over such town or towns, and it shall be lawful for the urban sanitary authority of any such town to appear before the assistant commissioner on the occasion of his holding a local inquiry as in this Act mentioned, and also to appear before the Inclosure Commissioners (c), and to make to him or them, at any time during the proceedings in relation to obtaining a Provisional Order under this Act, such representations as they may think fit with respect to the expediency or inexpediency of such application, regard being had to the health comfort and convenience of the inhabitants of the town over which such authority has jurisdiction, and to propose to him or them such provisions as may appear to such urban sanitary authority to be proper, regard being had as aforesaid.

Any urban sanitary authority entitled to receive notice of an application in relation to a surburban common may, with the sanction of the Inclosure Commissioners (c), enter into an undertaking to contribute out of their funds for or towards the maintenance of recreation grounds, or of paths or roads, or the doing any other matter or thing for the benefit of their town in relation to the common to which such application relates.

They may also, in relation to any such common, and with such sanction as aforesaid, enter into an undertaking to pay compensation in respect to the rights of commoners, for the purpose of securing greater privileges for the benefit of their town.

An urban sanitary authority may acquire by gift and hold without licence in mortmain on trust for the benefit of their town any surburban common in respect of which they would be entitled to receive notice of any application made to the Inclosure Commissioners (c) in pursuance of this Act, and any rights in such a common (d).

They may also in the case of any such suburban common purchase (e) and hold as aforesaid, with a view to prevent the extinction of the rights of common (f), any saleable rights in (g) common or any tenement of a commoner having annexed thereto rights of common.

They may also, with the consent of persons representing at least one-third in value of such interests in a suburban common as aforesaid as are proposed to be affected by the Provisional Order, make an application to the Inclosure Commissioners for the regulation of such common with a view to the benefit of their town and the improvement of such common.

Where an urban sanitary authority makes an application under this Act with such consent as aforesaid in respect of the regulation of a common, or undertakes to make any contribution or to pay any compensation or make any other payment out of its funds in respect of a common, such urban sanitary authority may, if the Inclosure Commissioners deem it advisable, having regard to the benefit of the neighbourhood as well as to private interests, be invested with such powers of management or other powers as may be expedient.

The expenses incurred by an urban sanitary authority in pursuance of this section may be defrayed out of any rate applicable to the payment of expenses incurred by such authority in the execution of the Public Health Act, 1875 (h), and not otherwise provided for.

38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

A town for the purposes of this section means any municipal borough, or Improvement Act district, or Local Government district, having a population of not less than five thousand inhabitants.

The population of any town for the purposes of this Act shall be reckoned according to the last published census for the time being, and distances shall be measured in a direct line from the town hall, or if there shall be no town hall, then from the cathedral or church, if there shall be only one church, or if there be more churches than one, then from the principal market place of such town to the nearest point of the suburban common. When part only of a common is situate within the aforesaid distance from a town, such part shall be deemed for the purposes of this section to be a common separate and distinct from the part situated without and beyond such distance.

(a) By s. 26 (2) of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 989, any district council may, with the consent of the county council for the county within which any common land is situate, exercise in relation to any common within their district all such powers as may, under s. 8 of this Act, be exercised by an urban sanitary authority in relation to any common referred to in that section; and notice of any application to the Minister of Agriculture (and Fisheries, as he is now called) in relation to any common within their district shall be served upon the district council, and by s. 26 (3) a district council may for the purpose of carrying into effect this section institute or defend any legal proceedings, and generally take such steps as they deem expedient.

(b) Measured in a straight line on a horizontal plane. See Interpretation Act, 1889, s. 34.

(c) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2375.

(d) The words " any rights in such a common " probably refer to limited interests in the soil, such as that of a tenant for life. It is thought they would enable a local authority to take a lease of a common (Hunter on Open Spaces, 2nd ed., p. 106). This Act, except s. 20, post, p. 2387, did not apply to metropolitan commons (see s. 35, post, p. 2392), but the power conferred under this section was extended to the Metropolitan Board of Works by the Metropolitan Commons Act, 1878, and the powers of that Board are now transferred to the London C. C. by the L. G. A., 1888, s. 40.

(e) Alternatively an urban district council might purchase or lease the common under s. 164 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 388.

(f) But purchase of rights to products such as wood, turf, or gravel in soil which cannot in the ordinary course of nature produce any more wood, turf, or gravel, will not prevent inclosure. See Peardon v. Underhill (1850), 16 Q. B. 120.

(g) Sic in Parliament Roll. Probably a misprint for " of."

(h) See s. 207, ante, p. 495.

Procedure.

Issue of forms by Commissioners.

9. The Inclosure Commissioners (a) shall from time to time, upon application made by the persons interested in any common (b), issue in such form as they may deem expedient information and directions as to the mode in which applications for the regulation or inclosure of commons under the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1868, as amended by this Act are to be made to the Commissioners, with such explanations as they may think fit with respect to the law for the regulation and inclosure of commons, and the persons so interested may apply accordingly in manner directed by the Inclosure Commissioners (a).

(a) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2375.

(b) Application may now also be made by parish councils. See the L. G. A., 1894, s. 8 (1) (c). And that section also provides that notice of any application to the Board (now Minister) of Agriculture and Fisheries in relation to a common shall be served upon the council of every parish in which any part of the common to which the application relates is situate (The L. G. A., 1894, s. 8 (3)).

Rules as to application to Commissioners.

10. The following rules shall be observed with respect to an application to the Inclosure Commissioners (a) for a Provisional Order for the regulation or inclosure of a common; that is to say,

Section 10.

Publication of notices of application.

(1) The applicants previously to making their application shall publish, in such manner as the Inclosure Commissioners (a) may from time to time, by general or special order, direct, an advertisement giving notice of their intention to apply for such Provisional Order, and shall also serve a like notice on any urban sanitary authority entitled under this Act to receive such notice: Provided, that such advertisement as aforesaid shall always be inserted in at least one paper circulating in the neighbourhood of the common to which the application relates:

Manner of application.

(2) The application shall be in writing, accompanied with a map of the common, or part thereof, and, if for the regulation of a common, shall express whether the applicants propose that all or certain specified provisions only of this Act for the adjustment of rights or improvement of commons should be put in force in relation to such common, and whether to apply to the whole or part of such common, but, subject as aforesaid, an application for the regulation or inclosure of a common shall be in such form and be made in such manner as the Inclosure Commissioners (a) may from time to time direct:

Evidence to be furnished in support of application.

(3) On making their application in respect of any common, the applicants shall furnish the Inclosure Commissioners (a), in answer to questions previously submitted or otherwise in such manner as the said Commissioners may from time to time direct, with information bearing on the expediency of the application considered in relation to the benefit of the neighbourhood as well as to private interests:

Evidence in relation to benefit of neighbourhood.

(4) The information to be furnished as bearing on the expediency of the application, considered in relation to the benefit of the neighbourhood, shall comprise statements as to the particulars following; that is to say, as to the number and occupation of the inhabitants of the parish or place in which the common is situate; as to the population of the neighbourhood, and the distance of the common from any neighbouring towns and villages; as to the intention of the applicants to propose the adoption of all or any of the statutory provisions as defined by this Act for the benefit of the neighbourhood; as to the circumstance of any ground other than the common to which the application relates being available for the recreation of the neighbourhood; and in the case of a common being waste land of a manor, as to the site extent and suitableness of the allotments, if any, proposed to be made for recreation grounds and field gardens, or for either of such purposes; and as to any other matter which in the judgment of the Inclosure Commissioners (a) may assist them in forming an opinion as to whether such application ought to be acceded to, having regard to the benefit of the neighbourhood, and if acceded to, as to what statutory provisions as defined by this Act ought to be inserted in the Provisional Order for the benefit of the neighbourhood:

The Inclosure Commissioners (a) shall also require, in the case of an application for inclosure, special information as to the advantages the applicants anticipate to be derivable from the inclosure of a common as compared with the regulation of a common, also the reasons why an inclosure is expedient when viewed in relation to the benefit of the neighbourhood:

Evidence in relation to private interests.

(5) The information to be furnished as bearing on the expediency of the application considered in relation to private interests shall comprise statements as to the several particulars following; that is to say, as to the extent and nature of the common to which the application relates; as to the mines minerals or valuable strata (if any) under the same; as to the questions of boundary (if any) concerning such common, or such mines minerals or strata; as to the parties interested in such common, and the numbers and proportion in value of interest who have consented to or dissented from the application; as to the nature of the rights requiring the intervention of the Inclosure Commissioners (a) or the interference of Parliament; as to the supposed advantages of the application being acceded to; as to (in cases where the interest of any lord of the manor in the soil of a common or in mineral or other rights may be affected by the Provisional Order applied for) the allotment (if any) or compensation agreed on or proposed to be made to such lord of the manor in respect of his interest so affected; and as to any other matter which in the judgment of the Inclosure Commissioners (a) may assist them in forming an opinion as to whether such application ought to be acceded to, having regard to private interests, and if acceded to as to what provisions ought to be inserted in the Provisional Order for the protection of private interests:

Duty of Commissioners on application.

(6) The Inclosure Commissioners (a) shall take into consideration any application made to them as in this Act provided, and if satisfied by the information furnished to them as aforesaid, or by any further inquiries made by themselves or an Assistant Commissioner, that a primâ facie case has been made out, and that, regard being had to the benefit of the neighbourhood as well as to private interests, it is expedient to proceed further in the matter, they shall order a local inquiry to be held by an Assistant Commissioner.

(a) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2375.

Rules as to local inquiry.

11. The following rules shall be observed with respect to a local inquiry held by order of the Inclosure Commissioners (a):

Inspection and public meeting.

(1) The Assistant Commissioner appointed to hold such inquiry shall inspect the common to which the application relates, and shall convene one or more public meetings at a suitable time and place for securing the attendance of the neighbouring inhabitants, and of all persons claiming interest in the common: Provided always, that one at least of such public meetings shall be held in the evening between the hours of seven and ten of the clock (b).

Notice of meeting.

(2) The Assistant Commissioner shall give not less than twenty-one days notice of his intention to hold the first of such meetings.

Contents of notice.

(3) The notice shall, in such form as the Inclosure Commissioners from time to time direct, state the nature of the application made, the objects of the meeting, that the meeting is a public one and held for the purpose of enabling the Assistant Commissioner to hear all persons desirous of being heard on the subject-matter of the application, whether considered in relation to the benefit of the neighbourhood or to private interests, and the desirability of the attendance of all persons interested in the subject-matter of the inquiry.

Publication of notice.

(4) The notice shall be given—

(a) By affixing a copy thereof on the principal door of the church of the parish in which the common to which the application relates, or the greater part thereof is situate; and

(b) By posting copies of the same on or near the common to which it relates at the post office or post offices of the parish or district in which the common to which the application relates is situate, at any town hall, or vestry hall, or other building or room the expense of maintaining which is payable out of any local rate, situate in the parish or district, and at all places therein where notices are usually posted; and

Section 11.

(c) By advertising in such manner as the Inclosure Commissioners (a) may direct, or otherwise giving notice of the meetings in such manner as they think best calculated to ensure publicity in the locality.

Conduct of meeting.

(5) The Assistant Commissioner shall preside and regulate the proceedings at such meetings, and shall hear all persons desirous of being heard in relation to the subject-matter of the inquiry. He may adjourn any such meeting from time to time, or from place to place, on giving such notice of adjournment as he thinks best calculated to ensure publicity.

Personal inquiries by Assistant Commissioner.

(6) The Assistant Commissioner shall also make any inquiries and do any other acts which he may be instructed by the Inclosure Commissioners (c) or may think it advisable to do, for the purpose of enabling the Commissioners to judge as to the expediency of making the Provisional Order applied for, also as to the nature of the provisions to be inserted in any such Provisional Order if made.

Report of Assistant Commissioner to Inclosure Commissioners.

(7) The Assistant Commissioner shall report in writing to the Inclosure Commissioners (a) the result of the local inquiry, and of the public meeting or meetings held by him (in such form and with such details as the Inclosure Commissioners (a) may from time to time direct), and specially shall report to the Inclosure Commissioners (a) the information obtained by him as to the several particulars in respect of which the applicants for a Provisional Order are by this Act required to furnish information to the Inclosure Commissioners (a).

He shall also report the number of persons who attended the meetings held by him, the objections (if any) made to the application, and the suggestions (if any) made in relation to the provisions to be inserted in the Provisional Order for the benefit of the neighbourhood or for the protection of private interests, and any other circumstances which he may think expedient, with a view to enable the Inclosure Commissioners (a) to judge of the expediency of making the Provisional Order, having regard as aforesaid, and also, if the Order be made, of the provisions to be inserted therein.

Map to accompany report.

(8) The report shall be accompanied by an outline or other map on such scale and of such a description as may be directed by the Inclosure Commissioners (a), with a sketch in the case of an inclosure of a common being waste of land of a manor, of the allotments (if any) proposed to be made for recreation grounds and field gardens, or for either of such purposes.

(a) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2375.

(b) It is the practice of the Minister to hold two meetings—one in the morning and the other in the evening.

Rules as to Provisional Orders.

12. The following rules shall be observed with respect to Provisional Orders to be made by the Inclosure Commissioners (a); that is to say (b), Draft Provisional Order to be framed.

(1) The Inclosure Commissioners (a), if satisfied by the report of the Assistant Commissioner or by further inquiries to be made by themselves or an Assistant Commissioner, that, having regard to the benefit of the neighbourhood as well as to private interests, it is expedient to proceed further in the matter, shall frame in such form and with such provisions as they, having regard as aforesaid, may think expedient, and as are consistent with law and the description of Provisional Order applied for, a draft Provisional Order for the consideration of the persons interested in the common, specifying, if such application is for the regulation of a common, whether all or any one or more of the provisions of this Act for the adjustment of rights and the improvement of a common are to be put in force :

Section 12.

Provisions for benefit of neighbourhood.

(2) With respect to provisions for the benefit of the neighbourhood, there shall be inserted in such draft Provisional Order all such of the statutory provisions as defined by this Act for the benefit of the neighbourhood as are applicable to the case; also, if the order is an inclosure order in the case of a common being waste land of a manor, the quantity and situation of the allotments (if any) to be made for recreation grounds and field gardens :

Provisions for protection of private interests.

(3) With respect to private interests, there shall be inserted in such draft Provisional Order, (1) where the interest of any lord of the manor in the soil of a common or in mineral or other rights may be affected by the order, a statement of the allotment (if any) or other compensation to be allotted or made to the lord of such manor in respect of his interest so affected ; and (2) where there is any mineral property or other rights in relation thereto belonging to persons other than the lord of the manor which may be affected by the order, such provisions and reservations as are required to be inserted by the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1868, or as may appear to the Inclosure Commissioners (a) proper to be inserted; also, if there are any other rights which appear to the Commissioners proper to be specially provided for or to be excepted from the operation of the order, there shall be specified the provisions or exceptions to be made in that behalf :

Deposit of draft order for consideration of parties interested.

(4) As soon as may be after making their draft Provisional Order, the Inclosure Commissioners (a) shall cause a copy thereof to be deposited in the parish or parishes in which the common is situate to which such order relates, in order that the same may be considered by the parties interested therein, and they shall give notice, in such manner as they think best calculated to secure publicity, of such deposit having been made, and of their intention to certify the expediency of such order if the necessary consents are obtained thereto :

Consents before Provisional Order certified to be expedient.

(5) The Inclosure Commissioners (a) shall not certify the expediency of a draft Provisional Order unless they are satisfied that persons representing at least two-thirds in value of such interests in the common as are affected by the order consent thereto ; and when the common to which the order relates is the waste land of any manor, or land within any manor to the soil of which the lord of such manor is entitled in right of his manor, then, unless there is more than one person interested in such manor according to the definition of the Inclosure Act, 1845, the Commissioners shall not certify the expediency of the same, unless the person interested in the common in right of such manor, or his substitute under the said Inclosure Act, 1845, consent to such order ; and where there is more than one person interested in such manor the Commissioners shall not certify the expediency of the order, in case such persons or the majority of such persons in respect of interest signify their dissent within a time to be limited by the Commissioners (c) :

8 & 9 Vict. c. 118.

Reservation in favour of freemen interested in common.

(6) Where the freemen, burgesses, or inhabitant householders of any city borough or town are entitled to rights of common or other interest in the common to which the draft Provisional Order relates, the

Section 12.

Inclosure Commissioners (a) shall not certify the expediency of such Order unless it appears to the Commissioners that two-thirds in number of such of the freemen and burgesses so entitled as may be resident in such city borough or town, or within seven miles thereof, or of such inhabitant householders, as the case may be, have consented to the Order; and in case two-thirds in number of such resident freemen and burgesses, or of such inhabitant householders have so consented, such consent shall be deemed the consent of the class of freemen, burgesses, or inhabitant householders, as the case may be, so entitled:

Means of obtaining consents.

(7) The Inclosure Commissioners (a) may cause a meeting or meetings to be held by an Assistant Commissioner for the purpose of obtaining the necessary consents, or of ascertaining the interests of consenting or dissenting parties, or they may cause such consents or dissents to be ascertained in such other manner as they may think fit:

Power to modify Provisional Order before expediency certified.

(8) The Inclosure Commissioners (a) may, at any time before certifying the expediency of a draft Provisional Order, modify the same, of their own mere notion, or on the suggestion of any parties interested, but such modifications shall not be of any validity unless they are consented to in the same manner as if they formed part of the draft Provisional Order originally deposited by the Commissioners:

Certificate of expediency of Provisional Order.

(9) When the necessary consents have been obtained to any draft Provisional Order as originally deposited, or as modified in pursuance of this Act, such Order shall be deemed to be final; and the Inclosure Commissioners (a) shall in a report or reports to be made from time to time, as respects each Provisional Order which has become final as aforesaid, certify that it is expedient that such Provisional Order should be confirmed by Parliament, together with their reasons for certifying such expediency, and specially, as respects each Provisional Order, they shall, in such manner as they think best adapted to enable Parliament to judge of the expediency of such Order, state the information furnished to them as to the several particulars in respect of which the applicants for a Provisional Order are by this Act required to furnish information to the Commissioners; also the result of the local inquiry, and of the number and description of the persons who attended the meetings held during such inquiry, and the nature of the objections (if any) made to the application, and the suggestions (if any) made in relation to the provisions to be inserted for the benefit of the neighbourhood or for the protection of private interests by the persons so attending, and any other circumstances which the Commissioners may think it expedient to state for such purposes as aforesaid:

Confirmation of Provisional Order.

(10) Every report made by the Inclosure Commissioners (a) certifying the expediency of any Provisional Order under this Act shall be presented to Parliament, and if at any time thereafter it is enacted by Act of Parliament that any Order for the regulation or inclosure of a common, the expediency of which has been so certified by the Commissioners, shall be confirmed, the regulation or inclosure of any common to which any such Order relates shall be proceeded with and completed according to the terms of the Provisional Order relating to such common, and to the provisions of the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1868, as amended by this Act, and any Act of Parliament containing such enactments as aforesaid shall be deemed to be a public general Act, but a Provisional Order, until such Act of Parliament as aforesaid has been passed in relation thereto, shall not be of any validity whatever:

Supplemental power to modify Provisional Order after expediency certified.

(11) If, after the presentation to Parliament of a report made by the Inclosure Commissioners (a) certifying the expediency of any Provisional Order for the regulation or inclosure of a common, and before a Bill has been brought in for the confirmation of such Order, such report is referred to a committee of either House of Parliament for consideration, and such committee recommend that such Provisional Order should not be confirmed by Parliament except subject to certain modifications, the Inclosure Commissioners may modify the Provisional Order accordingly, but such modifications shall not be of any validity unless they are consented to in the same manner as if they had formed part of the draft Provisional Order originally deposited by the Commissioners:

And it shall be the duty of the Commissioners (a) to take the necessary steps for ascertaining whether such consent as aforesaid can be obtained or not, and if such consent be obtained, the Commissioners shall make a special report to the effect that the Order has been modified as aforesaid and such consent duly obtained, and such report shall be presented to Parliament; and thereupon the Order so modified shall be deemed to be in the same position in all respects as if it were an Order in respect of which a report had been made by the Commissioners certifying the expediency thereof, and such report had been presented to Parliament.

(a) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2375.

(b) In addition to these provisions, the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries may insert in the Order a provision for the raising and payment of expenses of and incidental to the regulation of the common, either wholly or partly, by a sale of a portion of the common, specifying the situation and maximum quantity sold; the expenses to be raised and paid in manner provided by the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1868 (see the Commons Expenses Act, 1878, s. 2). He may also specify in any Provisional Order for the regulation of a common, as one of the terms and conditions of the regulation, the appropriation of an allotment for the neighbouring poor, in which case the provisions of the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1876, as to allotments made on enclosure of a common, are to apply (ibid., s. 4).

(c) The necessity for obtaining the consents required by this sub-section was one of the great difficulties in the way of obtaining Provisional Orders under this Act. Under the Commons Act, 1899, which supplies an alternative and simpler procedure, the necessity for dissent on the part of the lord or commoners, is substituted for the necessity of consent, and in the absence of dissent the scheme goes forward.

Partial application of procedure under Inclosure Acts.

13. The Inclosure Commissioners (a) may insert in any Provisional Order for the regulation of a common any provisions they may deem necessary for the purpose of carrying such Order into effect; but, subject as aforesaid, when an Act of Parliament has been passed as aforesaid, enacting that the regulation of a common shall be proceeded with, the subsequent proceedings for carrying into effect the regulation of such common shall be the same, so far as is practicable, as they would be in case such common were to be inclosed instead of being regulated, and the provisions of the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1868, as amended by this Act, shall apply accordingly.

(a) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2375.

Power to raise money for improvement of common.

14. A Provisional Order for the regulation of a common may provide for the raising from time to time by such persons interested in the common, and for such amounts as the Commissioners (a) think fit, of money to be applied towards the improvement or protection of such common, either by means of rates to be levied on the persons and in respect of the property who and

Section 14. which respectively will be benefited or principally benefited by such improvement or regulation, or by means of the sale of any outlying or other small portion not exceeding in the whole one-fortieth part of the total area of such common (b).

(a) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2375.

(b) The Provisional Order must specify the situation and maximum quantity so sold. The Order may provide for the sale of part of the common in order to raise the expenses necessary for the regulation of the portion retained (41 & 42 Vict. c. 56, s. 2). The proceeds may, if the Order so provides, be invested, and the income applied towards the improvement or protection of the common; and the Order may also provide for the sale of all or part of the investment and the application of the proceeds for the like purpose (ibid., s. 3).

Supplemental Provisions.

Owners may make byelaws. 8 & 9 Vict. c. 118.

15. The majority in value of the owners of skirts (a) or rights of pasture in any regulated pasture created under the provisions of the General Inclosure Act, 1845 (b), in addition to the powers they now possess are hereby authorised at any annual meeting for the election of field reeves (c) to make byelaws and regulations for the prevention of or protection from nuisances or for keeping order on the regulated pasture, and for general management (d), occupation, and enjoyment of the regulated pasture, provided the consent of the lord of the manor is given to such byelaws.

(a) Sic. An obvious misprint for "stints." Stints or cattlegaits are rights of pasture for a stinted or limited number of beasts in a common close. See Fitzherbert's Extenta Manerii, 12, 13; Elton on Commons, ed. 1868, pp. 34, 35.

(b) See 8 & 9 Vict. c. 118, s. 113, et seq.; 15 & 16 Vict. c. 79 s. 33; 17 & 18 Vict. c. 97, s. 6; 20 & 21 Vict. c. 31, s. 2.

(c) See 8 & 9 Vict. c. 118, s. 117, as to the election of field reeves.

(d) The Commons Act, 1908, enables regulations to be made as to turning out entire animals on commons.

Provision as to byelaws.

16. Any byelaw made in pursuance of this Act, and any alteration made therein, and any revocation of a byelaw, shall not be of any validity until it has been confirmed by one of her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State.

Pecuniary penalties (to be recovered summarily before any two justices) may be imposed by any such byelaws on persons breaking the same, provided that no penalty exceeds for any one offence the sum of forty shillings (a).

(a) M. had premises adjoining a common regulated by byelaws under this Act, and at such premises she let ponies for hire. M. at her premises let ponies to be used by two persons on the common, and they used them there:—Held, that this was no offence against a byelaw which forbade the letting for hire of ponies on the common (Marcy v. Morris (1888), 52 J. P. 168). Where a local improvement Act authorised conservators of a common to make byelaws for the prevention of and protection from nuisances and for keeping order, N. was charged with placing a boat-van for pleasure on the common contrary to the byelaw without a licence and without payment of the prescribed fee:—Held, that the byelaw was not ultra vires merely because it prohibited vans being brought on the common without leave without expressly confining such prohibition to cases amounting to nuisances (Nash v. Manning (1894), 58 J. P. 718). In Scott v. Baring (1894), 11 T. L. R. 175, a person was convicted of a contravention of a byelaw against digging loam, etc., made by the conservators of a common under the provisions of a local Act. He set up a claim of right under the authority of the lord of the manor, but it was contended that the question had been already decided in Robertson v. Hartopp (1890), 43 Ch. D. 484, that the lord of the manor had no right to dig loam on the common, and that, therefore, the claim of right was unreasonable:—Held, on appeal, that the conviction was wrong on the ground that the justices could not decide the question without going into the question of right.

Notice of application for confirmation of byelaws.

17. No such confirmation shall take place unless notice of the intention to apply therefor, stating the effect of this section, has been published by the conservators one month at least before the application.

Section 17.

During one month at least before the application a copy of every byelaw, the making, alteration, or revocation of which is submitted for confirmation, shall be kept at the office of the person or body of persons making, altering, or revoking such byelaw open for inspection by persons interested, and such person or body of persons shall furnish a printed copy thereof to every person applying for the same on payment of a sum not exceeding one shilling for each copy.

Provision as to certain expenses under order for regulation of a common.

18. Subject to the terms of the Provisional Order the amount of any compensation to be paid for any restriction modification or abolition of rights in pursuance of an Order for the regulation of a common shall be deemed to be expenses of and incidental to the regulation of the common, and may be defrayed accordingly.

Definition of power of Charity Commissioners in certain cases.

19. Whereas by several awards made under the authority of Inclosure Acts prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and forty-five, fuel allotments for the poor have been set out and awarded, and vested in divers persons and bodies of persons as trustees of such allotments:

And whereas under the provisions of the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1868, and the several Acts of Parliament and awards made thereunder, allotments for recreation grounds and field gardens have been set out and awarded to the churchwardens and overseers of parishes and other persons:

And whereas power exists or is claimed under divers Acts of Parliament, to divert such allotments from the uses declared by Parliament respecting the same: Be it enacted, that notwithstanding anything in any other Act contained, it shall not be lawful (save as hereinafter mentioned) to authorise the use of or to use any such allotment, or any part thereof, for any other purpose than those declared concerning the same by the Act of Parliament and award, or either of them, under which the same has been set out: Provided, that it shall be lawful for the Charity Commissioners for England and Wales in the exercise of their ordinary jurisdiction under the Charitable Trusts Acts, upon the application of the trustees of any fuel allotment, to authorise the use of such fuel allotment as a recreation ground and field gardens, or for either of those purposes, and to make an order under the provisions of the Charitable Trusts Act, 1860, for the establishment of a scheme for the administration of such fuel allotment accordingly; and provided that it shall be lawful for the said Charity Commissioners, on such application as aforesaid, to authorise the exchange of any fuel allotment, or any part thereof, for land of equal value situate within the parish or district for the benefit of the poor of which such allotment was set out, if the Commissioners are of opinion that by means of such exchange land better suited for the purpose for which such allotment was set out will be obtained.

23 & 24 Vict. c. 136.

Gravel digging.

20. Where any common is regulated pursuant to this Act by a Provisional Order of the Inclosure Commissioners (a) confirmed by Parliament, or is the subject of a scheme confirmed by Parliament under the provisions of the Metropolitan Commons Act, 1866, or the Metropolitan Commons Amendment Act, 1869, or (being situate within the metropolitan police district) is the subject of any private or local Act of Parliament having for its object the preservation of such common as an open space, no surveyor of highways or highway board constituted in pursuance of the Highway Acts (b), . . . shall search for, dig, get, or carry away gravel sand stone or other materials in or from any part of such common which has not been set apart for that purpose with the sanction of Parliament, without the consent of the person or persons having the regulation or management of the same, or in default of such consent, without an order of two or more justices in petty sessions

29 & 30 Vict. c. 122.
32 & 33 Vict. c. 107.

Section 20. assembled, and acting in and for the petty sessional division in which such common is situate, who may in their order prescribe such conditions as to mode of working and restitution of the surface as to them shall seem expedient (c).

(a) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2375.

(c) This section is applied to any common regulated by scheme under Part I. of the Commons Act, 1899, post, p. 2602, by s. 8 of that Act.

The justices have an absolute discretion to make or to refuse to make an order under this section (Hayes Common Conservators v. Bromley R. D. C., [1897] 1 Q. B. 321; 61 J. P. 104).

PART II.

AMENDMENT OF THE INCLOSURE ACTS.

Field Gardens and Recreation Grounds.

Expenses of clearing, draining, and fencing field gardens.

21. Whereas it is expedient that the expenses of clearing any allotments made for field gardens may be included in the expenses of an inclosure: Be it enacted that the valuer shall, unless the Inclosure Commissioners (a) otherwise direct, cause every allotment made for a field garden to be cleared drained fenced levelled and otherwise made fit for immediate use and occupation; and the expenses incurred by the valuer under this section shall be paid as part of the general expenses of the inclosure.

(a) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2375.

Substituted allotments for recreation grounds and field gardens.

22. The provisions (a) of the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1868, which authorise the Inclosure Commissioners (b) to allow an equal quantity of the land proposed to be inclosed to be allotted for the purpose of a recreation ground or field garden, or for any other public purpose, in lieu of that directed to be allotted by any Provisional Order, shall extend to authorise them to allow the allotment of land of equal value although it may not be of equal quantity.

(a) See 8 & 9 Vict. c. 118, ss. 30, 73; 9 & 10 Vict. c. 70, s. 4.

(b) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2375.

Situation of allotments for recreation grounds and field gardens.

23. Every allotment made for the purpose of a recreation ground or field garden shall be in such part of the land proposed to be inclosed as is best suited for the purpose for which it is appropriated; and where any land proposed to be inclosed consists partly of common being waste land of a manor (in this section referred to as the first-mentioned land), and partly of common not being waste land of a mamor (in this section referred to as the second-mentioned land), and the Commissioners are satisfied that it would be advantageous that the allotment for a recreation ground or a field garden, or any part thereof, should be made out of the second-mentioned land instead of out of the first-mentioned land, the Commissioners may, in the Provisional Order relating to such land, specify as one of the terms and conditions of the inclosure thereof that the said allotments or the said part thereof shall be made accordingly out of the second-mentioned land, and shall out of the first-mentioned land allot land of equal value by way of exchange to the persons interested in the second-mentioned land.

Field gardens to be free of rent-charge.

24. There shall be repealed so much (a) of the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1868, as relates to the charging of an allotment made for the purpose of a field garden with a rent-charge; and every such allotment made after the passing of this Act shall be made free of any such rent-charge.

(a) See 8 & 9 Vict. c. 118, ss. 31, 73, 75, 78; 15 & 16 Vict. c. 79, s. 18.

Section 25.

25. [Allotments for recreation grounds to be vested in churchwardens and overseers] (a).

(a) Repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. As to the holding and management of allotments whether for recreation grounds or for gardens or otherwise for the benefit of the inhabitants by the parish council, see s. 6 (1) (c) (iii) of the L. G. A., 1894.

Amendment of law as to letting field gardens.

26. (a) . . . Allotment wardens, if they are unable to let the allotments under their management, or any portion thereof, to the poor inhabitants of the parish in gardens not exceeding a quarter of an acre, may let the same, or any unlet portion thereof, in gardens not exceeding an acre each to such inhabitants as aforesaid ; Further, it shall be the duty of allotment wardens to offer the gardens under their management to the poor inhabitants of the parish at a fair agricultural rent, if from time to time sufficient to satisfy all rates taxes tithes tithe rent-charge and the rent-charge charged on the said allotments under the provisions of the General Inclosure Act, 1845, but not otherwise, instead of at such rent as is required by the said Act. Moreover, if in any parish the allotment wardens are unable to let the allotments under their management, or any portion thereof, to the poor inhabitants of the parish in such quantities and at such rents as aforesaid, they may let the same, or such portion as may be unlet to any person whatever at the best annual rent which can be obtained for the same, without any premium or fine, and on such terms as may enable the allotment wardens to resume possession thereof within a period not exceeding twelve months, if it should at any time be required for such poor inhabitants as aforesaid.

8 & 9 Vict. c. 118.

This section shall apply to all land allotted to the poor for the purpose of cultivation under any Inclosure Act whatever, whether public or private, whether under the management of allotment wardens, feoffees, trustees, rector, or vicar and churchwardens, overseers (b), managers, or any other person or persons whatever, and whether at present cultivated or uncultivated, so that all such persons as aforesaid shall have like powers and duties as are hereinbefore given to and imposed upon allotment wardens (c).

(a) The recital of s. 109 of the Inclosure Act, 1845, at the commencement of this section, and of s. 73 of that Act at the commencement of s. 27, with certain consequential parts of s. 27, were repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894.

(b) Overseers were abolished by the R. and V. Act, 1925, s. 62. As to the transfer of property formerly held by overseers, see Arts. 4, 6 and 7 of the Overseers Order, 1927, in App. II. at p. 3680, post.

(c) In parishes where there is a parish council, the powers and duties of allotment wardens are now exercised and performed by the parish council (56 & 57 Vict. c. 73, s. 6 (1) (c) (iii)).

Application of surplus rents of recreation grounds and field gardens.

27. (a) . . . The surplus rents arising from recreation grounds shall be applied to all or any of the following purposes, and to no other purpose ; that is to say, in improving the recreation grounds or any or them in the same parish or neighbourhood, or maintaining the drainage and fencing thereof, or in hiring or purchasing additional land for recreation grounds in the same parish or neighbourhood (b) ; and the surplus rents arising from field gardens shall be applied to all or any of the following purposes, and to no other purpose (c) ; that is to say, in improving the field gardens or any of them in the same parish or neighbourhood, or maintaining the drainage and fencing thereof, or in hiring or purchasing additional land for field gardens in the same parish or neighbourhood.

The trustees of any recreation ground and the allotment wardens of any field gardens may, with the approval of the Inclosure Commissioners (d), sell all or any part of the allotment vested in them, and out of the proceeds of such sale purchase any fit and suitable land in the same parish or neighbour-

Section 27. hood: Provided that the land so purchased shall be held in trust for the purposes for which the allotment so sold as aforesaid was allotted, and for no others; and provided that the Inclosure Commissioners (d) shall not sanction any such sale as aforesaid unless and until it shall be proved to their satisfaction that land more suitable for the purposes for which the allotment proposed to be sold was allotted may and will be forthwith purchased; and the proceeds of any such sale shall be paid to the Inclosure Commissioners (d), and shall remain in their hands until such purchase of other land as aforesaid.

(a) See note (a) to s. 26, ante, p. 2389.

(b) And also in the improving of any of the field gardens to which this section applies in the same parish or neighbourhood, or maintaining the drainage and fencing thereof (42 & 43 Vict. c. 37, s. 2).

(c) But they may also be applied for any of the purposes for which surplus rents arising from recreation grounds may be applied (62 & 63 Vict. c. 30, s. 16, post, p. 2606). And under the same section surplus rents arising from any field garden or recreation ground may be applied towards the redemption of any land tax, tithe rent-charge, or other charge on the garden or ground.

(d) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2375.

Reports by managers of recreation grounds and field gardens.

28. The trustees of recreation grounds, where such trustees are the overseers (a) or churchwardens of a parish, and the allotment wardens of field gardens (b) shall, from time to time, and at such intervals of not less than three years nor more than five years, as the Inclosure Commissioners (c) direct, make such reports to the said Commissioners in respect of the recreation grounds and field gardens under their management, with such particulars of the rents received by them, as the Commissioners may require.

(a) See note (b) to s. 26 at p. 2389, ante.

(b) See note (c) to s. 26, ante, p. 2389.

(c) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2375.

Town and village greens.

29. (a) . . . An encroachment on or inclosure of a town or village green, also any erection thereon or disturbance or interference with or occupation of the soil thereof which is made otherwise than with a view to the better enjoyment of such town or village green or recreation ground, shall be deemed to be a public nuisance, and if any person does any act in respect of which he is liable to pay damages or a penalty under section twelve of the Inclosure Act, 1857, he may be summarily convicted thereof upon the information of any inhabitant of the parish in which such town or village green or recreation ground situate, as well as upon the information of such persons as in the said section mentioned (b).

20 & 21 Vict. c. 31.

This section shall apply only in cases where a town or village green or recreation ground has a known and defined boundary.

(a) The recital of s. 12 of the Inclosure Act, 1857, as to town and village greens was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. Town or village greens cannot be taken for light railways without the consent of the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. They are also "commons" within the meaning of the Commons Act, 1899, though apparently not "commons" within the meaning of this Act. As to parish councils, see s. 8 of the L. G. A., 1894.

(b) The Inclosure Act, 1857, s. 12, provides a summary remedy for injury or damage to the fences of or for other nuisances to a town or village green. The penalty for each offence is forty shillings, which with the damage is recoverable summarily before justices. Under that section, however, the proceedings could only be instituted by a churchwarden or overseer, or the person in whom the soil was vested.

Jurisdiction of county court in respect of illegal inclosures.

30. (a) A county court within whose jurisdiction any common or part of a common is situate shall have jurisdiction to hear any case relating to any illegal inclosure or encroachment of or upon such common or part of a common respectively made after the passing of this Act, or to any nuisance impeding the exercise of any right of common arising after the passing of this Act, and to grant an injunction against such inclosure encroachment or nuisance, or to make an order for the removal or abatement of such inclosure encroachment or nuisance.

Any person aggrieved by any injunction granted or order made or refusal to grant an injunction or make an order by a county court in pursuance of this section may, on giving security for costs to the satisfaction of the county court, appeal to the High Court of Justice in a summary manner, or by special case or otherwise, as may be prescribed by rules of court to be made by the Supreme Court of Judicature in manner provided by the seventeenth section of the Supreme Court of Judicature Act, 1875. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 77.

The appellate court may on hearing the appeal reverse modify or confirm the injunction or order complained of, or remit the case to the county court from which the appeal lay, with instructions to deal with the case according to the directions given by the appellate court.

Where an appeal is lodged against the order of a county court directing the removal or abatement of any inclosure encroachment or nuisance, such order shall be suspended during such time as such appeal is pending.

Nothing in this Act contained shall abridge or interfere with any existing right of abating or otherwise preventing any illegal inclosure of or encroachment of any common, or any nuisance interfering with any right of common.

Until rules of court are made for the purposes of this section, an appeal may be had from the decision of any county court under this section in the same manner in which an appeal from the decision of a county court may be had in a case within its ordinary jurisdiction.

(a) Sections 30 and 31 are extended to metropolitan commons by the Metropolitan Commons Act, 1878, s. 3. For procedure in the county court, see County Court Rules, Order L., r. 9. No special procedure as to appeals is prescribed by the Rules of the Supreme Court, therefore the usual practice under s. 120 of the County Courts Act, 1888, is applicable in such appeals. See R. S. C., Order LIX., rr. 10, 18. See also the jurisdiction given to county courts as regards the restriction of inclosure of commons given by s. 194 of the Law of Property Act, 1925, post, p. 2881.

Three months' notice of claim to inclose to be given in the local papers.

31. Any person intending to inclose or approve a common or part of a common otherwise than under the provisions of this Act shall give notice to all persons claiming any legal right in such common or part of a common, by publishing, at least three months beforehand, a statement of his intention to make such inclosure, for three successive times, and in two or more of the principal local newspapers in the county, town, or district in which the common or part of a common proposed to be inclosed is situate; but the provisions of this section shall not apply to any commons or waste lands whereon the rights of common are vested solely in the lord of the manor (a).

A production of a newspaper containing such advertisement as aforesaid shall be evidence of the same having been issued, and the inclosure shall, until the contrary is proved, be deemed to have taken place at the time specified in such advertisement.

(a) This exception is hardly worded with due legal accuracy. Where all rights of common are released or conveyed to the lord of the manor, the land formerly common becomes freed from them and ceases to be common at all. A person inclosing a common without advertising his intention as required by this section might be indicted for misdemeanor in disobeying the statute, or be restrained by injunction from continuing his inclosure and ordered to remove it on an information filed by the Attorney-General at the instance of a person interested.

Appointment of valuer to be confirmed by Commissioners.

32. An appointment of a valuer shall not be valid until it has been confirmed by the Commissioners (a). The Commissioners (a) may disapprove of a valuer on the ground of his incompetency, interest, want of impartiality, or any reasonable cause, and where they so disapprove of a valuer may call a meeting, and a meeting may be held to appoint, and another person appointed (subject to the approval of the Commissioners (a)) to be valuer in like manner as if no previous meeting had been held and no valuer had been previously appointed, and so on until a valuer approved by the Commissioners is appointed.

(a) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2375.

General Amendment.

As to exchanges and partitions. 8 & 9 Vict. c. 118, s. 105.

33. The provisions of section one hundred and five of the Inclosure Act, 1845, relating to the validity after confirmation of an award of inclosure of the exchanges, and partitions set forth in such award, shall apply to orders of exchange partition and division of intermixed lands carried into effect in pursuance of the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1868, by separate orders, and not included in an award of inclosure.

PART III.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Amendment of law as to reports.

34. There shall be repealed so much of section thirty of the Inclosure Act, 1845, as prescribes a limit to the quantity of land to be allotted to recreation grounds; also the twenty-fourth, twenty-fifth, twenty-sixth, and twenty-seventh sections of the Inclosure Act, 1845, and (a) the Inclosure Commissioners (b) shall not be required to repeat, in their general annual report, any of the particulars in relation to the regulation or inclosure of commons which they may have stated in any other reports made by them in pursuance of this Act, in relation to such commons, but they may refer to such other reports, or give a summary thereof, or otherwise deal with the same as may be thought expedient.

(a) This section was repealed down to this point by the S. L. R. A., 1883.
(b) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2375.

Metropolitan commons. 29 & 30 Vict. c. 122. 32 & 33 Vict. c. 107.

35. This Act, save as herein expressly provided (c), shall not apply to any metropolitan common within the meaning of the Metropolitan Commons Acts, 1866 and 1869.

(a) See s. 20, ante, p. 2387; note (d) to s. 8, ante, p. 2379; and note (a) to s. 30, ante, p. 2391.

A common regulated under Act not to be inclosed without sanction of Parliament.

36. Where an Act of Parliament has been passed confirming a Provisional Order under this Act for the regulation of a common, then, subject to and without prejudice to the provisions of that Order, such common shall not, nor shall any part thereof, be inclosed without the sanction of Parliament subsequently obtained.

THE LIMITED OWNERS RESERVOIRS AND WATER SUPPLY FURTHER FACILITIES ACT, 1877.

(40 & 41 VICT. c. 31) (a).

An Act to give further facilities to Landowners of limited interests in England and Wales and Ireland to charge their estates with the expenses of constructing Reservoirs for the Storage of water, and other similar purposes.

[2nd August, 1877.]

1. This Act may be cited as the Limited Owners Reservoirs and Water Supply Further Facilities Act, 1877. Short title.

(a) The preamble to this Act has been repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. See also s. 4 of that Act as to the omission of the clause of enactment. The effect of this Act and its bearing upon the subject of public health have already been stated in the notes to s. 51 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 126. It has been thought advisable to set out here the full text of the Act. See also 60 & 61 Vict. c. 44, post, p. 2565.

2. This Act shall not extend to Scotland (a). Extent.

(a) But see now 62 & 63 Vict. c. 46, s. 2.

3. This Act shall be incorporated with the Improvement of Land Act, 1864, and the two Acts shall be read together as one Act. Construction. 27 & 28 Vict. c. 114.

4. The provisions of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1863, with respect to the security of the reservoirs constructed by the undertakers (a) are incorporated with this Act; and in that Act, as incorporated with this Act, the expression "the special Act" shall mean and include the Improvement of Land Act, 1864, and this Act; and the expression "the undertakers" shall mean any person who constructs or erects any reservoir or dam under the authority of either of the last-mentioned Acts. Certain provisions of 26 & 27 Vict. c. 93, incorporated. 27 & 28 Vict. c. 114.

(a) See 26 & 27 Vict. c. 93, ss. 3—10, ante, pp. 2265, 2266.

5. The construction or erection of reservoirs or other works of a permanent character for the supply of water to persons residing or engaged in labour What to be deemed improvements within 27 & 28 Vict. c. 114.

Section 5.

27 & 28 Vict. c. 114.

on the lands on which such works are situate, or on any other lands settled to the same uses, or for the more convenient or profitable user of such lands, or for the supply of water to any sanitary or other local authority or water company, or to any manufacturer or other person, or for any one or more of such purposes, shall be deemed to be an improvement of land within the meaning of the ninth section of the Improvement of Land Act, 1864, and shall be sanctioned by the Commissioners (a), if it can be shown to their satisfaction that such reservoirs or works for the supply of water will for any purpose effect a permanent yearly increase in the value of the lands on which they are situate, or any other lands settled to the same uses, or will be permanently productive of a yearly revenue to the owner of such lands exceeding the yearly amount proposed to be charged thereon (b) ; and the construction of any such works shall be deemed to include the purchase by the landowner of any water right or other easement which might otherwise interfere with or prevent the construction of the same or any such supply of water as aforesaid.

In calculating whether the improvement is likely to effect a permanent increase of the yearly value of the land, or be productive of a yearly revenue to the landowner exceeding the yearly amount proposed to be charged thereon, it shall be lawful for the Commissioners (a) to take into account the value of any contract, the terms of which have been agreed upon between the landowner and any sanitary or other local authority, or water company, or manufacturer or other persons, for the purpose of supplying such authority company person or persons with water, as well as the effect on such value or revenue of any sum expended by the landowner in the construction of the works over and above the sum proposed to be charged upon the land.

When the improvement will afford a supply of water to persons residing or engaged in labour on the lands on which the proposed works will be situate, or on any other lands settled to the same uses, the Commissioners (a) may, if they think fit, sanction the improvement, although it may not be shown that the same will effect a direct yearly increase in the value of the lands, or be productive of a yearly revenue to the owner of the lands exceeding the yearly amount proposed to be charged thereon (c).

(a) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a) to s. 10, post, p. 2395.

(b) As to charging estates with the cost of improvements, see the Improvement of Land Acts, 1864 and 1899. Reference may also be made here to s. 83 and Sched. III., Pt. I., xiv., of the Settled Land Act, 1925, which enables the cost of waterworks to be paid for out of capital.

(c) Compare the District Councils (Water Supply Facilities) Act, 1897, s. 4, post, p. 2566.

Supply of water to local authority, etc.

6. Any landowner charging or proposing to charge (a) his estate with the cost of the construction of reservoirs or other works for the supply of water under this Act may enter into any agreement for the supply of water to any sanitary or other local authority, water company, manufacturer, or other person, for any term not exceeding the number of years during which the cost of the improvement, or any part of it, is made a charge upon the estate: Provided that every such agreement be approved by the Commissioners (b), and that no premium or benefit in the nature of a premium be reserved thereby by the landowner.

(a) See note (b) to s. 5, supra.

(b) See note (a) to s. 5, supra.

Power to contract for execution of reservoir, etc.

7. Any company now authorised to contract with landowners in England or Wales . . . (a) for the execution of any works for the improvement of land, or to make advances for the purpose of executing or assisting in the execution of such works, may, with the approval of the Commissioners (b), contract with any such landowner for the execution of any reservoirs or works of water supply, the cost of which may by this Act be charged upon the estates of such landowner, and may, with the like approval, make advances for the purpose of executing or assisting in the execution of such reservoirs or works; and for this purpose the execution of any such reservoirs or works shall be deemed to be an improvement of land within the meaning of any Act of Parliament or articles of association relating to any such company.

Section 7.

(a) Words relating to Ireland only are here omitted.
(b) See note (a) to s. 10, infra.

Subscriptions to waterworks.

8. Any landowner desiring to charge (a) his estates with subscriptions for the construction of waterworks by a water company (b) may charge his estates with such moneys on the same terms and conditions as he may under the Improvement of Land Act, 1864, charge his estates with moneys subscribed for the construction of railways or navigable canals; and for this purpose the provisions contained in sections seventy-eight to eighty-nine, both inclusive, of the Improvement of Land Act, 1864, shall apply, mutatis mutandis, to such subscriptions, as if the same had been subscribed for the construction of a railway or navigable canal.

27 & 28 Vict. c. 114.

(a) See note (b) to s. 5, ante, p. 2394.
(b) As to charging the estate with contributions towards expenses incurred by any district council in supplying water, see the District Councils (Water Supply Facilities) Act, 1897, post, p. 2565.

Protection of rights.

9. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to authorise any landowner, or any water company, local authority, person or persons authorised by any landowner, to injuriously affect any reservoir canal river stream or navigation, or the feeders thereof, or the supply quality or fall of water contained in any reservoir canal river stream or navigation, or in the feeders thereof, or any other water rights or easements in cases where any body of persons or person would, if this Act had not passed, have been entitled by law to prevent or be relieved against the injuriously affecting such reservoir canal river stream navigation feeders, or such supply quality or fall of water, or other water rights or easements, unless the landowner, water company, local authority, person, or persons first obtain the consent in writing of the body of persons or person so entitled as aforesaid (a).

(a) Compare the Improvement of Land Act, 1864, s. 46.

Definitions.

10. In this Act the following words and expressions shall have the following meanings; that is to say,

"The Commissioners" means the Inclosure Commissioners of England and Wales . . . (a):

"Works for the supply of water" includes wells, pumps, reservoirs, cisterns, ponds, tanks, aqueducts, cuts, sluices, mains, pipes, culverts, machinery, and things for supplying or used in supplying water:

"Water company" means any person or body of persons, corporate or unincorporate supplying or who may hereafter supply water for his or their own profit:

"Local authority" means any authority having jurisdiction for any public local purpose:

The several words and expressions to which by the Improvement of Land Act, 1864, meanings are assigned, shall in this Act have the same respective meanings as in that Act.

(a) Words relating to Ireland only are here omitted. The Inclosure Commissioners became, under the Settled Land Act, 1882, s. 48, the Land Commissioners for England, and the powers and duties of the Land Commissioners for England under this Act were together with their other powers and duties transferred to the Board of Agriculture by the Board of Agriculture Act, 1889, s. 2, and now to the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 91.

THE CANAL BOATS ACT, 1877.

(40 & 41 VICT. c. 60) (a).

An Act to provide for the Registration and Regulation of Canal Boats used as Dwellings. [14th August, 1877.]

Registration of canal boat as a dwelling.

1. After the expiration of twelve months after the commencement of this Act, or if the regulations of the Local Government Board hereinafter mentioned have not at that time come into force, then after the expiration of six months from the date at which they have come into force (b), a canal boat shall not be used as a dwelling unless it has been registered in accordance with this Act.

The owner of a canal boat may register that boat with the registration authority hereinafter mentioned (c) as a dwelling for such number of persons of the specified age and sex as may be allowed under the provisions of this Act; and the boat shall be used as a dwelling only for the number of persons of the age and sex for which it is registered.

If a canal boat is used as a dwelling in contravention of this Act, the master of the boat, and also the owner of the boat, if he is in fault, shall each be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty shillings for each occasion on which the boat is so used.

(a) See the amending Act, the Canal Boats Act, 1884, post, p. 2485.

(b) The words in italics at the commencement of this section have been repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894.

(c) See s. 7, post, p. 2398. It will be observed that the owner has the choice of several authorities with whom to register. For the definition of owner, see s. 14, post, p. 2400.

Local Government Board to make regulations.

2. The Local Government Board (a) shall make regulations (b), and may from time to time revoke and vary such regulations—

(1) For the registration of canal boats under this Act, including certificates of registration, and the fees in connection with such registration; and

(2) For lettering, marking, and numbering of such boats; and

(3) For fixing the number age and sex of the persons who may be allowed to dwell in a canal boat, having regard to the cubic space, ventilation, provision for the separation of the sexes, general healthiness, and convenience of accommodation of the boat; and

(4) For promoting cleanliness in and providing for the habitable condition of canal boats; and

(5) For preventing the spread of infectious disease by canal boats (c).

The registration authority shall register every canal boat which conforms to the conditions of registration provided by the said regulations for the number of persons allowed by those regulations to dwell therein.

(a) The powers of the L. G. B. were transferred to the Minister of Health by 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 21, and orders made thereunder.

(b) Regulations have been made under this section, and will be found in App. II., post, p. 3088. As to default in compliance with these regulations, see the Canal Boats Act, 1884, s. 2, post, p. 2485.

(c) See s. 4, post, p. 2397.

Certificate of registry and lettering and numbering of boats.

3. Upon the registry of a boat under this Act, the registration authority shall give to the owner thereof two certificates of registry, identifying the owner and the boat, and stating the place to which the boat is registered as belonging, and the number age and sex of the persons allowed to dwell in the boat, and such other particulars as may be provided by regulations under this Act, or may seem fit to the registration authority, and the master shall have the care of one of such certificates (a).

Every canal boat when registered shall be lettered marked and numbered in some conspicuous manner (as directed by the regulations made under this Act), and such lettering marking and numbering shall include the word "registered" and the name of the place to which the boat is registered as belonging, and the registered number (b).

Any boat not lettered marked and numbered in conformity with this section, or having the letter mark or number altered defaced or obliterated, shall be deemed, for the purposes of this Act, to be an unregistered canal boat (c)

(a) This certificate is made void by structural alterations in the boat. See the Canal Boats Act, 1884, s. 1, post, p. 2485.

(b) The name of the school district referred to in s. 7, post, p. 2398, need not be painted on the boat.

(c) The boat must be lettered on both sides or on the stern, so as to be visible from both sides of the canal. See the Canal Boats Act, 1884, s. 7, post, p. 2486.

Power of sanitary authority for prevention of infectious disease in canal boats.

4. Where any sanitary authority within whose district a canal or any part of a canal is situate is informed by the master of a canal boat or otherwise that a person on a canal boat is suffering from an infectious disorder, the authority shall cause such steps to be taken as may by the certificate of their medical officer of health, or of any other legally qualified practitioner, appear requisite for preventing the said disorder from spreading, and for that purpose may exercise the power of removing a person suffering as aforesaid, and all other powers in relation to provisions against infection conferred by the Public Health Act, 1875 (a), and may also, if need be, detain the boat; but such boat shall not be detained a longer time than is necessary for cleansing and disinfecting the same.

38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

(a) See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 124, ante, p. 244, extended to ships by the Public Health (Ships, etc.) Act, 1885, ante, p. 765. See also the provisions of the Infectious Disease Notification Act, 1889, s. 13 (ante, p. 845), extending to vessels, boats, etc.

Authorised person may enter boat, etc.

5. Where any person duly authorised by a registration or sanitary authority, or by a justice of the peace, has reasonable cause to suppose, either that there is any contravention of this Act on board a canal boat, or that there is on board a canal boat any person suffering from an infectious disorder, he may, on producing (if demanded) either a copy of his authorisation, purporting to be certified by the clerk or a member of the sanitary authority, or some other sufficient evidence of his being authorised as aforesaid, enter by day (a) such canal boat and examine the same and every part thereof, in order to ascertain whether on board such boat there is any contravention of this Act, or a person suffering from an infectious disorder, and may, if need be, detain the boat for the purpose, but for no longer time than is necessary.

The master of the boat shall, if required by such person, produce to him the certificate of registry (if any) of the boat, and permit him to examine and copy the same, and shall furnish him with such assistance and means as such person may require for the purpose of his entry and examination of and departure from the boat in pursuance of this section.

A refusal to comply with the requisition of such person under this section shall be deemed to be an obstruction of such person.

If such person is obstructed in the performance of his duty under this Act in the case of any boat, the person so obstructing shall be liable to a fine not exceeding forty shillings.

(a) I.e., between 6 a.m. and 9 p.m. (47 & 48 Vict. c. 75, s. 9, post, p. 2487).

Education of children.

6 (a). A child in a canal boat registered in pursuance of this Act, and his parent, shall for the purposes of the Elementary Education Acts, 1870, 1873, and 1876, be deemed, subject as hereinafter mentioned, to be resident in the place to which the boat is registered as belonging, and shall be subject accordingly to any byelaw in force under the said Acts, in that place.

Section 6.

36 & 37 Vict. c. 86. 39 & 40 Vict. c. 79.

Provided, that if the parent satisfies the school board or school attendance committee having authority in that place, that the child is actually attending school, or is under efficient instruction in accordance with the said Acts, in some other school district, the said board or committee shall grant him without charge a certificate to that effect, and thereupon he and his child shall be deemed for the purposes aforesaid to be resident in the school district in which the child is so attending school, or under efficient instruction, and shall be subject to any byelaw in force therein.

The said certificate may on application by the parent be rescinded or varied by the school board or school attendance committee for the place to which the boat is registered as belonging, and may be rescinded without application by any such board or committee, if they are satisfied, after due notice to the parent, that his child is not properly attending school or under efficient instruction in the school district mentioned in the certificate.

(a) It has been thought advisable to reprint this section which is now repealed by s. 172 and Sched. VII. to the Education Act, 1921, and re-enacted by s. 50 of that Act.

Registration authority.

7. For the purpose of the registration of canal boats the registration authority shall be such one or more of the sanitary authorities having districts abutting on a canal as may from time to time be prescribed by regulation of the Local Government Board (a).

A canal boat shall be registered with some registration authority having a district abutting on the canal on which such boat is accustomed or intended to ply (b).

33 & 34 Vict. c. 75. 36 & 37 Vict. c. 86. 39 & 40 Vict. c. 79.

With a view of determining the place to which a canal boat belongs, for the purpose of the Elementary Education Acts, 1870, 1873, and 1876, the registration authority shall register any canal boat in respect of which an application is made for registration as belonging to some place which is either a school district or is part of a school district, and is situate wholly or partly within the jurisdiction of the registration authority with which it is registered.

(a) Now the M. of H. See note (a) to s. 2, ante, p. 2396.
(b) This gives the owner the choice of the place of registration.

Expenses of sanitary authority.

8. The expenses incurred in the execution of this Act by a local authority shall be defrayed as follows:

(1) When they are incurred by an urban sanitary authority, a rural sanitary authority, or a port sanitary authority, they shall be defrayed out of the fund or rate out of which the expenses of such authority, as a sanitary authority under the Public Health Act, 1875 (a), are defrayed: Provided, that when they are incurred by a rural sanitary authority they shall be deemed to be general expenses (b); and

38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

(2) When they are incurred by a vestry or district board in the metropolis they shall be defrayed as expenses incurred by such vestry or board in the execution of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, and the Acts amending the same.

18 & 19 Vict. c. 120.

(a) That is, out of the general rate fund. See s. 207 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 495, and the R. and V. Act, 1925, ante, p. 1633.
(b) See ante, p. 514. As to the duty of the local authority to enforce the Act and regulations under it, see the Canal Boats Act, 1884, s. 3, post, p. 2485.

Regulations to be laid before Parliament.

9. An order of the Local Government Board (a) making revoking or varying any regulation in pursuance of this Act shall not come into force until it has lain in a complete form as settled and approved by the Board for forty days before both Houses of Parliament during the session of Parliament.

Section 9.

The Local Government Board (a) shall take steps for enabling all persons interested in any regulations made by that Board in pursuance of this Act to obtain copies thereof at such places in the neighbourhood of canals as the Local Government Board (a) may prescribe, on payment of such sum not exceeding sixpence as may be prescribed by that Board (b).

(a) Now the M. of H. See (a) to s. 2, ante, p. 2396.

(b) See the regulations of the L. G. B., dated September, 1878, and November, 1879, prescribing places and fixing prices for sale of regulations (Glen's Local Government Orders, pp. 473 and 478), and further regulations dated July, 1887.

Illegal detention of certificate of registry.

10. If the master of any canal boat illegally detains the certificate of registry of such boat, he may, on summary conviction before two justices, be directed by order of such justices to deliver up such certificate, and shall, in addition thereto, be liable to a fine not exceeding forty shillings, and the justices may direct any part of such fine to be paid to the person injured by the detention of such certificate.

Application of fees under this Act.

11. All fees paid in respect of registration under this Act shall be carried to the fund or rate out of which the expenses incurred in the execution of this Act by the authority making such registration are by this Act declared to be payable (a).

(a) See s. 8, ante, p. 2398.

Power of canal company, etc. to establish schools.

12. Any company or association, corporate or unincorporate, being the owners of any canal boats, or being the owners lessees or undertakers of any canal, may, with the assent of a special resolution of their members, and notwithstanding any Act of Parliament, charter, or document regulating the funds of the company or association, appropriate any portion of their funds to the establishment and maintenance, or establishment or maintenance, of a school or schools wherein the children of the persons employed in canal boats may be lodged maintained and educated, or educated only; with this restriction, that the children shall not be maintained gratuitously, but the lodging or education may be wholly or partially gratuitous.

A "special resolution" shall for the purposes of this Act mean a resolution passed in manner provided by the fifty-first section of the Companies Act, 1862 (a).

25 & 26 Vict. c. 89.

(a) See now s. 117 of the Companies Act, 1929.

Recovery of penalties.

13. Offences under this Act may be prosecuted, and fines under this Act may be recovered on summary conviction before two justices having jurisdiction, either in the place to which the boat in respect of which the offence was committed is registered as belonging, or in the place where the offence is committed, or in the place where the alleged offender for the time being is, in manner provided by the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1848 (a).

11 & 12 Vict. c. 43, etc.

(a) Sic in the second edition of the Statutes Revised, but it ought to be "the Summary Jurisdiction (England) Acts," because in the original statute not only is the Act of 1848 referred to by its long title, but also "the Acts amending the same." See the Interpretation Act, 1889, s. 13 (7). Fines are to be paid to the registration or sanitary authority. See the Canal Boats Act, 1884, s. 8, post, p. 2487.

Definitions.

14. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires—

The expression "sanitary authority" means an urban sanitary authority, a rural sanitary authority, or port sanitary authority: Provided, that in the case of the parishes mentioned in Schedule A. and the districts mentioned in Schedule B. to the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, so far as they are not within the jurisdiction of a port sanitary authority, the vestry of any such parish and the district board of any such district elected under the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, and the Acts amending the same, shall be deemed to be sanitary authorities, and

18 & 19 Vict. c. 120.

Section 14.

38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

where other sanitary authorities are by this Act empowered to exercise powers conferred by the Public Health Act, 1875, may exercise similar powers conferred by any Act of Parliament extending to such parishes or districts:

The expression "parent" includes guardian, and every person who is liable to maintain or has the actual custody of any child (a) :

38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

The expression "urban sanitary authority" and "rural sanitary authority" and "port sanitary authority" have the same meaning as in the Public Health Act, 1875 (b):

The expression "canal" includes any river, inland navigation, lake, or water being within the body of a county, whether it is or not within the ebb and flow of the tide:

17 & 18 Vict. c. 104.

The expression "canal boat" means any vessel, however propelled, which is used for the conveyance of goods along a canal as above defined, and which is not a ship duly registered under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, and the Acts amending the same (c):

The expression "owner" includes a person who, though only the hirer of a canal boat, appoints the master and other persons working such boat.

The expression "master" in relation to a canal boat means the person having for the time being command or charge of the boat.

(a) This definition is now repealed by s. 172 and Sched. VII., Education Act, 1921, and re-enacted by s. 170 (12) of that Act.

(b) Ante, pp. 39, 623.

(c) This definition is now to extend to ships, which are within the definition even though registered, other than sea-going ships and "Thames sailing barges." See the Canal Boats Order, 1922, in App. II., post, p. 3096, made under s. 10 of the Canal Boats Act, 1884, post, p. 2487.

15. [Commencement of Act.] (a)

(a) Repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894.

Extent.

16. This Act shall not extend to Scotland or Ireland.

Short title.

17. This Act may be cited as "The Canal Boats Act, 1877."

THE LOCAL TAXATION RETURNS ACT, 1877.

(40 & 41 VICT. c. 66) (a).

An Act to amend the Law with respect to the Annual Returns of Local Taxation in England, and for other purposes relating to such taxation.

[14th August, 1877.]

Date for annual return of local taxation.

1. The annual return required by law to be made of any receipts or expenditure of a local authority, or of any rates taxes tolls or dues, shall be made for the financial year ending on the twenty-fifth day of March, or on such other day as the Local Government Board (b) may from time to time prescribe, upon the application of any particular authority in respect of their receipts and expenditure, or of any rates taxes tolls or dues levied by them, or in respect of the receipts and expenditure and of the rates taxes tolls or dues levied by any class of authorities (c)

Every such return shall be sent to the Local Government Board (b) and not to one of her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State, and shall be so sent within one month after the audit of the receipts and expenditure to which the return relates is completed, or if the audit is not completed within six months after the end of the financial year for which the return is to be made, then on the expiration of such six months, or if there is no audit, then within one month after the end of the said financial year.

For the purpose of any such return the date to which the accounts of any local authority are required by law to be made up, and the date at which such accounts are required by law to be audited, and auditors are required to be elected or appointed, may be altered by the local authority, with the approval of the Local Government Board (b): Provided, that nothing in this section shall prevent any accounts being made up and audited at shorter periods than twelve months, so that one of such shorter periods ends on the last day of the financial year for which the return of such accounts is to be made.

(a) The preamble to this Act was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. See also s. 4 of that Act as to the omission of the clause of enactment. The marginal notes are as printed in the second edition of the Statutes Revised. See also on the subject of this Act, the Local Taxation Returns Act, 1860, ante, p. 2257. This Act is repealed by the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, in so far as it relates to the receipts and expenditure of municipal corporations. As to returns under that Act, see 45 & 46 Vict. c. 50, s. 28.

(b) The powers of the L. G. B. have now been transferred to the M. of H. See 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 21, and orders made thereunder.

(c) This return is dispensed with where the accounts are audited by a district auditor, and a duplicate of the financial statement is sent to the Ministry of Health under the District Auditors Act, 1879, s. 3.

Obligation of clerk of local authority to send return.

2. Every return to which this Act applies shall be made by the clerk of the local authority, or where no clerk is appointed or acting, by the treasurer or other officer keeping the accounts of the receipts and expenditure, rates, taxes, tolls, or dues, to which the return relates, and any such clerk treasurer or other officer who makes default in making any such return shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds for each offence, to be recovered by action on behalf of her Majesty in the High Court of Justice (a).

(a) See the Local Taxation Returns Act, 1860, s. 4, ante, p. 2257.

Definition of "local authority."

3. The expression "local authority" in this Act means any justices, municipal or other corporation, board, . . . sanitary authority, vestry, commissioners, inspectors, trustees, or other body of persons required by law to make to one of her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State, or to the Local Government Board (a), a return of their receipts and expenditure, or of any rates, taxes, tolls, or dues levied by them or under their direction.

(a) See note (b) to s. 1, supra.

Change of date of accounts and audits.

4. . . . (a) the Local Government Board (b) shall make such provision as may seem to them necessary for any change of the date of the accounts and audit of the accounts of any local authority which may be rendered necessary by the provisions of this Act, so as to cause as little inconvenience as possible to the local authority.

(a) The provision of this section as to the first return was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1883.

(b) See note (b) to s. 1, supra.

Short title.

5. This Act may be cited as "The Local Taxation Returns Act, 1877." The Local Taxation Returns Act, 1860, and this Act may be cited as "The Local Taxation Returns Acts, 1860 and 1877."

THE BATHS AND WASHHOUSES ACT, 1878.

(41 & 42 VICT. C. 14) (a).

An Act to amend the Law relating to Public Baths and Washhouses.
[27th May, 1878.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as "The Baths and Washhouses Act, 1878."

"Covered swimming bath."

The words "covered swimming bath" in this Act shall mean a swimming bath protected by a roof or other covering from the weather.

(a) See the Baths and Washhouses Acts, 1846, ante, p. 2143, and 1847, ante, p. 2213; also 1882, post, p. 2413, and 1899, post, p. 2601, and the P. H. A., 1925, Pt. IX., ante, p. 1627. The preamble to this Act was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. See also s. 4 of that Act as to the omission of the clause of enactment.

Construction of Act.
38 & 39 Vict. c. 66.
38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

2. This Act and the recited Acts, as amended by the Statute Law Revision Act, 1875, and the Public Health Act, 1875, and by this Act, shall be construed and carried into execution as one Act; and the words "the council and the commissioners" when used in this Act shall include the urban authority mentioned in the tenth section of the Public Health Act, 1875 (a).

(a) Ante, p. 44.

Covered swimming baths authorised.

3. All the provisions of the recited Acts respectively shall be construed to extend and to have extended from the passing of such Acts respectively to covered swimming baths as well as to baths washhouses and open bathing places.

As to charges for swimming baths.

4. The council and the commissioners respectively may from time to time provide covered swimming baths, and make such reasonable charges for the use thereof as they shall think fit, not exceeding the charges mentioned in the Schedule annexed to this Act (a).

(a) Local authorities may now fix a scale of charges under s. 85 of the P. H. A., 1925, ante, p. 1627, and where such a scale has been authorised the words in italics are repealed by s. 9 and Sched. V., Pt. I., of that Act.

5. [Powers to close swimming baths for a limited period . . .] (a).

(a) These sections were repealed by s. 9 and Sched. V., Pt. II., of the P. H. A., 1925. As to the closing of swimming baths and the purposes to which they can be put while closed, see s. 87, ibid., ante, p. 1628.

6. [Powers to make bye-laws . . .] (a).

(a) See note (a) to s. 5, supra.

7. [Powers to appoint officers . . .] (a).

(a) See note (a) to s. 5, supra.

8. [Powers to make charges for gymnasium, etc. . . .] (a).

(a) See note (a) to s. 5, supra.

Powers of borrowing, etc. extended to this Act.

9. The provisions in the twenty-first, twenty-second, and twenty-third sections of the principal Act (a) authorising the borrowing and advancement of money for the purposes of that Act, shall be taken to authorise the borrowing and advancement of money in like manner for the purposes of this Act; and the approval of the Local Government Board (b) shall be substituted for that of the Treasury in all cases where money is borrowed for the purposes of the principal Act or this Act.

(a) See these sections, ante, pp. 2147, 2148.
(b) The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Ministry of Health. See 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 21.

Power to remove offenders.

Baths, etc. to be considered public and open places.

10. The council and the commissioners respectively, and their respective servants and agents, may remove any person offending against any of the byelaws made under this Act and the recited Acts, or any of them; and any bath or washhouse, or open bathing place, or covered swimming bath, established under this Act and the recited Acts, or any of them, shall be taken to be a public and open place, so as to make offences against decency therein criminal offences.

Power to refuse admittance to baths, etc. to offenders.

11. The council and the commissioners respectively, and their respective officers and servants, may refuse admittance to any bath, washhouse, open bathing place, or covered swimming bath, or any of them, to any person (1) who shall have been convicted of wilfully disobeying any of the byelaws in such bath, washhouse, open bathing place, or covered swimming bath; (2) who shall have been convicted of any offence against public decency in any of such baths, washhouses, open bathing places, or covered swimming baths as aforesaid (a).

(a) Section 12 relates only to the metropolis, and applies the Superannuation (Metropolis) Act, 1866.

* * * * * *

Expenses of Act and application of income.

13. The expense of carrying this Act into execution shall be defrayed, and the income arising from the use in any manner of any covered swimming bath established under the provisions of this Act and the recited Acts, or any of them, shall be applied, in the same manner as that in which the expenses of the principal Act are thereby directed to be defrayed, and the income arising from baths and washhouses and open bathing places is thereby directed to be applied.

Increase of charge. 10 & 11 Vict. c. 61.

14. The charge of one halfpenny, fixed by the Baths and Washhouses Act, 1847, section seven (a), and Part Five of the Schedule to that Act, shall be increased to one penny (b).

(a) Ante, p. 2214.

(b) The words in italics are repealed in any district as from the date on which a scale of charges under s. 85 of the P. H. A., 1925 (ante, p. 1627), is authorised (s. 9 and Sched. V., Pt. I., ibid.).

THE SCHEDULE ABOVE REFERRED TO.

[Sect. 4.]

CHARGES FOR COVERED SWIMMING BATHS.

1*st Class.—Any sum not exceeding eightpence for each person.*
2*nd Class.—Any sum not exceeding fourpence for each person.*
3*rd Class.—Any sum not exceeding twopence for each person* (a).

(a) See note (b) to s. 14, supra.

THE PUBLIC WORKS LOANS ACT, 1878.

(41 & 42 VICT. c. 18) (a).

An Act to grant Money for the purpose of Loans by the Public Works Loan Commissioners and by the Commissioners of Public Works in Ireland, and to authorise the former Commissioners to compound and cancel certain Loans and Interest, and to amend the Public Works Loans Act, 1875.
[27th May, 1878.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Public Works Loans Act, 1878.

(a) See the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, ante, p. 2357. The preamble to this Act and the recital to s. 4 have been repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. See also s. 4 of that Act as to the omission of the clause of enactment.

PART I.

PUBLIC WORKS LOAN COMMISSIONERS.

2. [Grant for loans during period ending 30*th June*, 1879] (a).

(a) This section was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1883.

3. [Composition of debt due from the Epping Rural Sanitary Authority] (a).

(a) This section is omitted as not of general interest.

Examination into proper application of loan advanced on rates. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 89, s. 36.

4. . . . Where upon any examination made in pursuance of section thirty-six of the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, with reference to a loan advanced by the Public Works Loan Commissioners for any purpose on the security of a rate, it appears to the Local Government Board that any sum, being the whole or part of the money raised by the loan, has not been applied for the said purpose, the Local Government Board may order that sum to be, within the time named in the order, applied either for the said purpose or towards the repayment to the Public Works Loan Commissioners of the principal of the loan, or partly in one of such ways and partly in the other, and further, if it appears to them that the sum, or any part thereof, has been applied for some purpose other than that for which it was advanced, may by the same or any other order direct a sum equal to the amount so misapplied to be raised within the time and out of the fund or rate named in the order and to be applied as directed by the above-mentioned order (a).

An order made by the Local Government Board in pursuance of this section may be enforced by writ of mandamus.

(a) The unapplied balance may now be applied to any purpose to which moneys borrowed on the security of the rate are properly applicable. See the Public Works Loans Act, 1881, s. 9, post, p. 2409. The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Ministry of Health.

5. [Cancellation of debt due in respect of Wigan church] (a).

Repeal of obligation of Public Works Loan Commissioners to take securities under 38 & 39 Vict. c. 83. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 89.

6. So much of any Act as requires the Public Works Loan Commissioners to take in respect of any loan advanced by them under that Act in preference to any other securities, all or such one or more of the securities issuable under the Local Loans Act, 1875, as they may prefer, is hereby repealed, and the security for any such loan may be given and taken under and pursuant to the Public Works Loans Act, 1875 (a).

(a) Part II. related to Ireland only, and was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1883.

THE DISTRICT AUDITORS ACT, 1879.

(42 & 43 VICT. c. 6) (a).

An Act to amend the Law with respect to District Auditors.

[28th March, 1879.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as "The District Auditors Act, 1879."

(a) See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 247, ante, p. 540; also the Audit (Local Authorities, etc.) Act, 1922, and the Audit (Local Authorities) Act, 1927, ante, pp. 1316 and 1818. The preamble of this Act reciting s. 24 of the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1868, was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. As to the omission of the clause of enactment, see s. 4 of the same Act.

Section 2.

Payment of district auditors.

2. (a) The whole of the salaries or remuneration and of the expenses of district auditors, to such amount as may be sanctioned by the Treasury, shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament; and for the purpose of contributing to the amount required for the payment of such salaries, remuneration, and expenses, there shall be charged on every local authority whose accounts are audited by a district auditor a stamp duty for the use of her Majesty, according to the scale contained in the First Schedule to this Act (b), and such duty shall be levied by a stamp on the certificate of the auditor hereinafter mentioned.

(a) Words at the commencement of this section were repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894.

(b) See note (a) to this Schedule at p. 2407, post.

Financial statement with stamped certificate of district auditor. 29 & 30 Vict. c. 113, s. 6.

3. Where the accounts of the receipts and expenditure of a local authority are audited by a district auditor, the local authority shall prepare and submit to the district auditor at every audit (other than an extraordinary audit (a) held in pursuance of section six of the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1866) a financial statement in duplicate in the prescribed form and containing the prescribed particulars (b); one of such duplicates shall have the stamp charged under this Act affixed thereon, and the auditor at the conclusion of the audit shall cancel that stamp, and certify on each duplicate, in the prescribed form, the amount in words at length of the expenditure so audited and allowed, and further, that the regulations with respect to such statement have been duly complied with, and that he has ascertained by the audit the correctness of the statement.

He shall forthwith send the duplicate so stamped and certified by him to the Local Government Board (c); and in such case a return of the receipts or expenditure comprised in such statement need not, unless the Local Government Board so require, be sent to the Board in pursuance of the Local Taxation Returns Acts, 1860 and 1877.

23 & 24 Vict. c. 51. 40 & 41 Vict. c. 66.

(a) By the Audit (Local Authorities, etc.) Act, 1922, s. 1, ante, p. 1316, the Minister of Health is enabled to direct an extraordinary audit. The submission of a financial statement is unnecessary in such cases. Section 6 of the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1866, was repealed by the Poor Law Act, 1927. The provisions of the 1922 Act apply to all extraordinary audits by district auditors.

(b) The Order of 1921 now regulating the form of the financial statements of sanitary authorities is set out in App. II., post, p. 3036.

(c) The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Minister of Health.

Appointment and districts of district auditor.

4. The Local Government Board (a) may from time to time appoint such number of district auditors as they may, with the sanction of the Treasury, think necessary for the performance of the duties of auditing the accounts which are for the time being by law subject to be audited by district auditors, and may from time to time remove such auditors.

The Board may from time to time assign to district auditors their duties, and the districts in which such auditors respectively are to act, and may from time to time change wholly or in part such duties or districts; and every district so assigned to a district auditor, whether originally or upon any change, shall be deemed to be an audit district within the meaning of any enactment relating to district auditors or their districts, and the auditor to whom any district is assigned shall be deemed to be the district auditor for that district.

The Board may also, with the consent of the Treasury, appoint from time to time a person or persons, either temporarily or otherwise, to assist a district auditor in the performance of his duties, and any person so appointed shall, subject to any exceptions made by the terms of his appointment, have the same powers and duties and be subject to the same obligations as the district auditor whom he is appointed to assist.

The Board, with the like consent, may assign to a person so appointed such salary or remuneration and such sum for his expenses as may seem fit, and such salary, remuneration, and expenses shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament.

(a) The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Minister of Health.

Regulations as to audit.

5. Where any accounts of the receipts and expenditure of a local authority are subject by law to be audited by a district auditor, the Local Government Board (a) may from time to time by Order make, and when made revoke and vary, such regulations as seem to the Board necessary or proper respecting the audit of such accounts, including the form of keeping the accounts of the local authority and their officers, the day or days to which the accounts are to be made up, the time within which they are to be examined by the local authority, the mode in which, if it is so prescribed, they are to be certified by the local authority or any officer of that authority, the mode of publishing the time and place of holding the audit, the persons by whom such accounts are to be produced for audit, and the mode of conducting the audit, and an Order under this section shall be deemed to be an Order within the meaning of section ninety-eight of the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1834 (b).

4 & 5 Will. 4, c. 76.

(a) The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Minister of Health.
(b) For these Orders reference should be made to App. II., post, pp. 3034 et seq.

Stamp duties under Inland Revenue.

6. The duties charged under this Act shall be deemed to be stamp duties under the management of the Commissioners of Inland Revenue, and all the Acts relating to stamp duties, particularly those relating to forgery, fraudulent dies, and other offences in connection with stamp duties, shall apply accordingly; and such duties may, if the commissioners so direct, be denoted by adhesive stamps, to be cancelled by the auditor as provided by this Act.

Failure to submit financial statement.

7. If a local authority fail to comply with the provisions of this Act with respect to a financial statement, such local authority, or if a clerk to the local authority is appointed, that clerk, and if no clerk is appointed, but there is a treasurer or other officer keeping the accounts which should be comprised in such financial statement, that treasurer or other officer, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds for each offence, to be recovered by action on behalf of her Majesty in the High Court (a).

(a) Probably only by the Crown (Bradlaugh v. Clarke (1883), 8 App. Cas. 354; 47 J. P. 405).

Definitions.

8. In this Act,—

The expression "local rate" means the poor rate, the general district rate (a), and every rate the proceeds of which are applicable to public local purposes, and which is leviable on the basis of a poundage assessment of the value of property, and includes any sum which, though obtained in the first instance by a precept, certificate, or other instrument requiring payment from some authority or officer, is or can be ultimately raised out of a rate as before defined.

The expression "local authority" means any person or body of persons who receive and expend any local rate, but does not include overseers of the poor.

The expression "prescribed" means prescribed from time to time by the Local Government Board (b).

(a) The poor rate and general district rate are now both merged in the "general rate," see the R. and V. Act, 1925, ante, p. 1633.

(b) The remainder of this section, and ss. 9, 10, and parts of 11 and 12 and the Second Schedule, were repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Minister of Health.

11. . . .

(2) Any auditor appointed in pursuance of any enactment hereby repealed shall (save as may be prescribed) have the same powers and duties and be subject to the same obligations as if such enactment had not been repealed.

Auditors appointed under repealed Act.

12 Nothing in this Act shall prevent a district auditor from recovering . . . any expenses which he may incur, in any proceedings which he is authorised or required to take or defend under the statutes in that behalf (a).

Saving of certain fees and expenses.

(a) See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 2404.

FIRST SCHEDULE (a).

SCALE OF STAMP DUTIES PAYABLE BY LOCAL AUTHORITIES.

(a) The provisions of this Act were applied to county councils by the L. G. A., 1888, s. 71 (3), and this schedule was repealed by s. 61 of the Finance Act, 1921. The scale was replaced by a scale prescribed by the Audit Stamp Duty (Local Authorities) Order, 1921. See App. II., post, p. 3034.

THE PUBLIC WORKS LOANS ACT, 1879.

(42 & 43 VICT. c. 77) (a).

An Act to amend the Acts relating to the Public Works Loan Commissioners and the Commissioners of Public Works in Ireland, and to grant money for the purpose of Loans by the said Commissioners; and for other purposes in relation thereto. [15th August, 1879.]

1. This Act may be cited as "The Public Works Loans Act, 1879."

Short title.

(a) See the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, ante, p. 2357. The preamble to this Act was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. As to the omission of the clause of enactment, see s. 4 of that Act.

PART I.

AMENDMENT OF ACTS.

2. Where a loan is granted by the Public Works Loan Commissioners, or by the Commissioners of Public Works in Ireland, and the rate of interest for such loan, fixed by the special Act which authorises the Commissioners to grant the loan, is a special rate less than five per cent., such loan shall, notwithstanding anything in the special Act, bear interest at a rate not less than the rate in the special Act, and such other rate as may be necessary, in the judgment of the Treasury, in order to enable the loans to be made without loss to the Exchequer (a).

Minimum rate of interest for loans.

(a) In the application of this Act to loans granted after June 28th, 1892, the above section is to have effect as if 4 per cent. were therein substituted for 5 per cent. See the Public Works Loans Act, 1892, s. 2, post, p. 2551.

3. [Restrictions on amount of loan to one borrower] (a).

(a) This section is repealed by the Public Works Loans Act, 1897, ss. 3, 12 (4), and Sched. II.

4. Nothing in this Act shall apply to any loan granted before the passing of this Act, nor to any instalments subsequently advanced in respect of such loan . . . (a).

Act not to apply to old loans.

Section 4.

Provided, that where though a loan has not been actually granted before the passing of this Act, negotiations for the same have proceeded so far as to make it in the opinion of the Treasury inequitable for such loan to be subject to the provisions of this Act or any of them, such loan shall, for the purposes of those provisions, be deemed to be a loan granted before the passing of this Act.

(a) The remainder of this paragraph relating to local matters or Irish matters only is here omitted.

5. [Power to lend to Peabody Trustees] (a).

(a) This section is now repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894.

6. [Power to lend to labourers' dwellings companies] (a).

(a) This section was repealed by the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1890, s. 102. See now ss. 89 and 90 of the Housing Act, 1925, ante, p. 1454.

7. [Regulations as to advances by National Debt Commissioners to the Public Works Loan Commissioners] (a).

(a) These sections were repealed by the National Debt and Local Loans Act, 1887, as from the date when an Act passed in the year 1887, authorising the advance of money for local loans (the Public Works Loans Act, 1887), came into operation, and without prejudice to any charge on the Consolidated Fund of any advance until the security for such advance should be exchanged in pursuance of the repealing Act. Section 9 had merely a local application, and is now repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. Section 10 (relating to the provision of money for the purpose of loans), s. 11 (relating to Ireland only), and the Schedule (containing certain repealed enactments), are also repealed by the same Act.

8. [Application of 38 & 39 Vict. c. 89, to money advanced by National Debt Commissioner] (a).

(a) See note (a) to s. 7, supra.

THE PUBLIC WORKS LOANS ACT, 1881.

(44 & 45 VICT. c. 38) (a).

An Act to grant money for the purposes of Loans by the Public Works Loan Commissioners and the Commissioners of Public Works in Ireland; and for other purposes relating to Loans by those Commissioners.

[22nd August, 1881.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Public Works Loans Act, 1881."

(a) See the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, ante, p. 2357. The preamble to this Act was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. See also s. 4 of that Act as to the omission of the clause of enactment.

PART I.

Grants of Money for Public Works Loan Commissioners during the period ending 30th June, 1882.

PART II.

Grant of Money for Public Works Commissioners, Ireland, during the period ending 30th June, 1882.

PART III.

Remission, etc. of Loans in various cases.

* * * * * *

AMENDMENT OF ACTS.

Amendment of 38 & 39 Vict. c. 89, s. 22, as to rate of interest for loan.

7. Where the Public Works Loan Commissioners have, either before or after the passing of this Act, in pursuance of the Public Works Loans Act, 1875 (a), or of any enactment repealed by that Act, taken possession of any mortgaged property, and after the passing of this Act advance any sum for the completion, repair, improvement or security of that property, the rate of interest on such sum shall, notwithstanding anything in section twenty-two of the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, or any like enactment repealed by that Act, be not less than five per cent. per annum.

(a) See s. 22, ante, p. 2363.

Expenses of ascertaining (under 38 & 39 Vict. c. 89, s. 36) that loans advanced by the Public Works Loan Commissioners have been properly applied.

8. The Local Government Board (a) may make orders as to the expenses incurred by them or by any officer appointed by them in making or conducting any examination in pursuance of section thirty-six (b) of the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, for the purpose of ascertaining that any loan or part of a loan advanced by the Public Works Loan Commissioners either before or after the passing of this Act, on the security of a rate, has been applied to the purpose for which the same was advanced.

Any such order may contain directions as to the parties by whom, and the rates out of which such expenses shall be borne, and on the application of the Local Government Board may be made a rule of the High Court of Justice in England, or of High Court of Session in either division of the Inner House thereof in Scotland.

(a) The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Ministry of Health.
(b) See the section, ante, p. 2368.

Application of surplus balances of loans made by the Public Works Loan Commissioners.

9. The unapplied balance of any loan advanced by the Public Works Loan Commissioners, either before or after the passing of this Act, on the security of a rate, may, with the consent of the said commissioners, and of the central authority or department, if any, with whose sanction or consent such loan was authorised to be raised, be applied to any purpose to which moneys borrowed on the security of such rate are properly applicable; and in construing section thirty-six (a) of the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, and section four (b) of the Public Works Loans Act, 1878, the purpose to which any such unapplied balance as aforesaid is so applied, shall be deemed to be the purpose for which that portion of the loan was advanced (c).

41 Vict. c. 18.

(b) See this section, ante, p. 2404.
(c) It will be observed that the present section applies only to unapplied balances of loans advanced by the Public Works Loan Commissioners. If, therefore, a loan sanction issued by the L. G. B. or Ministry of Health has been only partially acted upon, the section will not facilitate an advance of the balance by the Commissioners for the purposes of works not at first contemplated.

Section 10 relates to local matters only; and the remaining sections of the Act apply only to Ireland.

Section 1.

THE COMMONABLE RIGHTS COMPENSATION ACT, 1882.

(45 & 46 VICT. c. 15) (a).

An Act to provide for the better application of moneys paid by way of Compensation for the compulsory acquisition of Common Lands and extinguishment of Rights of Common. [19th June, 1882.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as the Commonable Rights Compensation Act, 1882.

Application of compensation money for common lands.

2.—(1) With respect to any money which has been or hereafter may be paid by any railway or other public company or corporate body or otherwise under the provisions of the Lands Clauses Act (a) and any Act incorporated therewith, or of any other Act of Parliament to a committee of commoners (b) as compensation for the extinguishment of commonable or other rights or for lands being common lands or in the nature thereof the right to the soil of which may belong to the commoners, the committee (or a majority in number thereof) or, after the expiration of twelve months from the payment of such money to the committee, any three of the persons claiming to be interested in such money may make application in writing to the Commissioners (c) to call a meeting of the persons interested in such money to consider the application thereof, and the Commissioners shall call a meeting accordingly, and at such meeting the majority in number and the majority in respect of interest of the persons present may decide by resolution that such money shall be applied and laid out in one or more of the following ways:

(a) In the improvement of the remainder of the common land in respect of a portion of which such money has been paid;

8 & 9 Vict. c. 118, etc.

(b) In defraying the expense of any proceedings under the Metropolitan Commons Acts or under the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1878, with reference to a scheme for the local management, or a Provisional Order for the regulation, of such common land, or of any application to Parliament for a private Bill or otherwise for the preservation and management of such common land as an open space;

(c) In defraying the expense of any legal proceedings for the protection of such common land, or the commoners' rights over the same;

(d) In the purchase of additional land to be used as common land;

(e) In the purchase of land to be used as a recreation ground for the neighbourhood (d);

and any such resolution shall bind the minority and all absent parties, and the Commissioners (c) shall make an order under their seal for the payment to them of any expenses incurred by them in relation to the matter, and (subject to such payment) for the application of the money according to such resolution, and the committee or the persons in whose names such money stands or is invested, or the survivors or survivor in account of such persons or the legal personal representative of such survivor, shall, upon service of any such order of the Commissioners (c) as aforesaid upon them or any of them or any person on their behalf as the Commissioners (c) may direct, pay and apply the said money or realise any security in which the same is invested, and pay and apply the proceeds thereof in manner directed by the said order.

(a) This Act is included in this Appendix by reason of the provision which it contains in s. 2 (5), vesting recreation grounds in urban sanitary authorities when these are purchased out of moneys paid for the extinction of commonable rights under the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, and special Acts which authorise the taking or interfering with common lands. The preamble is repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1898.

Section 2.

(2) Any land so purchased as aforesaid for use as common land shall be conveyed to and vest in trustees upon trusts for the persons interested, such trustees to be appointed, and such trusts, and the powers and duties of the trustees, and provisions for the appointment of new trustees from time to time to be declared and provided by an order under the seal of the Commissioners (c), pursuant to resolutions to be passed at a special meeting of the persons interested, convened by the said Commissioners (c) by such majorities as aforesaid.

(3) Every appointment of a new trustee or of new trustees, in pursuance of this Act, shall be subject to confirmation by the Commissioners (c) under their seal, and upon such confirmation the land shall vest in the remaining and the newly-appointed trustees without any conveyance.

(4) The Commissioners (c) shall publish such notice of any meeting held under this Act, and frame such rules and give such directions for the conduct of such meetings and the service of orders made by them under this Act as they may deem fit, and may, if they think fit, direct an assistant commissioner appointed by them to preside at any such meeting, and any such meeting may be adjourned from time to time.

(5) Any land so purchased as aforesaid for use as recreation ground shall be conveyed to and vest in the local authority as specified in the Schedule to this Act (e) for the district within which such land is situate, and shall be held and managed by such local authority, subject to and in accordance with the provisions relating to recreation grounds respectively contained in the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1878 (f).

(a) See ss. 99—107 inclusive of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, ante, pp. 2124—2126.

(b) As to this Committee, see the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, s. 103, ante, p. 2125, and the case of Salmon v. Edwards, [1910] 1 Ch. 552; 74 J. P. 177, there set out. Before 1802 the occupiers of certain cottages were accustomed to cut turf on large tracts of commonable and waste lands of a manor. In that year an Inclosure Act was passed by which commissioners were empowered to allot lands in severalty to the lord and other persons interested, and to allot to the lord in trust for the occupiers of the cottages portions of the waste for a turf common, to be managed as the lord and the churchwardens and overseers should order, and not to be depastured. The commissioners by their award, made in 1806, allotted to the lord of the manor, in trust for the occupiers for the time being of the cottages, 425 acres of waste for a turf common for the use of the cottagers. The commissioners also allotted to the lord and other persons interested portions of the enclosed lands in severalty in lieu of their rights and interests. A railway company took for the purposes of their undertaking part of the land allotted as a turf common, and the purchase money was paid into court. On a petition by the freeholder of the cottages for the distribution of the fund, it was held that the owners of the cottages had no claim on the fund; and that the lord of the manor was entitled to such part of the fund as represented the value of the soil in the land taken by the company. It was also held that the remainder of the fund was to be held as a charitable trust for the benefit of the occupiers of the cottages (Att.-Gen. v. Meyrick; In re Christchurch Inclosure Act, [1893] A. C. 1; 57 J. P. 212). See this case commented on in Simcoe v. Pethick, [1898] 2 Q. B. 555. Where the relative values of commonable rights could not be strictly ascertained by reason of the land being built over, a fund was ordered to be divided equally among the commoners (Weatherley v. Layton, [1892] W. N., p. 165).

(c) See note (a) to s. 1 of the Commons Act, 1876, ante, p. 2375.

(d) It is only in this case that the urban district council have any interest. See sub-s. (5).

(e) In urban districts this local authority is the urban district council. See the Schedule post, p. 2412.

(f) 8 & 9 Vict. c. 118, ss. 34, 72—74, 92; 9 & 10 Vict. c. 70, s. 4; 15 & 16 Vict. c. 79, s. 14; 20 & 21 Vict. c. 31, ss. 12, 13; 42 & 43 Vict. c. 37. See also the Commons Act, 1876, ante, p. 2375, especially ss. 7, 12, 22—29.

Application of compensation money for recreation

3. Any moneys heretofore paid or hereafter to be paid by any railway or other public company or body corporate or otherwise under the provisions of the Lands Clauses Act, 1845, and any Act incorporated therewith, or of grounds and field gardens.

42 & 43 Vict. c. 37.

any other Act of Parliament, to any local authority as specified in the Schedule to this Act, or to the churchwardens and overseers of a parish (a) in respect of any recreation ground or allotment for field gardens taken under the powers of any such Act or Acts of Parliament shall be applied in manner provided by the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1878, as amended by the Commons Act, 1879, with respect to the surplus rents arising from recreation grounds and field gardens respectively (b).

(a) Overseers were abolished by s. 62 of the R. and V. Act, 1925. As to property formerly held by them, see now the Overseers Order, 1927 (S. R. & O., 1927, No. 55), in App. II. at p. 3680, post.

(b) See the Acts enumerated in note (f) to s. 2, ante, p. 2411.

Provision for cases where money paid by way of compensation has already been applied in the manner authorised by this Act.

4. In any case where money paid by way of compensation as aforesaid has, before the passing of this Act, been applied in any one or more of the ways authorised by this Act, a resolution may be passed, at any meeting of the persons interested, called by the Commissioners in manner provided by this Act (a), by such majorities as aforesaid approving of such application, and such application shall, upon the allowance of such resolution by the Commissioners under their seal, be deemed to have been lawfully made under the provisions of this Act; and the committee or other persons by whom such money has been so applied shall thereupon be discharged from all liability in respect of such money so applied. And the provisions in this Act contained with respect to the declaration of trusts, and the powers and duties of trustees, and the appointment of new trustees, from time to time, shall apply in every case in which such money has, before the passing of this Act, been laid out in the purchase of land.

(a) The Act does not provide any method of calling a meeting. See s. 2, ante, p. 2410.

Deposit of orders.

5. Copies of all orders made by the Commissioners under this Act shall be deposited and kept in like manner as copies of an award are by the Inclosure Act, 1845, directed to be deposited and kept (a).

(a) See 8 & 9 Vict. c. 118, s. 146; 15 & 16 Vict. c. 79, s. 27.

Exception of the New Forest.

6. This Act shall not extend to the New Forest (a).

(a) See 8 & 9 Vict. c. 118, s. 13.

THE BATHS AND WASHHOUSES ACT, 1882.

(45 & 46 VICT. c. 30) (a).

An Act to amend the Baths and Washhouses Acts. [24th July, 1882.]

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as "The Baths and Washhouses Act, 1882," and shall be read as one with the Act of the ninth and tenth years of the reign of her present Majesty, chapter seventy-four, in this Act called "the principal Act." Short title.

(a) See the Baths and Washhouses Acts, 1846, ante, p. 2143 ; 1847, ante, p. 2213 ; 1878, ante, p. 2402 ; 1899, post, p. 2601 ; and the P. H. A., 1925, Pt. IX., ante, p. 1627. The preamble to this Act is repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1898. As to the omission of the clause of enactment, see s. 4 of the S. L. R. A., 1894.

2. Section twenty-seven of the principal Act (a) shall be amended by the addition of the words "or in the immediate neighbourhood of such borough or parish" to the words "in any such borough or parish" wherever such last-mentioned words occur in the said section. Amendment of 9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, s. 27.

(a) Ante, p. 2150.

3. The power conferred by section twenty-four of the principal Act to purchase or rent lands for the purposes of that Act shall extend to lands in the immediate neighbourhood of such borough or parish as is therein referred to. Amendment of 9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, s. 24.

THE MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS ACT, 1882.

(45 & 46 VICT. c. 50) (a).

An Act for consolidating, with amendments, enactments relating to Municipal Corporations in England and Wales. [18th August, 1882.]

(a) Many provisions of this Act have been applied with adaptations by the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 961, to the district councils of urban districts not being boroughs to which this Act of itself applies, and to rural district councils. Certain portions have also a close connection with some of the enactments set out in the body of this Work so far as those enactments apply to the councils of boroughs to which this Act applies in respect of their functions as sanitary authorities. All these portions of the Act have been more or less fully referred to in the notes to those enactments, including the L. G. A., 1894. It seems, therefore, unnecessary, and would also for want of space be almost impossible, to set out in full all parts of this Act having a bearing upon the subject of this Work. Accordingly only such parts are herein set out as have not already been sufficiently referred to.

For purposes of convenience a list is here subjoined of the sections already sufficiently referred to as above stated:

Sections 25—27, ante, p. 539, note (a) to s. 246 of the P. H. A., 1875 ; ss. 34, 35, ante, p. 1014, note (b) ; s. 37, ante, p. 1014, note (d) ; s. 40, ante, p. 1014, note (e) ; s. 56, ante, p. 1015, note (f) ; s. 62, ante, p. 539, note (a) to s. 246 of the P. H. A., 1875 ; ss. 74, 75, ante, p. 1013, notes to s. 48 (3) of the L. G. A., 1894.

The preamble to this Act and s. 4 are repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1898. As to the omission of the clause of enactment, see s. 4 of the S. L. R. A., 1894.

PART I.

PRELIMINARY.

1. This Act may be cited as the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882. Short title.

2. This Act is divided into Parts, as follows: Division of Act into Part.

Part VIII.—Administration of justice.
Part IX.—Police.
Part X.—Freemen.
Part XI.—Grant of charters.
Part XII.—Legal proceedings.
Part XIII.—General.

Extent.

3. This Act shall not extend to Scotland or Ireland.

4. [Commencement, 31*st December*, 1882.]

5. [Repeals.]

Application.

6. This Act shall apply to every city and town to which the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, applies at the commencement of this Act, and to any town, district, or place whereof the inhabitants are incorporated after the commencement of this Act, and whereto the provisions of the Municipal Corporations Acts are under this Act extended by charter, but to no other place.

Interpretation and construction.

7.—(1) In this Act—

"Municipal corporation" means the body corporate constituted by the incorporation of the inhabitants of a borough:

"Municipal Corporations Act, 1835," means the recited Act of King William the Fourth, the date of the passing whereof is the ninth of September one thousand eight hundred and thirty-five:

"Municipal Corporations Acts" means this Act and any Act to be passed amending this Act:

"Burgess" includes citizen:

"Corporate seal" means the common seal of a municipal corporation:

"Corporate office" means the office of mayor, alderman, councillor, elective auditor . . . (a):

"Corporate land" means land belonging to or held in trust for a municipal corporation:

"Municipal election" means an election to a corporate office:

"Parliamentary borough" means any borough, city, county of a city, county of a town, place, or combination of places, returning a member to serve in Parliament, and not being a county at large, or a riding, parts, or division of a county at large:

"Parliamentary election" means an election of a member to serve in Parliament:

"Parish" means any place for which a separate poor rate is or can be made (b):

"Overseers" means overseers of the poor of a parish, township, or place, and includes all persons who execute the duties of overseers (c):

"County" does not include a county of a city or county of a town, but includes a riding, parts, division, or liberty of a county:

"Trustees" means trustees, commissioners, or directors, or the persons charged with the execution of a trust or public duty, however designated:

. . . . . .

Section 7.

"Justice" means one of her Majesty's justices of the peace:

"Borough civil court" means an inferior court of record for the trial of civil actions which by charter, custom, or otherwise, is or ought to be holden in a borough, but does not include a county court:

"Schedule" means Schedule to this Act, and "Part" means Part of this Act:

. . . . . .

(2) Words in this Act referring to a borough, municipal corporation, authority, officer, or office, shall be construed distributively as referring to each borough, corporation, authority, officer, or office to which or to whom the provision is applicable.

(3) Words in this Act referring to a parish shall be construed, unless a contrary intention appears, as referring to every parish situate wholly or in part in a borough.

(4) The Schedules shall be read and have effect as if they were part of this Act.

(a) Revising assessors, who were also here originally included, were abolished by 51 & 52 Vict. c. 10, s. 4.

(b) See now the definition of parish in the R. and V. Act, 1925, s. 68 (4), ante, p. 1752, which applies to all Acts unless the contrary intention appears.

(c) Overseers were abolished by the R. and V. Act, 1925, s. 62. As to the distribution of their powers and duties, see the Overseers Order, 1927, in App. II. at p. 3680, post.

PART II.

CONSTITUTION AND GOVERNMENT OF BOROUGH (a).

(a) By s. 15 of the Interpretation Act, 1889, the expression "borough" when used in relation to local government means any place for the time being subject to the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, and any reference to the mayor, aldermen, and burgesses of a borough shall include a reference to the mayor, aldermen, and citizens of a city, and any reference to the powers, duties, liabilities, or property of a borough shall be construed as a reference to the powers, duties, liabilities, or property of the mayor, aldermen, and burgesses of the borough acting by the council.

* * * * * *

12. (a)—(1) A person shall be disqualified for being elected and for being a councillor, if and while he—

(a) Is an elective auditor or a revising assessor or holds any office or place of profit other than that of Mayor or Sheriff in the gift or disposal of the Council (b); or

(b) . . . (c).

(c) Has directly or indirectly, by himself or partner any share or interest in any contract or employment with, by or on behalf of the council (d).

(2) (e) But a person shall not be so disqualified or deemed to have any share or interest in such a contract or employment by reason only of his having any share or interest in—

(a) Any lease sale or purchase of land or any agreement for the same; or

(b) Any agreement for the loan of money or any security for the payment of money only; or

(c) Any newspaper in which any advertisement relating to the affairs of the borough or council is inserted; or

(d) Any company which contracts with the council for lighting or supplying with water or insuring against fire any part of the borough; or

(e) Any railway company or company incorporated by Act of Parliament or royal charter or under the Companies Act, 1862 (or any society registered under the Provident Societies Acts, 1893 and 1895).

Note to Section 12.

(a) This section is printed here because disqualifications attaching to the office of borough councillor now also attach to the office of rural district councillor, see L. G. A., 1894, s. 46 (5), and notes thereto, at p. 1009, ante.

(b) See note (g) to the similar provision in L. G. A., 1894, s. 46 (1) (d), ante, p. 1004.

(c) This paragraph was repealed by the Ministers of Religion (Removal of Disqualifications) Act, 1925, 15 & 16 Geo. 5, c. 54.

(d) See the note (h) to the corresponding provision in L. G. A., 1894, s. 46 (1) (e), ante, p. 1004.

(e) See the corresponding provision in s. 46 (2) of the L. G. A., 1894, and notes thereto, at p. 1007, ante.

Byelaws (a).

Power of council to make byelaws.

23.—(1) The council may, from time to time, make such byelaws as to them seem meet for the good rule and government of the borough (b), and for prevention and suppression of nuisances not already punishable in a summary manner by virtue of any Act in force throughout the borough, and may thereby appoint such fines, not exceeding in any case five pounds, as they deem necessary for the prevention and suppression of offences against the same.

(2) Such a byelaw shall not be made unless at least two-thirds of the whole number of the council are present.

(3) Such a byelaw shall not come into force until the expiration of forty days after a copy thereof has been fixed on the town hall.

(4) Such a byelaw shall not come into force until the expiration of forty days after a copy thereof, sealed with the corporate seal, has been sent to the Secretary of State; and if within those forty days the Queen, with the advice of her Privy Council, disallows the byelaw or part thereof, the byelaw or part disallowed shall not come into force; but it shall be lawful for the Queen, at any time within those forty days, to enlarge the time within which the byelaw shall not come into force, and in that case the byelaw shall not come into force until after the expiration of that enlarged time.

(5) Any offence against such a byelaw may be prosecuted summarily (c).

38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

(6) Nothing in this section shall interfere with the operation of section one hundred and eighty-seven of the Public Health Act, 1875 (d); and that section shall have effect as if this section were therein referred to, instead of section ninety of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835; but nothing in the Public Health Act, 1875, shall be construed as having restricted the meaning or scope of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, or as restricting the meaning or scope of this section, with respect to prevention or suppression of nuisances.

(a) See ss. 182—188 inclusive of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 453. See also s. 341 of that Act, ante, p. 669.

(b) See particularly ss. 47, 50, 171 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, pp. 123, 126, 411.

(c) But the council cannot summon offenders before them to answer complaints of offences against the byelaws (Wiseman v. Manchester Corporation (1887), 3 T. L. R. 12).

(d) See this section, ante, p. 469.

Evidence of byelaws.

24. The production of a written copy of a byelaw made by the council under this Act, or under any former or present or future general or local Act of Parliament, if authenticated by the corporate seal shall, until the contrary is proved, be sufficient evidence of the due making and existence of the byelaw, and, if it is so stated in the copy, of the byelaw having been approved and confirmed by the authority whose approval or confirmation is required to the making or before the enforcing of the byelaw (a).

(a) See s. 186 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 468, and Drew v. Harlow, ante, p. 468. Upon a proceeding before a court of summary jurisdiction to recover a penalty for a breach of a byelaw under this section, the production of a written copy of the byelaw authenticated by the corporate seal is sufficient evidence until the contrary is proved, not merely that the byelaw has been duly made, but also that all conditions precedent to its becoming a valid operative byelaw, such as the fixing of a copy of the byelaw for forty days on the town hall before it can come into force, having been complied with (Robinson v. Gregory, [1905] 1 K. B. 534; 69 J. P. 161). A copy of the byelaws of a county council having a copy of the corporate seal of the council printed upon it is not sufficient evidence of the byelaws, which must be proved by production of a copy sealed with the corporate seal of the council (Timothy v. Fenn (1910), 74 J. P. 123; 102 L. T. 283).

* * * * * *

39. (a)—(1) If the mayor, or an alderman or councillor— Avoidance of office by bankruptcy or absence.

(a) Is declared bankrupt or compounds by deed with his creditors or makes an arrangement or composition with his creditors under the Bankruptcy Act, 1869, by deed or otherwise (b); or

(b) Is (except in case of illness) continuously absent from the borough, being mayor, for more than two months, or, being alderman or councillor, for more six months (c); he shall thereupon immediately become disqualified and shall cease to hold office.

(2) In any such event the council shall forthwith declare the office to be vacant and signify the same by notice signed by three members of the council and countersigned by the town clerk and fixed on the town hall and the office shall thereupon become vacant.

(3) Where a person becomes so disqualified by being declared bankrupt or compounding or making an arrangement with or composition as aforesaid, the disqualification as regards subsequent elections, shall, in the case of bankruptcy, cease on his obtaining his order of discharge and shall in the case of a compounding or composition as aforesaid cease on payments of his debts in full and shall in the case of arrangement as aforesaid cease on his obtaining his certificate of discharge (d).

(4) Where a person becomes so disqualified by absence he shall be liable to the same fine as for non-acceptance of the office recoverable summarily but the disqualification shall as regards subsequent elections cease on his return (e).

(a) This section is printed here because disqualifications attaching to the office of borough councillor now also attach to the office of rural district councillor, see L. G. A., 1894, s. 46 (5), and notes thereto, at p. 1009, ante.

(b) See note (f) to s. 46 (1) of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 1003.

(c) See the note to s. 46 (5) of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 1009, and cf. s. 46 (6), ibid. and notes thereto, at p. 1010, ante.

(d) As to the cessation of disqualification under this sub-section, see Hardwick v. Brown (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 406; Flutcher v. Saunders (1885), 49 J. P. 424; and Ex parte Atherton (1886), 2 T. L. R. 631.

(e) The provision of this sub-section as to the cessation of disqualification will alone apply to a rural district councillor.

PART IV. (a).

CORRUPT PRACTICES AND ELECTION PETITIONS.

Corrupt Practices.

77. In this Part— Definitions.

"Bribery," "treating," "undue influence," and "personation" include respectively anything done before, at, after, or with respect to a municipal election, which if done before, at, after, or with respect to a parliamentary election would make the person doing the same liable to any penalty, punishment, or disqualification for bribery, treating, undue influence, or personation, as the case may be, under any Act for the time being in force with respect to parliamentary elections (b):

. . . . . .

Section 77.

"Candidate" means a person elected, or having been nominated (c), or having declared himself a candidate for election, to a corporate office:

. . . . . .

"Voter" means a burgess or a person who votes or claims to vote at a municipal election:

"Election court" means a court constituted under this Part for the trial of an election petition:

"Municipal election petition" or "election petition" means a petition under this Part complaining of an undue municipal election.

31 & 32 Vict. c. 125.

"Parliamentary election petition" means a petition under the Parliamentary Elections Act, 1868:

"Prescribed" means prescribed by general rules made under this Part:

"Borough" and "election" when used with reference to a petition mean the borough and election to which the petition relates (d).

(a) It is necessary to include this Part in the present Work, as by s. 48 (3) of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 1012, it now applies to elections of urban district councillors for districts not being boroughs and of rural district councillors. The rules made under this Act are set out in App. II., post, p. 3184.

(b) See the definition of these offences, in the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, Sched. III., post, p. 2480.

(c) Although in fact disqualified for election (Harford v. Lynskey, [1899] 1 Q. B. 852; 63 J. P. 263). A person for whom a vote is given in an election of aldermen is not thereby "nominated" (Cambridge C. C. Election Petition, Fordham v. Webber, [1925] 2 K. B. 740; 89 J. P. 181).

(d) For the application of these definitions to elections of urban district councillors for districts not being boroughs and of rural district councillors, see the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 36, post, p. 2478, and the L. G. A., 1894, s. 48 (3), ante, p. 1012.

* * * * * *

Avoidance of election for general corruption.

81. A municipal election shall be wholly avoided by such general corruption, bribery, treating, or intimidation at the election as would by the common law of Parliament avoid a parliamentary election.

* * * * * *

Striking off votes.

85. The votes of persons in respect of whom any corrupt practice is proved to have been committed at a municipal election shall be struck off on a scrutiny (a).

(a) As to the striking off of the votes of persons guilty of illegal practices or payments see the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 22, post, p. 2471.

Personation.

86. The enactments for the time being in force for the detection of personation and for the apprehension of persons charged with personation at a parliamentary election shall apply in the case of a municipal election (a).

(a) See ss. 85—89 of the Parliamentary Registration Act, 1843, and s. 24 of the Ballot Act, 1872.

Election Petitions.

Power to question municipal election by petition.

87.—(1) A municipal election may be questioned by an election petition on the ground—

(a) That the election was as to the borough or ward wholly avoided by general bribery (a), treating (b), undue influence, or personation; or

(b) That the election was avoided by corrupt practices or offences against this Part committed at the election; or

(c) That the person whose election is questioned was at the time of the election disqualified (c); or

(d) That he was not duly elected by a majority of lawful votes (d).

(2) A municipal election shall not be questioned on any of those grounds except by an election petition (e).

(a) A single case of bribery avoids an election (Norwich Election Petition (1886), 54 L. T. 625). To offer a voter his travelling expenses if he will come and vote for a particular candidate is bribery (Packard v. Collings (1886), 54 L. T. 619).

(b) "Treating" is not the entertainment of equals by equals, but of an inferior by a superior with the object of securing the goodwill of the inferior (Norwich Election Petition, supra).

(c) At an election of councillors in a borough the returning officer does not decide upon the qualification of the candidate; that can only be done by petition under this section (Pritchard v. Bangor Corporation (1888), 13 App. Cas. 241; 52 J. P. 564). The disqualification here mentioned is one which existed at the time of the election. If a person becomes disqualified after election the proper remedy is by quo warranto (Howes v. Turner (1876), 1 C. P. D. 670; 40 J. P. 680. See also R. v. Beer, infra).

(d) An election may also be questioned for illegal practices. See the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 25, post, p. 2472. A petition may be presented under this section against some only of the persons returned, though the ground of the petition is one affecting the validity of the election as a whole; and the court can in such petition declare the persons so petitioned against not to have been duly elected (Line v. Warren (1884), 14 Q. B. D. 548; 49 J. P. 516).

A petition presented under sub-s. (1) (d) involves a scrutiny. Where a returning officer improperly allowed an objection to a nomination, it was held that a petition would lie under this head, for if the nomination had not been rejected, the votes might have been differently given (Budge v. Andrews (1877), 3 C. P. D. 510). And a writ of prohibition or mandamus does not lie for the purpose of determining whether a returning officer has wrongly and illegally rejected the nomination paper of a candidate for a municipal election. The proper mode of determining this question is by petition (R. (O'Lehane) v. Dublin Town Clerk (1909), 43 Ir. L. T. 169). If an elector having notice or knowledge of the disqualification of a candidate wilfully votes for him, his vote is thrown away, but knowledge of the fact which creates a legal disqualification does not involve knowledge that the candidate is legally disqualified. In the case of Beresford-Hope v. Lady Sandhurst (1889), 23 Q. B. D. 79; 53 J. P. 805, it was held that votes given for a woman at a county council election prior to the passing of the Sex Disqualification (Removal) Act, 1919, 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 71, were thrown away. Votes given in favour of a candidate before the voters have notice of any facts disqualifying him for election cannot be treated by the returning officer as thrown away, and unless notice of disqualification has been given the candidate who obtains the minority cannot on petition claim the seat (Hobbs v. Morey, [1904] 1 K. B. 74; 68 J. P. 132). In Boyce v. White (1905), 92 L. T. 240; 53 W. R. 430, the petitioner and respondent were the only candidates for the office of town councillor. Both were nominated, but the respondent at the time of his nomination was absent from the United Kingdom, and no written consent by him to such nomination given one month before such nomination was ever produced. The petitioner was not aware of this fact till the day of the poll, when it was too late to print and circulate in the constituency a notice of the objection to the respondent's nomination. The respondent was declared elected. On petition it was held that the court could only declare the election void and not that the petitioner was elected.

(e) Where this section applies there is no remedy by quo warranto (R. v. Morton, [1892] 1 Q. B. 39; 56 J. P. 105; and see R. v. Miles; Ex parte Cole (1895), 64 L. J. Q. B. 420; 59 J. P. 407). But a bankrupt although disqualified by s. 32 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1883, may, notwithstanding the text, still be ousted from holding or exercising office by means of a quo warranto (R. v. Beer, [1903] 2 K. B. 693; 67 J. P. 326). There must be the clearest evidence against a relator of animus on his part or acquiescence in a member acting while disqualified to make such objections good ground for the exercise of the discretion of the court in refusing to grant a writ of quo warranto to such a relator (R. (McCowen) v. Kelleher (1909), 43 Ir. L. T. 270).

Presentation of petition.

88.—(1) An election petition may be presented either by four or more persons who voted or had a right to vote at the election or by a person alleging himself to have been a candidate at the election (a).

(2) Any person whose election is questioned by the petition, and any returning officer of whose conduct a petition complains, may be made a respondent to the petition (b).

(3) The petition shall be in the prescribed form and shall be signed by the petitioner, and shall be presented in the prescribed manner to the High Court in the Queen's Bench Division, and the prescribed officer (c) shall send a copy thereof to the town clerk, who shall forthwith publish it in the borough.

Section 88.

(4) It shall be presented within twenty-one days after the day on which the election was held (d), except that if it complains of the election on the ground of corrupt practices (e), and specifically alleges that a payment of money or other reward has been made or promised since the election by a person elected at the election, or on his account or with his privity, in pursuance or furtherance of such corrupt practices, it may be presented at any time within twenty-eight days after the date of the alleged payment or promise, whether or not any other petition against that person has been previously presented or tried.

(a) If duly nominated a person may petition although in fact disqualified for election and nomination (Harford v. Lynskey, ante, p. 2418).

(b) An unsuccessful candidate at an election cannot be made a respondent to a petition, although he coalesced for the purposes of the election with two successful candidates, so as to be responsible equally with them for any acts done by any of the three in furtherance of the common purpose (Lovering v. Dawson (1875), L. R. 10 C. P. 726).

At a municipal election A. and B. were candidates for the office of councillor. A. obtained a majority of votes over B., and was declared elected, but refused to serve B. thereupon claimed to have been elected, and having made the necessary declaration acted on several occasions as councillor. A petition was presented against both A. and B., and both of them gave notice of their intention not to oppose the petition. No notice of A.'s disqualification was given to the electors. On an application by B. to the court that his name might be struck out of the petition, the court refused the application, holding that he was properly made a respondent (Yates v. Leach (1874), L. R. 9 C. P. 605). As to making the returning officer a respondent, see Harmon v. Park (1880), 6 Q. B. D. 323; 45 J. P. 436; Wilson v. Ingham (1895), 64 L. J. Q. B. 775; 59 J. P. 614; Cirencester Day's El. Cas. 3.

(c) Prescribed here means prescribed by general rules made under this Part (ss. 77, 100); and see the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 34, post, p. 2477.

(d) The premature presentation of a petition does not nullify the petition, but is an irregularity which is capable of being waived by the person raising the objection (Re Grangemellon Election Petition, [1909] 2 I. R. 90).

(e) For the corresponding provision as to illegal practices, see the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 25, post, p. 2472. That section also provides that any election petition presented within the time limited by the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, may, for the purpose of complaining of the election upon an allegation of an illegal practice, be amended with the leave of the High Court, within the time within which a petition complaining of the election on the ground of that illegal practice can, under that section, be presented. The court cannot after the period of twenty-one days here mentioned allow an amendment which would practically amount to a new petition, as by adding a charge of treating (Clark v. Lowley (1883), 52 L. J. Q. B. 321; 47 J. P. 551).

Security for costs.

89.—(1) At the time of presenting an election petition or within three days afterwards, the petitioner shall give security for all costs, charges, and expenses which may become payable by him to any witness summoned on his behalf, or to any respondent (a).

(2) The security shall be to such amount, not exceeding five hundred pounds, as the High Court, or a judge thereof, on summons, directs, and shall be given in the prescribed manner (b), either by a deposit of money, or by recognizance entered into by not more than four sureties, or partly in one way and partly in the other.

(3) Within five days after the presentation of the petition the petitioner shall in the prescribed manner (b) serve on the respondent a notice of the presentation of the petition, and of the nature of the proposed security, and a copy of the petition.

(4) Within five days after service of the notice the respondent may object in writing to any recognizance on the ground that any surety is insufficient or is dead, or cannot be found or ascertained for want of a sufficient description in the recognizance, or that a person named in the recognizance has not duly acknowledged the same.

(5) An objection to a recognizance shall be decided in the prescribed manner (c).

(6) If the objection is allowed, the petitioner may, within a further prescribed time not exceeding five days, remove it by a deposit in the prescribed manner of such sum of money as will, in the opinion of the court or officer having cognizance of the matter, make the security sufficient.

(7) If no security is given, as prescribed, or any objection is allowed and is not removed, as aforesaid, no further proceedings shall be had on the petition.

(a) The provisions of this section requiring security are imperative and absolute and apply equally whether the petitioner has or has not been admitted to take proceedings as a poor person under Order XVI., r. 22, R. S. C. (Everett v. Griffiths (No. 2), [1923] 1 K. B. 130 ; 87 J. P. 49). As to appeal, see Everett v. Griffiths (No. 3), [1923] 1 K. B. 138 ; 87 J. P. 57.

(b) See note (c) to s. 88, ante, p. 2420, and r. 26 of the rules made under s. 100, post, p. 2427, and set out in App. II., post, p. 3184. Security need not be given for more than £500, although there are several respondents (Pease v. Norwood (1869), L. R. 4 C. P. 235). By r. 36, ibid., the petitioner or his agent must file an affidavit of the time and manner of the service immediately after such service. The observance of these provisions as to service of the petition is a condition precedent to the trial of the petition (Williams v. Tenby Corporation (1879), 5 C. P. D. 135 ; 44 J. P. 348).

(c) See note (c) to s. 88, ante, p. 2420. See also rr. 27—35 of the rules made under s. 100, post, p. 2427, and set out in App. II., post, p. 3184.

Petition at issue.

90. On the expiration of the time limited for making objections, or, after objection made, on the objection being disallowed or removed, whichever last happens, the petition shall be at issue.

Municipal election list.

91.—(1) The prescribed officer (a) shall as soon as may be make a list, in this Act referred to as the municipal election list, of all petitions at issue, placing them in the order in which they were presented, and shall keep at his office a copy of this list, open to inspection in the prescribed manner (b).

(2) The petitions shall, as far as conveniently may be, be tried in the order in which they stand in the list.

(3) Two or more candidates may be made respondents to the same petition, and their cases may be tried at the same time, but for the purpose of this Part the petition shall be deemed to be a separate petition against each respondent (c).

(4) Where more petitions than one are presented relating to the same election, or to elections held at the same time for different wards of the same borough, they shall be bracketed together in the list as one petition, but shall, unless the High Court otherwise directs, stand in the list in the place where the last of them would have stood if it had been the only petition relating to that election.

(a) See note (c) to s. 88, ante, p. 2420. As to inspection, see r. 39 of the rules made under s. 100, post, p. 2427, and set out in App. II., post, p. 3184.

(b) See Line v. Warren, ante, p. 2419.

Constitution of election court.

92.—(1) An election petition shall be tried by an election court consisting of a barrister qualified and appointed as in this section provided, without a jury.

(2) A barrister shall not be qualified to constitute an election court if he is of less than fifteen years standing, or is a member of the Commons House of Parliament, or holds any office or place of profit under the Crown, other than that of recorder.

(3) A barrister shall not be qualified to constitute an election court for trial of an election petition relating to any borough for which he is recorder, or in which he resides, or which is included in a circuit of her Majesty's judges on which he practices as a barrister.

Section 92.

(4) As soon as may be after a municipal election list is made out the prescribed officer shall send a copy thereof to each of the judges for the time being on the rota for the trial of parliamentary election petitions . . . (a).

(5) If a commissioner to whom the trial of a petition is assigned, dies, or declines or becomes incapable to act, the said judges or two of them may assign the trial to be conducted or continued by any other of the commissioners appointed under this section.

(6) The election court shall for the purposes of the trial have the same powers and privileges as a judge on the trial of a parliamentary election petition, except that any fine or order of committal by the court may on motion by the person aggrieved be discharged or varied by the High Court, or in vacation by a judge thereof, on such terms, if any, as the High Court or judge thinks fit (b).

(a) See the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 36 (2), post, p. 2478.

(b) The election court is a court of record. See R. v. Maidenhead Corporation, post, p. 2428. Orders under the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 28, post, p. 2474, cannot be varied under this sub-section. See sub-s. (7) of that section.

Trial of election petitions.

93.—(1) An election petition shall be tried in open court, and notice of the time and place of trial shall be given in the prescribed manner not less than seven days before the day of trial (a).

(2) The place of trial shall be within the borough (b), except that the High Court may, on being satisfied that special circumstances exist rendering it desirable that the petition should be tried elsewhere, appoint some other convenient place for the trial.

(3) The election court may in its discretion adjourn the trial from time to time (c), and from any one place to any other place within the borough or place where it is held.

(4) At the conclusion of the trial the election court shall determine whether the person whose election is complained of, or any and what other person, was duly elected, or whether the election was void, and shall forthwith certify in writing the determination to the High Court, and the determination so certified shall be final to all intents as to the matters at issue on the petition.

(5) Where a charge is made in a petition of any corrupt practice or offence against this Part having been committed at the election the court shall, in addition to the certificate, and at the same time, report in writing to the High Court as follows:

(a) Whether any corrupt practice or offence against this Part has or has not been proved to have been committed by or with the knowledge and consent of any candidate at the election, and the nature of the corrupt practice or offence;

(b) The names of all persons (if any) proved at the trial to have been guilty of any corrupt practice or offence against this Part;

(c) Whether any corrupt practices have, or whether there is reason to believe that any corrupt practices have, extensively prevailed at the election in the borough or in any ward thereof (c).

(6) The election court may at the same time make a special report to the High Court as to any matters arising in the course of the trial, an account of which ought, in the judgment of the election court, to be submitted to the High Court.

(7) If, on the application of any party to a petition made in the prescribed manner to the High Court, it appears to the High Court that the case raised by the petition can be conveniently stated as a special case, the High Court may direct the same to be stated accordingly, and any such special case shall be heard before the High Court, and the decision of the High Court shall be final (e).

(8) If it appears to the election court on the trial of a petition that any question of law as to the admissibility of evidence, or otherwise, requires further consideration by the High Court, the election court may postpone the granting of a certificate until the question has been determined by the High Court, and for this purpose may reserve any such question, as questions may be reserved by a judge on a trial at nisi prius (f).

(9) On the trial of a petition, unless the election court otherwise directs, any charge of a corrupt practice or offence against this Part may be gone into, and evidence in relation thereto received before any proof has been given of agency on behalf of any candidate in respect of the corrupt practice or offence.

(10) On the trial of a petition complaining of an undue election and claiming the office for some person, the respondent may give evidence to prove that that person was not duly elected, in the same manner as if he had presented a petition against the election of that person (g).

(11) The trial of a petition shall be proceeded with notwithstanding that the respondent has ceased to hold the office his election to which is questioned by the petition.

(12) A copy of any certificate or report made to the High Court on the trial of a petition, and, in the case of a decision by the High Court on a special case, a statement of the decision, shall be sent by the High Court to the Secretary of State.

(13) A copy of any such certificate and a statement of any such decision shall also be certified by the High Court, under the hands of two or more judges thereof, to the town clerk of the borough.

(a) See rr. 40—43 of the rules made under s. 100, post, p. 2427, and set out in App. II., post, p. 3184.

(b) That is, the urban district not being a borough, or the rural district. Where the allegations of fact in a petition are not in dispute, but are specifically admitted by the respondent, so as to render it unnecessary at the trial to call witnesses from the district in which the election took place, the court may order the petition to be tried in London, on the ground that special circumstances exist which render it desirable that the petition should be tried elsewhere than in the county or division where the election took place (Arch v. Bentinck (1887), 18 Q. B. D. 548). The facts that a scrutiny is the only question to be tried, or that it would be less expensive to try elsewhere, are not "special circumstances" (Lawson v. Master, [1893] 1 Q. B. 245; 57 J. P. 806; see also Collins v. Price (1878), 4 C. P. D. 544).

(c) See, however, the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 27, post, p. 2474.

A formal adjournment is not necessary. See r. 45 of the rules made under s. 100, post, p. 2427, and set out in App. II., post, p. 3184.

(d) The court must further report as to illegal practices in manner prescribed by the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 8 (2), post, p. 2463. As to the form of the report, see Grant v. Pagham Overseers (1877), 3 C. P. D. 80; 42 J. P. 88; and as to its exclusive effect, see cases cited in the note to 46 & 47 Vict. c. 51, s. 38, post, p. 2483.

(e) As to the mode of application, see r. 48 of the rules made under s. 100, post, p. 2427, and set out in App. II., post, p. 3184. Notwithstanding this sub-section, appeal, if leave be given, lies from a judgment of the King's Bench Division to the Court of Appeal (Line v. Warren, ante, p. 2419; and see Beresford-Hope v. Lady Sandhurst, ante, p. 2419) followed in Everett v. Griffiths (No. 3), [1923] 1 K. B. 138; 87 J. P. 57). If no leave be given no appeal lies (Unwin v. MacMullen, [1891] 1 Q. B. 694; 55 J. P. 582; Shaw v. Reckitt, [1893] 2 Q. B. 59; 57 J. P. 805; Everett v. Griffiths (No. 3), supra).

If leave to appeal be refused by the High Court, possibly it may be given by the Court of Appeal under Judicature Act, 1894, s. 1 (5).

(f) See Stepney Election Petition (1886), 4 O'M. & H. 36; Thornbury (1886), ibid. 68; Isaacson v. Durant (1887), 17 Q. B. D. 54; Ackers v. Howard (1886), 16 Q. B. D. 739; 50 J. P. 519; Londonderry (1886), 4 O'M. & H. 103; Re Pembroke Election Petition, [1908] 2 I. R. 433.

(g) In this case the respondent must deliver to the Master six days before the day appointed for trial, a list of the objections to the election upon which he intends to rely,

Note to Section 93.

and the Master is to allow inspection and office copies of such list to all parties concerned; and no evidence is to be given by the respondent of any objection not specified in the list, except by leave of the High Court. See r. 8 of the rules made under s. 100, post, p. 2427, and set out in App. II., post, p. 3184.

Witnesses.

94.—(1) Witnesses at the trial of an election petition shall be summoned and sworn in the same manner, as nearly as circumstances admit, as witnesses at a trial at nisi prius, and . . . (a).

(2) On the trial the election court may, by order in writing, require any person who appears to the court to have been concerned in the election to attend as a witness, and any person refusing to obey the order shall be guilty of contempt of court.

(3) The court may examine any person so required to attend or being in court although he is not called and examined by any party to the petition.

(4) A witness may, after his examination by the court, be cross-examined by or on behalf of the petitioner and respondent or either of them (b).

. . . . . .

(9) The reasonable expenses incurred by any person in appearing to give evidence at the trial of an election petition, according to the scale allowed to witnesses on the trial of civil actions at the assizes, may be allowed to him by a certificate of the election court or of the prescribed officer, and if the witness was called and examined by the court, shall be deemed part of the expenses of providing a court, but otherwise shall be deemed costs of the petition.

(a) See also r. 54 of the rules made under s. 100, post, p. 2427, and set out in App. II., post, p. 3184. The concluding words of the sub-section were repealed by the Perjury Act, 1911.

(b) Sub-sections (5)—(8), inclusive, of this section were repealed by the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 38, post, p. 2479.

Withdrawal of petition.

95.—(1) A petitioner shall not withdraw an election petition without the leave of the election court or High Court on special application, made in the prescribed manner, and at the prescribed time and place (a).

(2) The application shall not be made until the prescribed notice of the intention to make it has been given in the borough.

(3) On the hearing of the application any person who might have been a petitioner in respect of the election may apply to the court to be substituted as a petitioner, and the court may, if it thinks fit, substitute him accordingly.

(4) If the proposed withdrawal is in the opinion of the court induced by any corrupt bargain or consideration, the court may by order direct that the security given on behalf of the original petitioner shall remain as security for any costs that may be incurred by the substituted petitioner, and that to the extent of the sum named in the security, the original petitioner and his sureties shall be liable to pay the costs of the substituted petitioner.

(5) If the court does not so direct, then security to the same amount as would be required in the case of a new petition, and subject to the like conditions, shall be given on behalf of the substituted petitioner before he proceeds with his petition and within the prescribed time after the order of substitution.

(6) Subject as aforesaid, a substituted petitioner shall, as nearly as may be, stand in the same position and be subject to the same liabilities as the original petitioner.

(7) If a petition is withdrawn, the petitioner shall be liable to pay the costs of the respondent.

(8) Where there are more petitioners than one, an application to withdraw a petition shall not be made except with the consent of all the petitioners.

(a) See further as to the withdrawal of a petition, the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 26, post, p. 2473.

The form of notice of application to withdraw a petition is prescribed by r. 58 of the rules made under s. 100, post, p. 2427, and set out in App. II., post, p. 3184. The notice of application is to be left at the Master's office, and copies are to be served on the respondent and on the town clerk or clerk of the council, as the case may be, and published in the county or borough to which the petition relates. See rr. 59, 60, ibid.

Note to Section 95.

The petitioners, who had presented a petition and subsequently found out their agent's report upon which the petition was based was untrustworthy, were allowed by the court to withdraw the petition, the Treasury having ascertained by special inquiry that there was no reliable evidence to support it, and having received from the petitioners copies of the reports and details of the subsequent inquiries. On a motion for leave to withdraw a petition, the court has a discretion as to the costs of the parties, and may order them to be paid by the petitioners on the higher scale, and taxed as between solicitor and client. They cannot give costs to the Public Prosecutor (Pascoe v. Puleston (Devonport Election Petition) (1886), 50 J. P. 135; 54 L. T. 733).

After a municipal election a petition was presented by an unsuccessful candidate, claiming that he was returned by a majority of lawful votes. The mayor, to save expense, induced the petitioner and the returned candidate to submit the question to the arbitration of the town clerk, who was to recount the votes. On the award being against the petitioner, he asked leave to withdraw the petition, and the court allowed him to do so on payment of the costs, the Public Prosecutor not opposing (Mallam v. Bean (1887), 51 J. P. 230; 3 T. L. R. 516). See also Lichfield Election Petition (1893), 9 T. L. R. 92; and Halifax Election Petition (1893), 9 T. L. R. 563.

Abatement of petition.

96.—(1) An election petition shall be abated by the death of a sole petitioner or of the survivor of several petitioners.

(2) The abatement of a petition shall not affect the liability of the petitioner or of any other person to the payment of costs previously incurred.

(3) On the abatement of a petition the prescribed notice thereof shall be given in the borough, and, within the prescribed time after the notice is given, any person who might have been a petitioner in respect of the election may apply to the election court or High Court in the prescribed manner and at the prescribed time and place to be substituted as a petitioner; and the court may, if it thinks fit, substitute him accordingly (a).

(4) Security shall be given on behalf of a petitioner so substituted, as in the case of a new petition (b).

(a) As to the notice, see rr. 63, 64 of the rules made under s. 100, post, p. 2427, and set out in App. II., post, p. 3184.

(b) See s. 89, ante, p. 2420.

Withdrawal and substitution of respondents.

97.—(1) If before the trial of an election petition a respondent other than a returning officer—

(a) Dies, resigns, or otherwise ceases to hold the office to which the petition relates; or

(b) Gives the prescribed notice that he does not intend to oppose the petition;

the prescribed notice thereof shall be given in the borough, and within the prescribed time after the notice is given any person who might have been a petitioner in respect of the election may apply to the election court or High Court to be admitted as a respondent to oppose the petition, and shall be admitted accordingly, except that the number of persons so admitted shall not exceed three (a).

(2) A respondent who has given the prescribed notice that he does not intend to oppose the petition shall not be allowed to appear or act as a party against the petition in any proceedings thereon.

(a) See rr. 64—67 of the rules made under s. 100, post, p. 2427, and set out in App. II., post, p. 3184, relating to the prescribed notice, time, etc. The returning officer may be a respondent if the petition complains of his conduct.

A respondent may cease to hold office through disqualification. The name of a respondent will not be struck out of a petition merely because he has given the prescribed notice under this section. See Yates v. Leach, ante, p. 2420.

Costs on election petitions.

98.—(1) All costs, charges, and expenses of and incidental to the presentation of an election petition, and the proceedings consequent thereon,

Section 98. except such as are by this Act otherwise provided for, shall be defrayed by the parties to the petition in such manner and proportions as the election court determines; and in particular any costs, charges, or expenses which in the opinion of the court have been caused by vexatious conduct, unfounded allegations, or unfounded objections on the part of either of the petitioner or of the respondent, and any needless expense incurred or caused on the part of petitioner or respondent, may be ordered to be defrayed by the parties by whom it has been incurred or caused, whether they are or not on the whole successful (a).

(2) The costs may be taxed in the prescribed manner but according to the same principles as costs between solicitor and client in an action in the High Court, and may be recovered as the costs of such an action, or as otherwise prescribed (b).

(3) If a petitioner neglects or refuses for three months after demand to pay to any person summoned as a witness on his behalf, or to the respondent, any sum certified to be due to him for his costs, charges, and expenses, and the neglect or refusal is, within one year after the demand, proved to the satisfaction of the High Court, every person who has under this Act entered into a recognizance relating to the petition shall be held to have made default in the recognizance, and the prescribed officer shall thereon certify the recognizance to be forfeited, and it shall be dealt with as a forfeited recognizance relating to a parliamentary election petition (c).

(a) An overloaded petition will be visited with costs, even if it is successful (Birkbeck v. Bullard (1886), 54 L. T. 625). When a petition is wholly unfounded the court may order the petitioner to pay the costs of the Public Prosecutor (Crossman v. Gent-Davis (1886), 54 L. T. 628). In certain cases the parties may be ordered to pay the expenses of the election court. See s. 101, post, p. 2428.

The barrister appointed to try the petition has an absolute discretion over the costs. In a case where the petitioners had improperly made an unsuccessful candidate a respondent, it was held that they could not object that he was not a party to the petition so as to deprive the barrister of jurisdiction to make an order upon them for his costs (Lovering v. Dawson (1875), L. R. 10 C. P. 726).

As to the costs on withdrawal of a petition, see Pascoe v. Puleston (Devonport Election Petition), ante, p. 2425.

A mistake occurred in the counting of votes in a parish council election in which there were nineteen candidates of whom nine were declared to be duly elected. Two of the defeated presented a petition against the return of two of the successful candidates, and the returning officer and his deputy were joined as respondents to the petition. The petition was not opposed. By order, a recount was held and a special case stated for the decision of the High Court. The Court made a declaration that the petitioners were duly elected and ordered the deputy returning officer to pay £10 towards the cost of the petition and the subsequent proceedings (Rainham Parish Council Election Petition (1919), 83 J. P. 267).

(b) So much of this sub-section as relates to the principles of taxation is repealed by the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, Sched. II. See now s. 29 (3) of that Act, post, p. 2476. As to the mode of taxation and recovery of the cost, see r. 68 of the rules made under s. 100, post, p. 2427, and set out in App. II., post, p. 3184, and Pare v. Hartshorn (1875), 31 L. T. 486; 23 W. R. 138.

(c) The prescribed officer is the Master. See r. 1 of the rules made under s. 100, post, p. 2427, and set out in App. II., post, p. 3184. A forfeited recognizance relating to a parliamentary election petition is dealt with in manner provided by the Parliamentary Elections Act, 1868, s. 42.

Reception of and attendance on the election court.

99.—(1) The town clerk (a) shall provide proper accommodation for holding the election court; and any expenses incurred by him for the purposes of this section shall be paid out of the borough fund or borough rate.

(2) All chief and head constables, superintendents of police, head-boroughs, gaolers, constables, and bailiffs shall give their assistance to the election court in the execution of its duties, and if any gaoler or officer of a prison makes default in receiving or detaining a prisoner committed thereto in pursuance of this Part, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds for every day during which the default continues.

(3) The election court may employ officers and clerks as prescribed.

(4) A shorthand writer (b) shall attend at the trial of an election petition, and shall be sworn by the election court faithfully and truly to take down the evidence given at the trial. He shall take down the evidence at length. A transcript of the notes of the evidence taken by him shall, if the election court so directs, accompany the certificate of the election court. His expenses, according to a prescribed scale, shall be treated as part of the expenses incurred in receiving the court.

(a) That is, the clerk to the urban district council for a district not being a borough, or the clerk to the rural district council. See the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 36, post, p. 2478.

(b) See r. 52 of the rules made under s. 100, infra, and set out in App. II., post, p. 3184.

Rules of procedure and jurisdiction.

100.—(1) The judges for the time being on the rota for the trial of parliamentary election petitions may from time to time make, revoke, and alter general rules for the effectual execution of this Part, and of the intention and object thereof, and the regulation of the practice, procedure, and costs of municipal election petitions, and the trial thereof, and the certifying and reporting thereon (a).

(2) All such rules shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament within three weeks after they are made if Parliament is then sitting, and if not, within three weeks after the beginning of the then next session of Parliament, and shall, while in force, have effect as if enacted in this Act.

(3) Subject to the provisions of this Act, and of the rules made under it, the principles, practice, and rules for the time being observed in the case of parliamentary election petitions, and in particular the principles and rules with regard to agency and evidence, and to a scrutiny, and to the declaring any person elected in the room of any other person declared to have been not duly elected, shall be observed, as far as may be, in the case of a municipal election petition.

(4) The High Court shall, subject to this Act, have the same powers, jurisdiction, and authority with respect to a municipal election petition and the proceedings thereon as if the petition were an ordinary action within its jurisdiction (b).

(5) The duties to be performed by the prescribed officer under this Part shall be performed by the prescribed officer of the High Court.

(6) The general rules in force at the commencement of this Act with respect to matters within this Part shall, until superseded by rules made under this section, and subject to any amendment thereof by rules so made, have effect, with the necessary modifications, as if made under this section.

(a) And see also 47 & 48 Vict. c. 70, s. 30, post, p. 2476. The rules now in force are set out in App. II., post, at pp. 3184 et seq.

(b) The High Court has no power to entertain an appeal against the decision of a commissioner appointed to inquire into alleged corrupt or illegal practices at an election except on points of law reserved for its decision by way of a case stated by the commissioner (Ex parte Ayres (1886), 54 L. T. 296). A petition against the election of members of a local board alleged undue influence by the respondents and their agents, and that corrupt and illegal practices extensively prevailed. The commissioner reported to the High Court that no corrupt practice had been proved against the respondents or otherwise, that illegal practices extensively prevailed, and that the respondents had been guilty of illegal practices; and he certified that the respondents had not been duly elected. On a motion for a new trial or a prohibition, on the ground that the commissioner had exceeded his jurisdiction, it was held that the report was not in excess of the jurisdiction. Quære, whether the court has jurisdiction to entertain an appeal from a commissioner. Per STEPHEN, J.: The jurisdiction, if any, ought only to be exercised under extraordinary circumstances, and when necessary that justice should be done (Marsland v. Hickman (Goole Election Petition) (1885), 2 T. L. R. 398). See also Preece v. Harding, post, p. 2483; Shaw v. Reckitt, ante, p. 2423; Re Pembroke Election Petition, [1908] 2 I. R. 433.

Expenses of election court.

101.—(1) The remuneration and allowances to be paid to a commissioner for his services in respect of the trial of an election petition, and to any officers, clerks, or shorthand writers employed under this Part, shall be fixed by a scale made and varied by the election judges on the rota for the trial of parliamentary election petitions, with the approval of the Treasury. The remuneration and allowances shall be paid in the first instance by the Treasury, and shall be repaid to the Treasury, on their certificate, out of the borough fund or borough rate (a).

(2) But the election court may in its discretion order that such remuneration and allowances, or the expenses incurred by a town clerk (b) for receiving the election court, shall be repaid, wholly or in part, to the Treasury or the town clerk, as the case may be, in the cases, by the persons, and in the manner following (namely):

(a) When in the opinion of the election court a petition is frivolous and vexatious by the petitioner;

(b) When in the opinion of the election court a respondent has been personally guilty of corrupt practices at the election, by that respondent.

(3) An order so made for the repayment of any sum by a petitioner or respondent may be enforced as an order for payment of costs; but a deposit made or security given under this Part shall not be applied for any such repayment until all costs and expenses payable by the petitioner or respondent to any party to the petition have been satisfied (c).

(a) The expenses will be now paid out of the general rate or general rate fund in cases of petitions against the election of a member of a borough council or of an urban district council for a district not being a borough or of a rural district council (R. and V. Act, 1925). See the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 36, post, p. 2478.

(b) See note (a) to s. 99, ante, p. 2427.

(c) Upon the trial of a petition against the return of a borough councillor under the Municipal Elections (Corrupt Practices) Act, 1872, the barrister in delivering judgment said that he found the councillor guilty of personal bribery, and that all the costs of the inquiry were to be borne by him, and made an order in writing for the payment by the councillor of certain costs under s. 19 of that Act. The written order made no provision for the remuneration and allowances to the barrister and other persons under s. 22 (corresponding to the text). The Treasury paid the amount of such remuneration and allowances, and certified the payment to the borough treasurer, and required him to repay them the amount out of the borough fund. A rate was accordingly made and levied. The Treasury afterwards, on receiving from the barrister a letter that he had always intended to visit all the costs upon the councillor, and had said so in giving judgment, cancelled their certificate, and the borough corporation abandoned the rate and returned the sums levied to the ratepayers. Afterwards the Treasury, finding that the barrister had made no written order for the payment of remuneration and allowances, issued a fresh certificate requiring the borough treasurer to pay them the amount out of the borough fund or rates. These facts being found upon a return to a mandamus commanding the treasurer to repay the Treasury, it was held that no valid order had been made by the barrister for the payment of the remuneration and allowances by the councillor; that the election court was a court of record, and that neither the High Court nor the Court of Appeal on the return could amend the order so as to make it include such payment; that the act of the Treasury in certifying was not a judicial act, and that they had the power to make a second certificate, and were entitled to a peremptory mandamus compelling the treasurer to repay to them the amount of such remuneration and allowances out of the borough fund or rates, and compelling the corporation to order such amount to be levied by a borough rate (R. v. Maidenhead Corporation (1882), 9 Q. B. D. 494; 46 J. P. 724).

Acts done pending a petition not invalidated.

102. Where a candidate who has been elected to a corporate office is, by a certificate of an election court or a decision of the High Court, declared not to have been duly elected, acts done by him in execution of the office, before the time when the certificate or decision is certified to the town clerk, shall not be invalidated by reason of that declaration.

Provisions as to elections in the room of persons unseated on petition.

103. Where on an election petition the election of any person to a corporate office has been declared void, and no other person has been declared elected in his room, a new election shall be held to supply the vacancy in the same manner as on a casual vacancy (a); and for the purposes of the election any duties to be performed by a mayor, alderman, or other officer, shall, if he has been declared not elected, be performed by a deputy, or other person who might have acted for him if he had been incapacitated by illness.

(a) In the case of urban district councils for districts not being boroughs or of rural district councils there must be a new election. See the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 36, post, p. 2478.

Prohibition of disclosure of vote.

104. A person who has voted at a municipal election by ballot shall not in any proceeding to question the election be required to state for whom he has voted.

PART V.

CORPORATE PROPERTY AND LIABILITIES.

Working Men's Dwellings (a).

Working Men's Dwellings.

Sites for working men's dwellings.

111.—(1) If a municipal corporation determines to convert any corporate land into sites for working men's dwellings, and obtains the approval of the Treasury (b) for so doing, the corporation may, for that purpose, make grants or leases for terms of nine hundred and ninety-nine years, or any shorter term, of any parts of the corporate land (c).
